Dear Dr. Rukhotskiy,

Pursuant to Colorado DME Statute §24-21-115, C.R.S., the licensing requirements apply solely to a person or entity that either:

1. Currently bills or plans to bill the Medicare program for services or products listed in the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Durable Medical Equipment, Prosthetics, Orthotics, and Supplies competitive bid product categories in the state of Colorado [note: even if the person or entity is not actually bidding];

OR

2. Intends to bid for services or products listed in the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Durable Medical Equipment, Prosthetics, Orthotics, and Supplies competitive bid product categories in the state of Colorado in the current calendar year.

Because you have confirmed that neither of these situations apply to Bili Blanket Baby, LLC, you do not need to apply for a DME License through the State of Colorado.

Should your company grow to the point that your situation changes, please feel free to contact us and we would be happy to help you with the application process.

Please feel free to submit this email directly to the insurance company who requested it. I would also be happy to answer any questions they may have.

I wish you the best of luck in your future business endeavors.

Yours Truly,

Kathleen Wallace

Subject: Re: DME Licensure confirmation

Ms Wallace,

Thank you so much for the thoughtful response and your willingness to put in writing that I do not need a license. This will be important for me to have on file as my company grows.

I looked at the short list on the link you provided and a bili blanket for home phototherapy (CPT-E0202) is not listed as a competitive bid product.

In addition, the exemption may apply. Specifically this portion:

(V) A person or entity that supplies or provides devices directly to a practitioner identified in 42 U.S.C. sec. 1395u (18) (C) or a physician that require a prescription for dispensing to the patient as part of his or her own services, whether mailed to the practitioner or physician for fitting or directly mailed to the patient.

The bili blankets are provided by me directly to patients either through them picking up at my offices or via courier service or overnight mail. A prescription is always required from a pediatrician in order to dispense the equipment.

Thank you,

Emma

Medline Industries, Inc
Disciplinary History

Date	Facility	Description of State Action	Corrective Actions
8/3/2005	1401 N. Universal Ave, Kansas City, MO 64120	FILE CLOSED 2010 Medline Industries' Kansas City, MO license (#2003031660) was disciplined for failure to renew on-time and for insufficient temperature control procedures. Medline was placed on probation for 5 years. Throughout the probationary period, the state conducted multiple inspections of the facility and found Medline to be in compliance with all requirements. The probationary period closed in August 2010.	Medline's Regulatory Affairs Department was significantly expanded to include a team of 7 Licensing Specialist that monitor and ensure each of our 200+ licenses are renewed on-time. A temperature control room was also constructed at the facility to ensure product is stored at the appropriate temperature and humidity levels. These control rooms are now a standard feature at our distribution centers, and we have worked closely with VAWD throughout our distribution network to ensure that our temperature control facilities and procedures align with industry best practices.
12/7/2006	9101 Riverside Parkway, Lithia Springs, GA 30122	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline's Florida Certified Designated Representative at our Georgia facility resigned unexpectedly. The state of Florida suspended Medline's Florida Out of State Rx Drug Wholesale Distributor Permit (#23:1470) until a new licensed Designated Representative was hired at the facility.	To prevent a situation like this from occurring in the future, every Medline facility licensed in FL has multiple Florida Certified Designated Representatives on staff.
11/16/2007	10601 Southport Drive, Orlando, FL 32824 401 Commerce Blvd., Oldsmar, FL 34677 4750 118th Ave N Clearwater, FL 33762	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries was cited for several violations including: failure to pass and maintain a pedigree that met Florida's specific requirements; having the wrong type of permit for activities being performed (in addition to the manufacturing permit that we had, Florida required that we also have a repacker permit); distribution of saline to an unauthorized recipient; and an Rx drug item was found at an unlicensed raw materials storage facility. Several of the violations were challenged and reduced substantially or removed during the settlement process. Medline was assessed and paid a fine for these violations. All issues were addressed and resolved to the satisfaction of the FL DOH. After duly notifying state authorities, as required, we were fined by New York (Cal. No. 27278) for out-of-state professional misconduct. In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close the Oldsmar and Clearwater facilities.	To address the pedigree issues, Medline instituted a Florida specific pedigree system to ensure that any pedigree shipments within our distribution network with potential to end up in Florida have the required Florida specific documentation. (Note - these requirements have since been preempted by federal law). To address the issue of having the wrong permit type, Medline secured a repackaging permit, in addition to the manufacturing permit the facility already had. To address the sale of saline to an unauthorized person, Medline instituted a new procedure for obtaining and maintaining customer licenses for all Rx drug purchases; this procedure generates an automatic block of any Rx drug orders by an unlicensed customer in our SAP system. The Rx drug item unintentionally stored at our raw materials facility was properly disposed of, and our waste disposal procedures were updated to ensure that this mistake would not recur.
11/26/2007	2708 NE Waldo Rd., Gainesville, FL	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries' FL license (# 22:1022) was suspended for violations identified during a Florida BOP facility inspection. Medline, through Counsel, addressed the issues raised in the inspection and established that the suspension was unjustified. The suspension was lifted 3 days later on January 22, 2008 (Case # 2007-37412). In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close this facility.	After this inspection, Medline conducted a thorough review of its policies and procedures. Additionally, an internal auditing program was implemented to ensure that each distribution center is in compliance with internal policies and procedures, as well as state and federal regulations.
3/5/2008	149 New Camellia Blvd., Covington, LA 70433	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries' license #4318 was cited for failure to properly maintain copies of current customer licenses on site (Louisiana Administrative Docket #2008006). Medline was assessed and paid a fine. After duly notifying state authorities, as required, we were fined by New York (Cal. No. 27278) for out-of-state professional misconduct.	In addition to storing copies of our customers' licenses at headquarters, we now store these licenses digitally so they can be accessed by our distribution centers.
5/9/2008	5450 W. Stewart Ave., Wausau, WI	FILE CLOSED 2009 Medline Industries' license (# 1116-045) was cited and fined by the Wisconsin Department of Regulation & Licensing during an inspection. Medline managed a portion of a Wisconsin hospital's warehouse. The inspector cited Medline for failure to have a dividing fence between the Medline managed portion of the facility and the hospital portion of the facility - even though all of the products were owned by the hospital. Medline was also cited for failure to access several policies and procedures during the inspection. Corrections were made and the facility was re-inspected, to the satisfaction of the state (Case #08 PHM 037). After duly notifying state authorities, as required, we were fined by the states of Hawaii (Case #PHA 2009-7-L) and New York (Cal. No. 27278) out-of-state professional misconduct. . In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close this facility.	Immediately after the inspection, Medline and the owner of the facility erected a locked fence to divide the faculty. Medline also reviewed all of its other facilities to make sure no similar situations existed. In addition, training on where and how to access current policies and procedures was increased for distribution center personnel. This training is in addition to the training they receive on the policies and procedures themselves.
8/21/2008	94-1420 Moanlani St., Waipahu, Hawaii	FILE CLOSED 2013 Medline Industries' license (PWD 115) was fined $5000 and placed on probation for 5 years for failure to report the Florida and Missouri disciplinary actions within 30 days. While Medline filed the required reports, the 30 day deadline was missed. Probationary period ended August 2013. (Case # PHA 2008-17-L)	Medline takes this oversight very seriously and we have implemented a new process to notify the required boards of any future disciplinary actions within 10 days of a final action.
3/19/2010	1401 N. Universal Ave, Kansas City, MO 64120	FILE CLOSED 2010 Medline applied for a Colorado Out of State Wholesaler license for the Missouri distribution center and was issued a conditional license by the CO Board of Pharmacy until the facility's MO probation period ended (approximately 5 months). The CO BOP was informed when the MO probationary period was completed, and subsequently removed the encumbered status of this facility's CO license.	See above for corrective actions related to the underlying sanction.
1/6/2021	1501 Harris Rd, Libertyville, IL 60048	FILE CLOSED 2021 Medline Industries, Inc. License #01-1985050 received a fined $250 by the Ohio Board of Pharmacy for the sale of dangerous drugs to an unlicensed entity. Medline maintained a current and valid DEA license on file for the physician rather than the TDDD license for the facility. The facility's TDDD license at the time of the sale had expired, unbeknownst to Medline. Case No. A-2020-0054 I-2019-0972-B. The fine was paid on January 21, 2021 and the case was closed.	Medline takes this oversight very seriously. We reviewed our processes and updated our guidelines for the type of license required for business in Ohio to ensure proper type of licenses applied to the customer are valid and current. The TDDD Ohio licenses are reviewed on an annual basis to ensure compliance.

Medline Industries, Inc

Date	Facility	Description of State Action	Corrective Actions
8/3/2005	1401 N. Universal Ave, Kansas City, MO 64120	FILE CLOSED 2010 Medline Industries' Kansas City, MO license (#2003031660) was disciplined for failure to renew on time and for insufficient temperature control procedures. Medline was placed on probation for 5 years. Throughout the probationary period, the state conducted multiple inspections of the facility and found Medline to be in compliance with all requirements. The probationary period closed in August 2010.	Medline's Regulatory Affairs Department was significantly expanded to include a team of 7 Licensing Specialist that monitor and ensure each of our 200+ licenses are renewed on time. A temperature control room was also constructed at the facility to ensure product is stored at the appropriate temperature and humidity levels. These control rooms are now a standard feature at our distribution centers, and we have worked closely with VAWD throughout our distribution network to ensure that our temperature control facilities and procedures align with industry best practices.
12/7/2006	9101 Riverside Parkway, Lithia Springs, GA 30122	FILE CLOSED 2009 Medline's Florida Certified Designated Representative at our Georgia facility resigned unexpectedly. The state of Florida suspended Medline's Florida Out of State Rx Drug Wholesale Distributor Permit (#23.1470) until a new licensed Designated Representative was hired at the facility.	To prevent a situation like this from occurring in the future, every Medline facility licensed in FL has multiple Florida Certified Designated Representatives on staff.
11/16/2007	10601 Southport Drive, Orlando, FL 32824 401 Commerce Blvd., Oldsmar, FL 34677 4750 118th Ave N Clearwater, FL 33762	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries was cited for several violations including: failure to pass and maintain a pedigree that met Florida's specific requirements; having the wrong type of permit for activities being performed (in addition to the manufacturing permit that we had, Florida required that we also have a repacker permit); distribution of saline to an unauthorized recipient; and an Rx drug item was found at an unlicensed raw materials storage facility. Several of the violations were challenged and reduced substantially or removed during the settlement process. Medline was assessed and paid a fine for these violations. All issues were addressed and resolved to the satisfaction of the FL DOH. After duly notifying state authorities, as required, we were fined by New York (Cal. No. 27278) for out-of-state professional misconduct. In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close the Oldsmar and Clearwater facilities.	To address the pedigree issues, Medline instituted a Florida specific pedigree system to ensure that any pedigree shipments within our distribution network with potential to end up in Florida have the required Florida specific documentation. (Note - these requirements have since been preempted by federal law). To address the issue of having the wrong permit type, Medline secured a repackaging permit, in addition to the manufacturing permit the facility already had. To address the sale of saline to an unauthorized person, Medline instituted a new procedure for obtaining and maintaining customer licenses for all Rx drug purchases; this procedure generates an automatic block of any Rx drug orders by an unlicensed customer in our SAP system. The Rx drug item unintentionally stored at our raw materials facility was properly disposed of, and our waste disposal procedures were updated to ensure that this mistake would not recur.
11/26/2007	2708 NE Waldo Rd., Gainesville, FL	FILE CLOSED 2009 Medline Industries' FL license (# 22-1022) was suspended for violations identified during a Florida BOP facility inspection. Medline, through Counsel, addressed the issues raised in the inspection and established that the suspension was unjustified. The suspension was lifted 3 days later on January 22, 2008 (Case # 2007-17412). In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close this facility.	After this inspection, Medline conducted a thorough review of its policies and procedures. Additionally, an internal auditing program was implemented to ensure that each distribution center is in compliance with internal policies and procedures, as well as state and federal regulations.
3/5/2008	149 New Camellia Blvd., Covington, LA 70433	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries' license #4318 was cited for failure to properly maintain copies of current customer licenses on site (Louisiana Administrative Docket #2008006). Medline was assessed and paid a fine. After duly notifying state authorities, as required, we were fined by New York (Cal. No. 27278) for out-of-state professional misconduct.	In addition to storing copies of our customers' licenses at headquarters, we now store these licenses digitally so they can be accessed by our distribution centers.
5/9/2008	5450 W. Stewart Ave., Wausau, WI	FILE CLOSED 2009 Medline Industries' license (# 1116-05) was cited and fined by the Wisconsin Department of Regulation & Licensing during an inspection. Medline managed a portion of a Wisconsin hospital's warehouse. The inspector cited Medline for failure to have a dividing fence between the Medline managed portion of the facility and the hospital portion of the facility - even though all of the products were owned by the hospital. Medline was also cited for failure to access several policies and procedures during the inspection. Corrections were made and the facility was re-inspected, to the satisfaction of the state (Case #08 PHM 037). After duly notifying state authorities, as required, we were fined by the states of Hawaii (Case #PHA 2009-7-L) and New York (Cal. No. 27278) out-of-state professional misconduct. In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close this facility.	Immediately after the inspection, Medline and the owner of the facility erected a locked fence to divide the facility. Medline also reviewed all of its other facilities to make sure no similar situations existed. In addition, training on where and how to access current policies and procedures was increased for distribution center personnel. This training is in addition to the training they receive on the policies and procedures themselves.
8/21/2008	94-1420 Moaniani St., Waipahu, Hawaii	FILE CLOSED 2013 Medline Industries' license (PWD 115) was fined $5000 and placed on probation for 5 years for failure to report the Florida and Missouri disciplinary actions within 30 days. While Medline filed the required reports, the 30 day deadline was missed. Probationary period ended August 2013 (Case # PHA 2008-17-L)	Medline takes this oversight very seriously and we have implemented a new process to notify the required boards of any future disciplinary actions within 10 days of a final action.
3/19/2010	1401 N. Universal Ave, Kansas City, MO 64120	FILE CLOSED 2010 Medline applied for a Colorado Out of State Wholesaler license for the Missouri distribution center and was issued a conditional license by the CO Board of Pharmacy until the facility's MO probation period ended (approximately 5 months). The CO BOP was informed when the MO probationary period was completed, and subsequently removed the encumbered status of this facility's CO license.	See above for corrective actions related to the underlying sanction.
1/6/2021	1501 Harris Rd, Libertyville, IL 60048	FILE CLOSED 2021 Medline Industries, Inc. license #01-1985050 received a fined $250 by the Ohio Board of Pharmacy for the sale of dangerous drugs to an unlicensed entity. Medline maintained a current and valid DEA license on file for the physician rather than the TDDD license for the facility. The facility's TDDD license at the time of the sale had expired, unbeknownst to Medline. Case No. A-2020-0054-I-2019-0972-B. The fine was paid on January 21, 2021 and the case was closed.	Medline takes this oversight very seriously. We reviewed our processes and updated our guidelines for the type of license required for business in Ohio to ensure proper type of licenses applied to the customer are valid and current. The TDDD Ohio licenses are reviewed on an annual basis to ensure compliance.

Dear Sir or Madame,

Oticon Medical is a manufacturer of hearing implant systems. The Ponto system is a bone conduction device, consisting of the Ponto BHX Implant and abutment and a Ponto sound processor. This unique system is an Osseo Integrated Bone Conduction Hearing System or BAHS. There are only two manufacturers of such systems in the US. Oticon Medical and Cochlear Americas. With these systems, patients often purchase the system directly from the manufacturer. For that reason we are asking to become a DME/Pharmacy participant with Nevada, so that patients who can benefit from this unique system can have access to our technology and also so that existing patients can continue to use the system they have if a replacement or repair is ever needed.

The system can be used on a head band or soft band or the system can be implanted using the new Minimally Invasive Ponto Surgery, which helps minimize scarring and can help shorten healing time. The Ponto systems work by transmitting sound through vibrations from the Ponto processor through the implant and then the skull. These vibrations then stimulate the cochlea of the Ponto system user. The Ponto system is indicated for conductive and mixed hearing losses as well as single sided deafness.

The Ponto system can also be used without surgery by wearing the Ponto processor on a headband or soft band. Ponto processor's latest family is the Ponto 3 which comes with advanced wireless technology. The Ponto 3 is available in three models, the Ponto 3 and Ponto 3 Power and Ponto 3 Super Power, which is the most powerful abutment level bone anchored processor available. To learn more about Oticon Medical and the Ponto system visit us on the web at www.oticonmedical.com.

Please consider our application based on the Out of State Enrollment criteria, the services are medically necessary, and the nature of the service is such that providers for this service are limited or not readily available within your state.

Sincerely,

Question 6 Response: Prism Medical Products, L.L.C. has appeared before different licensing agency's pertaining to general matters regarding license/policy, whether this be an initial board licensing requirement or a meeting to request/support board regulatory change. This has not be related to any type of disciplinary action.

Question 8 Response: Some state Medicaids or other health plans may request a specific license; however, that state licensing agency does not require Prism to obtain a license. At times we may have applied for a permit, but been denied based on the scope of our services, which the denial indicating a license is not required.

To Whom It May Concern,

This letter serves as formal notification that effective March 31, 2022, as part of an internal re-organization, Dova Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("Dova"), a Delaware corporation, will be merged into its affiliate, Sobi, Inc., a Delaware corporation, and cease to exist as an independent entity. AkaRx, Inc., formerly a wholly owned subsidiary of Dova, will become a wholly owned subsidiary of Sobi Inc., pursuant to the plan of merger.

On November 12, 2019, Swedish Orphan Biovitrum AB (publ) ("Sobi AB"), a Swedish public limited liability company, completed its previously announced acquisition of Dova. As a result of that transaction, Dova became (i) an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Sobi AB, and (ii) an affiliate of Sobi, Inc., which is also an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Sobi AB.

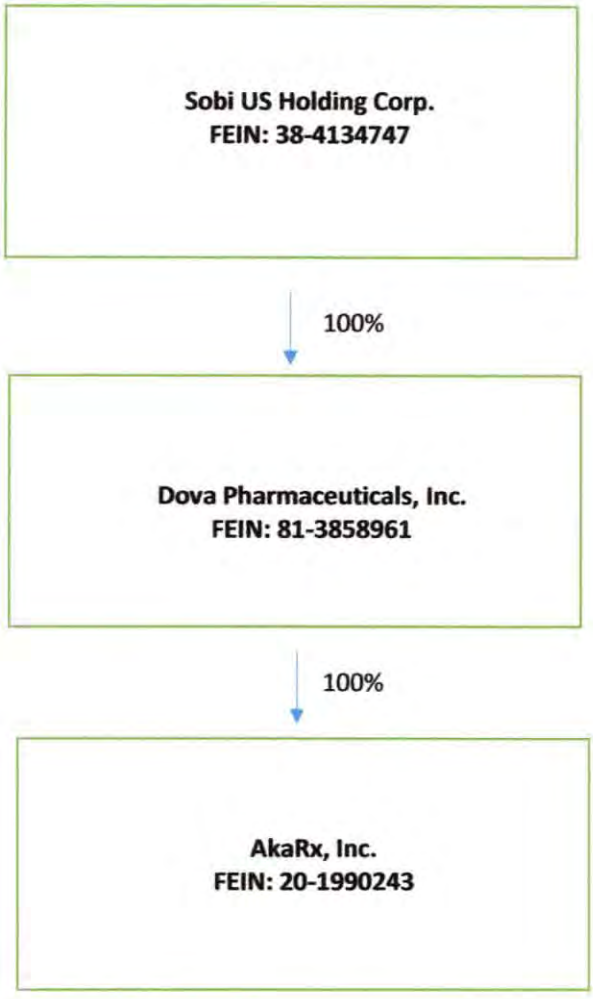
From November 12, 2019 through March 31, 2021, Dova and Sobi, Inc. were each indirect, wholly owned subsidiaries of Sobi AB through Sobi AB's wholly owned holding company, Sobi US Holding Corp., a Delaware corporation.

As of March 31, 2022, an agreement and plan of merger will be approved, adopted, acknowledged and executed by each of Sobi, Inc. and Dova in accordance with the provisions of the Delaware General Corporation Law.

As a result of this transaction, Sobi, Inc., shall possess all the rights, privileges, powers and franchises of a public as well as of a private nature, and be subject to all the restrictions, disabilities and duties of Dova; and all singular rights, privileges, powers and franchises of Dova, all property, real, personal and mixed (whether tangible or intangible), and all debts due to Dova on whatever account, as well as all other things in action or belonging to Dova, shall be vested in Sobi, Inc.

Any and all active contracts and agreements that Dova had in place will be substantively unchanged, with Sobi, Inc. as the succeeding counterparty, and Sobi, Inc. will be bound by the terms and conditions of all such contracts and agreements.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to me if you have any questions.



Sincerely,

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER

THIS AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER ("Agreement"), dated as of March 31, 2022, is by and between SOBI, INC., a Delaware corporation ("Sobi" or the "Surviving Company") and DOVA PHARMACEUTICALS, INC., a Delaware corporation ("Dova").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Sobi and Dova are wholly-owned subsidiaries of Sobi US Holding Corp., a Delaware corporation ("Sobi HoldCo"), and Sobi HoldCo desires to integrate its business operations and simplify its legal entity structure.

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE 1

THE MERGER

1.1 Merger. Pursuant to Section 251 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware ("DGCL") the parties agree that Dova shall merge with and into Sobi (the "Merger") in accordance with the terms set forth in this Agreement.

1.2 Parties. The name of the Surviving Company in the Merger is Sobi, Inc. The name of the disappearing entity in the Merger is Dova Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Pursuant to Section 251 of the DGCL, this Agreement has been approved by the sole stockholder of the Surviving Company and the sole stockholder of Dova.

1.3 Effective Time of the Merger. The effective time of the Merger shall be such time that a certificate of merger with respect to the Merger is filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware (the "Effective Time"). As of the Effective Time, the corporate existence of Sobi, with all of its rights, privileges and powers, shall continue unaffected and unimpaired by the Merger, and the corporate identity and existence of Dova, with all of its respective rights, privileges and powers, shall be merged with and into Sobi, and Sobi, as the Surviving Company, shall be fully vested therewith. The separate existence of Dova shall cease as of the Effective Time, as contemplated by Sections 251 and 259 of the DGCL.

1.4 Effects of the Merger.

(a) At the Effective Time the separate existence of Dova shall cease and Dova shall be merged with and into the Surviving Company.

(b) At and after the Effective Time, the Surviving Company shall possess all the rights, privileges, powers and franchises of a public as well as of a private nature, and be subject to all the restrictions, disabilities and duties of Dova, including without limitation any rights, privileges, powers and franchises and any restrictions, disabilities and duties arising by reason of Dova's ownership of the capital stock of any subsidiary, including without limitation AkaRx, Inc. and Dova Pharmaceuticals Ireland Limited; and all and singular rights, privileges, powers and franchises of Dova, and all property, real, personal and mixed (whether tangible or intangible), and all debts due to Dova on whatever account, as well as all other things in action or belonging to Dova, shall be vested in the Surviving Company, and all property, rights, privileges, powers and franchises, and all and every other interest shall be thereafter the property of the Surviving Company as they were of Dova; but all rights of creditors and all liens upon any property of Dova shall be preserved unimpaired, and all debts, liabilities and duties of Dova shall thereafter attach to the Surviving Company, and may be enforced against it to the same extent as if such debts and liabilities had been incurred by it, including without limitation any debts, liabilities and duties arising by reason of Dova's ownership of the capital stock of any subsidiary, including without limitation AkaRx, Inc. and Dova Pharmaceuticals Ireland Limited.

1.5 Cancellation of Disappearing Company's Capital Stock. As of the Effective Time (A) all of the capital stock of Dova shall be cancelled, and (B) all of the capital stock of Sobi shall remain issued and outstanding. At and after the Effective Time, the Surviving Company shall possess all the rights, privileges, powers and franchises of a public as well as of a private nature, and be subject to all the restrictions, disabilities and duties of Dova, including without limitation any rights, privileges, powers and franchises and any restrictions, disabilities and duties arising by reason of Dova's ownership of the capital stock of any subsidiary, including without limitation AkaRx, Inc. and Dova Pharmaceuticals Ireland Limited; and all and singular rights, privileges, powers and franchises of Dova, and all property, real, personal and mixed (whether tangible or intangible), and all debts due to Dova on whatever account, as well as all other things in action or belonging to Dova, shall be vested in the Surviving Company, and all property, rights, privileges, powers and franchises, and all and every other interest shall be thereafter the property of the Surviving Company as they were of Dova; but all rights of creditors and all liens upon any property of Dova shall be preserved unimpaired, and all debts, liabilities and duties of Dova shall thereafter attach to the Surviving Company, and may be enforced against it to the same extent as if such debts and liabilities had been incurred by it, including without limitation any debts, liabilities and duties arising by reason of Dova's ownership of the capital stock of any subsidiary, including without limitation AkaRx, Inc. and Dova Pharmaceuticals Ireland Limited.

1.6 Organizational Documents. As of the Effective Time, the organizational documents of the Surviving Company shall be in the form of the existing Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws of Sobi, as amended and in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time.

1.7 U.S. Tax Treatment. The parties intend that the Merger and any related transactions, including related transactions occurring prior to the Merger, shall qualify as a tax-free reorganization pursuant to Section 368(a)(1)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), for U.S. federal and applicable state income tax purposes, with Sobi and Dova each intending to be a "party to a reorganization" within the meaning of Section 368(b) of the Code. This Agreement is adopted as a "plan of reorganization" under Treasury Regulation Sections 1.368-2(g) and 1.368-3(a) for U.S. federal and applicable state income tax purposes.

1.8 Further Action. If, at any time after the Effective Time, any further action is determined by Sobi to be necessary or desirable to carry out the purpose of this Agreement or to vest the Surviving Company with the full rights, privileges and powers of Dova, the officers and managers of the Surviving Company shall be fully authorized (in the name of Dova) to take such action.

1.9 Amendment and Termination. At any time prior to the Effective Time, this Agreement may be amended in writing by Sobi and Dova or terminated by either party upon written notice, whether before or after receipt of the approval of Sobi HoldCo.

ARTICLE 2

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

2.1 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its provisions concerning conflict of laws that would cause the laws of another jurisdiction to govern.

2.2 Counterparts. 2.4 Successors and Assigns. This Agreement shall be binding upon each of the parties hereto and each of their respective successors and assigns, if any. This Agreement shall inure to the benefit of the Surviving Company, Dova and their respective successors and assigns, if any.

2.5 Entire Agreement. This Agreement sets forth the entire understanding of the parties hereto relating to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings among or between any of the parties relating to the subject matter.

Ms. Herrera, thank you very much for the quick response. Our read of the Oregon Rules is that, in terms of medical device distributors, a license is only required for "Class C" medical device "outlets," which sell (a) nonprescription drugs and/or (b) certain prescription drugs and materials, none of which are distributed by BIOTRONIK. See ORS 855-035-0030: https://secure.sos.state.or.us/oard/viewSingleRule.action?ruleVrsnRsn=218350.

Outside of this rule, which does not apply to our business, we have identified no Oregon laws, rules or regulations that require state licensure of a company like that of BIOTRONIK. We have asked the Oregon Board of Pharmacy to confirm our understanding of the Rules in writing, but they declined, stating that to do so would amount to providing legal advice.

Please let me know if this explanation is sufficient for purposes of the "Home State License" requirement of the Nevada Board of Pharmacy.

Thanks again,

Matt Boucher

Hello Matt,

I apologize is been very busy with the renewals here at the office, I appreciate your patients.

Anyhow are you able to maybe provide a copy of their law or regulation that exempts the facility from obtaining a license? You can email me that as well.

Thank you,
Maria H.

Hello, Ms. Herrera. I am following up on your email exchange with BIOTRONIK's Jon Brumbaugh last month. We are having difficulty obtaining an exemption letter (or even an email) from the Oregon Board to clarify that a license is not required for BIOTRONIK in the state. Can you please call me at your earliest convenience to discuss?

Thanks and regards,

Hello Jon,

The Certificate of Existence is not what I need, I need a copy of the Home State License from the licensing Board in Oregon. Or an email/letter stating that the Oregon Board does not require you to license in their state.

Regards,
Maria H.

Hello Ms. Herrera,

Thanks for the message, BIOTRONIK confirms that there are no individual owners of BIOTRONIK, Inc. in the US. I have also attached the copy of the Oregon license information and the signed page 8.

Let me know if you need this information mailed or if the email is sufficient.

Thanks so much for your help with this application process.

Have a great week!

Definition of Wholesale:

STATE OF OHIO
BOARD OF PHARMACY

April 2, 2019

The Whom It May Concern,

The State of Ohio Board of Pharmacy (Board) only licenses facilities that possess, store, sell or compound dangerous drugs as defined in ORC 4729.01(F).

(F) "Dangerous drug" means any of the following:

(1) Any drug to which either of the following applies:

(a) Under the "Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act," 52 Stat. 1040 (1938), 21 U.S.C.A. 301, as amended, the drug is required to bear a label containing the legend "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription" or "Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian" or any similar restrictive statement, or the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription;

(b) Under Chapter 3715. or 3719. of the Revised Code, the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription.

(2) Any drug that contains a schedule V controlled substance and that is exempt from Chapter 3719. of the Revised Code or to which that chapter does not apply;

(3) Any drug intended for administration by injection into the human body other than through a natural orifice of the human body;

(4) Any drug that is a biological product, as defined in section 3715.01 of the Revised Code.

Additionally, the Board only licenses home medical equipment service providers that engage in the sale, delivery, installation, maintenance, replacement or demonstration of home medical equipment as defined in ORC 4752.01(B).

(B) "Home medical equipment" means equipment that can stand repeated use, is primarily and customarily used to serve a medical purpose, is not useful to a person in the absence of illness or injury, is appropriate for use in the home, and is one or more of the following:

(1) Life-sustaining equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that mechanically sustains, restores, or supplants a vital bodily function, such as breathing;

(2) Technologically sophisticated medical equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that requires individualized adjustment or regular maintenance by a home medical equipment services provider to maintain a patient's health care condition or the effectiveness of the equipment;

(3) An item specified by the state board of pharmacy in rules adopted under division (B) of section 4752.17 of the Revised Code.

Therefore, any over-the-counter medication or medical device that does not contain a dangerous drug or considered to be home medical equipment does not require licensure from our agency.

In the state of Ohio, Cintas' facility (Mason FAS DC) is not require to be licensed, because Ohio does not regulate the distribution of over-the-counter drugs, medical devices that do not contain dangerous drugs, and AEDs.

STATE OF OHIO BOARD OF PHARMACY

April 2, 2019

The Whom It May Concern,

The State of Ohio Board of Pharmacy (Board) only licenses facilities that possess, store, sell or compound dangerous drugs as defined in ORC 4729.01(F).

(F) "Dangerous drug" means any of the following:

(1) Any drug to which either of the following applies:

(a) Under the "Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act," 52 Stat. 1040 (1938), 21 U.S.C.A. 301, as amended, the drug is required to bear a label containing the legend "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription" or "Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian" or any similar restrictive statement, or the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription;

(b) Under Chapter 3715. or 3719. of the Revised Code, the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription.

(2) Any drug that contains a schedule V controlled substance and that is exempt from Chapter 3719. of the Revised Code or to which that chapter does not apply;

(3) Any drug intended for administration by injection into the human body other than through a natural orifice of the human body;

(4) Any drug that is a biological product, as defined in section 3715.01 of the Revised Code.

Additionally, the Board only licenses home medical equipment service providers that engage in the sale, delivery, installation, maintenance, replacement or demonstration of home medical equipment as defined in ORC 4752.01(B).

(B) "Home medical equipment" means equipment that can stand repeated use, is primarily and customarily used to serve a medical purpose, is not useful to a person in the absence of illness or injury, is appropriate for use in the home, and is one or more of the following:

(1) Life-sustaining equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that mechanically sustains, restores, or supplants a vital bodily function, such as breathing;

(2) Technologically sophisticated medical equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that requires individualized adjustment or regular maintenance by a home medical equipment services provider to maintain a patient's health care condition or the effectiveness of the equipment;

(3) An item specified by the state board of pharmacy in rules adopted under division (B) of section 4752.17 of the Revised Code.

Therefore, any over-the-counter medication or medical device that does not contain a dangerous drug or considered to be home medical equipment does not require licensure from our agency.

In the state of Ohio, Cintas' facility (Mason FAS DC) is not require to be licensed, because Ohio does not regulate the distribution of over-the-counter drugs, medical devices that do not contain dangerous drugs, and AEDs.

To Whom It May Concern:

Enclosed is a resubmission of an application for Cintas Corporation No. 2 for the Middletown, Ohio facility. Cintas Corporation No. 2 previously submitted an MDEG application for the Middletown, Ohio facility; however, the Nevada Board of Pharmacy instructed Cintas to re-apply as a Wholesaler based on meeting the definition of a Wholesaler.

A few clarifications are needing to be made for the enclosed application.

Cintas Corporation No. 2's Middletown facility does not supply directly to hospital facilities. Cintas Corporation No. 2 will supply product to hospital warehouses. These warehouses store a hospital's product prior to the hospital shipping the product to patient-facing hospital facilities.

Cintas Corporation No. 2 is 100% corporately owned by Cintas Corporation. There are no other stakeholders of Cintas Corporation No. 2 outside of the Cintas Corporation entity.

Cintas Corporation No. 2 (Cintas Corporation) is registered as a repack/relabel manufacturer by the FDA.

A check for the remaining $500 of the $1,000 application fee is also enclosed. A check for $500 was submitted with the MDEG application.

Do not hesitate to reach out if additional information is needed to process this application. Cintas appreciates your time in reviewing this application.

3M Completes Acquisition of Acelity, Inc.

Acquisition Expands Presence in Advanced and Surgical Wound Care

ST. PAUL, Minn. – October 11, 2019 – 3M (NYSE: MMM) today announced it has completed the acquisition of Acelity, Inc. and its KCI subsidiaries worldwide from a consortium comprised of funds advised by Apax Partners (the Apax Funds), together with controlled affiliates of the Canada Pension Plan Investment Board (CPPIB) and the Public Sector Pension Investment Board (PSP Investments) for a total enterprise value of approximately $6.7 billion, including assumption of debt and other adjustments. Acelity is a leading global medical technology company focused on advanced wound care and specialty surgical applications marketed under the KCI brand.

"This is an exciting day as we bring together two premier and innovative companies that are focused on delivering comprehensive health care solutions to enable better outcomes for patients," said 3M chairman and CEO Mike Roman. "We are excited to have the tremendous people of Acelity join the 3M team, and are confident in the value that this acquisition will deliver to our customers and our shareholders. This addition further accelerates 3M as a leader in advanced wound care, which is a significant and growing market segment."

3M's Medical Solutions business is focused on applying 3M technologies to deliver safe and effective solutions to improve clinical outcomes and healthcare economics. The business offers a range of integrated solutions that include advanced and acute wound care dressings and products, medical tapes, sterilization products, and patient prep and warming products. These solutions cross the entire continuum of care, enabling better outcomes, improving the patient experience, and delivering strong economic value in today's value-based care environment.

The Acelity business is well known for creating and growing new segments based on the ability to identify and address unmet clinical needs with KCI-branded products that advance the practice of medicine, beginning with the introduction of V.A.C.® Therapy - groundbreaking Negative Pressure Wound Therapy. Today, KCI product offerings also include advanced wound dressings and negative pressure surgical solutions. KCI's solutions contribute to better patient outcomes by enhancing wound healing. The business has annual revenue of approximately $1.5 billion with year-to-date organic growth of 5 percent through September 30, 2019.

3M will further discuss this transaction during its upcoming third quarter earnings call on October 24, 2019.

RE: Explanation of Disciplinary History
Cardinal Health 200, LLC – Jefferson

Dear Mr. Wuest:

This letter is provided in conjunction with our affirmative response to Question 3 on our application for our Out-of-State Wholesale Distributor License. We have a few matters to disclose based on our parent company, Cardinal Health, Inc. Please note that the facility that is the subject of this application does not have any disciplinary history to disclose.

On September 24, 2020, Cardinal Health finalized a settlement agreement with the Colorado Board of Pharmacy and paid a fine of $1,150. This settlement was regarding the failure of our Denver, Colorado distribution center to timely notify the Board of a change in that distribution center's designated representative.

Cardinal Health's pharmaceutical distribution center in Valencia, California entered into a settlement agreement with the California Board of Pharmacy in April 2019. As a condition of that settlement, the California Wholesale license for our Valencia distribution center was on probation from April 3, 2019, through April 2, 2021. This agreement resulted from the Valencia distribution center making sales to a customer between 2012 and 2014 and the failure to receive a pharmacist's signature on several deliveries in that same time frame.

Additionally, on March 11, 2019, Cardinal Health's Wheeling, West Virginia, distribution center entered into a settlement agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy regarding the security and storage of drugs while those drugs were being distributed to the customer. This issue involved Ohio Board of Pharmacy inspectors manipulating our totes in such a way as to be able to retrieve a bottle out of a strapped/sealed tote. This occurred on several occasions all while the totes were in the custody of our delivery drivers or pharmacies. An inspector also witnessed a delivery vehicle door that was not locked and secured appropriately. Cardinal Health agreed to pay a monetary penalty of $5,000.

As previously reported, on May 15, 2012, Cardinal Health entered into a settlement agreement with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration ("DEA") regarding Cardinal Health's registration to distribute controlled substances from our Lakeland, Florida facility. On February 3, 2012, DEA served an Order to Show Cause and Immediate Suspension of Registration (the "Order") on Cardinal Health's Lakeland, Florida distribution center. In the Order, DEA alleged that the Lakeland facility "failed to maintain effective controls against the diversion of controlled substances" and "failed to detect and report suspicious orders of oxycodone by its pharmacy customers." In particular, DEA identified four retail pharmacies located in Florida that were serviced by the Lakeland facility and alleged that "[n]otwithstanding the large quantities of controlled substances ordered by Cardinal's top retail pharmacy customers Cardinal failed to conduct meaningful due diligence to ensure that the controlled substances were not diverted...." Importantly, these allegations did not involve any diversion of controlled substances from Cardinal's facility.

Under the settlement agreement, the Lakeland facility's DEA registration was suspended for two years from the date of the settlement agreement. On May 21, 2014, the suspension was lifted and the DEA reinstated Lakeland's registration. On December 23, 2016, Cardinal Health reached a nationwide settlement with the federal government, resolving the outstanding civil penalty portion of this May 15, 2012, administrative settlement with the DEA. Under this civil settlement, Cardinal Health has agreed to pay $44 million to the Department of Justice (DOJ) to resolve this matter. The DOJ, including the DEA and the United States Attorneys' Offices for the Middle District of Florida, the Southern District of New York, the District of Maryland, and the Western District of Washington and all other districts across the country have also agreed to take no further administrative or civil action on these and related matters. In addition, Cardinal Health has reached an agreement with the State of West Virginia regarding the company's distribution of controlled substances in that state between 2007 and 2012. While Cardinal Health denies the allegations, it agreed to pay West Virginia $20 million to resolve issues and release the company from further actions.

In 2014, the Boards of Pharmacy in both California and Georgia took derivative action based upon the DEA settlement. The Georgia Board fined the Lakeland facility $500 in administrative fees, and the California Board fined the facility $1,505 in investigative fees. Both fees were paid to the respective Boards.

In September 2013, Cardinal Health's distribution center located in Ontario, California, received a citation involving prescription device deliveries being made to an unauthorized customer; the facility paid the fine of $5,000.00 and the matter was closed. In July 2014, the State of Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (LARA) took derivative action against the Ontario, CA, facility based upon the action described above. LARA issued a Consent Order and fined the Ontario facility $500. Cardinal Health paid the fine to LARA on July 9, 2014.

If you have any questions, Cory Kopitzke, Assistant General Counsel, Regulatory at Cory.Kopitzke01@cardinalhealth.com.

Sincerely,

Keegan Chamberlain

As used in this report, "we," "our," "us," "Cardinal Health" and similar pronouns refer to Cardinal Health, Inc. and its majority-owned and consolidated subsidiaries, unless the context requires otherwise. Our fiscal year ends on June 30. References to fiscal 2023, 2022, 2021, 2020, 2019 and 2018 are to the fiscal years ended June 30, 2023, 2022, 2021, 2020, 2019 and 2018, respectively. Except as otherwise specified, information in this report is provided as of June 30, 2022.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In this report, including in the "Fiscal 2022 Overview" section of Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations ("MD&A"), we use financial measures that are derived from consolidated financial data but are not presented in our financial statements that are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). These measures are considered "non-GAAP financial measures" under the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") rules. The reasons we use these non-GAAP financial measures and the reconciliations to their most directly comparable GAAP financial measures are included in the "Explanation and Reconciliation of Non-GAAP Financial Measures" section following MD&A in this report.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Our MD&A within this Form 10-K generally discusses fiscal 2022 and fiscal 2021 items and year-to-year comparisons between fiscal 2022 and fiscal 2021. Fiscal 2020 items and discussions of year-to-year comparisons between fiscal 2021 and fiscal 2020 that are not included in this Form 10-K can be found in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2021 (the "Fiscal 2021 Form 10-K").

Important Information Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This report (including information incorporated by reference) includes forward-looking statements addressing expectations, prospects, estimates and other matters that are dependent upon future events or developments. Many forward-looking statements appear in MD&A and Risk Factors, but there are others throughout this report, which may be identified by words such as "expect," "anticipate," "intend," "plan," "believe," "will," "should," "could," "would," "project," "continue," "likely," and similar expressions, and include statements reflecting future results or guidance, statements of outlook and expense accruals. These matters are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected, anticipated or implied. The most significant of these risks and uncertainties are described in "Risk Factors" in this report and in Exhibit 99.1 to the Form 10-K included in this report. Forward-looking statements in this report speak only as of the date of this document. Except to the extent required by applicable law, we undertake no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement.

About Cardinal Health

Cardinal Health, Inc., an Ohio corporation formed in 1979, is a globally integrated healthcare services and products company providing customized solutions for hospitals, healthcare systems, pharmacies, ambulatory surgery centers, clinical laboratories, physician offices and patients in the home. We provide pharmaceuticals and medical products and cost-effective solutions that enhance supply chain efficiency. We connect patients, providers, payers, pharmacists and manufacturers for integrated care coordination and better patient management. We manage our business and report our financial results in two segments: Pharmaceutical and Medical.

Pharmaceutical Segment

Our Pharmaceutical segment distributes branded and generic pharmaceutical, specialty pharmaceutical and over-the-counter healthcare and consumer products in the United States. This segment also provides services to pharmaceutical manufacturers and healthcare providers for specialty pharmaceutical products; operates nuclear pharmacies and radiopharmaceutical manufacturing facilities; provides pharmacy management services to hospitals, as well as medication therapy management and patient outcomes services to hospitals, other healthcare providers and payers; and repackages generic pharmaceuticals and over-the-counter healthcare products.

Medical Segment

Our Medical segment manufactures, sources and distributes Cardinal Health branded medical, surgical and laboratory products, which are sold in the United States, Canada, Europe, Asia and other markets. In addition to distributing Cardinal Health branded products, this segment also distributes a broad range of medical, surgical and laboratory products known as national brand products and provides supply chain services and solutions to hospitals, ambulatory surgery centers, clinical laboratories and other healthcare providers in the United States and Canada. This segment also distributes medical products to patients' homes in the United States through our Cardinal Health at-Home Solutions division.

Consolidated Results

Fiscal 2022 Overview

Revenue

Revenue for fiscal 2022 was $181.4 billion, a 12 percent increase from the prior year, primarily due to sales growth from pharmaceutical distribution and specialty pharmaceutical customers, which largely consisted of branded pharmaceutical sales to existing and net new customers.

GAAP and Non-GAAP Operating Earnings/(Loss)

(in millions)	2022	2021	Change
GAAP operating earnings/(loss)	$ (596)	$ 472	N.M.
Surgical gown recall costs/(income)	1	(28)
State opioid assessment related to prior fiscal years	—	38
Restructuring and employee severance	101	114
Amortization and other acquisition-related costs	324	451
Impairments and (gain)/loss on disposal of assets	2,050	79
Litigation (recoveries)/charges, net	109	1,129
Non-GAAP operating earnings	$ 1,990	$ 2,255	(12)%

The sum of the components and certain computations may reflect rounding adjustments.

We had a GAAP operating loss of $596 million during fiscal 2022 due to $2.1 billion pre-tax non-cash goodwill impairment charges related to the Medical segment. See "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 4 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail. During fiscal 2021, we recognized pre-tax charges of $1.17 billion for the estimated liability associated with lawsuits and claims brought against us by states and political subdivisions relating to the distribution of prescription opioid pain medications. See further description of opioid lawsuits in the Significant Developments in Fiscal 2022 and Trends section in this MD&A and Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Non-GAAP operating earnings during fiscal 2022 decreased 12 percent primarily due to the decrease in Medical segment profit, largely resulting from net inflationary impacts (which primarily related to increased transportation and commodities costs, partially offset by certain price increases) and the adverse impact of global supply chain constraints.

GAAP and Non-GAAP Diluted EPS

($ per share)	2022 [2][3]	2021 [2]	Change
GAAP diluted EPS [1]	$ (3.35)	$ 2.08	N.M.
Surgical gown recall costs/(income)	—	(0.07)
State opioid assessment related to prior fiscal years	—	0.10
Restructuring and employee severance	0.27	0.29
Amortization and other acquisition-related costs	0.87	1.13
Impairments and (gain)/loss on disposal of assets[4]	6.93	0.21
Litigation (recoveries)/charges, net [5]	0.31	1.78
Loss on early extinguishment of debt	0.03	0.04
(Gain)/loss on sale of equity interest in naviHealth	—	0.01
Non-GAAP diluted EPS [1]	$ 5.06	$ 5.57	(9)%

The sum of the components and certain computations may reflect rounding adjustments.

(1) Diluted earnings/(loss) per share attributable to Cardinal Health, Inc. ("diluted EPS" or "diluted loss per share").

(2) The reconciling items are presented within this table net of tax. See quantification of tax effect of each reconciling item in our GAAP to Non-GAAP Reconciliations in the section titled "Explanation and Reconciliation of Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

(3) For fiscal 2022, GAAP diluted loss per share attributable to Cardinal Health, Inc. and the EPS impact from the GAAP to non-GAAP per share reconciling items are calculated using a weighted average of 279 million common shares, which excludes potentially dilutive securities from the denominator due to their anti-dilutive effects resulting from our GAAP net loss for the period. Fiscal 2022 non-GAAP diluted EPS is calculated using a weighted average of 280 million common shares, which includes potentially dilutive shares.

(4) Impairments and (gain)/loss on disposals of assets, net includes pre-tax goodwill impairment charges of $2.1 billion related to the Medical segment recorded during fiscal 2022. The net tax benefit related to these charges was $150 million.

(5) Litigation (recoveries)/charges, net, includes a tax benefit recorded during fiscal 2021 related to a net operating loss carryback. Our wholly-owned insurance subsidiary recorded a self-insurance pre-tax loss in its fiscal 2020 statutory financial statements primarily related to opioid litigation. This self-insurance pre-tax loss, which did not impact our pre-tax consolidated results, was deducted on our fiscal 2020 consolidated federal income tax return and contributed to a significant net operating loss for tax purposes. The net operating loss was carried back and adjusted our taxable income for fiscal 2015, 2016, 2017 and 2018 as permitted under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security ("CARES") Act. The total benefit from the net operating loss carryback was $424 million; however, for purposes of Non-GAAP financial measures, we allocated $389 million of the benefit to litigation (recoveries)/charges, net, which is excluded from non-GAAP measures, based on the relative amount of the self-insurance pre-tax loss related to opioid litigation claims versus separate tax adjustments. The tax benefit allocated to the separate tax adjustments of $35 million is included in non-GAAP measures.

During fiscal 2022, GAAP diluted EPS was adversely impacted by the goodwill impairment charges related to the Medical segment, which had a $(6.94) per share after-tax impact. See "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A, and Note 4 and Note 8 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail.

During fiscal 2021, GAAP diluted EPS was positively impacted by $1.44 per share due to a tax benefit from the net operating loss carryback primarily related to a self-insurance pre-tax loss, as further described in Note 8 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements." The charges we recognized in fiscal 2021 for the estimated liability associated with lawsuits and claims brought against us by states and political subdivisions relating to the distribution of prescription opioid pain medications had a $(3.21) per share after-tax impact on GAAP diluted EPS.

During fiscal 2022, non-GAAP diluted EPS decreased 9 percent to $5.06 due to factors impacting non-GAAP operating earnings, partially offset by a lower share count as a result of share repurchases.

Cash and Equivalents

Our cash and equivalents balance was $4.7 billion at June 30, 2022 compared to $3.4 billion at June 30, 2021. The increase in cash during fiscal 2022 was due to net cash provided by operating activities of $3.1 billion. Net cash provided by operating activities includes a refund of $966 million for the tax benefit from the net operating loss carryback related to a self-insurance pre-tax loss, and reflects the impact of $417 million of payments related to the settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") to settle the vast majority of the opioid lawsuits filed by states and local governmental entities, payments under the separate New York, Ohio and Rhode Island settlements, as well as certain payments under the Cherokee Nation settlement. Fiscal 2022 operating cash flow was also impacted by favorable timing of net working capital.

We also received proceeds of $923 million, net of cash transferred, from the divestiture of the Cordis business, and we deployed $1.0 billion for share repurchases, $885 million for debt repayments, $559 million for dividends and $387 million for capital expenditures.

Significant Developments in Fiscal 2022 and Trends

Opioid Lawsuits Developments

National Settlement

Beginning in fiscal year 2017, state attorneys general, counties and municipalities began filing lawsuits related to the distribution of prescription opioid pain medications against pharmaceutical wholesalers, including us, and other participants in the pharmaceutical supply chain. By fiscal year 2022, Cardinal Health was a defendant in approximately 2,775 lawsuits brought by state attorneys general and counties, municipalities and other political subdivisions. In July 2021, we and two other national distributors (collectively, the "Distributors") announced a proposed settlement with a group of state attorneys general intended to resolve the vast majority of these lawsuits (the "National Settlement") as well as a proposed settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") containing, among other things, a sign-on process to allow states and political subdivisions to participate in the National Settlement.

In February 2022, the Distributors announced that each company had determined that a sufficient number of states and political subdivisions had agreed to participate in the National Settlement to proceed to effectiveness of that settlement. The Settlement Agreement became effective on April 2, 2022.

Parties to the National Settlement include 46 out of 49 eligible states as well as the District of Columbia and all eligible territories. As of August 9, 2022, over 99 percent of eligible political subdivisions (as calculated by population under the Settlement Agreement) that had brought opioid-related suits against the companies have joined the settlement or otherwise had their claims addressed by state legislation.

The Settlement Agreement includes a cash component, pursuant to which we will pay up to approximately $6.0 billion, the majority of which is expected to be paid over 18 years. The exact payment amount will depend on several factors, including the extent to which states take action to foreclose opioid lawsuits by political subdivisions (e.g., by passing laws barring or limiting opioid lawsuits by political subdivisions) and the extent to which additional political subdivisions in participating states file opioid lawsuits against us.

The Settlement Agreement also includes injunctive relief terms related to distributors' controlled substance anti-diversion programs, including with respect to: (1) governance; (2) independence and training of the personnel operating controlled substances monitoring programs; (3) due diligence for new and existing customers; (4) ordering limits for certain products; and (5) suspicious order monitoring. A monitor will oversee compliance with these provisions for a period of five years. In addition, the Distributors will engage a third-party vendor to act as a clearinghouse for data aggregation and reporting, which the Distributors will fund for ten years.

During fiscal 2022, we made our first annual payment under the Settlement Agreement. Prior to the effective date of the Settlement Agreement, the Distributors had entered into separate settlement agreements with each of the states of Florida, New York, Ohio and Rhode Island. When the Settlement Agreement became effective, each of these states and their participating subdivisions became a part of the National Settlement; however, the New York, Ohio and Rhode Island agreements required us to make certain payments separately from those required by the Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, during fiscal 2022, we made payments under the separate New York, Ohio and Rhode Island settlements, as well as certain payments under the Cherokee Nation settlement. In total, we paid $417 million in connection with these matters during fiscal 2022. We have $6.36 billion accrued at June 30, 2022, of which $532 million is included in other accrued liabilities, and the remainder is included in deferred income taxes and other liabilities in our consolidated balance sheets. In July 2022, we made our second annual payment of $374 million under the Settlement Agreement.

Other Settlements

West Virginia subdivisions and Native American tribes are not a part of the National Settlement and we had separate negotiations with these groups. A bench trial before a federal judge in West Virginia in a case brought by Cabell County and City of Huntington against the Distributors concluded in July 2021. In July 2022, a judgment in favor of the Distributors was entered. In July 2022, the Distributors reached an agreement to settle the opioid-related claims of the majority of the remaining West Virginia subdivisions. Under this agreement, Cardinal Health agreed to pay eligible West Virginia subdivisions up to approximately $124 million over an eleven-year period. This agreement is subject to certain contingencies related to subdivision participation. In September 2021, we announced that the Distributors had reached an agreement with the Cherokee Nation in connection with ongoing negotiations toward a broader agreement with Native American tribes. In January 2022, the Distributors executed a term sheet with the Native American tribes.

In May 2022, the Distributors reached an agreement with the Washington Attorney General, under which Cardinal Health will pay up to approximately $160 million to the State of Washington and its participating political subdivisions to resolve opioid-related claims. This amount is consistent with the amount that would have been allocated to Washington under the Settlement Agreement plus certain attorneys' fees and costs. The terms of this agreement are consistent with the Settlement Agreement. This agreement is subject to certain contingencies, including the rate of subdivision participation.

In June 2022, the Distributors reached an agreement with the State of Oklahoma to resolve the opioid-related claims of the state and its political subdivisions. Under this agreement, Cardinal Health agreed to pay up to approximately $95 million to the State and its participating subdivisions. This amount is consistent with the amount that would have been allocated to Oklahoma under the Settlement Agreement. The terms of this agreement are consistent with the terms of the Settlement Agreement. This agreement is subject to certain contingencies, including the rate of subdivision participation. If this agreement and the Washington agreement are finalized, Oklahoma and Washington would be subject to the Settlement Agreement and 48 of 49 eligible states would then be subject to the Settlement Agreement.

In addition to the lawsuits and claims brought by states and governmental entities, described above, we are involved in other opioid-related litigation and investigations, which are described further in Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Because loss contingencies are inherently unpredictable and unfavorable developments or resolutions can occur, the assessment is highly subjective and requires judgments about future events. We regularly review these opioid litigation matters to determine whether our accrual is adequate. The amount of ultimate loss may differ materially from this accrual. See Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

Inflationary Impacts and Global Supply Chain Constraints

Medical segment profit was significantly negatively affected by inflationary impacts, primarily related to transportation (including ocean and domestic freight), commodities, labor, and global supply chain constraints in fiscal 2022.

We expect these inflationary impacts and global supply chain constraints to continue to adversely impact Medical segment profit in fiscal 2023 and beyond. In order to partially mitigate this impact, we have implemented initial phases of price increases and we intend to implement additional price increases. We are also evolving our commercial contracting processes to provide us with greater pricing flexibility and investing in additional supply chain capacity. These increased costs and global supply chain constraints are difficult to predict and may be greater than we expect or continue longer than our current expectations. In the event these costs decrease, the benefit to Medical segment profit will be delayed until the higher-cost inventory has moved through our supply chain. Our plans to increase prices and evolve our contracting strategies are subject to contingencies and uncertainties and it is possible that our results of operations will be adversely impacted to a greater extent than we currently anticipate.

To a lesser extent, inflationary impacts, primarily related to increased transportation and labor costs, also adversely impacted Pharmaceutical segment profit during fiscal 2022. We expect these inflationary costs to continue to adversely impact Pharmaceutical segment profit in fiscal 2023.

PPE Demand and Pricing

Personal protective equipment ("PPE") refers to protective clothing, medical and non-medical grade gloves, face shields, face masks and other equipment designed to protect the wearer from injury or the spread of infection or illness. Demand for PPE has fluctuated during fiscal 2022 and 2021, resulting in variability in sales volumes, inventory levels and costs to manufacture and source these products.

PPE adversely impacted Medical segment profit on a year-over-year basis during fiscal 2022 primarily due to declines in volume and the prior-year positive impact of the timing of PPE cost mitigation efforts (primarily pricing). The demand and pricing for PPE is subject to risks and uncertainties, which may impact Medical segment profit and consolidated operating earnings in fiscal 2023.

The year-over-year comparison was also impacted by an inventory reserve of $197 million, primarily related to certain categories of gloves, which adversely impacted Medical segment profit in fiscal 2021. See "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A for additional detail.

Medical Goodwill

Due to the adverse impact on our financial results from, the risks and uncertainties related to inflationary impacts, global supply chain constraints and PPE demand and pricing, and increases in the risk-free interest rate, we performed goodwill impairment testing for the Medical reporting unit within the Medical segment during fiscal 2022. This testing resulted in cumulative pre-tax charges of $2.1 billion, which are included in impairments and (gain)/loss on disposal of assets in our consolidated statements of earnings/(loss). See "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 4 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail.

Adverse changes in key assumptions or a significant change in industry or economic trends during fiscal 2023 could result in additional goodwill impairment.

Pharmaceutical Segment Generics Program

The performance of our Pharmaceutical segment generics program positively impacted the year-over-year comparison of Pharmaceutical segment profit in fiscal 2022, which includes improvement in volumes compared to the prior-year period. The Pharmaceutical segment generics program includes, among other things, the impact of generic pharmaceutical product launches, customer volumes, pricing changes and the Red Oak Sourcing, LLC venture ("Red Oak Sourcing") with CVS Health Corporation ("CVS Health"). The frequency, timing, magnitude and profit impact of generic pharmaceutical customer volumes, pricing changes, customer contract renewals, and branded and generic pharmaceutical manufacturer pricing changes all impact Pharmaceutical segment profit and are subject to risks and uncertainties. These risks and uncertainties may impact Pharmaceutical segment profit and consolidated operating earnings in fiscal 2023.

Cordis Divestiture

In August 2021, we sold the Cordis business to Hellman & Friedman for proceeds of $923 million, net of cash transferred, and we retained certain working capital accounts and certain liabilities. Cardinal Health will retain product liability associated with lawsuits and claims related to inferior vena cava ("IVC") filters in the U.S. and Canada, as well as authority for these matters discussed in Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements." In connection with the closing, we entered into a Transition Services Agreement ("TSA") with the buyer to provide support functions for a period of up to twenty-four months following the sale. See Note 2 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

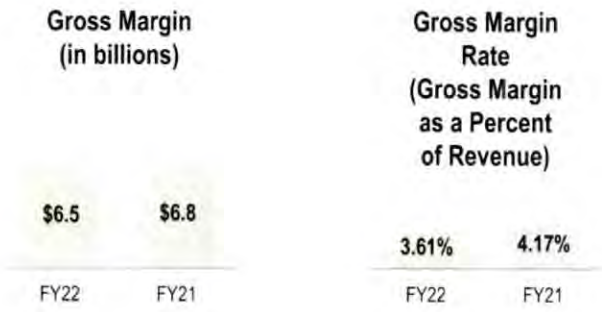
As anticipated, Medical segment revenue and Medical segment profit were adversely impacted by approximately $700 million and $70 million, respectively, in fiscal 2022 due to the divestiture of the Cordis business. The divestiture also resulted in a decrease in amortization of acquisition-related intangible assets during fiscal 2022. The divestiture of the Cordis business is subject to risks and uncertainties that may further adversely impact Medical segment profit. For example, the TSA period may be extended beyond our current expectations or could have unintended consequences, and the costs associated with the exit or disposal activities and stranded costs could be greater than anticipated.

Results of Operations

Revenue

(in millions)	Revenue 2022	2021	Change
Pharmaceutical	$ 165,491	$ 145,796	14 %
Medical	15,887	16,687	(5)%
Total segment revenue	181,378	162,483	12 %
Corporate	(14)	(16)	N.M.
Total revenue	$ 181,364	$ 162,467	12 %

Fiscal 2022 Compared to Fiscal 2021



Pharmaceutical Segment
Fiscal 2022 Pharmaceutical segment revenue grew by $19.6 billion primarily due to sales growth from pharmaceutical distribution and specialty pharmaceutical customers, which largely consisted of branded pharmaceutical sales to existing and net new customers.

Medical Segment
Fiscal 2022 Medical segment revenue decreased by $800 million, primarily due to the impact of the divestiture of the Cordis business. Medical segment revenue was also adversely impacted by lower volumes within products and distribution, which was partially offset by sales growth in at-Home Solutions.

Cost of Products Sold

Cost of products sold for fiscal 2022 increased $19.1 billion (12 percent) due to the factors affecting the changes in revenue and gross margin.

Gross Margin

(in millions)	Consolidated Gross Margin 2022	2021	Change
Gross margin	$ 6,545	$ 6,778	(3)%

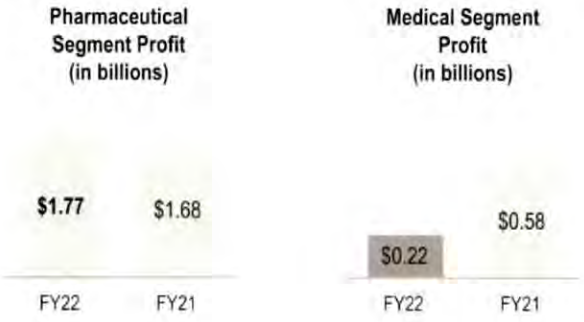
Fiscal 2022 Compared to Fiscal 2021

Fiscal 2022 consolidated gross margin decreased primarily due to the divestiture of the Cordis business and increased costs in the Medical segment due to net inflationary impacts and the adverse impact of global supply chain constraints, partially offset by the performance of our Pharmaceutical segment generics program and an improvement in volumes, primarily in generic and branded pharmaceuticals, compared to the prior-year period. The year-over-year comparison was also favorably impacted by the prior-year inventory reserve recorded in the Medical segment to reduce the carrying value of certain PPE, primarily certain categories of gloves, to net realizable value.

Gross margin rate declined 56 basis points during fiscal 2022 mainly due to changes in overall product mix, primarily driven by increased pharmaceutical distribution branded sales, which have a dilutive impact on our overall gross margin rate. The performance of Medical segment products and distribution, which reflects the divestiture of the Cordis business and increased costs due to net inflationary impacts and the adverse impact of global supply chain constraints, also had an adverse impact on gross margin rate. The year-over-year comparison was favorably impacted by the prior-year inventory reserve recorded in the Medical segment to reduce the carrying value of certain PPE, primarily certain categories of gloves, to net realizable value.

Distribution, Selling, General and Administrative ("SG&A") Expenses

(in millions)	SG&A Expenses 2022	2021	Change
SG&A expenses	$ 4,557	$ 4,533	1 %



Fiscal 2022 Compared to Fiscal 2021

SG&A expenses increased slightly during fiscal 2022 largely due to inflationary impacts, primarily related to increased transportation and labor costs, increased costs related to investments in information technology infrastructure and higher costs to support sales growth, primarily offset by the impact of the divestiture of the Cordis business.

The year-over-year comparison was also favorably impacted by the prior-year $41 million accrual for our estimated portion of the assessment on prescription opioid medications that were sold or distributed in New York state in calendar year 2017 and 2018 which was recognized during fiscal 2021. See Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information on the New York Opioid Stewardship Act.

Segment Profit

We evaluate segment performance based on segment profit, among other measures. See Note 13 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information on segment profit.

(in millions)	Segment Profit and Operating Earnings 2022	2021	Change
Pharmaceutical	$ 1,770	$ 1,684	5 %
Medical	216	577	(63)%
Total segment profit	1,986	2,261	(12)%
Corporate	(2,582)	(1,789)	N.M.
Total consolidated operating earnings/(loss)	$ (596)	$ 472	N.M.

Fiscal 2022 Compared to Fiscal 2021

Pharmaceutical Segment Profit

Fiscal 2022 Pharmaceutical segment profit increased due to the performance of our generics program, partially offset by increased costs related to investments in information technology infrastructure and inflationary impacts, primarily related to increased transportation and labor costs. Pharmaceutical segment profit was also positively impacted by improvement in volumes, primarily in generic and branded pharmaceuticals, compared to the prior-year period.

Pharmaceutical segment profit includes opioid-related litigation defense and compliance costs, but does not include a one-time contingent attorneys' fee of $18 million recorded in fiscal 2022, which related to the finalization of the Settlement Agreement. Due to the unique nature and significance of the Settlement Agreement, and the one-time, contingent nature of the fee, this fee was included in litigation (recoveries)/charges, net in the consolidated statements of earnings/(loss).

Fiscal 2022 Pharmaceutical segment profit was positively impacted by a $16 million judgment for lost profits related to an ordinary course intellectual property rights claim.

Medical Segment Profit

Fiscal 2022 Medical segment profit decreased largely due to net inflationary impacts (which primarily related to increased transportation and commodities costs, partially offset by price increases), the adverse impact of global supply chain constraints and the divestiture of the Cordis business. The year-over-year comparison of Medical segment profit was also impacted favorably by the prior-year inventory reserve recorded to reduce the carrying value of certain PPE, primarily certain categories of gloves, to net realizable value, and unfavorably by the prior-year net positive impact of PPE sales.

Corporate

The changes in Corporate during fiscal 2022 are due to the factors discussed in the Other Components of Consolidated Operating Earnings/(Loss) section that follows.

Other Components of Consolidated Operating Earnings/(Loss)

In addition to revenue, gross margin, and SG&A expenses discussed previously, consolidated operating earnings/(loss) were impacted by the following:

(in millions)	2022	2021
Restructuring and employee severance	$ 101	$ 114
Amortization and other acquisition-related costs	324	451
Impairments and (gain)/loss on disposal of assets, net	2,050	79
Litigation (recoveries)/charges, net	109	1,129

Restructuring and Employee Severance

In fiscal 2022, restructuring costs were primarily related to the implementation of certain enterprise-wide cost-savings measures, which includes facility exit costs related to decreasing our overall office space, and the divestiture of the Cordis business.

Amortization and Other Acquisition-Related Costs

Amortization of acquisition-related intangible assets was $311 million and $428 million for fiscal 2022 and 2021, respectively. The decrease in amortization of acquisition-related intangible assets was primarily due to the divestiture of the Cordis business.

Impairments and (Gain)/Loss on Disposal of Assets, Net

During fiscal 2022, we recognized $2.1 billion of pre-tax non-cash goodwill impairment charges related to our Medical segment, as discussed further in the "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 4 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

During fiscal 2021, we recognized a $60 million pre-tax write-down of the assets held for sale from the divestiture of the Cordis business.

Litigation (Recoveries)/Charges, Net

During fiscal 2022 and 2021, we recognized estimated losses and legal defense costs associated with the IVC filter product liability claims of $87 million and $56 million, respectively. See Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

During fiscal 2022, we incurred a one-time contingent attorneys' fee of $18 million related to the finalization of the Settlement Agreement resulting in the settlement of the vast majority of opioid lawsuits filed by state and local governmental entities. Due to the unique nature and significance of the Settlement Agreement, and the one-time, contingent nature of the fee, this fee was included in litigation (recoveries)/charges, net.

During fiscal 2022 and 2021, we recognized income of $18 million and $112 million, respectively, for recoveries in class action antitrust lawsuits in which we were a class member.

During fiscal 2021, we recognized pre-tax charges of $1.17 billion associated with certain opioid matters. See Significant Developments in Fiscal 2022 and Trends section in this MD&A and Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

During fiscal 2021, we recognized a $13 million charge in connection with a civil investigation by the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Massachusetts related to discounts and rebates offered or provided to certain Specialty Solutions customers, as described further in Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

Other Components of Earnings/(Loss) Before Income Taxes

In addition to the items discussed above, earnings/(loss) before income taxes was impacted by the following:

(in millions)	2022	2021	Change
Other (income)/expense, net	$ 16	$ (47)	N.M.
Interest expense, net	149	180	(17)%
Loss on early extinguishment of debt	10	14	N.M.
(Gain)/Loss on sale of equity interest in naviHealth	(2)	2	N.M.

Other (Income)/Expense, Net

During fiscal 2022, other (income)/expense, net was unfavorable compared to the prior-year period primarily due to a decrease in the value of our deferred compensation plan investments, which offsets fluctuations included within SG&A expenses and is discussed further in Note 9 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements." The year-over-year comparison was also adversely impacted from net losses on investments in non-marketable equity securities recognized during fiscal 2022 compared to net gains recognized in fiscal 2021.

Interest Expense, Net
Fiscal 2022 interest expense decreased from fiscal 2021 primarily due to less debt outstanding.

Loss On Early Extinguishment of Debt
During fiscal 2022 and 2021, we recognized losses of $10 million and $14 million, respectively, in connection with the redemption and early debt repurchases as described further in Note 6 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Provision for Income Taxes

Fluctuations in the effective tax rates are primarily due to the impact of the goodwill impairment charges recognized in the Medical segment in fiscal 2022, the opioid litigation accrual recognized in fiscal 2021, as well as the impact of the carryback claim filed in accordance with the CARES Act provision in fiscal year 2021.
A reconciliation of the provision based on the federal statutory income tax rate to our effective income tax rate from continuing operations is as follows (see Note 8 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information):

	2022 [1]	2021 [1]
Provision at Federal statutory rate	21.0 %	21.0 %
State and local income taxes, net of federal benefit	2.2	3.2
Tax effect of foreign operations	3.5	0.7
Nondeductible/nontaxable items [2]	1.2	1.6
Impact of Divestitures	(4.9)	7.0
Withholding Taxes [2]	(1.1)	9.0
Change in Valuation Allowances	3.5	(1.4)
US Taxes on International Income [2][3]	3.2	(6.7)
Impact of Resolutions with IRS and other related matters [2]	(0.6)	(13.6)
Opioid litigation	(0.5)	17.7
Goodwill Impairment	(49.5)	—
Loss Carryback Claims	—	(129.9)
Other [2]	0.8	1.7
Effective income tax rate	(21.2)%	(89.7)%

(1) The table represents the following: fiscal 2022 is pretax loss with tax expense and fiscal 2021 is pretax income with tax benefit.

(2) Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to current year presentation.

(3) Includes the tax impact of Global Intangible Low-Taxed Income ("GILTI") tax, the Foreign-Derived Intangible Income deduction and other foreign income that is taxable under the U.S. tax code.

Fiscal 2022 Compared to Fiscal 2021

During fiscal 2022 and 2021, the effective tax rate was (21.2) percent and (89.7) percent, respectively. Included in the effective tax rate for fiscal 2022 was $150 million of benefit related to the impairment of goodwill within the Medical segment. Included in the effective tax rate for fiscal 2021 was a $424 million benefit from the net operating loss carryback primarily related to a self-insurance pre-tax loss and net tax benefits related to the treatment of the tax impacts of the fiscal 2021 opioid litigation charges.

Tax Effects of Goodwill Impairment Charge
During fiscal 2022, we recognized year-to-date cumulative pre-tax charges of $2.1 billion for goodwill impairment related to the Medical Unit. The net tax benefit related to these charges was $150 million for fiscal 2022.

Tax Effects of Self-Insurance Pre-tax Loss

During fiscal 2021, our wholly-owned insurance subsidiary recorded a self-insurance pre-tax loss in its fiscal 2020 statutory financial statements primarily related to opioid litigation. This self-insurance pre-tax loss, which did not impact our pre-tax consolidated results, was deducted on our fiscal 2020 consolidated federal income tax return and contributed to a significant net operating loss for tax purposes. The net operating loss was carried back and applied to adjust our taxable income for fiscal 2015, 2016, 2017, and 2018 as permitted under the CARES Act enacted by the United States Congress in March 2020.

Accordingly, our provision for income taxes during fiscal 2021 included a $424 million benefit from the net operating loss carryback primarily to reflect the difference between the federal statutory income tax rate during the fiscal years from 2015 to 2018 (35 percent for fiscal 2015, 2016, and 2017 and 28 percent for fiscal 2018) and the current federal statutory income tax rate of 21 percent.

During fiscal 2022, we received a U.S. federal income tax refund of $966 million in connection with this matter. We also increased our non-current deferred tax liability by approximately $700 million during fiscal 2021 related to this matter.

Tax Effect of Opioid Litigation Charges

The net tax benefits associated with the opioid litigation charges were $228 million for fiscal 2021. Our tax benefits are estimates, which reflect our current assessment of the estimated future deductibility of the amount that may be paid under the accrual taken in connection with the opioid litigation and are net of unrecognized tax benefits of $219 million. The fiscal 2021 net tax benefit and unrecognized tax benefits were primarily due to our assessment of the specific terms of the Settlement Agreement. Our assumptions and estimates around this benefit and uncertain tax position require significant judgment and the actual amount of tax benefit may differ materially from these estimates.

Ongoing Audits

We file income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction, various U.S. state jurisdictions and various foreign jurisdictions. With few exceptions, we are subject to audit by taxing authorities for fiscal years 2015 through the current fiscal year. Tax laws are complex and subject to varying interpretations. New challenges related to future audits may adversely affect our effective tax rate or tax payments.

Overview

Product Candidate - PEDMARK™

Our only product candidate in the clinical stage of development is:

> PEDMARK™ (a unique formulation of sodium thiosulfate ("STS")). We have announced results of two Phase 3 clinical trials for the prevention of cisplatin induced hearing loss, or ototoxicity in children, including the pivotal Phase 3 study SIOPEL 6, "A Multicentre Open Label Randomised Phase 3 Trial of the Efficacy of Sodium Thiosulfate in Reducing Ototoxicity in Patients Receiving Cisplatin Chemotherapy for Standard Risk Hepatoblastoma," and the proof of concept Phase 3 study in collaboration with the Children's Oncology Group ("COG ACCL0431") "A Randomized Phase 3 Study of Sodium Thiosulfate for the Prevention of Cisplatin-Induced Ototoxicity in Children". COG ACCL0431 final results were published in the Lancet Oncology in 2016. SIOPEL 6 final results were published in the New England Journal of Medicine in June 2018.

We continue to focus our resources on the development of PEDMARK™.

PEDMARK™

We have licensed from Oregon Health & Science University ("OHSU") intellectual property rights for the use of PEDMARK™ as a chemoprotectant and are developing PEDMARK™ as a protectant against the hearing loss often caused by platinum-based anti-cancer agents in children. Preclinical and clinical studies conducted by OHSU and others have indicated that PEDMARK™ can effectively reduce the incidence of hearing loss caused by platinum-based anti-cancer agents.

Hearing loss among children receiving platinum-based chemotherapy is frequent, permanent and often severely disabling. The incidence of hearing loss in these children depends upon the dose and duration of chemotherapy, and many of these children require lifelong hearing aids. In addition, adults undergoing chemotherapy for several common malignancies, including ovarian cancer, testicular cancer, and particularly head and neck cancer and brain cancer, often receive intensive platinum-based therapy and may experience severe, irreversible hearing loss, particularly in the high frequencies.

In the U.S. and Europe, it is estimated that, annually, over 10,000 children may receive platinum-based chemotherapy. The incidence of ototoxicity depends upon the dose and duration of chemotherapy, and many of these children require lifelong hearing aids. There is currently no established preventive agent for this hearing loss and only expensive, technically difficult and sub-optimal cochlear (inner ear) implants have been shown to provide some benefit. Infants and young children that suffer ototoxicity at critical stages of development lack speech language development and literacy, and older children and adolescents lack social-emotional development and educational achievement.

In March 2018, PEDMARK™ received Breakthrough Therapy and Fast Track designations from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA"). Further, PEDMARK™ has received Orphan Drug Designation in the U.S. in this setting.

We initiated our rolling New Drug Application ("NDA") for PEDMARK™ for the prevention of ototoxicity induced by cisplatin chemotherapy patients 1 month to < 18 years of age with localized, non-metastatic, solid tumors with the FDA in December 2018. We announced that we had submitted full completion of the NDA in February 2020. The FDA set a Prescription Drug User Fee Act ("PDUFA") target action date of August 10, 2020 for the completion of the FDA's review. On August 10, 2020, we announced that we received a Complete Response Letter ("CRL") from the FDA regarding our NDA for PEDMARK™, which identified deficiencies in the third-party manufacturing facility that manufactures PEDMARK™ on our behalf. Importantly, no clinical safety or efficacy issues were identified during the review and there was no requirement for further clinical data.

In May 2021, we announced the resubmission of our NDA for PEDMARK™ and in June 2021 we further announced that the FDA accepted for filing the resubmission of our NDA and set a PDUFA target action date of November 27, 2021. On November 29, 2021, we announced that we received a CRL from the FDA regarding our NDA for PEDMARK™, which identified deficiencies in the third-party manufacturing facility that manufactures PEDMARK™ on our behalf. We are working to fully address the CRL, and we plan to resubmit our NDA for PEDMARK™ in the first quarter of 2022.

In August 2018, the Pediatric Committee ("PDCO") of the European Medicines Agency ("EMA") accepted our pediatric investigation plan (PIP) for sodium thiosulfate with the trade name Pedmarqsi for the condition of the prevention of platinum-induced hearing loss. An accepted PIP is a prerequisite for filing a Marketing Authorization Application ("MAA") for any new medicinal product in Europe. The indication targeted by our PIP is for the prevention of platinum-induced ototoxic hearing loss for standard risk hepatoblastoma (SR-HB). Additional tumor types of the proposed indication will be subject to the Committee for Medicinal Products for Human Use ("CHMP") assessment at the time of the MAA. No deferred clinical studies were required in the positive opinion given by PDCO. We were also advised that sodium thiosulfate (tradename to be determined) is eligible for submission of an application for a Pediatric Use Marketing Authorization ("PUMA"). A PUMA is a dedicated marketing authorization covering the indication and appropriate formulation for medicines developed exclusively for use in the pediatric population and provides data and market protection up to 10 years. Therefore, this decision allows us to proceed with the submission of a PUMA in the European Union (EU) with incentives of automatic access to the centralized procedure and up to 10 years of data and market protection. In February 2020, we announced that we had submitted a MAA for the prevention of ototoxicity induced by cisplatin chemotherapy patients 1 month to < 18 years of age with localized, non-metastatic, solid tumors.

Clinical Studies

PEDMARK™ has been studied by cooperative groups in two Phase 3 clinical studies of survival and reduction of ototoxicity, COG ACCL0431 and SIOPEL 6. Both studies have been completed. The COG ACCL0431 protocol enrolled one of five childhood cancers typically treated with intensive cisplatin therapy for localized and disseminated disease, including newly diagnosed hepatoblastoma, germ cell tumor, osteosarcoma, neuroblastoma, and medulloblastoma. SIOPEL 6 enrolled only hepatoblastoma patients with localized tumors.

SIOPEL 6

In October 2007, we announced that our collaborative partner, the International Childhood Liver Tumour Strategy Group, known as SIOPEL, a multi-disciplinary group of specialists under the umbrella of the International Society of Pediatric Oncology, had launched a randomized Phase 3 clinical trial SIOPEL 6 to investigate whether STS reduces hearing loss in standard risk hepatoblastoma (liver) cancer patients receiving cisplatin as a monotherapy.

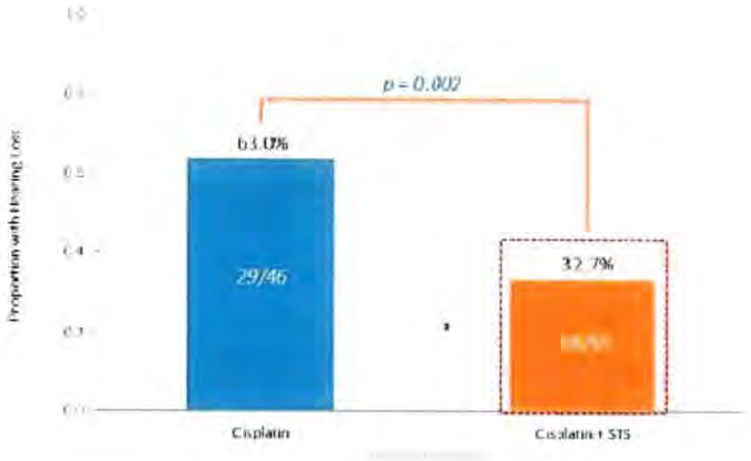
The study was initiated in October 2007 initially in the United Kingdom and completed enrollment at the end of 2014. 52 sites from 11 countries enrolled 109 evaluable patients. Under the terms of our agreement, SIOPEL conducted and funded all clinical activities and we provided drug, drug distribution and pharmacovigilance, or safety monitoring, for the study. SIOPEL 6 was completed in December 2014 and the final results of SIOPEL 6 were published in The New England Journal of Medicine in June 2018.

The primary objectives of SIOPEL 6 were:

- To assess the efficacy of STS to reduce the hearing impairment caused by cisplatin.
- To carefully monitor any potential impact of STS on response to cisplatin and survival.

SIOPEL 6 - Results

Background / Objectives:



Bilateral high-frequency hearing loss is a serious permanent side-effect of cisplatin therapy, particularly debilitating when occurring in young children. STS has been shown to reduce cisplatin induced hearing loss. SIOPEL 6 was a Phase 3 randomized trial to assess the efficacy of STS in reducing ototoxicity in young children treated with cisplatin (Cis) for Standard Risk Hepatoblastoma (SR-HB).

Design / Methods:

Newly diagnosed patients with SR-HB, defined as tumor limited to PRETEXT I, II or III, no portal or hepatic vein involvement, no intra-abdominal extrahepatic disease, AFP >100ng/ml and no metastases, were randomized to Cis or Cis+STS for 4 preoperative and 2 postoperative courses. Cisplatin 80mg/m2 was administered over 6 hours, STS 20g/m2 was administered intravenously over 15 minutes exactly 6 hours after stopping cisplatin. Tumor response was assessed after 2 and 4 preoperative cycles with serum AFP and liver imaging. In case of progressive disease (PD), STS was to be stopped and doxorubicin 60mg/m2 combined with cisplatin. The primary endpoint was centrally reviewed absolute hearing threshold, at the age of ≥3.5 years by pure tone audiometry.

Results:

109 randomized patients (52 Cisplatin only ("Cis") and 57 Cis+STS) were evaluable. The combination of Cis+STS was generally well tolerated. With a patient follow-up time of 52 months, the three-year Event Free Survival ("EFS") for Cis was 78.8% Cisplatin and 82.1% for the Cis + STS. The three-year Overall Survival ("OS") is 92.3% for Cis and 98.2% for Cis + STS. Treatment failure defined as Progressive Disease ("PD") at 4 cycles was equivalent in both arms. Among the first 101 evaluable patients, hearing loss occurred in 29/46=63.0% under Cis and in 18/55=32.7% under Cis +STS, corresponding to a relative risk of 0.52(P=0.002).

Conclusions:

This randomized Phase 3 trial in SR-HB of cisplatin versus cisplatin plus STS shows that the addition of STS significantly reduces the incidence of cisplatin-induced hearing loss without any evidence of tumor protection.

COG ACCL0431

In March 2008, we announced the activation of a Phase 3 trial with STS to prevent hearing loss in children receiving cisplatin-based chemotherapy in collaboration with the Children's Oncology Group. The goal of this Phase 3 study was to evaluate in a multi-centered, randomized trial whether STS is an effective and safe means of preventing hearing loss in children receiving cisplatin-based chemotherapy for newly diagnosed germ cell, liver (hepatoblastoma), brain (medulloblastoma), nerve tissue (neuroblastoma) or bone (osteosarcoma) cancers. Eligible children, one to eighteen years of age, were to receive cisplatin according to their disease-specific regimen and, upon enrollment in this study, were randomized to receive STS or not. Efficacy of STS was determined through comparison of hearing sensitivity at follow-up relative to baseline measurements using standard audiometric techniques. The Children's Oncology Group was responsible for funding the clinical activities for the study and we were responsible for providing the drug, drug distribution and pharmacovigilance, or safety monitoring, for the study. The trial completed enrollment of 131 pediatric patients in the first quarter of 2012. The final results of COG ACCL0431 were published in Lancet Oncology in December 2016.

COG ACCL0431 - Results

COG Study ACCL0431, "A Randomized Phase 3 Study of Sodium Thiosulfate for the Prevention of Cisplatin-Induced Ototoxicity in Children," finished enrollment of 131 patients of which 125 were eligible patients. The patients had been previously diagnosed with childhood cancers.

The primary endpoint was to evaluate the efficacy of STS for prevention of hearing loss in children receiving cisplatin chemotherapy (hypothesis: 50% relative reduction in hearing loss).

Secondary endpoints included:

- Compare change in mean hearing thresholds.
- Compare incidence of other Grade 3/4 toxicities (renal and hematological).
- Monitor Event Free Survival (EFS) and Overall Survival (OS) in two groups.

125 eligible subjects were enrolled with germ cell tumor (32), osteosarcoma (29), neuroblastoma (26), medulloblastoma/pnet (26), hepatoblastoma (7), or other (5). Of these, 104 subjects (64 male and 29 <5 years old) were evaluable for the primary endpoint.

Subjects were randomized either to no treatment (control) or treatment with STS 16 grams/m2 IV over 15 minutes, 6 hours after each cisplatin dose. Hearing was measured using standard audiometry for age and data was reviewed centrally using American Speech-Language-Hearing Association criteria.

The proportion of subjects with hearing loss assessed at 4 weeks post the final cisplatin dose (primary endpoint):

- The proportion of hearing loss for STS vs. Control was 28.6% (14/49) vs. 56.4% (31/55), respectively (p=0.004).
- In a predefined subgroup of patients less than 5 years old with 29 eligible subjects: STS vs. Control was 21.4% (3/14) vs. 73.3% (11/15), respectively (p=0.005).

Conclusions:

- STS protects against cisplatin-induced hearing loss in children across a heterogeneous range of tumor types, with even stronger efficacy in the protocol predefined subgroup of patients under five years old, and is not associated with serious adverse events attributed to its use.
- Further potential clinical use will be informed by the final results of SIOPEL 6 study.

Intellectual Property

Patents are important to developing and protecting our competitive position. Our general policy is to seek patent protection in the United States, major European countries, Japan, Canada and other jurisdictions as appropriate for our compounds and methods. U.S. patents, as well as most foreign patents, are generally effective for 20 years from the date the earliest (priority) application was filed; however, U.S. patents that issue on applications filed before June 8, 1995 may be effective until 17 years from the issue date, if that is later than the twenty-year date. In some cases, the patent term may be extended to recapture a portion of the term lost during the U.S. FDA regulatory review or because of U.S. Patent and Trademark Office ("USPTO") delays in prosecuting the application. The duration of foreign patents varies similarly, in accordance with local law. Currently, we have licensed from OHSU one U.S. set to expire in December 2038. Further, in September 2020, a U.S. patent was issued to us that captures the unique anhydrous form of the active ingredient in our PEDMARK™ product, as well as related methods of synthesis. This patent is eligible for listing in the FDA Orange Book, and reflects our strategy to expand and diversify our intellectual property portfolio to obtain protection for our PEDMARK™ product.

On October 29, 2021, Hope Medical Enterprises, Inc. ("Hope") filed two petitions for inter partes review ("IPR") with the Patent Trial and Appeal Board ("PTAB") of the USPTO. In its petitions, Hope seeks to invalidate our U.S. Patent No. 10,596,190 ("US '190"), which is exclusively in-licensed from Oregon Health & Science University ("OHSU") and relates to a method of using our PEDMARK™ product, and our U.S. Patent No. 10,792,363 ("US '363"), which relates to an anhydrous form of STS, which is the active pharmaceutical ingredient in our PEDMARK™ product. US '190 was issued on March 24, 2020. US '363 was issued on October 6, 2020. We filed preliminary responses to the petitions in February 2022, and thereafter, the PTAB has three months to decide whether to institute IPR proceedings. If the PTAB institutes one or both reviews, the final written decision(s) will be due about one year after the PTAB's decision to institute IPR proceedings, and following additional submissions by the parties. Any appeals of a PTAB decision would delay any final outcome. We plan to vigorously defend our intellectual property rights related to PEDMARK™. However, we are unable to predict the outcome of these petitions, and an invalidation of one or both of these patents may have a material adverse effect on our ability to protect our rights in PEDMARK™ beyond the periods of marketing exclusivity for PEDMARK™ possible in the United States under Orphan Drug Designation and in Europe under European Market Exclusivity for Pediatric Use ("PUMA"). We obtained U.S. Orphan Drug Designation for the use of PEDMARK™ in the prevention of platinum-induced ototoxicity in pediatric patients in 2004. We plan to pursue PUMA upon approval of the MAA, which would allow for 10 years of market exclusivity upon PUMA approval.

On January 11, 2022, our licensor OHSU filed a Request for Supplemental Examination of US '190 requesting the consideration by the USPTO of certain prior art references, including references cited by Hope in its Petition for IPR that are relevant to the granted claim of the patent. On January 28, 2022, the USPTO found that the cited references constitute a substantial new question of patentability and ordered an ex parte reexamination of the single US '190 claim of pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 257. We are unable to predict the outcome of the ex parte reexamination. If the USPTO does not uphold the '190 claim as granted or in amended form, our ability to protect our PEDMARK™ product beyond Orphan Drug Designation and PUMA may be adversely affected.

Our success is significantly dependent on our ability to obtain and maintain patent protection for PEDMARK™, both in the United States and abroad. Our patent position and proprietary rights are subject to various risks and uncertainties. Please read the "Risk Factors" in Item 1A of this Annual Report for information about certain risks and uncertainties that may affect our patent position and proprietary rights.

We also rely upon unpatented confidential information to remain competitive. We protect such information principally through confidentiality agreements with our employees, consultants, outside scientific collaborators, and other advisers. In the case of our employees, these agreements also provide, in compliance with relevant law, that inventions and other intellectual property conceived by such employees during their employment shall be our exclusive property.

Corporate Relationships

License Agreement with Oregon Health & Science University

On February 20, 2013, we entered into a new exclusive license agreement with OHSU for exclusive worldwide license rights to intellectual property directed to thiol-based compounds, including PEDMARK™, and their use in oncology (the "OHSU Agreement"). OHSU will receive certain milestone payments, royalty on net sales for licensed products and a royalty on any consideration received from sublicensing of the licensed technology.

On May 18, 2015, we negotiated an amendment ("Amendment 1") to the OHSU Agreement, which expands our exclusive license to include the use of N-acetylcysteine as a standalone therapy and/or in combination with STS for the prevention of ototoxicity induced by chemotherapeutic agents to treat cancers. Further, Amendment 1 adjusts select milestone payments entered in the OHSU Agreement including but not limited to the royalty rate on net sales for licensed products, royalty rate from sublicensing of the licensed technology and the fee payable upon the regulatory approval of a licensed product.

The term of the OHSU Agreement as amended by Amendment 1 expires on the date of the last to expire claim(s) covered in the patents licensed to us or 8 years, whichever is later. In the event a licensed product obtains regulatory approval and is covered by the Orphan Drug Designation, the parties will in good faith amend the term of the agreement. PEDMARK™ is currently protected by methods of use patent that we exclusively license from OHSU that that expire in the United States in 2038 The OHSU Agreement is terminable by either us or OHSU in the event of a material breach of the agreement by either party after 45 days prior written notice. We also have the right to terminate the OHSU Agreement at any time upon 60 days prior written notice and payment of all fees due to OHSU under the OHSU Agreement.

COVID-19

Our operations may be affected by the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. The ultimate disruption that may be caused by the pandemic is uncertain; however, it may result in a material adverse impact on our financial position, operations and cash flows. Possible effects may include, but are not limited to, disruption to our product launch, which includes the ability of sales reps to communicate with oncologists, absenteeism in our labor workforce, unavailability of products and supplies used in operations, and a decline in value of our assets, including inventories, property and equipment, and marketable securities.

COVID-19 has not had a material effect on our operations to date as we have historically had a workforce which works remotely.

Competition

The biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries are extremely competitive. Our potential competitors are many in number and include major and mid-sized pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies. Many of our potential competitors have significantly more financial, technical and other resources than we do, which may give them a competitive advantage. In addition, they may have substantially more experience in effecting strategic combinations, in-licensing technology, developing drugs, obtaining regulatory approvals and manufacturing and marketing products. We cannot give any assurances that we can compete effectively with these other biotechnology and pharmaceutical companies. We expect that if PEDMARK™ achieves regulatory approval for sale, it will compete on the basis of drug efficacy, safety, patient convenience, reliability, ease of manufacture, price, marketing, distribution, and patent protection, among other variables. Our competitors may develop technologies or drugs that are more effective, safer or more affordable than any we may develop.

We are not aware of any commercially available agents that reduce the incidence of hearing loss associated with the use of platinum-based anti-cancer agents, for which purpose we are developing PEDMARK™. There are several potential competitive agents with activity in preclinical or limited clinical settings. These include: D-methionine, an amino acid that has been shown to protect against hearing loss in experimental settings but was demonstrated to be inferior to PEDMARK™ in comparative studies; SPI-3005, an oral agent primarily being developed by Sound Pharmaceuticals for noise and age-related hearing loss but in early Phase II trials for chemotherapy related hearing loss, which mimics glutathione peroxidase and induces the intracellular induction of glutathione; N-acetylcysteine and amifostine, which have shown effectiveness (but less than PEDMARK™) in experimental systems; and Vitamin E, salicylate and tiopronin, which have all demonstrated moderate activity in rat models to protect against cisplatin-induced ototoxicity, but no clinical trials have been completed and DB-020 a clinical stage candidate in an ongoing Phase1b trial being developed by Decibel Therapeutics. Cochlear implants, which are small electronic devices that are surgically placed in the inner ear to assist with certain types of deafness, are utilized to offer some relief for hearing loss associated with the use of platinum-based anti-cancer agents, but are often suboptimal.

Manufacturing and Clinical Supplies

We do not own or operate manufacturing facilities for the production of commercial or clinical quantities of any product, including PEDMARK™. We currently rely on a small number of third-party manufacturers to produce compounds used in our product development and commercial activities and expect to continue to do so to meet the preclinical and clinical requirements of our potential products and for all of our commercial needs. We currently have long-term commercial supply agreements with certain third-party manufacturers. Our manufacturing and processing agreements require that all third-party contract manufacturers and processors produce active pharmaceutical ingredients and finished products in accordance with the FDA's current Good Manufacturing Practices ("cGMP") and all other applicable laws and regulations. We maintain confidentiality agreements with potential and existing manufacturers in order to protect our proprietary rights related to PEDMARK™.

Some of the critical materials and components used in manufacturing PEDMARK™ are sourced from single suppliers. An interruption in the supply of a key material could significantly delay our research and development process or increase our expenses for commercialization or development of PEDMARK™. Specialized materials must often be manufactured for the first time for use in drug delivery technologies, or materials may be used in the technologies in a manner that is different from their customary commercial uses. The quality of materials can be critical to the performance of a drug delivery technology, so a reliable source that provides a consistent supply of materials is important. Materials or components needed for our drug delivery technologies may be difficult to obtain on commercially reasonable terms, particularly when relatively small quantities are required or if the materials traditionally have not been used in pharmaceutical products.

Government Regulation

The production and manufacture of our product candidate and our research and development activities are subject to significant regulation for safety, efficacy and quality by various governmental authorities around the world. Before new pharmaceutical products may be sold in the U.S. and other countries, clinical trials of the product must be conducted, and the results submitted to appropriate regulatory agencies for approval. Clinical trial programs must establish efficacy, determine an appropriate dose and regimen, and define the conditions for safe use. This is a high-risk process that requires stepwise clinical studies in which the candidate product must successfully meet predetermined endpoints. In the U.S., the results of the preclinical and clinical testing of a product are then submitted to the FDA in the form of a Biologics License Application or a NDA. In response to these submissions, the FDA may grant marketing approval, request additional information or deny the application if it determines the application does not provide an adequate basis for approval. Similar submissions are required by authorities in other jurisdictions who independently assess the product and may reach the same or different conclusions.

The receipt of regulatory approval often takes a number of years, involves the expenditure of substantial resources and depends on a number of factors, including the severity of the disease in question, the availability of alternative treatments and the risks and benefits demonstrated in clinical trials. On occasion, regulatory authorities may require larger or additional studies, leading to unanticipated delay or expense. Even after initial approval from the FDA or other regulatory agencies has been obtained, further clinical trials may be required to provide additional data on safety and effectiveness. Additional trials are required to gain clearance for the use of a product as a treatment for indications other than those initially approved. Furthermore, the FDA and other regulatory agencies require companies to disclose clinical trial results. Failure to disclose such results within applicable time periods could result in penalties, including civil monetary penalties.

In Canada, these activities are subject to regulation by Health Canada's Therapeutic Products Directorate ("TPD") and the rules and regulations promulgated under the Food and Drug Act. In the United States, drugs and biological products are subject to regulation by the FDA. The FDA requires licensing of manufacturing and contract research facilities, carefully controlled research and testing of products and governmental review and approval of results prior to marketing therapeutic products. Additionally, the FDA requires adherence to current Good Laboratory Practices ("cGLP") as well as current Good Clinical Practices ("cGCP") during clinical testing and cGMP and adherence to labeling and supply controls. The systems of new drug approvals in Canada and the United States are substantially similar and are generally considered to be among the most rigorous in the world.

Generally, the steps required for drug approval in Canada and the United States, specifically in cancer related therapies, include:

- Preclinical Studies: Preclinical studies, also known as non-clinical studies, primarily involve evaluations of pharmacology, toxic effects, pharmacokinetics and metabolism of a drug in animals to provide evidence of the relative safety and bioavailability of the drug prior to its administration to humans in clinical studies. A typical program of preclinical studies takes 18 to 24 months to complete. The results of the preclinical studies as well as information related to the chemistry and comprehensive descriptions of proposed human clinical studies are then submitted as part of the Investigational New Drug Application ("IND") to the FDA, a Clinical Trial

Application to the TPD, or similar submission to other foreign regulatory bodies. This is necessary in Canada, the United States and most other countries prior to undertaking clinical studies. Additional preclinical studies are conducted during clinical development to further characterize the toxic effects of a drug prior to submitting a marketing application.

- Phase 1 Clinical Trials: Most Phase 1 clinical trials take approximately one year to complete and are usually conducted on a small number of healthy human subjects to evaluate the drug's safety, tolerability and pharmacokinetics. In some cases, such as cancer indications, Phase 1 clinical trials are conducted in patients rather than healthy volunteers.

- Phase 2 Clinical Trials: Phase 2 clinical trials typically take one to two years to complete and are generally carried out on a relatively small number of patients, generally between 15 and 50, in a specific setting of targeted disease or medical condition, in order to provide an estimate of the drug's effectiveness in that specific setting. This phase also provides additional safety data and serves to identify possible common short-term side effects and risks in a somewhat larger group of patients. Phase 2 testing frequently relates to a specific disease, such as breast or lung cancer. Some contemporary methods of developing drugs, particularly molecularly targeted therapies, do not require broad testing in specific diseases, and instead permit testing in subsets of patients expressing the particular marker. In some cases, such as cancer indications, the company sponsoring the new drug may submit a marketing application to seek accelerated approval of the drug based on evidence of the drug's effect on a "surrogate endpoint" from Phase II clinical trials. A surrogate endpoint is a laboratory finding or physical sign that may not be a direct measurement of how a patient feels, functions or survives, but is still considered likely to predict therapeutic benefit for the patient. If accelerated approval is received, the company sponsoring the new drug must continue testing to demonstrate that the drug indeed provides therapeutic benefit to the patient.

- Phase 3 Clinical Trials: Phase 3 clinical trials typically take two to four years to complete and involve tests on a much larger population of patients suffering from the targeted condition or disease. These studies involve conducting controlled testing and/or uncontrolled testing in an expanded patient population, numbering several hundred to several thousand patients, at separate test sites, known as multi-center trials, to establish clinical safety and effectiveness. These trials also generate information from which the overall benefit-risk relationship relating to the drug can be determined and provide a basis for drug labeling. Phase 3 trials are generally the most time consuming and expensive part of a clinical trial program. In some instances, governmental authorities, such as the FDA, will allow a single Phase 3 clinical trial to serve as a pivotal efficacy trial to support a marketing application.

- Marketing Application: Upon completion of Phase 3 clinical trials, the pharmaceutical company sponsoring the new drug assembles all the chemistry, preclinical and clinical data and submits it to the TPD or the FDA as part of a New Drug Submission in Canada or a NDA in the United States. The marketing application is then reviewed by the applicable regulatory body for approval to market the product. The review process generally takes twelve to eighteen months.

Any clinical trials that we conduct may not be successfully completed, either in a satisfactory time period or at all. The typical time periods described above may vary substantially and may be materially longer. In addition, the FDA and its counterparts in other countries have considerable discretion to discontinue trials if they become aware of any significant safety issues or convincing evidence that a therapy is not effective for the indication being tested. It is possible the FDA and its counterparts in other countries may not (i) allow clinical trials to proceed at any time after receiving an IND, (ii) allow further clinical development phases after authorizing a previous phase, or (iii) approve marketing of a drug after the completion of clinical trials.

While European, U.S. and Canadian regulatory systems require that medical products be safe, effective, and manufactured according to high quality standards, the drug approval process in Europe differs from that in the United States and Canada and may require us to perform additional preclinical or clinical testing regardless of whether FDA or TPD approval has been obtained. The amount of time required to obtain necessary approvals may be longer or shorter than that required for FDA or TPD approval. European Union Regulations and Directives generally classify health care products either as medicinal products, medical devices or in vitro diagnostics. For medicinal products, marketing approval may be sought using either the centralized procedure of the European Agency for the Evaluation of Medicinal Products ("EMEA"), or the decentralized, mutual recognition process. The centralized procedure, which is mandatory for some biotechnology derived products, results in an approval recommendation from the EMEA to all member states, while the European Union mutual recognition process involves country by country approval.

The NDA Approval Process

Assuming successful completion of the required clinical testing, the results of the preclinical studies and clinical trials, including negative or ambiguous results as well as positive findings, together with detailed information relating to the product's chemistry, manufacture, controls and proposed labeling, among other things, are submitted to the FDA as part of an NDA to support approval to market the product for one or more indications. In most cases, the submission of an NDA is subject to a substantial application user fee. Fennec anticipates a waiver of the application user fee related to its NDA for PEDMARK™.

The FDA is required to conduct a preliminary review of an NDA within the first 60 days after submission, before accepting it for filing, to determine whether it is sufficiently complete to permit a substantive review. The FDA may accept the NDA for filing, potentially refuse to file the NDA due to deficiencies but work with the applicant to rectify the deficiencies (in which case the NDA is filed upon resolution of the deficiencies) or refuse to file the NDA. The FDA must notify the applicant of a refusal to file a decision within 60 days after the original receipt date of the application. If the FDA refuses to file the NDA the applicant may resubmit the NDA with the deficiencies addressed. The resubmitted NDA is considered a new application subject to a new review goal, as described below. If the NDA is refused for filing, the FDA will refund 75 percent of the application fee. Upon resubmission, a new application fee will be required, unless the applicant is eligible for a waiver or reduction. The resubmitted application is also subject to review before the FDA accepts it for filing. Once an NDA is accepted for filing, the FDA begins an in-depth substantive review. Under PDUFA, and the FDA's commitments under the current PDUFA reauthorization, the FDA has a goal of reviewing and acting on 90% of standard non-priority NDA applications for drugs that are not new molecular entities within ten months from the FDA's receipt of the NDA.

The FDA reviews an NDA to determine, among other things, whether the drug is safe and effective for its intended use and whether the facility in which it is manufactured, processed, packaged or held meets standards designed to assure the product's continued safety, quality and purity. The FDA is required to refer an application for a novel drug to an advisory committee or explain why such referral was not made. An advisory committee is a panel of independent experts, including clinicians and other scientific experts, that reviews, evaluates and provides a recommendation in response to specific questions raised by the FDA, which may include whether the application should be approved and under what conditions. The FDA is not bound by the recommendations of an advisory committee, but it considers such recommendations carefully when making decisions.

Before approving an NDA, the FDA may inspect the facility or facilities where the product is manufactured. The FDA will not approve an application unless it determines that the manufacturing processes and facilities are in compliance with cGMP requirements and adequate to assure consistent production of the product within required specifications. Additionally, before approving an NDA, the FDA will typically inspect one or more clinical investigational sites to evaluate the integrity of the data and confirm compliance with cGCP.

After the FDA evaluates the NDA and conducts its inspections, it may issue an approval letter or a CRL. An approval letter authorizes the commercial marketing of the drug subject to specific prescribing information for specific indications and, if applicable, specific post-approval requirements. A CRL indicates that the review cycle of the application is complete and the application is not ready for approval in its present form. After receiving a CRL, the applicant must decide within twelve months (subject to extension), if it wants to resubmit the NDA addressing the deficiencies identified by the FDA in the CRL, withdraw the NDA, or request an opportunity for a hearing to challenge the FDA's determination. A CRL may require additional clinical data and/or an additional pivotal Phase 3 clinical trial(s), and/or other significant, expensive and time-consuming requirements related to clinical trials, nonclinical studies or manufacturing. Even if such data are submitted, the FDA may ultimately decide that the NDA does not satisfy the criteria for approval. Data from clinical trials are not always conclusive and the FDA may interpret data differently than we interpret data.

The FDA also may require implementation of a Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy ("REMS"), to mitigate any identified or suspected serious risks. The REMS could include a medication guide, physician communication plan, assessment plan and elements to assure safe use, such as restricted distribution methods, patient registries or other risk minimization tools.

The drug testing and approval process requires substantial time, effort and financial resources, and may take several years to complete. Data obtained from clinical activities are not always conclusive and may be susceptible to varying interpretations, which could delay, limit or prevent marketing approval. The FDA may not grant marketing approval on a timely basis, or at all.

Even if the FDA approves a product, it may limit the approved indications for use for the product. The FDA requires that the approved product labeling include information regarding contraindications, warnings or precautions. It may also require that post-approval studies, including a long-term registry, be conducted to further assess a drug's safety after approval, require testing and surveillance programs to monitor the product after commercialization, or impose other conditions, including distribution restrictions or other risk management mechanisms, which can materially affect the potential market and profitability of the product. The FDA may prevent or limit further marketing of a product based on the results of post-marketing studies or surveillance programs. After approval, some types of changes to the approved product, such as adding new indications or labeling claims or manufacturing changes may be subject to further testing requirements and FDA review and approval. Also after approval, the FDA may require labeling changes as new information becomes known, particularly if new risks are identified, such as unexpected adverse events. The FDA has the authority to prevent or limit further marketing of a drug based on the results of these post-marketing studies and programs or other information that may become known after approval.

Other Regulatory Requirements.

Drugs manufactured or distributed pursuant to FDA approvals are subject to pervasive and continuing regulation by the FDA, including, among other things, annual establishment registration, product listing, user fees, compliance with requirements regarding cGMP, recordkeeping, periodic reporting, product sampling and distribution, advertising and promotion, and adverse drug experience monitoring and reporting with the product. After approval, most changes to the approved product labeling, such as adding new indications, are subject to prior FDA review and approval. Also, any post-approval changes in the drug substance, drug product, production process, quality controls, equipment, or facilities that have a substantial potential to have an adverse effect on the identity, strength, quality, purity, or potency of the drug product are subject to FDA review and approval. Any such changes that have a moderate potential to have an adverse effect on the identity, strength, quality, purity, or potency of the drug product may not be implemented until 30 days after the FDA receives a supplement for the change. All manufacturing facilities, as well as records required to be maintained under FDA regulations, are subject to inspection or audit by the FDA. In addition, manufacturers generally are required to pay annual user fees for approved products and a user fee for the submission of each new or supplemental application.

The FDA may impose a number of post-approval requirements as a condition of approval of an NDA. For example, the FDA may require post-approval testing, including Phase 4 clinical trials, and surveillance to further assess and monitor the product's safety and effectiveness after commercialization. The Food and Drug Administration Amendments Act of 2007 gave the FDA the authority to require a REMS from drug manufacturers to manage a known or potential serious risk associated with the drug and to ensure that the benefits of a drug outweigh its risks. Examples of a REMS include, but are not limited to, a Medication Guide, a patient package insert to help mitigate a serious risk of the drug, and a communication plan to healthcare providers to support the implementation of an element of the REMS.

In addition, drug manufacturers and other entities involved in the manufacture and distribution of approved drugs are required to register their establishments with the FDA and register or obtain permits or licenses in states where they do business, and are subject to periodic unannounced inspections by the FDA and state regulatory authorities with jurisdiction over their activities to determine compliance with regulatory requirements. A drug manufacturer is responsible for ensuring that its third-party contractors operate in compliance with applicable laws and regulations including the cGMP regulation. The failure of a drug manufacturer or any of its third-party contractors to comply with federal or state laws or regulations may subject the drug manufacturer to possible legal or regulatory action, such as an untitled letter, warning letter, recall, suspension of manufacturing or distribution or both, suspension of state permit or license, seizure of product, import detention, injunctive action, and civil and criminal penalties.

Changes to the manufacturing process are strictly regulated and often require prior FDA approval before being implemented. FDA regulations also require a drug manufacturer to conduct investigations and implement appropriate corrective actions to address any deviations from cGMP requirements and impose reporting and documentation requirements upon the manufacturer and any third-party contractors (including contract manufacturers and laboratories) involved in the manufacture of a drug product. Accordingly, manufacturers must continue to expend significant time, money and effort to maintain and ensure ongoing cGMP compliance and to confirm and ensure ongoing cGMP compliance of their third-party contractors.

Once an approval is granted, the FDA may withdraw the approval if, among other things, there is information that the drug is unsafe for use under the approved conditions of use; new information or evidence that, evaluated together with evidence available to the FDA at the time of approval, shows that the drug is not shown to be safe for use under the approved conditions of use; new information that, evaluated together with the evidence available to the FDA at the time of approval, shows there is a lack of substantial evidence of effectiveness; the approved application contains an untrue statement of material fact; or that the required patient information was not submitted within 30 days after receiving notice from the FDA of the failure to submit such information. Later discovery of previously unknown problems with a product, including adverse events of unanticipated severity or frequency, or with manufacturing processes, or failure to comply with regulatory requirements, may result in revisions to the approved labeling to add new safety and risk information; imposition of a post-market study requirement to assess new safety risks; or implementation of a REMS that may include distribution or other restrictions.

The FDA closely regulates drug advertising and promotional activities, including promotion of an unapproved drug, direct-to-consumer advertising, dissemination of scientific information about a drug not on the approved labeling, off-label promotion, communications with payors and formulary committees, industry-sponsored scientific and educational activities, and promotional activities involving the internet and social media. A company's product claims must be true and not misleading, provide fair balance, provide adequate risk information, and be consistent with the product labeling approved by the FDA. Failure to comply with these requirements can lead to legal or regulatory actions including, among other things, warning letters, corrective advertising, injunction, violation and related penalties under the False Claims Act and can result in reputational and economic harm.

Physicians may prescribe FDA-approved drugs for uses that are not described in the product's labeling and that differ from those uses tested by the manufacturer. Such off-label uses occur across medical specialties. Physicians may believe that such off-label uses are the best treatment for many patients in varied circumstances. The FDA does not regulate the behavior of physicians in their choice of treatments for their individual patients. The FDA does, however, regulate manufacturers' communications about their drug products and interprets the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act ("FFDCA") to prohibit pharmaceutical companies from promoting their FDA-approved drug products for uses that are not specified in the FDA-approved labeling. Companies that market drugs for off-label uses have been subject to warning letters, related costly litigation, criminal prosecution, and civil liability under the FFDCA and the False Claims Act.

In addition, the distribution of prescription pharmaceutical products is subject to the Prescription Drug Marketing Act ("PDMA"), as amended by the Drug Supply Chain Security Act, which regulates the distribution of drug and drug samples at the federal level, and sets minimum standards for the registration and regulation of wholesale drug distributors by the states.

Good Clinical Practices

The FDA and other regulatory agencies promulgate regulations and standards, commonly referred to as current Good Clinical Practices, for designing, conducting, monitoring, auditing and reporting the results of clinical trials to ensure that the data and results are accurate and that the trial participants are adequately protected. The FDA and other regulatory agencies enforce cGCP through periodic inspections of trial sponsors, principal investigators and trial sites. If our study sites fail to comply with applicable cGCP, the clinical data generated in our clinical trials may be deemed unreliable and relevant regulatory agencies may require us to perform additional clinical trials before approving our marketing applications.

Good Manufacturing Practices

The FDA and other regulatory agencies regulate and inspect equipment, facilities and processes used in the manufacture of pharmaceutical and biological products prior to approving a product. If, after receiving approval from regulatory agencies, a company makes a material change in manufacturing equipment, location or process, additional regulatory review and approval may be required. All facilities and manufacturing techniques that may be used for the manufacture of our products must comply with applicable regulations governing the production of pharmaceutical products known as Good Manufacturing Practices.

Orphan Drug Act

Under the Orphan Drug Act, the FDA may grant orphan drug designation to drugs intended to treat a "rare disease or condition," which generally is a disease or condition that affects fewer than 200,000 individuals in the U.S. If a product which has an orphan drug designation subsequently receives the first FDA approval for that drug for the indication for which it has such designation, the product is entitled to orphan exclusivity, i.e., the FDA may not approve any other application submitted by a different applicant to market the same drug for the same indication for a period of seven years following marketing approval, except in certain very limited circumstances, such as if the later product is shown to be clinically superior to the approved product with orphan drug exclusivity. Legislation similar to the Orphan Drug Act has been enacted in other countries, including within the European Union.

Pediatric Marketing Use Authorization

The PUMA approval is typically granted by the European Commission, based on a review by the European Medicines Agency, and is intended exclusively for pediatric (patients under 18 years of age) use. Such PUMA approval is ultimately valid in all countries within the European Economic Area (which excludes the United Kingdom as of February 1, 2020).

The PUMA was introduced by the EU Paediatric Regulation for medicines that are:

- Normally contain an already authorized active ingredient;
- Are no longer covered by a supplementary protection certificate ("SPC") or a patent that qualifies for a SPC;
- Are to be exclusively developed for use in children.

The PUMA process was established to make it more efficient for pharmaceutical companies to invest in the development of drugs for children. PUMA drugs receive 8 plus 2 years of regulatory data and marketing protection. and the applications are, in part, exempt from fees. The regulatory protection does not prevent off-label use of other drugs with the same active substance and indication for adults, nor pharmacy compounding.

Other Laws

Our present and future business has been and will continue to be subject to various other laws and regulations. Various laws, regulations and recommendations relating to safe working conditions, laboratory practices, the experimental use of animals, and the purchase, storage, movement, import and export and use and disposal of hazardous or potentially hazardous substances, including radioactive compounds and infectious disease agents, used in connection with our research work are or may be applicable to our activities. Certain agreements entered into by us involving exclusive license rights may be subject to national or supranational antitrust regulatory control, the effect of which cannot be predicted. The extent of government regulation, which might result from future legislation or administrative action, cannot accurately be predicted.

Research and Development

Our research and development efforts have been focused on the development of PEDMARK™ since 2013.

We have established relationships with contract research organizations ("CROs"), universities and other institutions, which we utilize to perform many of the day-to-day activities associated with our drug development. Where possible, we have sought to include leading scientific investigators and advisors to enhance our internal capabilities. Research and development issues are reviewed internally by our executive management and supporting scientific team.

Research and development expenses totaled $5.0 million and $5.1 million for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020, respectively. We have decreased slightly our research and development expenses related to PEDMARK™ as our efforts have maintained over fiscal 2020 and 2021 with a mix of pre-commercialization activities with some continued regulatory and manufacturing expenses associated with the resubmission of the NDA for PEDMARK™ in response to the CRLs discussed above under the heading "Business – Overview – Product Candidate" and elsewhere in this Annual Report.

Our product candidate still requires significant, time-consuming and costly research and development, testing and regulatory clearances. In developing our product candidate, we are subject to risks of failure that are inherent in the development of products based on innovative technologies. For example, it is possible that our product candidate will be ineffective or toxic, or will otherwise fail to receive the necessary regulatory clearances. There is a risk that our product candidate will be uneconomical to manufacture or market or will not achieve market acceptance. There is also a risk that third parties may hold proprietary rights that preclude us from marketing our product candidate or that others will market a superior or equivalent product. As a result of these factors, we are unable to accurately estimate the nature, timing and future costs necessary to complete the development of this product candidate. In addition, we are unable to reasonably estimate the period when material net cash inflows could commence from the sale, licensing or commercialization of such product candidate, if ever.

Employees

At December 31, 2021, we had ten employees all of which are full time. In addition, we use independent contractors to perform certain of our daily operations.

Company Information

We incorporated under the Canada Business Corporations Act ("CBCA") in September 1996. In August 2011, we continued from the CBCA to the Business Corporations Act (British Columbia) (the "Continuance"). We have four wholly-owned subsidiaries: Oxiquant, Inc. and Fennec Pharmaceuticals, Inc., both Delaware corporations, Cadherin Biomedical Inc., a Canadian company, and Fennec Pharmaceuticals (EU) Limited ("Fennec Limited"), an Ireland company. With the exception of Fennec Pharmaceuticals, Inc., all subsidiaries are inactive.

Our corporate website is www.fennecpharma.com. We make our periodic and current reports, together with amendments to these reports, filed or furnished pursuant to Section 13(a) or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended ("Exchange Act"), available on our website, free of charge, as soon as reasonably practicable after such material is electronically filed with, or furnished to, the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). Members of the public may also read and copy any materials we file with, or furnish to, the SEC at the SEC's Public Reference Room at 100 F Street, NE, Washington, DC 20549. To obtain information on the operation of the Public Reference Room, please call the SEC at 1-800-SEC-0330. The SEC maintains a website at www.sec.gov that contains the reports, proxy statements and other information that we file or furnish electronically with the SEC. The Canadian securities regulatory authorities maintain a website at www.sedar.com that contains our filings with the Canadian securities regulatory authorities. Item 1A. Risk Factors

An investment in our common shares involves a significant risk of loss. You should carefully read this entire Annual Report and should give particular attention to the following risk factors. You should recognize that other significant risks may arise in the future, which we cannot reasonably foresee at this time. Also, the risks that we now foresee might affect us to a greater or different degree than currently expected. There are a number of important factors that could cause our actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by any of our forward-looking statements in this Annual Report. These factors include, without limitation, the risk factors listed below, and other factors presented throughout this Annual Report and any other documents filed by us with the SEC and the Canadian securities regulators on SEDAR.

Risk Factors Summary

The following is a summary of the principal risks that could adversely affect our business, operations, and financial results. A more thorough discussion of these and other risks follows this summary.

Risks Related to Our Business

- We have a history of significant losses and have generated de minimis licensing revenue and no revenue from the sale of products since our inception.
- PEDMARK™ is currently our only product candidate. PEDMARK™ is still in development and there is no assurance that it will receive regulatory approval or that we will successfully develop it into a commercially viable product.
- We may be required to conduct additional clinical trials for PEDMARK™, which would be costly and time-consuming to complete.
- We may require additional financing to obtain regulatory approval for and commercialize PEDMARK™, and a failure to obtain this capital when needed on acceptable terms, or at all, could force us to delay, limit, reduce, or terminate our product development, other operations, or commercialization efforts.
- We are currently and may in the future be the target of securities litigation, which may be costly and time-consuming to defend.
- Our business may be adversely affected by the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.
- Our business involves environmental risks and potential exposure to environmental liabilities.

Risks Related to the Clinical Development and Marketing Approval of Our Product Candidate

- PEDMARK™ has not received marketing approval from the FDA or any comparable foreign authorities. These approval processes are costly, time-consuming, and inherently unpredictable, and it is possible that our applications for marketing approval will be denied.
- Our NDA for PEDMARK™ received a CRL from the FDA in August 2020 and in November 2021, which in each case identified deficiencies in the third-party manufacturing facility that manufactures PEDMARK™ on our behalf.

Risks Related to Commercialization of Our Product Candidate

- Even if we receive regulatory approvals for PEDMARK™, it will still be subject to continued regulatory review and could be subject to labeling and other restrictions.
- Sales of PEDMARK™, assuming it obtains regulatory approval, will depend on reimbursement by payers and these payers are subject to pressures to contain costs. In addition, coverage and reimbursement for PEDMARK™ may be limited or unavailable in certain market segments.
- PEDMARK™ targets diseases with small patient populations and we may not be effective at identifying patients.

- developments and projections relating to our competitors and industry;
- increases in costs and disruption of supply or shortage of raw materials;
- our and our licensors' ability to obtain, establish, maintain, protect and enforce intellectual property and proprietary protection for our products and technologies and to avoid claims of infringement, misappropriation or other violation of third-party intellectual property and proprietary rights;
- the outcome of any current or future litigation;
- our ability to hire and retain key management;

- our beliefs and objectives for future operations;
- our ability to maintain, protect, and enhance our intellectual property;
- our expectations concerning relationships with third parties, including strategic partners;

SUMMARY OF RISK FACTORS

Our business is subject to a number of risks which you should be aware of before making an investment decision. The risks described below are a summary of the principal risks associated with an investment in our common stock and are not the only risks we face. These risks are more fully described in the section titled "Risk Factors" of this report on Form 10-K and include the following:

Risks Related to Our Business, Industry and Existing Operating Revenue Stream

- Our products and product candidates are subject to time and cost intensive regulation and clinical testing. As a result, they may never be successfully developed or commercialized. Further, any approved product may be subject to post-marketing requirements, including studies or clinical trials, the results of which could cause such product to be withdrawn from the market.
- The majority of our sales derive from products that are without patent protection and/or are or may become subject to third-party generic competition, the introduction of new competitor products, or an increase in market share of existing competitor products, any of which could have a significant adverse impact on our operating income.
- We operate in a heavily regulated industry, and we cannot predict the impact that any future legislation or administrative or executive action may have on our operations.
- Our revenue is dependent mainly upon sales of our dermatology products and any setback relating to the sale of such products could impair our operating results.
- Our competitors may develop treatments for our products' target indications, which could limit our products' commercial opportunity and profitability.
- If our products do not achieve broad market acceptance, including by government and third-party payors, the revenues from any such product will likely be limited.

Risks Related to Our Reliance on Third Parties

- We rely on third parties for several aspects of our operations, which limits our control over product development, marketing, manufacturing, and sale processes and may hinder our ability to develop and commercialize our products in a cost-effective and timely manner.

Risks Related to Our Growth

- Our future growth may depend on our ability to identify, develop, and acquire or in-license products and integrate them into our operations, at which we may be unsuccessful.
- We may expend resources on unsuccessful product candidates or indications and may fail to capitalize on more profitable or successful product candidates or indications.

Risks Related to Development and Regulatory Approval of Our Product Candidates (DFD-29)

- The success of our business, including our ability to finance our company and generate additional revenue, may depend on the successful development and regulatory approval of the DFD-29 product candidate and any future product candidates that we may develop, in-license or acquire.
- Clinical drug development is very expensive, time consuming, and uncertain. Our clinical trials may fail to adequately demonstrate the safety and efficacy of our current or any future product candidates, which could prevent or delay regulatory approval and commercialization.

Table of Contents

- We expect to rely on third-party contract research organizations ("CROs") and other third parties to conduct and oversee our clinical trials, other aspects of our product development and our regulatory submission process for our product candidates. If these third parties do not meet our requirements, conduct the trials as required or otherwise provide services as anticipated, we may not be able to satisfy our contractual obligations or obtain regulatory approval for, or successfully commercialize, our current or any future product candidates when expected or at all.

Risks Pertaining to Intellectual Property, Generic Competition and Paragraph IV Litigation

- If we are unable to maintain sufficient patent protection for our technology and products, our competitors could develop and commercialize products similar or identical to ours.
- We may be required to expend substantial resources relating to litigation for infringement of third-party intellectual property rights or enforcing our or our licensors' patents.
- Any dispute with our licensors may affect our ability to develop or commercialize our product candidates.
- Generic drug companies may submit applications seeking approval to market generic versions of our products.
- In connection with these applications, generic drug companies may seek to challenge the validity and enforceability of our patents through litigation and/or with the United States Patent and Trademark Office ("USPTO"). Such challenges may subject us to costly and time-consuming litigation and/or USPTO proceedings.
- As a result of the loss of any patent protection from such litigation or USPTO proceedings, or the "at-risk" launch by a generic competitor of our products, our products could be sold at significantly lower prices, and we could lose a significant portion of sales of that product in a short period of time, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, operating results and prospects.
- The majority of our sales derive from products that are without patent protection and/or are or may become subject to third-party generic competition, the introduction of new competitor products, or an increase in market share of existing competitor products, any of which could have a significant adverse impact on our operating income.
- Accutane currently competes in the Isotretinoin market with five other AB rated products. Targadox currently faces AB rated generic competition. Exelderm may face AB rated generic competition in the future.

Risks Related to our Platform and Data

- Our business and operations would suffer in the event of computer system failures, cyber-attacks, or deficiencies in our or our third parties' cybersecurity.

Risks Related to the COVID-19 Pandemic

- Major public health issues, and specifically the pandemic caused by the COVID-19 outbreak, could have an adverse effect on our product revenues and any future clinical trials.

Risks Related to Our Finances and Capital Requirements

- Due to the numerous risks and uncertainties associated with pharmaceutical product development, we may incur losses and may be unable to maintain profitability.
- If we are unable to raise capital as needed, we may be forced to delay, reduce, or eliminate our operations.

Risks Relating to Owning our Common Stock

- Our operating results have fluctuated in the past and we expect them to continue to do so. Any such fluctuation may cause our performance to fall below expectations, and our stock price may suffer.

Risks Related to our Relationship with Fortress Biotech, Inc.

- Fortress controls a voting majority of our common stock, which could be detrimental to our other shareholders. Further, Fortress' ownership qualifies us as a "controlled company" under the Nasdaq listing standards.
- Fortress' financial obligations and any potential risk of default may adversely affect the Company or constrain our ability to take certain actions.

PART I

Item 1. Business

OVERVIEW

We are a commercial-stage pharmaceutical company founded in October 2014 that focuses on the development and commercialization of pharmaceutical products for the treatment of dermatological conditions. Our current portfolio includes seven branded and three authorized generic prescription drugs for dermatological conditions that are actively marketed in the U.S. We are managed by experienced life science executives with a track record of creating value for their stakeholders and bringing novel medicines to the market, enabling patients to experience increased quality of life and physicians and other licensed medical professionals to provide better care for their patients. We aim to acquire rights to future products by licensing or otherwise acquiring an ownership interest in, funding the research and development of, and eventually commercializing, the products through our exclusive field sales organization.

On November 16, 2021, we completed an initial public offering ("IPO") of our common stock, which resulted in net proceeds of approximately $30.6 million, after deducting underwriting discounts and other offering costs.

Prior to our IPO, our operations were primarily financed through a working capital note from Fortress Biotech, Inc. ("Fortress"), referred to herein as the "Fortress Note," cash generated by operations and cash raised in our private offering of our 8% Cumulative Convertible Class A Preferred Stock ("Class A Preferred Stock"). In connection with the closing of our IPO on November 16, 2021, we issued 2,231,346 shares of common stock resulting from the conversion of all of the Class A Preferred Stock. In addition, the Fortress Note was converted into 1,476,044 shares of Journey common stock at our IPO price of $10.00 per share.

We expect our expenses will increase substantially for the foreseeable future as we pursue business development opportunities, commercialize and market new products and incur additional costs associated with operating as a public company. To date, our business has not been materially impacted by COVID-19; however, depending on the extent of the ongoing pandemic, it is possible that our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected by COVID-19 in the future.

Our cash and cash equivalents balance at December 31, 2021 was $49.1 million.

We are a majority-owned subsidiary of Fortress.

Our current portfolio includes seven branded and three authorized generic prescription drugs for dermatological conditions that are actively marketed in the U.S. We are managed by experienced life science executives with a track record of creating value for their stakeholders and bringing novel medicines to the market, enabling patients to experience increased quality of life, and enabling physicians and other licensed medical professionals to provide better care for their patients. We aim to acquire rights to future products by licensing or otherwise acquiring an ownership interest in, funding the research and development of, and eventually commercializing, the products through our field sales organization. Since inception, we have made significant investments to build out our commercial product portfolios, which we believe, coupled with our experienced dermatology sales leadership team and our recently expanded field sales force, will position our business for growth.

As of December 31, 2021, our major actively marketed products, which have been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") for sale in the United States, include:

- Qbrexza® (a medicated cloth towelette for the treatment of primary axillary hyperhidrosis), acquired and launched in May 2021;
- Accutane® (an oral isotretinoin drug for the treatment of severe recalcitrant nodular acne), licensed in July 2020 and launched in April 2021;
- Targadox® (an oral doxycycline drug for adjunctive therapy for severe acne), licensed in March 2015 and launched in October 2016;
- Ximino® (an oral minocycline drug for the treatment of moderate to severe acne), acquired and launched in August 2019; and
- Exelderm® Cream and Solution (a broad-spectrum antifungal intended for topical use), acquired and launched in October 2018.

Additionally, we sell three authorized generic products:

- doxycycline hyclate immediate release tablets, launched in May 2018;
- minocycline hydrochloride extended release capsules, launched in April 2020; and
- sulconazole nitrate cream and solution, launched in January 2020.

Recent Subsequent Highlights ("VYNE Product Acquisition")

In January 2022, we acquired AMZEEQ (minocycline) topical foam, 4%, and ZILXI (minocycline) topical foam, 1.5%, two FDA-Approved Topical Minocycline Products and Molecule Stabilizing Technology (MST)™ from VYNE Therapeutics, Inc., which expands our product portfolio to seven actively marketed branded dermatology products.

These proprietary foam-based products optimize the topical delivery of minocycline, an active pharmaceutical ingredient that was previously available only in oral form. Approved by the FDA nearly 50 years ago, minocycline is a well-established molecule that has been prescribed, in oral formulation, over 30 million times in the past decade.

AMZEEQ (minocycline) topical foam, 4%, is the first and only topical formulation of minocycline to be approved by the FDA for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of non-nodular moderate to severe acne vulgaris in adults and children 9 years and older. According to the American Academy of Dermatology ("AAD"), acne is the most common skin condition in the United States, affecting up to 50 million Americans annually.

Approved by the FDA in May 2020, ZILXI (minocycline) topical foam, 1.5%, is the first and only topical minocycline treatment for inflammatory lesions due to rosacea in adults. Rosacea is a common skin disease that affects 16 million Americans, according to AAD. Market research shows that over 70% of patients with rosacea are seeking better alternatives to current treatments.

Upon completion of the VYNE Product Acquisition, Journey became substituted for VYNE as the plaintiff in U.S. patent litigation commenced by VYNE on August 9, 2021 in the U.S. District Court of Delaware (the "Padagis Patent Litigation") against Padagis Israel Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (F/K/A Perrigo Israel Pharmaceuticals Ltd.) ("Padagis") alleging infringement of certain patents covering Amzeeq® (the "Amzeeq® Patents"), which are included among the proprietary rights to Amzeeq® that were acquired pursuant to the Qbrexza APA. The Padagis Patent Litigation was initiated following the submission by Padagis, in accordance with the procedures set out in the Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (the "Hatch-Waxman Act"), of an Abbreviated New Drug Application (the "ANDA"). The ANDA seeks approval to market a generic version of Amzeeq® prior to the expiration of the Amzeeq® Patents and alleges that the Amzeeq® Patents are invalid. Padagis is subject to a 30-month stay preventing it from selling a generic version, but that stay is set to expire on December 30, 2023. Journey is seeking, among other relief, an order that the effective date of any United States Food and Drug Administration approval of Padagis' ANDA be no earlier than the expiration of the patents listed in the Orange Book, the latest of which expires on September 8, 2037, and such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate. Trial in the Padagis Patent Litigation is scheduled for July 10, 2023. Journey cannot make any predictions about the final outcome of this matter or the timing thereof.

2021 Highlights and Events

- On November 16, 2021, we completed an IPO of our common stock, which resulted in net proceeds of approximately $30.6 million, after deducting underwriting discounts and other offering costs.

- In September 2021, we were the victim of a cybersecurity incident that affected our accounts payable function and led to approximately $9.5 million in wire transfers being misdirected to fraudulent accounts. The details of the incident and its origin are under investigation with the assistance of third-party cybersecurity experts working at the direction of legal counsel. The matter was reported to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and does not appear to have compromised any personally identifiable information or protected health information. Fortress, as our controlling stockholder and supporting partner in our back-office functions, provided us with $9.5 million to ensure our accounts payable operations continued to function smoothly. The $9.5 million of support was in the form of a related party note which the boards of both companies have agreed and converted into 1,476,044 shares of our common stock upon the consummation of our IPO at the IPO price. See "Risk Factors — Risk s Related to our Platform and Data — Our business and operations would suffer in the event of computer system failures, cyber-attack s, or deficiencies in our or third parties' cybersecurity."

- As of July 18, 2021, we privately offered and issued 750,680 shares of our Class A Preferred Stock at a price of $25.00 per share, for gross proceeds of $19.0 million (the "Class A Preferred Offering"). In connection with the closing of our IPO on November 16, 2021, we issued 2,231,346 shares of common stock resulting from the conversion of all of the Class A Preferred Stock.

- In June 2021, we entered into an agreement with Dr. Reddy's Laboratories, Ltd. ("DRL") for the development of DFD-29, a modified release oral minocycline that is being evaluated for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of rosacea. We and DRL intend to conduct two Phase 3 clinical trials to assess the efficacy, safety and tolerability of DFD-29 as a treatment for rosacea for regulatory approval. In connection with the DFD-29 Agreement, we agreed to pay DRL additional consideration of $5.0 million in our common stock upon our IPO. In addition, in connection with the closing of our IPO, we issued 545,131 unregistered shares of common stock in the Company to DRL. The restrictions on the unregistered shares of common stock are governed by the terms set forth in the DFD-29 Agreement and applicable securities laws.

- In May 2021, we acquired Qbrexza from Dermira, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Eli Lilly and Company ("Dermira").

- In March 2021, we launched Accutane® (isotretinoin) for the treatment of recalcitrant nodular acne.

- On March 31, 2021, we entered into an agreement with East West Bank ("EWB") to provide us with a $7.5 million working capital line of credit.

Other Subsequent Highlights

On January 12, 2022, we entered into a third amendment (the "Amendment") of our loan and security agreement with EWB, which increased the borrowing capacity of our revolving line of credit to $10.0 million, from $7.5 million, and added a term loan not to exceed $20.0 million. Both the revolving line of credit and the term loan mature on January 12, 2026. The term loan includes two tranches, the first of which is a $15.0 million term loan and the second of which is a $5.0 million term loan. On January 12, 2022, we borrowed $15.0 million against the first tranche of the term loan to facilitate the VYNE Product Acquisition. The term loan bears interest on its outstanding daily balance at a floating rate equal to 1.73% above the prime rate and is payable monthly, on the first calendar day each month. The term loans contain an interest only payment period through January 12, 2024, with an extension through July 12, 2024, if certain covenants are met, after which the outstanding balance of each term loan is payable in equal monthly installments of principal, plus all accrued interest, through the term loan maturity date. We may prepay all or any part of the term loan without penalty or premium, but may not re-borrow any amount, once repaid. Any outstanding borrowing against the revolving line of credit bears interest at a floating rate equal to 0.70% above the prime rate. The Amendment includes customary financial covenants such as collateral ratios and minimum liquidity provisions as well as audit provisions.

On February 11, 2022 we announced that our exclusive licensing partner in Japan, Maruho Co., Ltd. ("Maruho"), received marketing and manufacturing approval for Rapifort® Wipes 2.5% (QBREXZA®), for the treatment of primary axillary hyperhidrosis, triggering a net $2.5 million milestone payment to us. The net payment reflects a milestone payment of $10 million to us from our exclusive licensing partner Maruho, offset by a $7.5 million payment to Dermira, pursuant to the terms of the Asset Purchase Agreement between us and Dermira. In conjunction with the terms of the licensing agreement with Maruho, the milestone payment was due from Maruho within 30 days of the approval. We acquired global rights to QBREXZA® from Dermira in 2021.

On March 17, 2022, we dosed the first patient in our Phase 3 clinical trial evaluating DFD-29 (Minocycline Modified Release Capsules 40 mg) for the Treatment of Rosacea. In addition, the published phase 2 clinical data showed that DFD-29 had approximately double the efficacy compared to Doxycycline capsules 40 mg on reducing total inflammatory lesions and IGA treatment success. The trial will encompass two multicenter, randomized, double-blind, parallel-group, active and placebo-controlled Phase 3 clinical trials will each enroll up to 320 adult patients with moderate to severe papulopustular rosacea ("PPR"). One trial is enrolling patients in the United States and the other is enrolling in the United States and Europe. The studies will be randomized in a 3:3:2 ratio to DFD-29 (Minocycline Hydrochloride Modified Release Capsules, 40 mg), Oracea® (Doxycycline capsules 40 mg) or placebo once daily for 16 weeks. The primary objective of the studies is to evaluate the safety, efficacy and tolerability of DFD-29 compared to placebo for the treatment of PPR. The secondary objective is to evaluate the safety, efficacy and tolerability of DFD-29 compared to Oracea® (Doxycycline capsules 40 mg).

Our Products and Relevant Disease States

Excessive Underarm Sweating and the Current Standard of Care

Excessive underarm sweating, commonly referred to as primary axillary hyperhidrosis ("PAH"), is a rare disorder characterized by excessive sweating in the armpits. The exact cause of PAH is not known, and the disorder affects males and females equally. When excessive sweating occurs as part of some other disorder, it is said to be secondary hyperhidrosis, which is a more commonly encountered condition than is primary hyperhidrosis. According to a 2016 article published in the Archives of Dermatological Research, there are about 10 million people who suffer from PAH in the United States. The symptoms of PAH typically begin during childhood or puberty and may often, although not always, persist throughout a person's life. Affected individuals may experience a heightened reaction to certain stimuli that can cause sweating such as anxiety, pain, exercise, tension, caffeine, and/or nicotine. The symptoms of this disorder develop due to overactivity of certain sweat glands, and incidences may be precipitated by social and/or physical stress. Some people with PAH experience relief from the symptoms during adulthood without treatment or obvious reason for the remission.

Pharmacological treatment options for PAH include topical, oral and iontophoretic treatments.

Qbrexza (glycopyrronium 2.4% cloth) for the Treatment of Primary Axillary Hyperhidrosis

Qbrexza® (glycopyrronium 2.4%), a topical, once-daily anticholinergic cloth that was approved by the FDA in June 2018 for the treatment of PAH in adult and pediatric patients nine years of age and older. PAH is a medical condition with no known cause that results in underarm sweating beyond what is needed for normal body temperature regulation. Anticholinergics are a class of pharmaceutical products that exert their effect by blocking the action of acetylcholine, a neurotransmitter that transmits signals within the nervous system that are responsible for the activation of sweat glands. Qbrexza is applied directly to the skin and is designed to block underarm sweat production by inhibiting sweat gland activation. Qbrexza has Orange Book listed patents that extend through February of 2033.

The PAH market had approximately 430,000 prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health, excluding over-the-counter ("OTC") clinical strength anti-perspirants

Acne and the Current Standard of Care

Acne, also known as acne vulgaris, is a common skin disorder characterized by a blockage of hair follicles, which are clogged with oil and dead skin cells. According to the AAD, acne is the most common skin condition in the US, affecting up to 50 million individuals annually.

Approximately 85% of people between the ages of 12 and 24 experience at least a minor form of acne. The disease is classified as mild, moderate or severe based on the severity of the disease progression, which is useful in identifying an appropriate treatment regimen. Mild acne is characterized by clogged hair follicles (known as comedones) that are either exposed to air (blackheads) or closed (whiteheads), with occasional inflammatory lesions which occur primarily on the face. Moderate acne is characterized by a higher presence of inflammatory lesions known as papules and pustules across the face and extending to the trunk. Severe acne is characterized by painful, deep lesions called nodules across the face, with extensive involvement of the trunk frequently.

Treatment options are based on the severity of disease, with certain drugs being reserved for more severe forms of the disease. Mild acne is addressed with dietary and lifestyle changes, along with OTC and prescription topical agents. Other therapies with varying degrees of success include dermabrasion and chemical peels, light therapy and hormonal therapy such as birth control pills or spironolactone. Moderate acne is treated with more aggressive therapy including topical and oral antibiotics such as tetracyclines, which are particularly effective due to their antibacterial and anti-inflammatory properties, and other topical agents including benzoyl peroxide and retinoids. Severe acne is treated with combination therapies, often including oral antibiotics. For resistant cases, physicians may use a potent drug known as isotretinnin (a vitamin A analog), which requires Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy ("REMS") (safety) monitoring with regard to pregnancy. The current U.S. market size for treatment of acne is considerable and estimated at approximately $3 billion annually, according to the American Medical Association.

Accutane for the Treatment of Severe Recalitrant Nodular Acne

Accutane® (isotretinoin 20mg, 30mg, and 40mg capsules USP) is indicated for the treatment of severe recalcitrant nodular acne. Accutane is used to treat a type of severe recalcitrant nodular acne that has not been helped by other treatments, including antibiotics. Severe recalcitrant nodular acne occurs when many red, swollen, tender lumps form in the skin. Patients with severe nodular acne are at higher risk of scarring. Accutane belongs to a class of drugs that affects all four major pathogenic processes in acne: increased sebum production, irregular follicular desquamation, propionibacterium acnes proliferation and inflammation. Accutane has achieved a strong market position and is well known in the dermatology community.

The oral isotretinoin market had just under 2 million prescriptions in 2020, according to Symphony Health.

Targadox for the Treatment of Severe Acne

Targadox® (doxycycline hyclate immediate release 50mg tablets) is indicated as adjunctive therapy for severe acne, which is part of a class of oral antibiotics known as tetracyclines. The tetracycline class, which includes minocycline, doxycycline, sarecycline and tetracycline, is particularly effective in treatment for more severe forms of acne due to its antibacterial and anti-inflammatory properties. Targadox is the smallest doxycycline tablet and is considered easy to swallow, which is beneficial for the 40% of American adults with dysphagia, a condition in which patients experience difficulty swallowing pills. Targadox is gluten-free, lactose-free, animal byproduct-free, and GMO-free.

The oral doxycycline market had more than 21 million prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health.

AMZEEQ for the Treatment of Moderate-to-Severe Acne

AMZEEQ (4% minocycline foam), formerly known as FMX101, was approved by the FDA in October 2019 and became available in pharmacies nationwide in January 2020. AMZEEQ is a once-daily novel topical antibiotic foam formulation of minocycline for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of non-nodular moderate-to-severe acne vulgaris in patients nine years of age and older. AMZEEQ utilizes proprietary MST™ technology and is the first topical minocycline to be approved by the FDA for any condition. We believe that the combination of a well-established antibiotic in a well-tolerated, easy to use foam makes AMZEEQ a very attractive treatment option for patients.

The topical acne market had 15 million prescriptions in 2021 according to Symphony Health, presenting significant unmet needs of patients and healthcare providers to be addressed. As the first topical minocycline to be approved by the FDA for any condition, we believe that AMZEEQ may provide a new treatment alternative for patients and healthcare providers who are unsatisfied with their current therapies. AMZEEQ has Orange Book listed patents that extend through September of 2037.

Ximino for the Treatment of Inflammatory Lesions of Non-Nodular Moderate to Severe Acne

Ximino® (minocycline hydrochloride extended-release 45mg, 90mg, and 135mg capsules) is indicated for the treatment of inflammatory non-nodular lesions (pimples and red bumps) associated with moderate to severe acne. Minocycline is part of a class of oral antibiotics known as tetracyclines. Ximino encloses a small, uniform amount of the active pharmaceutical ingredient in a patented polymer wrapper through a controlled dosing capsular technology, known as Capsular Minotab Technology®, and provides a steady, controlled release of minocycline. The polymer technology in Ximino capsules is partially resistant to dissolution, so the minocycline is released over time, in a controlled manner. Ximino has Orange Book listed patents that extend through April of 2027.

The oral minocycline market had more than 3 million prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health.

Fungal Infections of the Skin and the Current Standard of Care

Fungal skin infections, collectively referred to as dermatomycoses, are common infections caused by ringworms (tinea) and include such conditions as athlete's foot, jock itch and ringworm of the body. Tinea pedis, commonly known as athlete's foot, is a form of ringworm that usually develops between the toes. Symptoms include peeling, cracking and scaly feet, blisters, and skin that is red, softened, itching, or burning. Tinea cruris, commonly known as jock itch, is a form of ringworm that affects the groin. Tinea corporis, commonly known as ringworm of the body, is a fungal infection that appears on the body in which the outer part of the sore might be raised while the skin in the middle appears normal. Fungal infections caused by ringworm cause skin rashes that present as itchy, red, raised and scaly rings. These infections are easily transmissible between people, pets or contaminated objects or surfaces but are usually not serious in nature.

Treatment options typically involve topical OTC and prescription antifungal medications. Where difficult to administer topically, oral options (such as for toenail fungus or oral thrush) or suppositories (such as for vaginal yeast infections) have proven to be more effective. OTC products typically include known antifungal ingredients such as clotrimazole, miconazole, terbinafine or ketoconazole. Prescription treatments are often reserved for more serious infection or for those in hard-to-treat areas. In conjunction with OTC or prescription medications, lifestyle adjustments, including daily washing of bedding and clothing during an infection, drying thoroughly after bathing, wearing loose clothing in affected areas and actively treating infected areas, can all contribute to disinfecting your surroundings and preventing a prolongation or recurrence of infection.

Exelderm for the Treatment of Fungal Skin Infections

Exelderm® (sulconazole nitrate 1%, cream and solution) is a broad-spectrum antifungal agent indicated for the treatment of ringworm-caused fungal infections including tinea pedis, tinea cruris, tinea corporis and tinea versicolor. The active pharmaceutical ingredient (sulconazole) acts by inhibiting fungal cell division and growth and has been shown to have broad activity against candida species, aspergillus species and dermatophytes. Exelderm cream or solution is administered externally only, whereby a small amount of cream or solution is gently massaged into the affected and surrounding areas and only requires a convenient once or twice daily application. However, when used to treat tinea pedis, for which Exelderm cream is also indicated, twice daily application is required.

The topical antifungal market had more than 9 million prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health.

Pruritus (Itch) and the Current Standard of Care

Pruritus or itch is defined as an unpleasant sensation of the skin that provokes the urge to scratch. It is a characteristic feature of many skin diseases and an unusual sign of some systemic diseases. Pruritus may be localized or generalized and can occur as an acute or chronic condition. Itch can be caused by a number of conditions, including skin conditions such as dry skin, eczema, psoriasis, scabies, parasites, burns, scars, insect bites and hives. Depending on the cause of itchiness, skin may appear normal, red, rough or bumpy. Repeated scratching can cause raised thick areas of skin that might bleed or become infected.

Treatment for itch may include moisturizing daily, using gentle cleansers, and bathing with lukewarm water. Long-term relief requires identifying and treating the underlying cause of itchy skin. Common treatments are prescription medicated creams and lotions, moist dressings, and oral anti-itch medicines.

Anti-Itch Product for the Treatment of Pruritus

Our recently acquired anti-itch product is indicated to treat pruritis, scabies, and other skin itch conditions ("Anti-itch Product"). Our Anti-itch Product delivers prescription relief and is non-steroidal and antihistamine free. Topical steroids are effective against itch because they reduce inflammation that can cause itch. However, they are not recommended for long-term use. Antihistamines are also effective in treating some types of itch, but they too have drawbacks with continued use. We plan on launching our Anti-itch Product through our field sales force during the second quarter of 2022.

ZILXI for Papulopustular Rosacea

ZILXI (1.5% minocycline foam), was approved by the FDA in May 2020 and became available in pharmacies nationwide in October 2020. ZILXI is a once-daily novel antibiotic foam formulation of minocycline for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of rosacea in adults. Similar to AMZEEQ, ZILXI leverages MST™ technology and is the first minocycline product of any form to be approved by the FDA for use in rosacea. We believe the anti-inflammatory properties of minocycline delivered in our innovative foam technology make ZILXI a highly appealing treatment option for rosacea patients. ZILXI has Orange Book listed patents that extend through October of 2030.

The rosacea market had 3 million prescriptions in 2021 according to Sympbony Health, and we believe that ZILXI provides a new treatment alternative for patients and healthcare providers who are unsatisfied with their current therapies.

Our Strategy

We are a highly focused, pharmaceutical company dedicated to developing and commercializing therapies for the treatment of dermatologic conditions that seeks to deliver value to patients, physicians and the healthcare system, as well as to our stakeholders. Our strategic priorities include continuing to augment and grow our product portfolio and organization in order to maximize the probabilities of sustainable long-term value creation. This will consist of both commercial execution on our existing product portfolio, including lifecycle management, as well as investing in additional growth strategies through product and company acquisitions, licensing, or developing new products.

For the year ended December 31, 2021, we generated net product revenue of $63.1 million, compared to $44.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2020.

An important part of our growth strategy is to identify new business development opportunities, including development stage and commercial drugs that we may acquire from other pharmaceutical companies. On June 29, 2021, we entered into an agreement with DRL to license and acquire global ownership rights, title, and interest to DFD-29, a modified release minocycline late-stage development product that is being evaluated to treat inflammatory lesions of rosacea. Additionally, we recently acquired two FDA-approved drugs. In May 2021, we acquired global ownership rights, title, and interest to Qbrexza® (a medicated cloth towelette for the treatment of primary axillary hyperhidrosis) from Dermira. In December 2020, we acquired an anti-itch product from Sun, which we plan to launch in the U.S. during the second quarter of 2022. We are in various stages of discussion for other opportunities, both commercial and development stage, that could drive additional growth in the business. Successful development and commercialization of any future in-licensed development stage or commercial drugs will require us to navigate the many laws and regulations of governmental authorities and regulatory agencies around the world, including the FDA, relating to the manufacture, development, approval and commercialization of investigational drugs. For development stage drugs, we may require financial resources significantly in excess of those received by the Company upon completion of its IPO, and it may take many years for us to receive marketing approval, if ever, for any in-licensed or acquired product candidate.

Competitive Strengths

To successfully execute our strategy, we must continue to capitalize on our following core strengths:

- Commercial leadership of our management team with a track record of commercial execution. We have a highly skilled and customer-focused management team in critical leadership positions across our Company. Our senior management team has over 135 years of sales and marketing experience in the pharmaceutical industry and a proven track record of developing businesses and creating value. We have developed, launched, commercialized, and managed brands, generating over $3 billion in peak sales, collectively, at leading dermatology organizations. This experience includes improving business performance through organic revenue growth, maximizing operational efficiencies and through the identification, consummation and integration of licensing and acquisition opportunities. Our senior management team has extensive roots in the dermatology industry, with many of them having worked at and held senior positions with Medicis Pharmaceutical, Inc. leading up to the company's acquisition by Valeant Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (now Bausch Health Pharmaceuticals, Inc.) for $2.6 billion in 2012. Our strategic approach leverages our management team's experience with the capabilities of our field sales force to drive performance based on prescribing habits, brand preferences, promotional strategies and profit optimization while focusing on customer service excellence for our providers and their patients. Our execution to date has led to market-leading positions for three of our established brands, Targadox, Ximino, and Exelderm, in each of their respective markets.

- Performance and experience of our accomplished field sales force. Our seasoned field sales force includes 70 professionals with an average tenure of over 11 years of experience in dermatology sales. Each of these individuals have deep-rooted and longstanding customer relationships in their respective territories. We have strategically optimized our sales outreach to cover over 80% of dermatologists in the top 50 U.S. metropolitan statistical areas and over 70% of the overall dermatology prescribing market. We are able to leverage the experience of our field sales force to create a tailored and entrepreneurial compensation plan that incentivizes our field sales force and aligns their activities with our corporate performance and growth objectives. We intend to continue to build a team of committed, experienced employees and to engage with patients and members of the dermatology community. Additionally, we believe that consolidation in the medical dermatology industry has resulted in an enhanced opportunity for a medical dermatology-focused company to build relationships with these stakeholders and has made available a large and growing talent pool of experienced individuals who can make significant contributions to our Company.

- Unique and differentiated access and distribution model. We have a unique and differentiated access and distribution network of over 600 specialty pharmacies and wholesalers, where we directly sell our products, with limited distribution through traditional national wholesalers. This decentralized approach allows us to maximize our brand equity across our product portfolio through strategic relationships directly with pharmacies and allows us to provide exceptional customer service and access to patients and physicians.

- Active business development initiative. Business development plays a vital role in our growth strategy as we look to build scale. We consistently evaluate both strategic add-on deals that leverage our existing infrastructure, as well as more transformative assets that would require building out or restructuring our field sales force. We have extensive relationships in the industry that help us stay abreast of developments in our space and continually monitor new opportunities. We believe that we are an ideal partner for development stage companies with limited or no commercial capabilities, as well as established pharmaceutical companies looking to deprioritize their dermatology portfolio. We have ongoing discussions with an array of companies, including traditional large pharma, mid-size specialty pharma companies and smaller companies that focus on research and development, although we have not entered into any definitive agreements or arrangements.

- Focus on cost management and efficient capital allocation. We have operated in a cost-conscious and capital efficient manner since inception. In addition to our internal leadership and management team, we have access to over 30 Fortress employees who possess significant expertise in one or more of the following areas: business development, legal, accounting, regulatory affairs, clinical operations and manufacturing. In November 2021, we entered into a shared services agreement with Fortress for them to continue to provide consulting services and for the continued use of their personnel. As part of our emphasis on cost effectiveness with our resources, we endeavor to structure licenses and product acquisitions for future product opportunities in a capital efficient manner that allows us to minimize indebtedness and compensate partner companies through future profits and commercial benchmarks.

Major Customers

We primarily sell our prescription products to specialty pharmacies, independent wholesalers, and distributors with limited sales through the traditional national wholesaler channels. Our wholesalers and distributors purchase products from us and, in turn, supply products to retail drug store chains, independent pharmacies and managed care organizations. Customers in the managed care market include health maintenance organizations, group purchasing organizations, nursing homes, clinics, pharmacy benefit management companies and mail order customers.

License & Collaboration Agreements and Acquisitions

We continue to seek to enhance our product line and develop a balanced portfolio of differentiated products through product acquisitions and in-licensing or acquiring rights to products and technologies from third parties. We intend to enter into strategic alliances and collaborative arrangements with third parties, which will give us rights to develop, manufacture, market and/or commercialize pharmaceutical products, the rights to which are primarily owned by these third parties. These alliances and arrangements can take many forms, including licensing arrangements, co-development and co-marketing agreements, co-promotion arrangements, research collaborations and joint ventures. Such alliances and arrangements will potentially enable us to share the risk of incurring all research and development expenses that do not lead to revenue-generating products. However, because profits from alliance products are shared with the counterparties to the collaborative arrangement, the gross margins on alliance products are generally lower, sometimes substantially so, than the gross margins that could be achieved had we not opted for a development partner.

Environmental Matters

Our operations are subject to substantial federal, state and local environmental laws and regulations concerning, among other matters, the generation, handling, storage, transportation, treatment and disposal of, and exposure to, hazardous substances. Violation of these laws and regulations, which may change, can lead to substantial fines and penalties. Many of our third-party operations require environmental permits and controls to prevent and limit pollution of the environment. We believe that the facilities of our third-party service providers are in substantial compliance with applicable environmental laws and regulations and we do not believe that future compliance will have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows.

Employees and Human Capital Management

As of December 31, 2021, we had 90 employees and contractors. These employees and contractors include 70 in sales as well as 20 in marketing, general and administrative positions. We currently rely, and may continue to rely, on professional employer organizations and staffing organizations for the employment of our field sales force. Additionally, we have retained a number of expert advisors and consultants that help navigate us through different aspects of our business. We consider our relations with our employees to be good and have not experienced any work stoppages, slowdowns or other serious labor problems that have materially impeded our business operations.

Our human capital management objectives include, as applicable, identifying, recruiting, retaining, incentivizing, and integrating our new and existing employees. The principal purpose of our equity incentive plan is to attract, retain, and motivate selected employees, consultants, and directors through the granting of stock-based compensation awards and cash-based bonus awards.

Additionally, we have access to over 30 Fortress employees and consultants, who possess significant expertise in one or more of the following areas: business development, legal, accounting, regulatory affairs, clinical operations and manufacturing.

All written or oral forward-looking statements attributable to us are expressly qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements about:

- political, economic, legal, social and health risks, including the COVID-19 pandemic and subsequent public health measures that may affect our business or the global economy and the actions we may take in response thereto;
- developments and projections relating to our competitors and industry;
- increases in costs and disruption of supply or shortage of raw materials;
- our and our licensors' ability to obtain, establish, maintain, protect and enforce intellectual property and proprietary protection for our products and technologies and to avoid claims of infringement, misappropriation or other violation of third-party intellectual property and proprietary rights;
- the outcome of any current or future litigation;
- our ability to hire and retain key management;
- our ability to obtain additional financing;
- our beliefs and objectives for future operations;
- our ability to maintain, protect, and enhance our intellectual property;
- our expectations concerning relationships with third parties, including strategic partners;

SUMMARY OF RISK FACTORS

Our business is subject to a number of risks which you should be aware of before making an investment decision. The risks described below are a summary of the principal risks associated with an investment in our common stock and are not the only risks we face. These risks are more fully described in the section titled "Risk Factors" of this report on Form 10-K and include the following:

Risks Related to Our Business, Industry and Existing Operating Revenue Stream

- Our products and product candidates are subject to time and cost intensive regulation and clinical testing. As a result, they may never be successfully developed or commercialized. Further, any approved product may be subject to post-marketing requirements, including studies or clinical trials, the results of which could cause such product to be withdrawn from the market.
- The majority of our sales derive from products that are without patent protection and/or are or may become subject to third-party generic competition, the introduction of new competitor products, or an increase in market share of existing competitor products, any of which could have a significant adverse impact on our operating income.
- We operate in a heavily regulated industry, and we cannot predict the impact that any future legislation or administrative or executive action may have on our operations.
- Our revenue is dependent mainly upon sales of our dermatology products and any setback relating to the sale of such products could impair our operating results.
- Our competitors may develop treatments for our products' target indications, which could limit our products' commercial opportunity and profitability.
- If our products do not achieve broad market acceptance, including by government and third-party payors, the revenues from any such product will likely be limited.

Risks Related to Our Reliance on Third Parties

- We rely on third parties for several aspects of our operations, which limits our control over product development, marketing, manufacturing, and sale processes and may hinder our ability to develop and commercialize our products in a cost-effective and timely manner.

Risks Related to Our Growth

- Our future growth may depend on our ability to identify, develop, and acquire or in-license products and integrate them into our operations, at which we may be unsuccessful.
- We may expend resources on unsuccessful product candidates or indications and may fail to capitalize on more profitable or successful product candidates or indications.

Risks Related to Development and Regulatory Approval of Our Product Candidates (DFD-29)

- The success of our business, including our ability to finance our company and generate additional revenue, may depend on the successful development and regulatory approval of the DFD-29 product candidate and any future product candidates that we may develop, in-license or acquire.
- Clinical drug development is very expensive, time consuming, and uncertain. Our clinical trials may fail to adequately demonstrate the safety and efficacy of our current or any future product candidates, which could prevent or delay regulatory approval and commercialization.

Table of Contents

- We expect to rely on third-party contract research organizations ("CROs") and other third parties to conduct and oversee our clinical trials, other aspects of our product development and our regulatory submission process for our product candidates. If these third parties do not meet our requirements, conduct the trials as required or otherwise provide services as anticipated, we may not be able to satisfy our contractual obligations or obtain regulatory approval for, or successfully commercialize, our current or any future product candidates when expected or at all.

Risks Pertaining to Intellectual Property, Generic Competition and Paragraph IV Litigation

- If we are unable to maintain sufficient patent protection for our technology and products, our competitors could develop and commercialize products similar or identical to ours.
- We may be required to expend substantial resources relating to litigation for infringement of third-party intellectual property rights or enforcing our or our licensors' patents.
- Any dispute with our licensors may affect our ability to develop or commercialize our product candidates.
- Generic drug companies may submit applications seeking approval to market generic versions of our products.
- In connection with these applications, generic drug companies may seek to challenge the validity and enforceability of our patents through litigation and/or with the United States Patent and Trademark Office ("USPTO"). Such challenges may subject us to costly and time-consuming litigation and/or USPTO proceedings.
- As a result of the loss of any patent protection from such litigation or USPTO proceedings, or the "at-risk" launch by a generic competitor of our products, our products could be sold at significantly lower prices, and we could lose a significant portion of sales of that product in a short period of time, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, operating results and prospects.
- The majority of our sales derive from products that are without patent protection and/or are or may become subject to third-party generic competition, the introduction of new competitor products, or an increase in market share of existing competitor products, any of which could have a significant adverse impact on our operating income.
- Accutane currently competes in the Isotretinoin market with five other AB rated products. Targadox currently faces AB rated generic competition. Exelderm may face AB rated generic competition in the future.

Risks Related to our Platform and Data

- Our business and operations would suffer in the event of computer system failures, cyber-attacks, or deficiencies in our or our third parties' cybersecurity.

Risks Related to the COVID-19 Pandemic

- Major public health issues, and specifically the pandemic caused by the COVID-19 outbreak, could have an adverse effect on our product revenues and any future clinical trials.

Risks Related to Our Finances and Capital Requirements

- Due to the numerous risks and uncertainties associated with pharmaceutical product development, we may incur losses and may be unable to maintain profitability.
- If we are unable to raise capital as needed, we may be forced to delay, reduce, or eliminate our operations.

Risks Relating to Owning our Common Stock

- Our operating results have fluctuated in the past and we expect them to continue to do so. Any such fluctuation may cause our performance to fall below expectations, and our stock price may suffer.

Risks Related to our Relationship with Fortress Biotech, Inc.

- Fortress controls a voting majority of our common stock, which could be detrimental to our other shareholders. Further, Fortress' ownership qualifies us as a "controlled company" under the Nasdaq listing standards.
- Fortress' financial obligations and any potential risk of default may adversely affect the Company or constrain our ability to take certain actions.

OVERVIEW

We are a commercial-stage pharmaceutical company founded in October 2014 that focuses on the development and commercialization of pharmaceutical products for the treatment of dermatological conditions. Our current portfolio includes seven branded and three authorized generic prescription drugs for dermatological conditions that are actively marketed in the U.S. We are managed by experienced life science executives with a track record of creating value for their stakeholders and bringing novel medicines to the market, enabling patients to experience increased quality of life and physicians and other licensed medical professionals to provide better care for their patients. We aim to acquire rights to future products by licensing or otherwise acquiring an ownership interest in, funding the research and development of, and eventually commercializing, the products through our exclusive field sales organization.

On November 16, 2021, we completed an initial public offering ("IPO") of our common stock, which resulted in net proceeds of approximately $30.6 million, after deducting underwriting discounts and other offering costs.

Prior to our IPO, our operations were primarily financed through a working capital note from Fortress Biotech, Inc. ("Fortress"), referred to herein as the "Fortress Note," cash generated by operations and cash raised in our private offering of our 8% Cumulative Convertible Class A Preferred Stock ("Class A Preferred Stock"). In connection with the closing of our IPO on November 16, 2021, we issued 2,231,346 shares of common stock resulting from the conversion of all of the Class A Preferred Stock. In addition, the Fortress Note was converted into 1,476,044 shares of Journey common stock at our IPO price of $10.00 per share.

We expect our expenses will increase substantially for the foreseeable future as we pursue business development opportunities, commercialize and market new products and incur additional costs associated with operating as a public company. To date, our business has not been materially impacted by COVID-19; however, depending on the extent of the ongoing pandemic, it is possible that our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected by COVID-19 in the future.

Our cash and cash equivalents balance at December 31, 2021 was $49.1 million.

We are a majority-owned subsidiary of Fortress.

Overview of the Business, Relevant Disease States, Market, and Products

Journey Medical Corporation is a commercial-stage pharmaceutical company founded in October 2014 that focuses on the development and commercialization of pharmaceutical products for the treatment of dermatological conditions. Our current portfolio includes seven branded and three authorized generic prescription drugs for dermatological conditions that are actively marketed in the U.S. We are managed by experienced life science executives with a track record of creating value for their stakeholders and bringing novel medicines to the market, enabling patients to experience increased quality of life, and enabling physicians and other licensed medical professionals to provide better care for their patients. We aim to acquire rights to future products by licensing or otherwise acquiring an ownership interest in, funding the research and development of, and eventually commercializing, the products through our field sales organization. Since inception, we have made significant investments to build out our commercial product portfolios, which we believe, coupled with our experienced dermatology sales leadership team and our recently expanded field sales force, will position our business for growth.

As of December 31, 2021, our major actively marketed products, which have been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") for sale in the United States, include:

- Qbrexza® (a medicated cloth towelette for the treatment of primary axillary hyperhidrosis), acquired and launched in May 2021;
- Accutane® (an oral isotretinoin drug for the treatment of severe recalcitrant nodular acne), licensed in July 2020 and launched in April 2021;
- Targadox® (an orat doxycycline drug for adjunctive therapy for severe acne), licensed in March 2015 and launched in October 2016;
- Ximino® (an oral minocycline drug for the treatment of moderate to severe acne), acquired and launched in August 2019; and
- Exelderm® Cream and Solution (a broad-spectrum antifungal intended for topical use), acquired and launched in October 2018.

Additionally, we sell three authorized generic products:

- doxycycline hyclate immediate release tablets, launched in May 2018;
- minocycline hydrocholoride extended release capsules, launched in April 2020; and
- sulconazole nitrate cream and solution, launched in January 2020.

Recent Subsequent Highlights ("VYNE Product Acquisition")

In January 2022, we acquired AMZEEQ (minocycline) topical foam, 4%, and ZILXI (minocycline) topical foam, 1.5%, two FDA-Approved Topical Minocycline Products and Molecule Stabilizing Technology (MST)™ from VYNE Therapeutics, Inc., which expands our product portfolio to seven actively marketed branded dermatology products.

These proprietary foam-based products optimize the topical delivery of minocycline, an active pharmaceutical ingredient that was previously available only in oral form. Approved by the FDA nearly 50 years ago, minocycline is a well-established molecule that has been prescribed, in oral formulation, over 30 million times in the past decade.

AMZEEQ (minocycline) topical foam, 4%, is the first and only topical formulation of minocycline to be approved by the FDA for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of non-nodular moderate to severe acne vulgaris in adults and children 9 years and older. According to the American Academy of Dermatology ("AAD"), acne is the most common skin condition in the United States, affecting up to 50 million Americans annually.

Approved by the FDA in May 2020, ZILXI (minocycline) topical foam, 1.5%, is the first and only topical minocycline treatment for inflammatory lesions due to rosacea in adults. Rosacea is a common skin disease that affects 16 million Americans, according to AAD. Market research shows that over 70% of patients with rosacea are seeking better alternatives to current treatments.

Upon completion of the VYNE Product Acquisition, Journey became substituted for VYNE as the plaintiff in U.S. patent litigation commenced by VYNE on August 9, 2021 in the U.S. District Court of Delaware (the "Padagis Patent Litigation") against Padagis Israel Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (F/K/A Perrigo Israel Pharmaceuticals Ltd.) ("Padagis") alleging infringement of certain patents covering Amzeeq® (the "Amzeeq® Patents"), which are included among the proprietary rights to Amzeeq® that were acquired pursuant to the Qbrexza APA. The Padagis Patent Litigation was initiated following the submission by Padagis, in accordance with the procedures set out in the Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (the "Hatch-Waxman Act"), of an Abbreviated New Drug Application (the "ANDA"). The ANDA seeks approval to market a generic version of Amzeeq® prior to the expiration of the Amzeeq® Patents and alleges that the Amzeeq® Patents are invalid. Padagis is subject to a 30-month stay preventing it from selling a generic version, but that stay is set to expire on December 30, 2023. Journey is seeking, among other relief, an order that the effective date of any United States Food and Drug Administration approval of Padagis' ANDA be no earlier than the expiration of the patents listed in the Orange Book, the latest of which expires on September 8, 2037, and such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate. Trial in the Padagis Patent Litigation is scheduled for July 10, 2023. Journey cannot make any predictions about the final outcome of this matter or the timing thereof.

2021 Highlights and Events

- On November 16, 2021, we completed an IPO of our common stock, which resulted in net proceeds of approximately $30.6 million, after deducting underwriting discounts and other offering costs.

- In September 2021, we were the victim of a cybersecurity incident that affected our accounts payable function and led to approximately $9.5 million in wire transfers being misdirected to fraudulent accounts. The details of the incident and its origin are under investigation with the assistance of third-party cybersecurity experts working at the direction of legal counsel. The matter was reported to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and does not appear to have compromised any personally identifiable information or protected health information. Fortress, as our controlling stockholder and supporting partner in our back-office functions, provided us with $9.5 million to ensure our accounts payable operations continued to function smoothly. The $9.5 million of support was in the form of a related party note which the boards of both companies have agreed and converted into 1,476,044 shares of our common stock upon the consummation of our IPO at the IPO price. See "Risk Factors — Risk s Related to our Platform and Data — Our business and operations would suffer in the event of computer system failures, cyber-attack s, or deficiencies in our or third parties' cybersecurity."

- As of July 18, 2021, we privately offered and issued 750,680 shares of our Class A Preferred Stock at a price of $25.00 per share, for gross proceeds of $19.0 million (the "Class A Preferred Offering"). In connection with the closing of our IPO on November 16, 2021, we issued 2,231,346 shares of common stock resulting from the conversion of all of the Class A Preferred Stock.

- In June 2021, we entered into an agreement with Dr. Reddy's Laboratories, Ltd. ("DRL") for the development of DFD-29, a modified release oral minocycline that is being evaluated for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of rosacea. We and DRL intend to conduct two Phase 3 clinical trials to assess the efficacy, safety and tolerability of DFD-29 as a treatment for rosacea for regulatory approval. In connection with the DFD-29 Agreement, we agreed to pay DRL additional consideration of $5.0 million in our common stock upon our IPO. In addition, in connection with the closing of our IPO, we issued 545,131 unregistered shares of common stock in the Company to DRL. The restrictions on the unregistered shares of common stock are governed by the terms set forth in the DFD-29 Agreement and applicable securities laws.

- In May 2021, we acquired Qbrexza from Dermira, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Eli Lilly and Company ("Dermira").

- In March 2021, we launched Accutane® (isotretinoin) for the treatment of recalcitrant nodular acne.

- On March 31, 2021, we entered into an agreement with East West Bank ("EWB") to provide us with a $7.5 million working capital line of credit.

Other Subsequent Highlights

On January 12, 2022, we entered into a third amendment (the "Amendment") of our loan and security agreement with EWB, which increased the borrowing capacity of our revolving line of credit to $10.0 million, from $7.5 million, and added a term loan not to exceed $20.0 million. Both the revolving line of credit and the term loan mature on January 12, 2026. The term loan includes two tranches, the first of which is a $15.0 million term loan and the second of which is a $5.0 million term loan. On January 12, 2022, we borrowed $15.0 million against the first tranche of the term loan to facilitate the VYNE Product Acquisition. The term loan bears interest on its outstanding daily balance at a floating rate equal to 1.73% above the prime rate and is payable monthly, on the first calendar day each month. The term loans contain an interest only payment period through January 12, 2024, with an extension through July 12, 2024, if certain covenants are met, after which the outstanding balance of each term loan is payable in equal monthly installments of principal, plus all accrued interest, through the term loan maturity date. We may prepay all or any part of the term loan without penalty or premium, but may not re-borrow any amount, once repaid. Any outstanding borrowing against the revolving line of credit bears interest at a floating rate equal to 0.70% above the prime rate. The Amendment includes customary financial covenants such as collateral ratios and minimum liquidity provisions as well as audit provisions.

On February 11, 2022 we announced that our exclusive licensing partner in Japan, Maruho Co., Ltd. ("Maruho"), received marketing and manufacturing approval for Rapifort® Wipes 2.5% (QBREXZA®), for the treatment of primary axillary hyperhidrosis, triggering a net $2.5 million milestone payment to us. The net payment reflects a milestone payment of $10 million to us from our exclusive licensing partner Maruho, offset by a $7.5 million payment to Dermira, pursuant to the terms of the Asset Purchase Agreement between us and Dermira. In conjunction with the terms of the licensing agreement with Maruho, the milestone payment was due from Maruho within 30 days of the approval. We acquired global rights to QBREXZA® from Dermira in 2021.

On March 17, 2022, we dosed the first patient in our Phase 3 clinical trial evaluating DFD-29 (Minocycline Modified Release Capsules 40 mg) for the Treatment of Rosacea. In addition, the published phase 2 clinical data showed that DFD-29 had approximately double the efficacy compared to Doxycycline capsules 40 mg on reducing total inflammatory lesions and IGA treatment success. The trial will encompass two multicenter, randomized, double-blind, parallel-group, active and placebo-controlled Phase 3 clinical trials will each enroll up to 320 adult patients with moderate to severe papulopustular rosacea ("PPR"). One trial is enrolling patients in the United States and the other is enrolling in the United States and Europe. The studies will be randomized in a 3:3:2 ratio to DFD-29 (Minocycline Hydrochloride Modified Release Capsules, 40 mg), Oracea® (Doxycycline capsules 40 mg) or placebo once daily for 16 weeks. The primary objective of the studies is to evaluate the safety, efficacy and tolerability of DFD-29 compared to placebo for the treatment of PPR. The secondary objective is to evaluate the safety, efficacy and tolerability of DFD-29 compared to Oracea® (Doxycycline capsules 40 mg).

Our Products and Relevant Disease States

Excessive Underarm Sweating and the Current Standard of Care

Excessive underarm sweating, commonly referred to as primary axillary hyperhidrosis ("PAH"), is a rare disorder characterized by excessive sweating in the armpits. The exact cause of PAH is not known, and the disorder affects males and females equally. When excessive sweating occurs as part of some other disorder, it is said to be secondary hyperhidrosis, which is a more commonly encountered condition than is primary hyperhidrosis. According to a 2016 article published in the Archives of Dermatological Research, there are about 10 million people who suffer from PAH in the United States. The symptoms of PAH typically begin during childhood or puberty and may often, although not always, persist throughout a person's life. Affected individuals may experience a heightened reaction to certain stimuli that can cause sweating such as anxiety, pain, exercise, tension, caffeine, and/or nicotine. The symptoms of this disorder develop due to overactivity of certain sweat glands, and incidences may be precipitated by social and/or physical stress. Some people with PAH experience relief from the symptoms during adulthood without treatment or obvious reason for the remission.

Qbrexza (glycopyrronium 2.4% cloth) for the Treatment of Primary Axillary Hyperhidrosis

Qbrexza® (glycopyrronium 2.4%), a topical, once-daily anticholinergic cloth that was approved by the FDA in June 2018 for the treatment of PAH in adult and pediatric patients nine years of age and older. PAH is a medical condition with no known cause that results in underarm sweating beyond what is needed for normal body temperature regulation. Anticholinergics are a class of pharmaceutical products that exert their effect by blocking the action of acetylcholine, a neurotransmitter that transmits signals within the nervous system that are responsible for the activation of sweat glands. Qbrexza is applied directly to the skin and is designed to block underarm sweat production by inhibiting sweat gland activation. Qbrexza has Orange Book listed patents that extend through February of 2033.

The PAH market had approximately 430,000 prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health, excluding over-the-counter ("OTC") clinical strength anti-perspirants

Acne and the Current Standard of Care

Acne, also known as acne vulgaris, is a common skin disorder characterized by a blockage of hair follicles, which are clogged with oil and dead skin cells. According to the AAD, acne is the most common skin condition in the US, affecting up to 50 million individuals annually.

Approximately 85% of people between the ages of 12 and 24 experience at least a minor form of acne. The disease is classified as mild, moderate or severe based on the severity of the disease progression, which is useful in identifying an appropriate treatment regimen. Mild acne is characterized by clogged hair follicles (known as comedones) that are either exposed to air (blackheads) or closed (whiteheads), with occasional inflammatory lesions which occur primarily on the face. Moderate acne is characterized by a higher presence of inflammatory lesions known as papules and pustules across the face and extending to the trunk. Severe acne is characterized by painful, deep lesions called nodules across the face, with extensive involvement of the trunk frequently.

Treatment options are based on the severity of disease, with certain drugs being reserved for more severe forms of the disease. Mild acne is addressed with dietary and lifestyle changes, along with OTC and prescription topical agents. Other therapies with varying degrees of success include dermabrasion and chemical peels, light therapy and hormonal therapy such as birth control pills or spironolactone. Moderate acne is treated with more aggressive therapy including topical and oral antibiotics such as tetracyclines, which are particularly effective due to their antibacterial and anti-inflammatory properties, and other topical agents including benzoyl peroxide and retinoids. Severe acne is treated with combination therapies, often including oral antibiotics. For resistant cases, physicians may use a potent drug known as isotretinoin (a vitamin A analog), which requires Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy ("REMS") (safety) monitoring with regard to pregnancy. The current U.S. market size for treatment of acne is considerable and estimated at approximately $3 billion annually, according to the American Medical Association.

Accutane for the Treatment of Severe Recalitrant Nodular Acne

Accutane® (isotretinoin 20mg, 30mg, and 40mg capsules USP) is indicated for the treatment of severe recalcitrant nodular acne. Accutane is used to treat a type of severe recalcitrant nodular acne that has not been helped by other treatments, including antibiotics. Severe recalcitrant nodular acne occurs when many red, swollen, tender lumps form in the skin. Patients with severe nodular acne are at higher risk of scarring. Accutane belongs to a class of drugs that affects all four major pathogenic processes in acne: increased sebum production, irregular follicular desquamation, propionibacterium acnes proliferation and inflammation. Accutane has achieved a strong market position and is well known in the dermatology community.

The oral isotretinoin market had just under 2 million prescriptions in 2020, according to Symphony Health.

Targadox for the Treatment of Severe Acne

Targadox® (doxycycline hyclate immediate release 50mg tablets) is indicated as adjunctive therapy for severe acne, which is part of a class of oral antibiotics known as tetracyclines. The tetracycline class, which includes minocycline, doxycycline, sarecycline and tetracycline, is particularly effective in treatment for more severe forms of acne due to its antibacterial and anti-inflammatory properties. Targadox is the smallest doxycycline tablet and is considered easy to swallow, which is beneficial for the 40% of American adults with dysphagia, a condition in which patients experience difficulty swallowing pills. Targadox is gluten-free, lactose-free, animal byproduct-free, and GMO-free.

The oral doxycycline market had more than 21 million prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health.

AMZEEQ for the Treatment of Moderate-to-Severe Acne

AMZEEQ (4% minocycline foam), formerly known as FMX101, was approved by the FDA in October 2019 and became available in pharmacies nationwide in January 2020. AMZEEQ is a once-daily novel topical antibiotic foam formulation of minocycline for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of non-nodular moderate-to-severe acne vulgaris in patients nine years of age and older. AMZEEQ utilizes proprietary MST™ technology and is the first topical minocycline to be approved by the FDA for any condition. We believe that the combination of a well-established antibiotic in a well-tolerated, easy to use foam makes AMZEEQ a very attractive treatment option for patients.

The topical acne market had 15 million prescriptions in 2021 according to Symphony Health, presenting significant unmet needs of patients and healthcare providers to be addressed. As the first topical minocycline to be approved by the FDA for any condition, we believe that AMZEEQ may provide a new treatment alternative for patients and healthcare providers who are unsatisfied with their current therapies. AMZEEQ has Orange Book listed patents that extend through September of 2037.

Ximino for the Treatment of Inflammatory Lesions of Non-Nodular Moderate to Severe Acne

Ximino® (minocycline hydrochloride extended-release 45mg, 90mg, and 135mg capsules) is indicated for the treatment of inflammatory non-nodular lesions (pimples and red bumps) associated with moderate to severe acne. Minocycline is part of a class of oral antibiotics known as tetracyclines. Ximino encloses a small, uniform amount of the active pharmaceutical ingredient in a patented polymer wrapper through a controlled dosing capsular technology, known as Capsular Minotab Technology®, and provides a steady, controlled release of minocycline. The polymer technology in Ximino capsules is partially resistant to dissolution, so the minocycline is released over time, in a controlled manner. Ximino has Orange Book listed patents that extend through April of 2027.

The oral minocycline market had more than 3 million prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health.

Fungal Infections of the Skin and the Current Standard of Care

Fungal skin infections, collectively referred to as dermatomycoses, are common infections caused by ringworms (tinea) and include such conditions as athlete's foot, jock itch and ringworm of the body. Tinea pedis, commonly known as athlete's foot, is a form of ringworm that usually develops between the toes. Symptoms include peeling, cracking and scaly feet, blisters, and skin that is red, softened, itching, or burning. Tinea cruris, commonly known as jock itch, is a form of ringworm that affects the groin. Tinea corporis, commonly known as ringworm of the body, is a fungal infection that appears on the body in which the outer part of the sore might be raised while the skin in the middle appears normal. Fungal infections caused by ringworm cause skin rashes that present as itchy, red, raised and scaly rings. These infections are easily transmissible between people, pets or contaminated objects or surfaces but are usually not serious in nature.

Treatment options typically involve topical OTC and prescription antifungal medications. Where difficult to administer topically, oral options (such as for toenail fungus or oral thrush) or suppositories (such as for vaginal yeast infections) have proven to be more effective. OTC products typically include known antifungal ingredients such as clotrimazole, miconazole, terbinafine or ketoconazole. Prescription treatments are often reserved for more serious infection or for those in hard-to-treat areas. In conjunction with OTC or prescription medications, lifestyle adjustments, including daily washing of bedding and clothing during an infection, drying thoroughly after bathing, wearing loose clothing in affected areas and actively treating infected areas, can all contribute to disinfecting your surroundings and preventing a prolongation or recurrence of infection.

Exelderm® (sulconazole nitrate 1%, cream and solution) is a broad-spectrum antifungal agent indicated for the treatment of ringworm-caused fungal infections including tinea pedis, tinea cruris, tinea corporis and tinea versicolor. The active pharmaceutical ingredient (sulconazole) acts by inhibiting fungal cell division and growth and has been shown to have broad activity against candida species, aspergillus species and dermatophytes. Exelderm cream or solution is administered externally only, whereby a small amount of cream or solution is gently massaged into the affected and surrounding areas and only requires a convenient once or twice daily application. However, when used to treat tinea pedis, for which Exelderm cream is also indicated, twice daily application is required.

The topical antifungal market had more than 9 million prescriptions in 2021, according to Symphony Health.

Pruritus (Itch) and the Current Standard of Care

Pruritus or itch is defined as an unpleasant sensation of the skin that provokes the urge to scratch. It is a characteristic feature of many skin diseases and an unusual sign of some systemic diseases. Pruritus may be localized or generalized and can occur as an acute or chronic condition. Itch can be caused by a number of conditions, including skin conditions such as dry skin, eczema, psoriasis, scabies, parasites, burns, scars, insect bites and hives. Depending on the cause of itchiness, skin may appear normal, red, rough or bumpy. Repeated scratching can cause raised thick areas of skin that might bleed or become infected.

Treatment for itch may include moisturizing daily, using gentle cleansers, and bathing with lukewarm water. Long-term relief requires identifying and treating the underlying cause of itchy skin. Common treatments are prescription medicated creams and lotions, moist dressings, and oral anti-itch medicines.

Anti-Itch Product for the Treatment of Pruritus

Our recently acquired anti-itch product is indicated to treat pruritis, scabies, and other skin itch conditions ("Anti-itch Product"). Our Anti-itch Product delivers prescription relief and is non-steroidal and antihistamine free. Topical steroids are effective against itch because they reduce inflammation that can cause itch. However, they are not recommended for long-term use. Antihistamines are also effective in treating some types of itch, but they too have drawbacks with continued use. We plan on launching our Anti-itch Product through our field sales force during the second quarter of 2022.

ZILXI for Papulopustular Rosacea

ZILXI (1.5% minocycline foam), was approved by the FDA in May 2020 and became available in pharmacies nationwide in October 2020. ZILXI is a once-daily novel antibiotic foam formulation of minocycline for the treatment of inflammatory lesions of rosacea in adults. Similar to AMZEEQ, ZILXI leverages MST™ technology and is the first minocycline product of any form to be approved by the FDA for use in rosacea. We believe the anti-inflammatory properties of minocycline delivered in our innovative foam technology make ZILXI a highly appealing treatment option for rosacea patients. ZILXI has Orange Book listed patents that extend through October of 2030.

The rosacea market had 3 million prescriptions in 2021 according to Symphony Health, and we believe that ZILXI provides a new treatment alternative for patients and healthcare providers who are unsatisfied with their current therapies.

Our Strategy

We are a highly focused, pharmaceutical company dedicated to developing and commercializing therapies for the treatment of dermatologic conditions that seeks to deliver value to patients, physicians and the healthcare system, as well as to our stakeholders. Our strategic priorities include continuing to augment and grow our product portfolio and organization in order to maximize the probabilities of sustainable long-term value creation. This will consist of both commercial execution on our existing product portfolio, including lifecycle management, as well as investing in additional growth strategies through product and company acquisitions, licensing, or developing new products.

For the year ended December 31, 2021, we generated net product revenue of $63.1 million, compared to $44.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2020.

An important part of our growth strategy is to identify new business development opportunities, including development stage and commercial drugs that we may acquire from other pharmaceutical companies. On June 29, 2021, we entered into an agreement with DRL to license and acquire global ownership rights, title, and interest to DFD-29, a modified release minocycline late-stage development product that is being evaluated to treat inflammatory lesions of rosacea. Additionally, we recently acquired two FDA-approved drugs. In May 2021, we acquired global ownership rights, title, and interest to Qbrexza® (a medicated cloth towelette for the treatment of primary axillary hyperhidrosis) from Dermira. In December 2020, we acquired an anti-itch product from Sun, which we plan to launch in the U.S. during the second quarter of 2022. We are in various stages of discussion for other opportunities, both commercial and development stage, that could drive additional growth in the business. Successful development and commercialization of any future in-licensed development stage or commercial drugs will require us to navigate the many laws and regulations of governmental authorities and regulatory agencies around the world, including the FDA, relating to the manufacture, development, approval and commercialization of investigational drugs. For development stage drugs, we may require financial resources significantly in excess of those received by the Company upon completion of its IPO, and it may take many years for us to receive marketing approval, if ever, for any in-licensed or acquired product candidate.

Competitive Strengths

To successfully execute our strategy, we must continue to capitalize on our following core strengths:

- Commercial leadership of our management team with a track record of commercial execution. We have a highly skilled and customer-focused management team in critical leadership positions across our Company. Our senior management team has over 135 years of sales and marketing experience in the pharmaceutical industry and a proven track record of developing businesses and creating value. We have developed, launched, commercialized, and managed brands, generating over $3 billion in peak sales, collectively, at leading dermatology organizations. This experience includes improving business performance through organic revenue growth, maximizing operational efficiencies and through the identification, consummation and integration of licensing and acquisition opportunities. Our senior management team has extensive roots in the dermatology industry, with many of them having worked at and held senior positions with Medicis Pharmaceutical, Inc. leading up to the company's acquisition by Valeant Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (now Bausch Health Pharmaceuticals, Inc.) for $2.6 billion in 2012. Our strategic approach leverages our management team's experience with the capabilities of our field sales force to drive performance based on prescribing habits, brand preferences, promotional strategies and profit optimization while focusing on customer service excellence for our providers and their patients. Our execution to date has led to market-leading positions for three of our established brands, Targadox, Ximino, and Exelderm, in each of their respective markets.

- Performance and experience of our accomplished field sales force. Our seasoned field sales force includes 70 professionals with an average tenure of over 11 years of experience in dermatology sales. Each of these individuals have deep-rooted and longstanding customer relationships in their respective territories. We have strategically optimized our sales outreach to cover over 80% of dermatologists in the top 50 U.S. metropolitan statistical areas and over 70% of the overall dermatology prescribing market. We are able to leverage the experience of our field sales force to create a tailored and entrepreneurial compensation plan that incentivizes our field sales force and aligns their activities with our corporate performance and growth objectives. We intend to continue to build a team of committed, experienced employees and to engage with patients and members of the dermatology community. Additionally, we believe that consolidation in the medical dermatology industry has resulted in an enhanced opportunity for a medical dermatology-focused company to build relationships with these stakeholders and has made available a large and growing talent pool of experienced individuals who can make significant contributions to our Company.

- Unique and differentiated access and distribution model. We have a unique and differentiated access and distribution network of over 600 specialty pharmacies and wholesalers, where we directly sell our products, with limited distribution through traditional national wholesalers. This decentralized approach allows us to maximize our brand equity across our product portfolio through strategic relationships directly with pharmacies and allows us to provide exceptional customer service and access to patients and physicians.

- Active business development initiative. Business development plays a vital role in our growth strategy as we look to build scale. We consistently evaluate both strategic add-on deals that leverage our existing infrastructure, as well as more transformative assets that would require building out or restructuring our field sales force. We have extensive relationships in the industry that help us stay abreast of developments in our space and continually monitor new opportunities. We believe that we are an ideal partner for development stage companies with limited or no commercial capabilities, as well as established pharmaceutical companies looking to deprioritize their dermatology portfolio. We have ongoing discussions with an array of companies, including traditional large pharma, mid-size specialty pharma companies and smaller companies that focus on research and development, although we have not entered into any definitive agreements or arrangements.

- Focus on cost management and efficient capital allocation. We have operated in a cost-conscious and capital efficient manner since inception. In addition to our internal leadership and management team, we have access to over 30 Fortress employees who possess significant expertise in one or more of the following areas: business development, legal, accounting, regulatory affairs, clinical operations and manufacturing. In November 2021, we entered into a shared services agreement with Fortress for them to continue to provide consulting services and for the continued use of their personnel. As part of our emphasis on cost effectiveness with our resources, we endeavor to structure licenses and product acquisitions for future product opportunities in a capital efficient manner that allows us to minimize indebtedness and compensate partner companies through future profits and commercial benchmarks.

Major Customers

We primarily sell our prescription products to specialty pharmacies, independent wholesalers, and distributors with limited sales through the traditional national wholesaler channels. Our wholesalers and distributors purchase products from us and, in turn, supply products to retail drug store chains, independent pharmacies and managed care organizations. Customers in the managed care market include health maintenance organizations, group purchasing organizations, nursing homes, clinics, pharmacy benefit management companies and mail order customers.

License & Collaboration Agreements and Acquisitions

We continue to seek to enhance our product line and develop a balanced portfolio of differentiated products through product acquisitions and in-licensing or acquiring rights to products and technologies from third parties. We intend to enter into strategic alliances and collaborative arrangements with third parties, which will give us rights to develop, manufacture, market and/or commercialize pharmaceutical products, the rights to which are primarily owned by these third parties. These alliances and arrangements can take many forms, including licensing arrangements, co-development and co-marketing agreements, co-promotion arrangements, research collaborations and joint ventures. Such alliances and arrangements will potentially enable us to share the risk of incurring all research and development expenses that do not lead to revenue-generating products. However, because profits from alliance products are shared with the counterparties to the collaborative arrangement, the gross margins on alliance products are generally lower, sometimes substantially so, than the gross margins that could be achieved had we not opted for a development partner.

Environmental Matters

Our operations are subject to substantial federal, state and local environmental laws and regulations concerning, among other matters, the generation, handling, storage, transportation, treatment and disposal of, and exposure to, hazardous substances. Violation of these laws and regulations, which may change, can lead to substantial fines and penalties. Many of our third-party operations require environmental permits and controls to prevent and limit pollution of the environment. We believe that the facilities of our third-party service providers are in substantial compliance with applicable environmental laws and regulations and we do not believe that future compliance will have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows.

Employees and Human Capital Management

As of December 31, 2021, we had 90 employees and contractors. These employees and contractors include 70 in sales as well as 20 in marketing, general and administrative positions. We currently rely, and may continue to rely, on professional employer organizations and staffing organizations for the employment of our field sales force. Additionally, we have retained a number of expert advisors and consultants that help navigate us through different aspects of our business. We consider our relations with our employees to be good and have not experienced any work stoppages, slowdowns or other serious labor problems that have materially impeded our business operations.

Our human capital management objectives include, as applicable, identifying, recruiting, retaining, incentivizing, and integrating our new and existing employees. The principal purpose of our equity incentive plan is to attract, retain, and motivate selected employees, consultants, and directors through the granting of stock-based compensation awards and cash-based bonus awards.

Additionally, we have access to over 30 Fortress employees and consultants, who possess significant expertise in one or more of the following areas: business development, legal, accounting, regulatory affairs, clinical operations and manufacturing.

Geographic Areas

Seasonality of Business

Our business is affected by the standard annual insurance deductible resets, as well as the purchasing patterns and concentration of our customers; however, our business is not materially impacted by seasonality. There are no assurances that these historical trends will continue in the future.

PART I

Our Company

Opiant Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("we", "our" or the "Company") is a specialty pharmaceutical company developing medicines for addictions and drug overdose. We were incorporated in the State of Nevada in June 2005 as Madrona Ventures, Inc. and, in September 2009, we changed our name to Lightlake Therapeutics Inc. In January 2016, we again changed our name to Opiant Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

On October 2, 2017, we changed our state of incorporation from the State of Nevada to the State of Delaware pursuant to an Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated October 2, 2017 whereby we merged with and into the newly formed, wholly-owned Delaware subsidiary, Opiant Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

During 2022, we plan to complete the development program for nasal nalmefene for Opioid Overdose Reversal ("OOR") and file a New Drug Application ("NDA") with the Food and Drug Administration ("FDA").

Our longer term pipeline includes medicines in development for Alcohol Use Disorder ("AUD"), Opioid Use Disorder ("OUD"), and Acute Cannabinoid Overdose ("ACO"). We are also pursuing other treatment opportunities within the addiction and drug overdose field.

We developed NARCAN® (naloxone hydrochloride) Nasal Spray ("NARCAN®"), a treatment to reverse opioid overdose. This product was conceived and developed by us, licensed to Adapt Pharma Operations Limited ("Adapt"), an Ireland based pharmaceutical company in December 2014 and approved by the FDA in November 2015. Emergent BioSolutions, Inc. acquired Adapt in October of 2018 and Adapt became its wholly owned subsidiary (collectively with Adapt, "EBS"). In exchange for licensing our treatment to EBS, we receive up to double-digit percentage royalties on net sales.

We have not had a bankruptcy, receivership or similar proceeding. We are required to comply with all regulations, rules and directives of governmental authorities and agencies applicable to the clinical testing and manufacturing and sale of pharmaceutical products.

Employees and Culture

Our Employees. We had 37 employees as of December 31, 2021, who were employed in the U.S. and U.K. Our highly qualified and experienced team includes research and development personnel, and professionals across product development, quality, marketing, regulatory, investor relations, finance and legal, and other important functions critical to our success.

We expect to add additional employees in 2022 with a focus on expanding our expertise primarily in clinical research and development, quality, and commercial sales and marketing.

Diversity and Inclusion. Much of our success is rooted in the diversity of our teams and our commitment to inclusion. We value diversity at all levels and continue to focus on extending our diversity and inclusion initiatives across our entire workforce. We create a positive work environment by maintaining a strong culture of diversity and inclusion, supported by our Code of Business Conduct and employment practices. We believe that our business benefits from the different perspectives a diverse workforce brings, and we pride ourselves on having a strong, inclusive and positive culture based on our shared mission and values. As of December 31, 2021, 57% of our employees are female and 43% are male. We are in the process of rolling out programs and systems to better track workforce diversity, employee retention, turnover, engagement and the overall employee experience.

Employee Engagement and Benefits. We believe that our future success largely depends upon our continued ability to attract and retain highly skilled employees. We aim to continue to remain culturally competitive through initiatives such as the Opiant Women's Networking group, internal mentoring programs, and management training and development programs. We provide our employees with competitive salaries and bonuses, opportunities for equity ownership, development programs that enable continued learning and growth and employment packages that promotes well-being across all aspects of their lives, including health care, retirement planning, company sponsored life insurance and short-term disability insurance, overall wellness and fitness subsidy and paid time off.

Training and Team Development. We provide formal and informal training opportunities for our employees covering a variety of professional, technical and leadership topics. Our training opportunities are designed to promote learning across all levels of our organization. Our training includes courses in leadership, project management, soft skill development and technical communications.

We conduct formal evaluations with each of our employees on a bi-annual basis, and managers provide ongoing feedback directly to employees through informal review sessions periodically throughout the year. Our formal evaluation process requires employees to track whether they met certain development goals that are set at the beginning of the review period.

Health & Safety. The safety, health and wellness of our employees is a top priority. We remain committed to ensuring a safe work environment for all contributors. As such, with guidance from the local and federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention ("CDC"), we continue to monitor and update COVID-19 policies and procedures as necessary. To ensure we have a safe and healthy workplace, we have developed a COVID-19 Preparedness Plan in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Our goal is to mitigate the potential for transmission of COVID-19 in our workplaces and communities, and we understand that requires the full cooperation of our employees and management. In addition to developing a COVID-19 Exposure Protocol, we have engaged in daily COVID testing, tracing, and tracking for all onsite employees. We have updated cleaning and sanitization protocols to ensure full compliance as outlined by the CDC. We have provided access to free teletherapy services for all employees, access to free COVID-19 testing and paid time off for employees having to quarantine and/or care for a family member having to quarantine. We will continue to closely monitor the COVID-19 Pandemic and update our internal policies as deemed necessary.

We believe that in person interaction is essential for effective collaboration, morale, and overall company culture. However, we understand that situational circumstances may have arisen as a direct result of the COVID-19 Pandemic. As such, we are now more focused on ensuring meaningful, in person interactions amongst colleagues, thereby ensuring that our employees continue to receive the individual support their circumstance may require.

Principal Products or Services and Markets

OPNT003 - Nasal Nalmefene for OOR

Development Program for OPNT003

In 2017, National Institute of Health ("NIH") leadership called for the development of stronger, longer-acting formulations of antagonists to counteract the very high potency synthetic opioids that are now claiming thousands of lives each year. We are pursuing a 505(b)(2) development path for OPNT003, with the potential to submit a NDA with the FDA for the drug and intranasal delivery device combination in the first half of 2022. Nalmefene for injection was previously approved by the FDA for treating suspected or confirmed opioid overdose. The 505(b)(2) pathway allows companies to rely in part on the FDA's findings of safety and efficacy for a previously approved product and to supplement these findings with a more limited set of their own studies to satisfy FDA requirements, as opposed to conducting the full array of preclinical and clinical studies that would typically be required. We have reached agreement with the FDA to perform a pharmacodynamic ("PD") study in healthy volunteers to support our OPNT003 NDA application.

In February 2021, the first patients were dosed in a confirmatory pharmacokinetic ("PK") study for OPNT003, nasal nalmefene, for the treatment of opioid overdose. In July 2021, we announced positive top-line results from the study. The study was conducted in 68 healthy subjects and compared OPNT003, nasal nalmefene, with an intramuscular nalmefene hydrochloride injection, 1 mg, which was the comparator previously agreed upon with the FDA. According to an initial analysis, the top-line data demonstrated that nasal nalmefene achieved significantly higher plasma concentrations compared to an intramuscular injection ($p<0.0001$). The time for nasal nalmefene to achieve maximum plasma concentrations (T_{max}) was consistent with data from the previously completed pilot study (approximately 15 minutes). The maximum plasma concentration (C_{max}) was higher than observed in the pilot study, and the plasma half-life of nasal nalmefene (approximately 11 hours) was consistent with reported values following other routes (oral and parenteral) of administration.

In April 2021, the first subjects were dosed in a head-to-head clinical PD study comparing the effectiveness of OPNT003, nasal nalmefene, with nasal naloxone.

In November 2021, we received Fast Track Designation from the FDA for OPNT003, nasal nalmefene. Fast Track is an FDA process designed to facilitate the development and expedite review of potential therapies that seek to treat serious conditions and fill an unmet medical need. This designation enables early and frequent communication with the FDA, in addition to the potential for a rolling submission of an NDA application.

In February 2022, we announced positive top line results from a multi-dose PK study for OPNT003, nasal nalmefene, for the treatment of opioid overdose. The crossover design study was conducted in 23 healthy subjects comparing the PK profile, safety, and tolerability of OPNT003 when given as a single 3mg dose in one nostril, as a single dose in each nostril, and as two doses in one nostril.

Market and Commercial potential for OPNT003

There is a large and growing addressable market for opioid overdose reversal agents driven by sales into community- based and first responder institutions, as well as directly to patients via pharmacies. The current addressable market is substantial, to ensure an opioid overdose reversal agent is available for all first responders, including fire departments, emergency medical services, federal law enforcement, local law enforcement, and other community groups. The co-prescribing of opioid overdose reversal agents alongside prescription opioids has also driven growth. It is estimated that only five percent of patients at higher risk of an opioid overdose have a naloxone prescription. Currently there are only thirteen states that have some form of mandatory co-prescription legislation in place; however, several states are considering co-prescribing legislation in the near future.

According to provisional data provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, for the 12 months ended June 2021, synthetic opioids, such as fentanyl, are now responsible for more overdose deaths than both heroin and prescription opioids, with approximately 65,000 fatalities linked to synthetic opioids. Fentanyl and derivatives, such as carfentanil, are particularly dangerous because of a long half-life of seven to ten hours that may require continuous monitoring of overdose victims and repeated dosing with naloxone to initially resuscitate a patient and to prevent relapse. A long-acting opioid overdose reversal drug may reduce this burden.

An easy-to-use nasal formulation of nalmefene with a rapid onset and long duration of action would be suitable for non-medically trained persons to administer. In addition, since high potency synthetic opioids, such as fentanyl, can be weaponized, OPNT003 may also be suitable as an antidote in a civilian mass casualty event.

We have full commercial rights to OPNT003, and we were awarded a grant of approximately $7.4 million from the NIH. The grant provides us with additional resources for the ongoing development of OPNT003. We have been awarded the entire $7.4 million. We have also received a contract for approximately $8.1 million from the Biological Advance Research and Development Agency ("BARDA") to fund development of this project through NDA submission. In January of 2022, BARDA provided an additional commitment of up to $2.2 million. The contract modification increases the total potential value of the BARDA contract to $10.3 million. BARDA has awarded approximately $8.7 million of the contract through December 31, 2021, with the balance expected to be funded, subject to satisfactory project progress, availability of funds and certain other conditions.

As we continue to advance OPNT003 towards market approval and commercialize, we anticipate that our sales and marketing expenses will increase in several areas to support the development of a commercial platform that would allow us to commercialize OPNT003, as well as future pipeline products. The development of this commercial infrastructure includes increasing commercial personnel, pre-launch sales and marketing planning activities, establishing the supply chain and distribution. As we build this infrastructure, we are continuing to evaluate the ideal go-to-market strategy that will allow us to maximize the full commercial potential of OPNT003 and shareholder value. In July 2021, we hired a new Chief Commercial Officer to build and lead the commercial organization. In the latter half of 2021, we have hired regulatory, marketing and government affairs personnel.

Royalties from sales of NARCAN® nasal spray

Naloxone is a medicine that can reverse opioid overdose and until November 2015, was only approved by the FDA as an injection. Administered as a nasal spray, naloxone can be used more widely to prevent opioid overdose deaths.

In December 2014, we entered into a license agreement with Adapt, which subsequently became a wholly owned subsidiary of EBS (the "Adapt Agreement"). The Adapt Agreement has no set duration but may be terminated, among other ways, by Adapt/EBS in its sole discretion, either in its entirety or in respect of one or more countries, at any time by providing 60 days prior notice to us. Pursuant to the Adapt Agreement, EBS has a global license to develop and commercialize our nasal naloxone Opioid Overdose Reversal Treatment Product. In exchange for licensing our treatment to Adapt, we receive up to double-digit percentage royalties on net sales. As a result of a royalty monetization agreement we entered into in 2016 with SWK Funding LLC ("SWK"), SWK retains a 10% interest for all royalties and milestones that the Company received in the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020 and will receive in future years.

In March 2019, we entered into Amendment No. 2 to the Adapt Agreement ("Amendment No. 2") where certain modifications were made to the Adapt Agreement (See "Net Profit Interests" contained in Item 7 of this Annual Report - Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations).

OPNT002 - Nasal Naltrexone for Alcohol Use Disorder ("AUD")

We are developing OPNT002, nasal naltrexone for AUD. Alcohol triggers the release of naturally occurring endorphins, which then bind to the opioid receptors in the brain, leading to dopamine release in the brain's reward center. Naltrexone is thought to reduce heavy drinking through the blockade of these opioid receptors, which results in dampening of alcohol-induced dopamine release and reward. Naltrexone is currently approved by the FDA for the treatment of AUD as a tablet and depot injection. However, in contrast to current naltrexone formulations OPNT002 will be taken nasally on an "as needed" basis, in anticipation of drinking or once drinking has started in order to reduce alcohol intake. We anticipate that taking our product on an as-needed basis could improve patient compliance and enable a patient to regain control of their drinking, especially in situations where heavy drinking is otherwise habitual. Furthermore, we expect patients to have high rates of adherence, because they will not be required to abstain and potentially go through detoxification and withdrawal prior to initiating OPNT002 therapy, unlike the typical situation with existing medicines for AUD.

We have generated encouraging Phase 1 clinical data demonstrating rapid nasal absorption of OPNT002, which supports its suitability for use on an as needed basis, as high levels of naltrexone can be delivered within minutes, which is likely to be very important during a period of craving. The Company has also received feedback from the FDA on our proposed 505(b)(2) development plan, which accepts a harm reduction-based primary endpoint rather than a primary endpoint based on abstinence.

In October of 2019, we completed a dose ranging study, confirming the suitability of our OPNT002 formulation of AUD.

During 2020, we had planned to begin patient enrollment for a double blind, placebo controlled Phase 2 study of OPNT002 in AUD, aiming to enroll 300 patients in Europe and the United Kingdom. However, due to the ongoing COVID-19 global health pandemic, we paused the initiation of patients.

During January 2022, we dosed the first patient in this Phase 2 clinical trial. The trial will determine whether OPNT002 reduces heavy drinking as measured by a change in the World Health Organization ("WHO") drinking risk levels. The trial features a Sequential Parallel Comparison Study Design aiming to reduce placebo response. Results from the trial are expected in 2023.

There are approximately 16.3 million people in the U.S. who suffer from some form of AUD. According to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, only 2.5% of these individuals receive pharmacotherapy for this condition.

OPNT004 - Drinabant Injection for Acute Cannabinoid Overdose ("ACO")

On December 26, 2018, we entered into an exclusive global licensing agreement with Sanofi for the development and commercialization of drinabant for the treatment of acute cannabinoid overdose ("ACO"). We intend to develop drinabant, a selective, high affinity cannabinoid CB-1 receptor antagonist, as an injectable for administration in an emergency department setting. In a proof of principle study that Sanofi completed with 36 patients, oral drinabant blocked both subjective and objective psychological effects of inhaled delta9-tetrahydrocannabinol ("THC"). Sanofi also generated extensive safety data in Phase 1 and 2 studies with more than 700 subject for up to 24 weeks.

ACO is most frequently linked to the ingestion of "edibles" containing large quantities of THC and the abuse of synthetic cannabinoids (often referred to as "K2" and "Spice") that are more potent and yet cheaper than cannabis. Edibles, sold as brownies, cookies and candies, pose particular risks for children, who can consume these by accident. Based on 2014 rates from the National Emergency Department sample and United States Census Bureau figures, we estimate that ACO resulted in more than one million emergency department visits in the United States in 2016. With an increasing number of states legalizing cannabis for personal and recreational use, ACO rates are expected to rise. Features of ACO produced by edibles and synthetic cannabinoids can include psychosis, panic and anxiety, feelings of paranoia, agitation, hallucinations, nausea, vomiting and cardiac arrhythmias. These symptoms often require emergency medical attention and can take hours to days to resolve. There are currently no FDA approved treatments for ACO.

In January 2020, we signed a Letter of Intent with the National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences ("NCATS") to collaborate on the development of OPNT004. NCATS is one of 27 divisions and centers of the NIH. This collaboration, carried out under a Cooperative Research and Development Agreement provides development research for certain pre-clinical activities and studies to support our planned filing of an Investigational New Drug ("IND") application for OPNT004. Activities carried out under this agreement have resulted in the development of formulations which may be suitable for parental administration of OPNT004. These formulations are currently being tested for stability, with pre-clinical toxicology studies scheduled in 2022.

Opioid Use Disorder

OUD is a major global health issue, particularly in the United States, where opioid misuse, in particular involving opioid painkillers and subsequent addiction, has become widespread. Given the increase in prevalence, OUD has now been classified in the United States as a public health crisis. As prescription opioid painkillers have become more difficult to obtain due to tighter controls for distribution and prescribing, and abuse deterrent formulations have become available, there has been an increase in heroin use, which is cheaper and often easier to obtain than painkillers. At the same time, the availability and abuse of synthetic opioids, including fentanyl and its derivatives (fentanyl has been estimated to be at least 50 times more potent than heroin) has become more widespread, further driving the recent increase in deaths from opioid overdose in the U.S.

Current FDA approved treatments for opioid addiction are methadone-based and buprenorphine-based substitution therapies, and the use of naltrexone (an opioid antagonist), available as both a tablet and depot injection. Most substitution therapies, are opioid-based treatments, that for many patients are undesirable, as there is frequently diversion and misuse of these treatments amongst patients with OUD. Therefore, being able to provide a vaccine to patients that potentially provides specific immunity against heroin and its metabolites without the need for prior detoxification and enabling patients to remain opioid-free is an attractive solution.

In October 2016, we in-licensed OPNT005, a heroin vaccine from Walter Reed Army Institute of Research ("WRAIR"). This is an early stage pre-clinical asset and requires further pre-clinical research before human testing. In October 2018, researchers at the U.S. Military HIV Research Program at the WRAIR and SUNY Upstate Medical University in Syracuse, NY, were awarded a grant by NIH to advance OPNT005, through Phase 1/2a clinical trials to assess its safety and efficacy.

Other Activities

In November 2016, Opiant Pharmaceuticals UK Limited ("OPUK") was incorporated under the Companies Act of 2006 as a private company. OPUK is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company and Dr. Roger Crystal, our Chief Executive Officer and a director, and David O'Toole, our Chief Financial Officer and Secretary, serve as the sole directors of OPUK.

On June 22, 2017, we entered into a license agreement (the "License Agreement") and a related supply agreement (the "Supply Agreement") with Aegis Therapeutics LLC, acquired by Neurelis, Inc. in 2018, the combined entity, "Neurelis", pursuant to which we were granted an exclusive license (the "License") to Neurelis' proprietary chemically synthesizable delivery enhancement and stabilization agents, including, but not limited to, Neurelis' Intravail® absorption enhancement agents, ProTek® and HydroGel® (collectively, the "Technology") to exploit (a) the Compounds (as such are defined in the License Agreement) and (b) a product containing a Compound and formulated using the Technology ("Product"), in each case of (a) and (b) for any and all purposes. The License Agreement restricts our ability to manufacture any Aegis excipients included in the Technology ("Excipients"), except for certain instances of supply failure, supply shortage or termination of the Supply Agreement, and we shall obtain all supply of such Excipients from Neurelis under the Supply Agreement. The License Agreement also restricts Neurelis's ability to compete with us worldwide with respect to the Exploitation (as defined in the License Agreement) of any therapeutic containing a Compound or derivative or active metabolite of a Compound without our prior written consent. The effective date of the License Agreement and the Supply Agreement is January 1, 2017.

As consideration for the grant of the License, we paid Neurelis two immaterial upfront payments, of which we paid 50% by issuing Common Stock to Neurelis with the number of shares issued equal to 75% of the average closing price of our Common Stock over the 20 trading days preceding the date of payment. The License Agreement also provides for (A) additional developmental milestone payments for each Product containing a different Compound equal to up to an aggregate of $1.8 million, (B) additional commercialization milestone payments for each Product containing a different Compound equal to up to an aggregate of $5.0 million, and (C) single low digit royalties on the Annual Net Sales (as defined in the License Agreement) of all Products during the Royalty Term (as defined in the License Agreement) according to a tiered royalty rate based on Annual Net Sales of the Products us, our sublicensees and affiliates. We shall also pay to Neurelis a sublicense fee based on a sublicense rate negotiated in good faith by the parties. The License Agreement contains customary representations and warranties, ownership, patent rights, confidentiality, indemnification and insurance provisions. The License Agreement shall expire upon the expiration of our obligation to pay royalties under such License Agreement; provided, however, that we shall have the right to terminate the License granted on a Product-by-Product or country-by-country basis upon 30 days' prior written notice to Neurelis.

Under the terms of the Supply Agreement, Neurelis shall deliver to us any preclinical, clinical and commercial supply of the Excipients, which Aegis sources from various contract manufacturers. The Supply Agreement has a term of 20 years but shall terminate automatically in the event of expiration or termination of the License Agreement or at any time upon the written agreement of both parties. The Supply Agreement contains customary provisions relating to pricing for such materials, forecasts, delivery, inspection, indemnification, insurance and representations, warranties and covenants. The Supply Agreement includes technology transfer provisions for the transfer of all materials and know-how specific to the manufacturing of the Excipients that is necessary or useful for us to manufacture such Excipients. We do not have the right to manufacture such Excipients except in the event that Neurelis is unable to supply and sell any portion of the material to us (subject to a 60-day cure period).

Under the License Agreement, we will be required to pay Neurelis $250 thousand upon the successful NDA filing. For the year ended December 31, 2021, we did not have milestone expenses associated with the License Agreement.

On September 10, 2018, we entered into a development and manufacturing agreement for OPNT003 nasal nalmefene, a potent, long-acting opioid antagonist for the treatment of opioid overdose with Consort Medical plc ("Consort"), a leading contract development and manufacturing organization. Under this agreement, Aesica and Bespak, wholly-owned subsidiaries of Consort, will work with us to produce a pre-filled delivery nasal spray with nalmefene. As part of the agreement, Aesica will supply Opiant with clinical samples and registration batches for the purposes of performing clinical studies and obtaining regulatory approvals. Further, upon approval by the FDA, Aesica and Bespak will manufacture and supply the commercial device for us. On October 28, 2020, the Company notified Aesica that, effective immediately, we were terminating the Agreement pursuant to Section 18.2(a) of the Agreement.

On July 22, 2020, we entered into a Project Scope Agreement ("PSA") pursuant to a Master Services Agreement ("MSA") with Summit Biosciences, Inc. ("Summit"), to support the development and manufacture of a nasal spray device for opioid overdose, with the ability to expand to additional programs in the future. In accordance with the PSA, Summit will develop and produce certain pre-filled nasal spray products using a device previously evaluated as part of other FDA-approved nasal spray products. We will pay Summit estimated costs and fees up to approximately $7.9 million.

On October 26, 2020, we entered into a Master Services Agreement ("MSA") with AptarGroup, Inc. ("Aptar") to provide non-exclusive technology access and co-development services for the development and submission of an opioid antagonist for the treatment of opioid overdose using Aptar's nasal Unidose device (the "UDS Device"). In addition to the cost of the UDS Devices, we expect to spend up to approximately $5.2 million over the course of the development program.

Competition

The specialty pharmaceutical industry is intensely competitive and is characterized by rapid technological progress. Certain pharmaceutical and biopharmaceutical companies and academic and research organizations currently engage in, or have engaged in, efforts related to the discovery and development of new medicines for the treatment of substance use, addictive and overdose. Significant levels of research in chemistry and biotechnology occur in universities and other nonprofit research institutions. These entities have become increasingly active in seeking patent protection and licensing revenues for their research results. They also compete with us in recruiting skilled scientific talent. Some of these companies are larger and better-funded than us and there are no assurances that we can effectively compete with these competitors. Potential competitors include Adamis Pharmaceuticals Corp., Adial Pharmaceuticals, Alkermes PLC, Amphastar, Anebulo Pharmaceuticals, Inc., BioCorRx, Inc., BioDelivery Services International, Inc., Braeburn Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Emergent BioSolutions Inc., Enalare Therapeutics, Harm Reduction Therapeutics, Hikma Pharmaceuticals, H. Lundbeck A/S, Indivior PLC, Nasus Pharmaceuticals., Orexo AB, and Teva Pharmaceuticals.

With respect to NARCAN®, we face competition from other treatments, including injectable naloxone, auto-injectors and improvised nasal kits. Amphastar Pharmaceuticals, Inc. competes with NARCAN® with their naloxone injection. Kaléo competes with NARCAN® with their auto-injector known as EVZIO™ (naloxone HCl injection) Auto-Injector. In addition, on August 4, 2021, Hikma Pharmaceuticals PLC launched KLOXXADO™ (naloxone HCl) nasal spray 8mg. KLOXXADO™ contains twice as much naloxone per spray as NARCAN® Nasal Spray 4mg in a ready-to-use nasal spray to reverse the effects of opioid overdose, providing a new treatment option in addressing the opioid overdose epidemic.

On April 19, 2019, the FDA announced approval of Teva's ANDA for a generic version of NARCAN®. On June 5, 2020, the District Court for the District of New Jersey entered a decision in the patent litigation regarding NARCAN® (naloxone HCl) Nasal Spray 4mg/spray product. The Court ruled in favor of Teva giving it the opportunity to launch a generic version of NARCAN®. Our commercial partner EBS, appealed the decision to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. On December 22, Teva launched a generic version of NARCAN®. In response, Emergent BioSolutions, Inc. through Sandoz Pharmaceuticals launched an authorized generic. On February 10, 2022, the Court of Appeals affirmed the District Court decision.

Although NARCAN® was the first FDA-approved naloxone nasal spray for the emergency reversal of opioid overdoses and has advantages over certain other treatments, we expect the treatment to face additional competition, including our OPNT003, nasal nalmefene. In addition, Orexo AB, Harm Reduction Therapeutics and Nasus Pharmaceuticals have development programs for novel naloxone nasal spray formulations intended for use in opioid overdose reversal.

Research and Development

During the years ended December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020, we incurred research and development expenses of $16.8 million and $9.2 million, respectively.

Regulation

Government Regulation and Product Approval

Government authorities in the United States, at the federal, state, and local levels, and in other countries and jurisdictions, including the European Union, extensively regulate, among other things, the research, development, testing, product approval, manufacture, quality control, safety, effectiveness, manufacturing changes, packaging, storage, record-keeping, labeling, promotion, advertising, sales, distribution, marketing, and import and export of drugs and biologic products. All of our foreseeable product candidates are expected to be regulated as drugs. In particular, therapeutic product candidates for human use are subject to rigorous preclinical and clinical testing and other requirements of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act ("FFDCA"), implemented by the FDA, as well as similar statutory and regulatory requirements of foreign countries. The processes for obtaining regulatory approval in the United States. and in foreign countries and jurisdictions, along with ongoing compliance with applicable statutes and regulations and other regulatory authorities both pre- and post-commercialization, are a significant factor in the production and marketing of our products and our R&D activities and require the expenditure of substantial time and financial resources. Any failure by us or our collaborators, licensors or licensees to obtain, or any delay in obtaining, regulatory approvals or in complying with other regulatory requirements could adversely affect the commercialization of product candidates then being developed by us and our ability to receive product or royalty revenues.

The processes for obtaining regulatory approvals in the United States and in foreign countries, along with subsequent compliance with applicable statutes and regulations, require the expenditure of substantial time and financial resources. In the United States, the FDA regulates drugs under the FFDCA and the FDA's implementing regulations. Failure to comply with the applicable U.S. requirements at any time during the product development process, approval process, or after approval, may subject an applicant to administrative or judicial sanctions. These sanctions could include the FDA's refusal to approve pending applications, withdrawal of an approval, a clinical hold, untitled or warning letters, product recalls, product seizures, total or partial suspension of production or distribution, injunctions, fines, refusals of government contracts, restitution, disgorgement or civil or criminal penalties. The process required by the FDA before a drug may be marketed in the United States generally involves the following:

- completion of preclinical laboratory tests, animal studies and formulation studies according to Good Laboratory Practices regulations;
- submission to the FDA of an IND, which must become effective before human clinical studies may begin;
- approval by an independent internal review board ("IRB"), at each clinical site before each trial may be initiated;
- performance of adequate and well-controlled human clinical studies according to Good Clinical Practice ("GCP") regulations, to establish the safety and efficacy of the proposed drug for its intended use;
- preparation and submission to the FDA of an NDA;
- satisfactory completion of an FDA inspection of the manufacturing facility or facilities at which the product, or components thereof, are produced to assess compliance with current Good Manufacturing Practice ("cGMP") to assure that the facilities, methods, and controls are adequate to preserve the drug's identity, strength, quality, and purity; and
- FDA review and approval of the NDA

The testing and approval process requires substantial time, effort and financial resources, and we cannot be certain that any approvals for our product candidates (or those of our collaborators or licensees) will be granted on a timely basis, if at all.

An IND sponsor must submit the results of the preclinical tests, together with manufacturing information, analytical data and any available clinical data or literature, to the FDA as part of the IND. The sponsor must also include a protocol detailing, among other things, the objectives of the initial clinical study, the parameters to be used in monitoring safety and the effectiveness criteria to be evaluated if the initial clinical study lends itself to an efficacy evaluation. Some preclinical testing may continue even after the IND is submitted. The IND automatically becomes effective 30 days after receipt by the FDA, unless the FDA raises concerns or questions related to a proposed clinical study and places the study on a clinical hold within that 30-day time period. In such a case, the IND sponsor and the FDA must resolve any outstanding concerns before the clinical study can begin. Clinical holds also may be imposed by the FDA at any time before or during clinical studies due to safety concerns or non-compliance, and may be imposed on all product candidates within a certain pharmaceutical class. The FDA also can impose partial clinical holds, for example, prohibiting the initiation of clinical studies of a certain duration or for a certain dose.

All clinical studies must be conducted under the supervision of one or more qualified investigators in accordance with GCP regulations. These regulations include the requirement that all research subjects provide informed consent in writing before their participation in any clinical study. Further, an IRB must review and approve the plan for any clinical study before it commences at any institution, and the IRB must conduct continuing review and re-approve the study at least annually. An IRB considers, among other things, whether the risks to individuals participating in the clinical study are minimized and are reasonable in relation to anticipated benefits. The IRB also approves the information regarding the clinical study and the consent form that must be provided to each clinical study subject or his or her legal representative and must monitor the clinical study until completed. Each new clinical protocol and any amendments to the protocol must be submitted for FDA review, and to the IRBs for approval. Protocols detail, among other things, the objectives of the clinical study, dosing procedures, subject selection and exclusion criteria, and the parameters to be used to monitor subject safety. Study sites are subject to inspection for compliance with GCP.

Information about certain clinical trials must be submitted within specific timeframes to the NIH, for public dissemination on their ClinicalTrials.gov website.

Human clinical studies are typically conducted in three sequential phases that may overlap or be combined:

- Phase 1. The product is initially introduced into a small number of healthy human subjects or patients and tested for safety, dosage tolerance, absorption, metabolism, distribution and excretion and, if possible, to gain early evidence on effectiveness. In the case of some products for severe or life-threatening diseases, especially when the product is suspected or known to be unavoidably toxic, the initial human testing may be conducted in patients.

- Phase 2. Involves clinical studies in a limited patient population to identify possible adverse effects and safety risks, to preliminarily evaluate the efficacy of the product for specific targeted diseases and to determine dosage tolerance and optimal dosage and schedule.
- Phase 3. Clinical studies are undertaken to further evaluate dosage, clinical efficacy and safety in an expanded patient population at geographically dispersed clinical study sites. These clinical studies are intended to establish the overall risk/benefit relationship of the product and provide an adequate basis for product labeling.

Progress reports detailing the results of the clinical studies must be submitted at least annually to the FDA and safety reports must be submitted to the FDA and the investigators for serious and unexpected suspected adverse events. Phase 1, Phase 2 and Phase 3 testing may not be completed successfully within any specified period, if at all. The FDA or the sponsor may suspend or terminate a clinical study at any time on various grounds, including a finding that the research subjects or patients are being exposed to an unacceptable health risk. Similarly, an IRB can suspend or terminate approval of a clinical study at its institution if the clinical study is not being conducted in accordance with the IRB's requirements or if the drug has been associated with unexpected serious harm to patients.

U.S. Review and Approval Processes

Assuming successful completion of the required clinical testing, the results of product development, preclinical studies and clinical studies, along with descriptions of the manufacturing process, analytical tests conducted on the drug, proposed labeling and other relevant information, are submitted to the FDA as part of an NDA for a new drug, requesting approval to market the product.

The submission of an NDA is subject to the payment of a substantial application user fee although a waiver of such fee may be obtained under certain limited circumstances. For example, the agency will waive the application fee for the first human drug application that a small business or its affiliate submits for review. The sponsor of an approved NDA is also subject to annual program user fees.

In addition, under the Pediatric Research Equity Act of 2003, an NDA application (or supplements to an application) for a new active ingredient, new indication, new dosage form, new dosing regimen, or new route of administration must contain data that are adequate to assess the safety and effectiveness of the drug for the claimed indications in all relevant pediatric subpopulations, and to support dosing and administration for each pediatric subpopulation for which the product is safe and effective, unless the applicant has obtained a waiver or deferral.

In 2012, the FDASIA amended the FDCA to require that a sponsor who is planning to submit a marketing application for a drug that includes a new active ingredient, new indication, new dosage form, new dosing regimen or new route of administration submit an initial Pediatric Study Plan ("PSP"), within sixty days of an End-of-Phase II meeting or as may be agreed between the sponsor and the FDA. The initial PSP must include an outline of the pediatric study or studies that the sponsor plans to conduct, including study objectives and design, age groups, relevant endpoints and statistical approach, or a justification for not including such detailed information, and any request for a deferral of pediatric assessments or a full or partial waiver of the requirement to provide data from pediatric studies along with supporting information. The FDA may, on its own initiative or at the request of the applicant, grant deferrals for submission of data or full or partial waivers. The FDA and the sponsor must reach agreement on the PSP. A sponsor can submit amendments to an agreed upon initial PSP at any time if changes to the pediatric plan need to be considered based on data collected from preclinical studies, early phase clinical studies, and/or other clinical development programs.

The FDA also may require submission of a Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy ("REMS") to mitigate any identified or suspected serious risks. The REMS could include medication guides, physician communication plans, assessment plans, and elements to assure safe use, such as restricted distribution methods, patient registries, or other risk minimization tools.

The FDA reviews all NDAs submitted to ensure that they are sufficiently complete for substantive review before it accepts them for filing. The FDA may request additional information rather than accept an application for filing. In this event, the application must be re-submitted with the additional information. The re-submitted application also is subject to review before the FDA accepts it for filing. Once the submission is accepted for filing, the FDA begins an in-depth substantive review to determine whether the product is safe and effective for its intended use.

The FDA may refer the NDA to an advisory committee for review, evaluation and recommendation as to whether the application should be approved and under what conditions. An advisory committee is a panel of experts, including clinicians and other scientific experts, who provide advice and recommendations when requested by the FDA. The FDA is not bound by the recommendation of an advisory committee, but it considers such recommendations when making decisions.

Additionally, before approving an NDA, the FDA will typically inspect one or more clinical sites to assure clinical data supporting the submission were developed in compliance with GCP.

The approval process is lengthy and difficult and the FDA may refuse to approve an NDA if the applicable regulatory criteria are not satisfied, or may require additional clinical data or other data and information. Even if such data and information are submitted, the FDA may ultimately decide that the NDA does not satisfy the criteria for approval. Data obtained from clinical studies are not always conclusive and the FDA may interpret data differently than an applicant interprets the same data.

After the FDA's evaluation of an application, the FDA may issue an approval letter, or, in some cases, a complete response letter to indicate that the review cycle is complete and that the application is not ready for approval. A complete response letter generally contains a statement of specific conditions that must be met to secure final approval of the application and may require additional clinical or preclinical testing for the FDA to reconsider the application. The deficiencies identified may be minor, for example, requiring labeling changes, or major, for example, requiring additional clinical studies. Additionally, the complete response letter may include recommended actions that the applicant might take to place the application in a condition for approval. If a complete response letter is issued, the applicant may either resubmit the application, addressing all of the deficiencies identified in the letter, or withdraw the application or request an opportunity for a hearing.

Even with submission of additional information, the FDA ultimately may decide that the application does not satisfy the regulatory criteria for approval. If and when those conditions have been met to the FDA's satisfaction, the FDA will typically issue an approval letter. An approval letter authorizes commercial marketing of the drug with specific prescribing information for specific indications.

If a product receives regulatory approval, the approval may be significantly limited to specific diseases and dosages or the indications for use may otherwise be limited, which could restrict the commercial value of the product. Further, the FDA may require that certain contraindications, warnings or precautions be included in the product labeling. In addition, the FDA may require post-approval studies, including Phase 4 clinical studies, to further assess safety and effectiveness after approval and may require testing and surveillance programs to monitor the safety of approved products that have been commercialized. After approval, some types of changes to the approved product, such as adding new indications, manufacturing changes, and additional labeling claims, are subject to further testing requirements and FDA review and approval.

Abbreviated New Drug Applications ("ANDAs") and Section 505(b)(2) New Drug Applications

Most drug products obtain FDA marketing approval pursuant to an NDA for innovator products, or an ANDA for generic products. Relevant to ANDAs, the Hatch-Waxman amendments to the FDCA established a statutory procedure for submission and FDA review and approval of ANDAs for generic versions of branded drugs previously approved by the FDA (such previously approved drugs are also referred to as listed drugs). Because the safety and efficacy of listed drugs have already been established by the brand company (sometimes referred to as the innovator), the FDA does not require a demonstration of safety and efficacy of generic products. However, a generic manufacturer is typically required to conduct bioequivalence studies of its test product against the listed drug. The bioequivalence studies for orally administered, systemically available drug products assess the rate and extent to which the API is absorbed into the bloodstream from the drug product and becomes available at the site of action. Bioequivalence is established when there is an absence of a significant difference in the rate and extent for absorption of the generic product and the listed drug. In addition to the bioequivalence data, an ANDA must contain patent certifications and chemistry, manufacturing, labeling and stability data.

The third alternative is a special type of NDA, commonly referred to as a Section 505(b)(2) NDA, which enables the applicant to rely, in part, on the FDA's findings of safety and efficacy of an existing product, or published literature, in support of its application. Section 505(b)(2) NDAs often provide an alternate path to FDA approval for new or improved formulations or new uses of previously approved products. Section 505(b)(2) permits the filing of an NDA where at least some of the information required for approval comes from studies not conducted by or for the applicant and for which the applicant has not obtained a right of reference. The applicant may rely upon the FDA's findings with respect to certain preclinical or clinical studies conducted for an approved product. The FDA may also require companies to perform additional studies or measurements to support the change from the approved product. The FDA may then approve the new product candidate for certain label indications for which the referenced product has been approved, as well as for any new indication sought by the Section 505(b)(2) applicant.

In seeking approval for a drug through an NDA, including a 505(b)(2) NDA, applicants are required to list with the FDA certain patents of the applicant or that are held by third parties whose claims cover the applicant's product. Upon approval of an NDA, each of the patents listed in the application for the drug is then published in the Orange Book. Any subsequent applicant who files an ANDA seeking approval of a generic equivalent version of a drug listed in the Orange Book or a 505(b)(2) NDA referencing a drug listed in the Orange Book must make one of the following certifications to the FDA concerning patents: (1) the patent information concerning the reference listed drug product has not been submitted to the FDA; (2) any such patent that was filed has expired; (3) the date on which such patent will expire; or (4) such patent is invalid or will not be infringed upon by the manufacture, use or sale of the drug product for which the application is submitted. This last certification is known as a paragraph IV certification. A notice of the paragraph IV certification must be provided to each owner of the patent that is the subject of the certification and to the holder of the approved NDA to which the ANDA or 505(b)(2) application refers. The applicant may also elect to submit a "section viii" statement certifying that its proposed label does not contain (or carves out) any language regarding the patented method-of-use rather than certify to a listed method-of-use patent.

If the reference NDA holder or patent owners assert a patent challenge directed to one of the Orange Book listed patents within 45 days of the receipt of the paragraph IV certification notice, the FDA is prohibited from approving the application until the earlier of 30 months from the receipt of the paragraph IV certification expiration of the patent, settlement of the lawsuit or a decision in the infringement case that is favorable to the applicant. The ANDA or 505(b) (2) application also will not be approved until any applicable non-patent exclusivity listed in the Orange Book for the branded reference drug has expired as described in further detail below. Thus approval of a Section 505(b)(2) NDA or ANDA can be stalled until all the listed patents claiming the referenced product have expired, until any non-patent exclusivity, such as exclusivity for obtaining approval of a new chemical entity, listed in the Orange Book for the referenced product has expired, and, in the case of a Paragraph IV certification and subsequent patent infringement suit, until the earlier of 30 months, settlement of the lawsuit or a decision in the infringement case that is favorable to the ANDA or Section 505(b)(2) applicant.

Post-Approval Requirements

Drugs manufactured or distributed pursuant to FDA approvals are subject to extensive and continuing regulation by the FDA, including, among other things, requirements relating to recordkeeping (including certain electronic record and signature requirements), periodic reporting, product sampling and distribution, advertising and promotion and reporting of certain adverse experiences, deviations, and other problems with the product. After approval, most changes to the approved product, such as adding new indications or other labeling claims are subject to prior FDA review and approval. There also are continuing, annual user fee requirements for any marketed products, as well as new application fees for supplemental applications with clinical data.

The FDA strictly regulates labeling, advertising, promotion and other types of information on products that are placed on the market. Products may be promoted only for the approved indications and in accordance with the provisions of the approved label. The FDA and other agencies actively enforce the laws and regulations prohibiting the promotion of off-label uses, and a company that is found to have improperly promoted off-label uses may be subject to significant liability. Further, manufacturers must continue to comply with cGMP requirements, which are extensive and require considerable time, resources and ongoing investment to ensure compliance. In addition, changes to the manufacturing process generally require prior FDA approval before being implemented and other types of changes to the approved product, such as adding new indications and additional labeling claims, are also subject to further FDA review and approval.

Manufacturers and certain other entities involved in the manufacturing and distribution of approved products are required to register their establishments with the FDA and certain state agencies, and are subject to periodic unannounced inspections by the FDA and certain state agencies for compliance with cGMP and other laws. The cGMP requirements apply to all stages of the manufacturing process, including the production, processing, sterilization, packaging, labeling, storage and shipment of the product.

Changes to the manufacturing process are strictly regulated and often require prior FDA approval before being implemented. FDA regulations also require investigation and correction of any deviations from cGMP and impose reporting and documentation requirements upon the sponsor and any third party manufacturers that the sponsor may decide to use. Accordingly, manufacturers must continue to expend time, money, and effort in the area of production and quality control to maintain cGMP compliance.

The FDA may impose a number of post-approval requirements as a condition of approval of an application. For example, the FDA may require post-marketing testing, including Phase 4 clinical trials, and surveillance to further assess and monitor the product's safety and effectiveness after commercialization.

The FDA may withdraw a product approval if compliance with regulatory requirements is not maintained or if problems occur after the product reaches the market. Later discovery of previously unknown problems with a product, including adverse events of unanticipated severity or frequency, problems with manufacturing processes, or failure to comply with regulatory requirements, may result in restrictions on the product or even complete withdrawal of the product from the market.

Potential implications include required revisions to the approved labeling to add new safety information; imposition of post-market studies or clinical trials to assess new safety risks; or imposition of distribution or other restrictions under a REMS program. Other potential consequences include, among other things:

- restrictions on the marketing or manufacturing of the product, complete withdrawal of the product from the market or product recalls;
- warning letters or holds on post-approval clinical trials;
- refusal of the FDA to approve pending NDAs or supplements to approved NDAs, or suspension or revocation of product license approvals;
- product seizure or detention, or refusal to permit the import or export of products; or
- injunctions or the imposition of civil or criminal penalties.

In addition, the distribution of prescription drugs is subject to the Prescription Drug Marketing Act ("PDMA"), which regulates the distribution of the products and product samples at the federal level, and sets minimum standards for the registration and regulation of distributors by the states. Both the PDMA and state laws limit the distribution of prescription pharmaceutical product samples and impose requirements to ensure accountability in distribution.

From time to time, legislation is drafted, introduced and passed in Congress that could significantly change the statutory provisions governing the approval, manufacturing and marketing of products regulated by the FDA. In addition to new legislation, FDA regulations, guidance, and policies are often revised or reinterpreted by the agency in ways that may significantly affect our business and our product candidates. It is impossible to predict whether further legislative or FDA regulation or policy changes will be enacted or implemented and what the impact of such changes, if any, may be.

Pharmaceutical Coverage, Pricing and Reimbursement

In the United States, sales of any products for which we (or our collaborators or licensees) may receive regulatory approval for commercial sale will depend in part on the availability of coverage and reimbursement from third-party payors. Third-party payors include government authorities, managed care providers, private health insurers and other organizations.

Significant uncertainty exists as to the coverage and reimbursement status of any products for which we may obtain regulatory approval. The process for determining whether a payor will provide coverage for a drug may be separate from the process for setting the reimbursement rate that the payor will pay for the product. Some of the additional requirements and restrictions on coverage and reimbursement levels imposed by third-party payors influence the purchase of healthcare services and products.

Third-party payors may limit coverage to specific drugs on an approved list, or formulary, which might not include all of the FDA-approved drugs for a particular indication, or place drugs at certain formulary levels that result in lower reimbursement levels and higher cost-sharing obligation imposed on patients. Moreover, a payor's decision to provide coverage for a drug product does not imply that an adequate reimbursement rate will be approved. Adequate third-party reimbursement may not be available to enable us to maintain price levels sufficient to realize an appropriate return on our investment in product development. Further, one payor's determination to provide coverage does not assure that other payors will also provide coverage and reimbursement for the product, and the level of coverage and reimbursement may differ significantly from payor to payor. Third-party payors are increasingly challenging the price and examining the medical necessity and cost-effectiveness of medical products and services, in addition to their safety and efficacy. In order to obtain and maintain coverage and reimbursement for any product that might be approved for sale, we may need to conduct expensive pharmacoeconomic studies in order to demonstrate the medical necessity and cost-effectiveness of any products, in addition to the costs required to obtain regulatory approvals. Our product candidates may not be considered medically necessary or cost-effective. If third-party payors do not consider a product to be cost-effective compared to other available therapies, they may not cover the product after approval as a benefit under their plans or, if they do, the level of payment may not be sufficient to allow a company to sell its products at a profit.

The United States government and state legislatures have shown significant interest in implementing cost containment programs to limit the growth of government-paid healthcare costs, including price controls, restrictions on reimbursement and coverage and requirements for substitution of generic products for branded prescription drugs. Adoption of government controls and measures, and tightening of restrictive policies in jurisdictions with existing controls and measures, could exclude or limit our drugs and product candidates from coverage and limit payments for pharmaceuticals.

In addition, we expect that the increased emphasis on managed care and cost containment measures in the United States by third-party payors and government authorities to continue and will place pressure on pharmaceutical pricing and coverage. Coverage policies and third-party reimbursement rates may change at any time. Even if favorable coverage and reimbursement status is attained for one or more products for which we receive regulatory approval, less favorable coverage policies and reimbursement rates may be implemented in the future.

Employees

As of March 1, 2022, we had 37 full-time employees and one part-time employee. In addition, we have a number of outside consultants that are not on our payroll.

ITEM 1A. RISK FACTORS

An investment in our securities involves a high degree of risk. Prior to making a decision about investing in our securities, you should carefully consider all of the information in this Report on Form 10-K, including our consolidated financial statements and related notes. The risks and uncertainties we have described are not the only ones we face. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to us or that we currently deem immaterial may also affect our operations. The occurrence of any of these known or unknown risks might cause you to lose all or part of your investment.

Summary Risk Factors

Our business is subject to a number of risks, including risks that may prevent us from achieving our business objectives or may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows, and prospects. These risks are discussed more fully below and include, but are not limited to, the following:

- we may fail to obtain or maintain regulatory approvals for our product candidates in our markets or may face adverse regulatory or legal actions relating to our product candidates even if regulatory approval is obtained;
- we are dependent upon the results of clinical studies relating to our product candidates and the products of our competitors. If data from a clinical trial is unfavorable, we would be reluctant to advance the specific product for the indication for which it was being developed;
- having inadequate financial or other resources to complete the development of our product candidates;
- the inability to manufacture our product candidates in commercial quantities, at an adequate quality, at an acceptable cost or in collaboration with third parties;
- experiencing delays or unplanned expenditures in product development, clinical testing or manufacturing;
- the inability to establish adequate sales, marketing and distribution channels;
- healthcare professionals and patients may not accept our treatments;
- we may not be aware of possible complications from the continued use of our products since we have limited clinical experience with respect to the actual use of our products;
- technological breakthroughs in reversing opioid overdoses and treating patients with AUD, OUD, and ACO may reduce the demand for our products;
- changes in the market for reversing opioid overdoses and treating patients with AUD, OUD and ACO, new alliances between existing market participants and the entrance of new market participants may interfere with our market penetration efforts;
- third-party payors may not agree to reimburse patients for any or all of the purchase price of our products, which may adversely affect patients' willingness to purchase our products;
- uncertainty as to market demand may result in inefficient pricing of our products; and
- we may face third party claims of intellectual property infringement.

Risks Related to our Business, Financial Condition and Capital Requirements

We have historically generated limited revenue to date and expect to incur significant operating losses for the foreseeable future.

As of December 31, 2021, we have an accumulated deficit of $61.7 million. The likelihood of our future success must be considered in light of the expenses, difficulties, complications and delays often encountered in connection with the clinical trials that will be conducted and on the development of new solutions to common addictions and related disorders. These potential challenges include, but are not limited to, unanticipated clinical trial delays, poor data, changes in the regulatory and competitive landscape and additional costs and expenses that may exceed current budget estimates. In order to complete certain clinical trials and otherwise operate pursuant to our current business strategy, we anticipate that we will incur increased operating expenses. In addition, we expect to incur significant losses for the foreseeable future and we also expect to experience negative cash flow for the foreseeable future as we fund the operating losses and capital expenditures. We recognize that if we are unable to generate sufficient revenues or source funding, we will not be able to continue operations as currently contemplated, complete planned clinical trials and/or achieve profitability. Our failure to achieve or maintain profitability will also negatively impact the value of our securities. If we are unsuccessful in addressing these risks, then we will most likely fail.

To Whom It May Concern,

On behalf of Opiant Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("Opiant"), attached is Opiant's application for Licensure.

Opiant is a pharmaceutical company with a mission to create best-in-class medicines for the treatment of addictions and drug overdose. In 2013, Opiant developed the first FDA-approved, user-friendly nasal naloxone spray. Prompted by an upsurge in opioid overdose deaths driven by Fentanyl and related "synthetics", the National Institutes of Health (NIH) leadership recently called for the development of "...stronger, longer-acting formulations of antagonists." Opiant has responded to this call, and ism developing an intranasal formulation of nalmefene, a more potent, longer acting opioid antagonist that is especially well-suited to treat overdose caused by synthetics

Opiant is a "Virtual Manufacturer" whose products are manufactured by a contract manufacturer and distributed by a Third-Party Logistics Provider, who meets licensure requirements to ship pharmaceutical products into your state. At no time is commercial product manufactured at, stored at, or distributed from Opiant's office. Opiant's product not a controlled substance. Accordingly, Opiant is not required to obtain a DEA registration.

I hope this narrative is helpful as you review Opiant's application. If you have a question regarding this application, please contact me at (614) 519-4775 or via email at erin.vorisek@twolabs.com. Good Morning Mr. Dee,

Thank you for contacting our office. Our office, the Florida Division of Drugs, Devices, and Cosmetics, does not require a permit to wholesale distribute products classified as devices. If the device contained a prescription drug, a permit could potentially be required.

Rebecca,

Thank you so much for taking my call today. As we discussed, once a year I send an e-mail to the state of Florida to insure that we don't need a license to carry the products we sell. As a reminder, we are importers of veterinary medical devices. We sell these goods to veterinary wholesalers, who in turn sell the goods to veterinary hospitals. Think endotracheal tubes and skin staplers. WE DO NOT SELL ANY DRUGS OF ANY KIND.

I really appreciate your help,

Scott Dee

How FDA Regulates Animal Devices

Español (/animal-veterinary/animal-health-literacy/como-regula-la-fda-los-dispositivos-para-animales)

The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the Act) defines medical device as "an instrument, apparatus, implement, machine, contrivance, implant, in-vitro reagent, or other similar or related article, including any component, part, or accessory, which is ... intended for use in the diagnosis of disease or other conditions, or in the cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease in man or other animals, or [which is] intended to affect the structure or any function of the body of man or other animals ... ." Further, a device "does not achieve its primary intended purposes through chemical action within or on the body of man or other animals, and ... is not dependent upon being metabolized for the achievement of its primary intended purposes." Examples of devices include such things as needles, syringes, surgical instruments, prosthetic devices, X-ray equipment, certain diagnostic test kits, and dental appliances.

FDA does have regulatory oversight over devices intended for animal use and can take appropriate regulatory action if an animal device is misbranded or adulterated.

Pre-market Approval is Not Required: The FDA does not require submission of a 510(k), PMA, or any pre-market approval for devices intended for animal use.

Device manufacturers who exclusively manufacture or distribute animal devices are not required to register their establishments or list animal devices with FDA and are exempt from post-marketing reporting. It is the responsibility of the manufacturer and/or distributor of these articles to assure that these animal devices are safe, effective, and properly labeled.

The FDA encourages veterinarians and animal owners to report adverse drug experiences and product defects associated with animal devices (/animal-veterinary/report-problem/how-report-animal-drug-side-effects-and-product-problems#Drugs_and_Devices) to FDA using Form FDA 1932a.

An animal device that is also a radiation emitting electronic product, such as an MRI device intended for animal use, must comply with all requirements for animal devices in addition to applicable requirements for radiation-emitting electronic products in 21 CFR 1000 - 1050. FDA's Center for Devices and Radiological Health (CDRH) is responsible for regulating radiation-emitting electronic products. For further information on CDRH regulations that apply to manufacturers of electronic products, visit FDA's website on Radiation Emitting Products (/radiation-emitting-products/electronic-product-radiation-control-program/laws-and-regulations-radiation-emitting-products).

Manufacturers and/or distributors of animal medical devices may request a review of their product labeling and promotional literature to ensure that it complies with the Act by emailing AskCVM@fda.hhs.gov (mailto:AskCVM@fda.hhs.gov). This includes devices marketed in another country and offered for importation into the U.S.

It is agreed that the Automobile Liability Policy includes as an additional insured the owner/lessor of any vehicle leased to AbbVie under written contract.

ADDITIONAL INSURED-LIABILITY:
The definition of WHO IS AN INSURED in the Commercial General Liability policy is amended to include as an insured any person, organization, state or other political subdivision, trustee or estate for whom the Named Insured has agreed in writing to provide liability insurance. But the insurance provided by this amendment:

1. Applies only to personal injury or property damage arising out of the Named Insured's (a) services, (b) products, (c) premises, or (d) other property owned by or rented to the Named Insured;
2. Applies only to coverage and limits of insurance required by the written agreement, but in no event exceeds either the scope of coverage or the limits of insurance provided by the policy;
3. Does not apply to any person, organization, state or other political subdivision, trustee or estate for whom the Named Insured has procured separate liability insurance while such insurance is in effect, regardless of whether the scope of coverage or limits of insurance of the policy exceed those of such other insurance or whether such other insurance is valid and collectible.

With respect to the above Additional Insured-Liability provision, the following provision also applies:

1. Where the applicable written agreement requires the insured to provide liability insurance on a primary, excess, contingent, or any other basis, the policy will apply solely on the basis required by such written agreement. Where the applicable written agreement does not specify on what basis the liability insurance will apply, the provisions of the Other Insurance section of the policy will govern.

ADDITIONAL INSURED-PROPERTY/BUSINESS INTERRUPTION/BOILER & MACHINERY:
This policy shall also cover as Additional Insured, any person, organization, trustee or estate to whom or to which the Named Insured is obligated, by virtue of a written contract, permit, mortgage, lending or leasing agreement to provide insurance such as is afforded by the terms of the policy, but only to the extent of the coverage required by such contract, permit, mortgage, lending or leasing agreement and for the limits of liability specified in such contract, permit, mortgage, lending or leasing agreement but in no event for insurance not afforded by the policy nor for the limits of liability in excess of the applicable limits of liability of the policy.

These Amended and Restated By-laws (the "By-laws") of AbbVie Inc., a Delaware corporation, are effective as of 11:59 p.m., Eastern time, on December 31, 2012 and hereby amend and restate the previous by-laws of AbbVie Inc., which are hereby deleted in their entirety and replaced with the following:

ARTICLE I
OFFICES AND RECORDS

Section 1.1 Delaware Office. The registered office of AbbVie Inc. (the "Corporation") in the State of Delaware shall be located in the City of Wilmington, County of New Castle, and the name and address of its registered agent is Corporate Creations Network Inc., 3411 Silverside Road, Tatnall Building, Suite 104, Wilmington, Delaware 19810, United States.

Section 1.2 Other Offices. The Corporation may have such other offices, either inside or outside the State of Delaware, as the Board of Directors of the Corporation (the "Board of Directors") may designate or as the business of the Corporation may from time to time require.

Section 1.3 Books and Records. The books and records of the Corporation may be kept inside or outside the State of Delaware at such place or places as may from time to time be designated by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE II
STOCKHOLDERS

Section 2.1 Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation shall be held on such date and at such place and time as may be fixed by resolution of the Board of Directors.

Section 2.2 Special Meeting. Subject to the rights of the holders of any series of stock having a preference over the Common Stock of the Corporation as to dividends, voting or upon liquidation ("Preferred Stock") with respect to such series of Preferred Stock, special meetings of the stockholders may be called only by the Chairman of the Board, the Chief Executive Officer, any President, or the Board of Directors pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the total number of directors which the Corporation would have if there were no vacancies (the "Whole Board").

Section 2.3 Place of Meeting. The Board of Directors or the Chairman of the Board, as the case may be, may designate the place of meeting for any annual or special meeting of the stockholders. If no designation is so made, the place of meeting shall be the principal office of the Corporation.

Section 2.4 Notice of Meeting. Written or printed notice, stating the place, date and hour of the meeting, the means of remote communications, if any, by which stockholders and proxy holders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such meeting, and, in the case of a special meeting, the purpose or purposes for which the meeting is called, shall be delivered by the Corporation not less than ten (10) days nor more than sixty (60) days before the date of the meeting, either personally, by electronic transmission in the manner provided in Section 232 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware (as it may be amended, the "DGCL") (except to the extent prohibited by Section 232(e) of the DGCL) or by mail, to each stockholder of record entitled to vote at such meeting. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail with postage thereon prepaid, addressed to the stockholder at his or her address as it appears on the stock transfer books of the Corporation. If notice is given by electronic transmission, such notice shall be deemed to be given at the times provided in the DGCL. Such further notice shall be given as may be required by law. Meetings may be held without notice if all stockholders entitled to vote are present, or if notice is waived by those not present in accordance with Section 8.4 of these By-laws. Any previously scheduled meeting of the stockholders may be postponed, and, unless the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation (the "Certificate of Incorporation") otherwise provides, any special meeting of the stockholders may be cancelled, by resolution of the Board of Directors upon public notice given prior to the date previously scheduled for such meeting of stockholders.

Section 2.5 Quorum and Adjournment. Except as otherwise provided by law or by the Certificate of Incorporation, the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors (the "Voting Stock"), represented in person or by proxy, shall constitute a quorum at a meeting of stockholders, except that when specified business is to be voted on by a class or series of stock voting as a class, the holders of a majority of the shares of such class or series shall constitute a quorum of such class or series for the transaction of such business. The Chairman of the Board of Directors or the President may adjourn the meeting from time to time, whether or not there is a quorum. No notice of the time and place of adjourned meetings need be given except as required by law. The stockholders present at a duly called meeting at which a quorum is present may continue to transact business until adjournment, notwithstanding the withdrawal of enough stockholders to leave less than a quorum.

Section 2.6 Proxies. At all meetings of stockholders, a stockholder may vote by proxy executed in writing (or in such manner prescribed by the DGCL) by the stockholder, or by his or her duly authorized attorney in fact.

Section 2.7 Order of Business.

(A) Annual Meetings of Stockholders. At any annual meeting of the stockholders, only such nominations of persons for election to the Board of Directors shall be made, and only such other business shall be conducted or considered, as shall have been properly brought before the meeting. For nominations to be properly made at an annual meeting, and proposals of other business to be properly brought before an annual meeting, nominations and proposals of other business must be: (a) specified in the Corporation's notice of meeting (or any supplement thereto) given by or at the direction of the Board of Directors, (b) otherwise properly made at the annual meeting, by or at the direction of the Board of Directors or (c) otherwise properly requested to be brought before the annual meeting by a stockholder of the Corporation in accordance with these By-laws. For nominations of persons for election to the Board of Directors or proposals of other business to be properly requested by a stockholder to be made at an annual meeting, a stockholder must (i) be a stockholder of record at the time of giving of notice of such annual meeting by or at the direction of the Board of Directors and at the time of the annual meeting, (ii) be entitled to vote at such annual meeting and (iii) comply with the procedures set forth in these By-laws as to such business or nomination. The immediately preceding sentence shall be the exclusive means for a stockholder to make nominations or other business proposals (other than matters properly brought under Rule 14a-8 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act") and included in the Corporation's notice of meeting) before an annual meeting of stockholders.

(B) Special Meetings of Stockholders. At any special meeting of the stockholders, only such business shall be conducted or considered, as shall have been properly brought before the meeting pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting. To be properly brought before a special meeting, proposals of business must be (a) specified in the Corporation's notice of meeting (or any supplement thereto) given by or at the direction of the Board of Directors, or (b) otherwise properly brought before the special meeting, by or at the direction of the Board of Directors.

Nominations of persons for election to the Board of Directors may be made at a special meeting of stockholders at which directors are to be elected pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting (a) by or at the direction of the Board of Directors or (b) provided that the Board of Directors has determined that directors shall be elected at such meeting, by any stockholder of the Corporation who (i) is a stockholder of record at the time of giving of notice of such special meeting and at the time of the special meeting, (ii) is entitled to vote at the meeting, and (iii) complies with the procedures set forth in these By-laws as to such nomination. The immediately preceding sentence shall be the exclusive means for a stockholder to make nominations (other than matters properly brought under Rule 14a-8 under the Exchange Act and included in the Corporation's notice of meeting) before a special meeting of stockholders.

(C) General. Except as otherwise provided by law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these By-laws, the Chairman of any annual or special meeting shall have the power to determine whether a nomination or any other business proposed to be brought before the meeting was made or proposed, as the case may be, in accordance with these By-laws and, if any proposed nomination or other business is not in compliance with these By-laws, to declare that no action shall be taken on such nomination or other proposal and such nomination or other proposal shall be disregarded.

Section 2.8 Advance Notice of Stockholder Business and Nominations.

(A) Annual Meeting of Stockholders. Without qualification or limitation, subject to Section 2.8(C)(4) of these By-laws, for any nominations or any other business to be properly brought before an annual meeting by a stockholder pursuant to Section 2.7(A) of these By-laws, the stockholder must have given timely notice thereof (including, in the case of nominations, the completed and signed questionnaire, representation and agreement required by Section 2.9 of these By-laws), and timely updates and supplements thereof, in writing to the Secretary, and such other business must otherwise be a proper matter for stockholder action.

To be timely, a stockholder's notice shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not earlier than the close of business on the 120th day and not later than the close of business on the 90th day prior to the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting; provided, however, that in the event that the date of the annual meeting is more than 30 days before or more than 60 days after such anniversary date, notice by the stockholder must be so delivered not earlier than the close of business on the 120th day prior to the date of such annual meeting and not later than the close of business on the later of the 90th day prior to the date of such annual meeting or, if the first public announcement of the date of such annual meeting is less than 100 days prior to the date of such annual meeting, the 10th day following the day on which public announcement of the date of such meeting is first made by the Corporation. In no event shall any adjournment or postponement of an annual meeting, or the public announcement thereof, commence a new time period for the giving of a stockholder's notice as described above.

Notwithstanding anything in the immediately preceding paragraph to the contrary, in the event that the number of directors to be elected to the Board of Directors is increased by the Board of Directors, and there is no public announcement by the Corporation naming all of the nominees for director or specifying the size of the increased Board of Directors at least 100 days prior to the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting, a stockholder's notice required by this Section 2.8(A) shall also be considered timely, but only with respect to nominees for any new positions created by such increase, if it shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not later than the close of business on the 10th day following the day on which such public announcement is first made by the Corporation.

In addition, to be considered timely, a stockholder's notice shall further be updated and supplemented, if necessary, so that the information provided or required to be provided in such notice shall be true and correct as of the record date for the meeting and as of the date that is ten (10) business days prior to the meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof, and such update and supplement shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not later than five (5) business days after the record date for the meeting in the case of the update and supplement required to be made as of the record date, and not later than eight (8) business days prior to the date for the meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof in the case of the update and supplement required to be made as of ten (10) business days prior to the meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof. For the avoidance of doubt, the obligation to update and supplement as set forth in this paragraph or any other Section of these By-laws shall not limit the Corporation's rights with respect to any deficiencies in any notice provided by a stockholder, extend any applicable deadlines hereunder, or under any other provision of the By-laws, or enable or be deemed to permit a stockholder who has previously submitted notice hereunder, or under any other provision of the By-laws, to amend or update any proposal or to submit any new proposal, whether by changing or adding nominees, matters, business and or resolutions proposed to be brought before a meeting of the stockholders or otherwise.

(B) Special Meetings of Stockholders. Subject to Section 2.8(C)(4) of these By-laws, in the event the Corporation calls a special meeting of stockholders for the purpose of electing one or more directors to the Board of Directors, any stockholder may nominate a person or persons (as the case may be) for election to such position(s) as specified in the Corporation's notice of meeting, provided that the stockholder gives timely notice thereof (including the completed and signed questionnaire, representation and agreement required by Section 2.9 of these By-laws), and timely updates and supplements thereof, in writing, to the Secretary.

To be timely, a stockholder's notice shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not earlier than the close of business on the 120th day prior to the date of such special meeting and not later than the close of business on the later of the 90th day prior to the date of such special meeting or, if the first public announcement of the date of such special meeting is less than 100 days prior to the date of such special meeting, the 10th day following the day on which public announcement is first made of the date of the special meeting and of the nominees proposed by the Board of Directors to be elected at such meeting. In no event shall any adjournment or postponement of a special meeting of stockholders, or the public announcement thereof, commence a new time period for the giving of a stockholder's notice as described above.

In addition, to be considered timely, a stockholder's notice shall further be updated and supplemented, if necessary, so that the information provided or required to be provided in such notice shall be true and correct as of the record date for the meeting and as of the date that is ten (10) business days prior to the meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof, and such update and supplement shall be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation not later than five (5) business days after the record date for the meeting in the case of the update and supplement required to be made as of the record date, and not later than eight (8) business days prior to the date for the meeting, any adjournment or postponement thereof in the case of the update and supplement required to be made as of ten (10) business days prior to the meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof.

(C) Disclosure Requirements.

(i) To be in proper form, a stockholder's notice (whether given pursuant to Section 2.7(A) or 2.7(B) of these By-laws) to the Secretary must include the following, as applicable.

(1) As to the stockholder giving the notice and the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the nomination or proposal is made, a stockholder's notice must set forth: (i) the name and address of or other property, or otherwise, and without regard to whether the stockholder of record, the beneficial owner, if any, or any affiliates or associates or others acting in concert therewith, may have entered into transactions that hedge or mitigate the economic effect of such instrument, contract or right, or any other direct or indirect opportunity to profit or share in any profit derived from the shares of the Corporation (any of the foregoing, a "Short Interest"), (E) any rights to dividends on the shares of the Corporation owned beneficially by such stockholder that are separated or separable from the underlying shares of the Corporation, (F) any proportionate interest in shares of the Corporation or Derivative Instruments held, directly or indirectly, by a general or limited performance-related fees (other than an asset-based fee) that such stockholder or members of such stockholder's immediate family sharing the same household are entitled to based on any increase or decrease in the value of shares of the Corporation or Derivative Instruments, if any, (H) any significant equity interests or any Derivative Instruments or Short Interests in any principal competitor of the Corporation held by such stockholder, and (I) any direct or indirect interest of such stockholder in any contract with the Corporation, any affiliate of the Corporation or any principal competitor of the Corporation (including, in any such case, any employment agreement, collective bargaining agreement or consulting agreement), and (iii) any other information relating to such stockholder and beneficial owner, if any, that would he required to be disclosed in a proxy statement and form of proxy or other filings required to be made in connection with solicitations of proxies for, as applicable, the proposal and/or for the election of directors in a contested election pursuant to Section 14 of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder;

(2) If the notice relates to any business other than a nomination of a director or directors that the stockholder proposes to bring before the meeting, a stockholder's notice must, in addition to the matters set forth in paragraph (a) above, also set forth: (i) a brief description of the business desired to be brought before the meeting, the reasons for conducting such business at the meeting and any material interest of such stockholder and beneficial owner, if any, in such business, (ii) the text of the proposal or business (including the text of any resolutions proposed for consideration and, in the event that such proposal or business includes a proposal to amend the by-laws of the Corporation, the text of the proposed amendment), and (iii) a description of all agreements, arrangements and understandings between such stockholder and beneficial owner, if any, and any other person or persons (including their names) in connection with the proposal of such business by such stockholder;

(3) As to each person, if any, whom the stockholder proposes to nominate for election or reelection to the Board of Directors, a stockholder's notice must, in addition to the matters set forth in paragraph (a) above, also set forth: (i) all information relating to such person that would be required to be disclosed in a proxy statement or other filings required to be made in connection with solicitations of proxies for election of directors in a contested election pursuant to Section 14 of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder (including such person's written consent to being named in the proxy statement as a nominee and to serving as a director if elected) and (ii) a description of all direct and indirect compensation and other material monetary agreements, arrangements and understandings during the past three years, and any other material relationships, between or among such stockholder and beneficial owner, if any, and their respective affiliates and associates, or others acting in concert therewith, on the one hand, and each proposed nominee, and his or her respective affiliates and associates, or others acting in concert therewith, on the other hand, including, without limitation all information that would be required to be disclosed pursuant to Rule 404 or any successor provision promulgated under Regulation S-K if the stockholder making the nomination and any beneficial owner on whose behalf the nomination is made, if any, or any affiliate or associate thereof or person acting in concert therewith, were the "registrant" for purposes of such rule and the nominee were a director or executive officer of such registrant; and

(4) With respect to each person, if any, whom the stockholder proposes to nominate for election or reelection to the Board of Directors, a stockholder's notice must, in addition to the matters set forth in paragraphs (a) and (c) above, also include a completed and signed questionnaire, representation and agreement required by Section 2.9 of these By-laws. The Corporation may require any proposed nominee to furnish such other information as may reasonably be required by the Corporation to determine the eligibility of such proposed nominee to serve as an independent director of the Corporation or that could be material to a reasonable stockholder's understanding of the independence, or lack thereof, of such nominee.

(ii) For purposes of these By-laws, "public announcement" shall mean disclosure in a press release reported by a national news service or in a document publicly filed by the Corporation with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Section 13, 14 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

(iii) Notwithstanding the provisions of these By-laws, a stockholder shall also comply with all applicable requirements of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder with respect to the matters set forth in this By-law; provided, however, that any references in these By-laws to the Exchange Act or the rules promulgated thereunder are not intended to and shall not limit the separate and additional requirements set forth in these By-laws with respect to nominations or proposals as to any other business to be considered pursuant to Section 2.7 of these By-laws.

(iv) Nothing in these By-laws sball be deemed to affect any rights (i) of stockholders to request inclusion of proposals in the Corporation's proxy statement pursuant to Rule 14a-8 under the Exchange Act or (ii) of the holders of any series of Preferred Stock if and to the extent provided for under law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these By-laws. Subject to Rule 14a-8 under the Exchange Act, nothing in these By-laws shall be construed to permit any stockholder, or give any stockholder the right, to include or have disseminated or described in the Corporation's proxy statement any nomination of director or directors or any other business proposal except as explicitly provided in Section 2.13 of these By-laws.

Section 2.9 Submission of Questionnaire, Representation and Agreement. To be eligible to be a nominee for election or reelection as a director of the Corporation, a person nominated by a stockholder for election or reelection to the Board of Directors must deliver (in accordance with the time periods prescribed for delivery of notice under Section 2.8 and Section 2.13, as applicable of these By-laws) to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of the Corporation a written questionnaire with respect to the background and qualification of such person and the background of any other person or entity on whose behalf the nomination is being made (which questionnaire shall be provided by the Secretary upon written request), and a written representation and agreement (in the form provided by the Secretary upon written request) that such person (A) is not and will not become a party to (1) any agreement, arrangement or understanding with, and has not given any commitment or assurance to, any person or entity as to how such person, if elected as a director of the Corporation, will act or vote on any issue or question (a "Voting Commitment") that has not been disclosed to the Corporation or (2) any Voting Commitment that could limit or interfere with such person's ability to comply, if elected as a director of the Corporation, with such person's fiduciary duties under applicable law, (B) is not and will not become a party to any agreement, arrangement or understanding with any person or entity other than the Corporation with respect to any direct or indirect compensation, reimbursement or indemnification in connection with service or action as a director that has not been disclosed therein, (C) will comply with the Corporation's stock ownership guidelines for directors, if any, and has disclosed therein whether all or any portion of securities of the Corporation were purchased with any financial assistance provided by any other person and whether any other person has any interest in such securities, and (D) in such person's individual capacity and on behalf of any person or entity on whose behalf the nomination is being made, would be in compliance, if elected as a director of the Corporation, and will comply, with all applicable corporate governance, conflict of interest, confidentiality and stock ownership and trading policies and guidelines of the Corporation publicly disclosed from time to time, and (E) will abide by the requirements of Section 2.10 of these By-laws.

Section 2.10 Procedure for Election of Directors; Required Vote.

(A) Except as set forth below, election of directors at all meetings of the stockholders at which directors are to be elected shall be by ballot, and, subject to the rights of the holders of any series of Preferred Stock to elect directors under specified circumstances, a majority of the votes cast at any meeting for the election of directors at which a quorum is present shall elect directors. For purposes of this By-law, a majority of votes cast shall mean that the number of shares voted "for" a director's election exceeds 50% of the number of votes cast with respect to that director's election. Votes cast shall include direction to withhold authority in each case and exclude abstentions with respect to that director's election. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event of a "contested election" of directors, directors shall be elected by the vote of a plurality of the votes cast at any meeting for the election of directors at which a quorum is present. For purposes of this By-law, a "contested election" shall mean any election of directors in which the number of candidates for election as directors exceeds the number of directors to be elected, with the determination thereof being made by the Secretary as of the close of the applicable notice of nomination period set forth in Section 2.8 of these By-laws or under applicable law, based on whether one or more notice(s) of nomination were timely filed in accordance with Section 2.8 or Section 2.13, as applicable; provided, however, that the determination that an election is a "contested election" shall be determinative only as to the timeliness of a notice of nomination and not otherwise as to its validity. If, prior to the time the Corporation mails its initial proxy statement in connection with such election of directors, one or more notices of nomination are withdrawn such that the number of candidates for election as director no longer exceeds the number of directors to be elected, the election shall not be considered a contested election, but in all other cases, once an election is determined to be a contested election, directors shall be elected by the vote of a plurality of the votes cast.

(B) If a nominee for director who is an incumbent director is not elected and no successor has been elected at such meeting, the director shall promptly tender his or her resignation to the Board of Directors in accordance with the agreement contemplated by clause (E) of Section 2.9 of these By-laws. The Nominations and Governance Committee shall make a recommendation to the Board of Directors as to whether to accept or reject the tendered resignation, or whether other action should be taken. The Board of Directors shall act on the tendered resignation, taking into account the Nominations and Governance Committee's recommendation, and publicly disclose (by a press release, a filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission or other broadly disseminated means of communication) its decision regarding the tendered resignation and the rationale behind the decision within 90 days from the date of the certification of the election results. The Nominations and Governance Committee in making its recommendation, and the Board of Directors in making its decision, may each consider any factors or other information that it considers appropriate and relevant. The director who tenders his or her resignation shall not participate in the recommendation of the Nominations and Governance Committee or the decision of the Board of Directors with respect to his or her resignation. If such incumbent director's resignation is not accepted by the Board of Directors, such director shall continue to serve until the next annual meeting and until his or her successor is duly elected, or his or her earlier resignation or removal. If a director's resignation is accepted by the Board of Directors pursuant to this By-law, or if a nominee for director is not elected and the nominee is not an incumbent director, then the Board of Directors, in its sole discretion, may fill any resulting vacancy pursuant to the provisions of Section 3.9 of these By-laws or may decrease the size of the Board of Directors pursuant to the provisions of Section 3.2 of these By-laws.

(C) Except as otherwise provided by law, the Certificate of Incorporation, or these By-laws, in all matters other than the election of directors, the affirmative vote of a majority of the shares present in person or represented by proxy at the meeting and entitled to vote on the matter shall be the act of the stockholders.

Section 2.11 Inspectors of Elections; Opening and Closing the Polls.

(A) The Board of Directors by resolution shall appoint one or more inspectors, which inspector or inspectors may, but does not need to, include individuals who serve the Corporation in other capacities, including, without limitation, as officers, employees, agents or representatives, to act at the meetings of stockholders and make a written report thereof. One or more persons may be designated as alternate inspectors to replace any inspector who fails to act. If no inspector or alternate has been appointed to act or is able to act at a meeting of stockholders, the Chairman of the meeting shall appoint one or more inspectors to act at the meeting. Each inspector, before discharging his or her duties, shall take and sign an oath faithfully to execute the duties of inspector with strict impartiality and according to the best of his or her ability. The inspectors shall have the duties prescribed by law.

(B) The Chairman of the meeting shall be appointed by the inspector or inspectors to fix and announce at the meeting the date and time of the opening and the closing of the polls for each matter upon which the stockholders will vote at a meeting.

Section 2.12 No Stockholder Action by Written Consent. Subject to the rights of the holders of any series of Preferred Stock with respect to such series of Preferred Stock, any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders of the Corporation must be effected at an annual or special meeting of stockholders of the Corporation and may not be effected by any consent in writing by such stockholders.

Section 2.13 Stockholder Nominations Included in the Corporation's Proxy Materials.

(A) Inclusion of Nominee in Proxy Statement. Subject to the provisions of this Section 2.13, if expressly requested in the relevant Nomination Notice (as defined below), the Corporation shall include in its proxy statement for annual meetings of stockholders at which directors will be elected beginning with the Corporation's 2017 annual meeting of stockholders:

(i) the name of any qualifying person nominated for election (the "Nominee"), which shall also be included on the Corporation's form of proxy and ballot, by any Eligible Holder (as defined below) or group of up to 20 Eligible Holders that has (individually and collectively, in the case of a group) satisfied, as determined by the Board of Directors or its designee, acting in good faith, all applicable conditions and complied with all applicable procedures set forth in this Section 2.13 (such Eligible Holder or group of Eligible Holders being a "Nominating Stockholder");

(ii) disclosure about the Nominee and the Nominating Stockholder that the Corporation determines is required under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") or other applicable law to be included in the proxy statement;

(iii) a single statement included by the Nominating Stockholder in the Nomination Notice for inclusion in the proxy statement in support of each Nominee(s)' election to the Board of Directors (subject, without limitation, to Section 2.13(F)), if such statement does not exceed 500 words; and

(iv) any other information that the Corporation or the Board of Directors determines, in their discretion, to include in the proxy statement or other materials relating to the nomination of the Nominee, including, without limitation, any statement or other soliciting material in opposition to or with respect to the nomination and any of the information provided pursuant to this Section or otherwise.

(B) Maximum Number of Nominees.

The Corporation shall not be required to include in the proxy statement for an annual meeting of stockholders more Nominees than that number of directors constituting 25% of the total number of directors of the Corporation in office on the last day on which a Nomination Notice may be submitted pursuant to this Section 2.13 (rounded down to the nearest whole number) (the "Maximum Number"). The Maximum Number for a particular annual meeting shall be reduced by:

(i) such Nominee(s) nominated by a Nominating Stockholder pursuant to this Section 2.13 for such annual meeting who are subsequently withdrawn or whom the Board of Directors itself decides to nominate for election at such annual meeting or otherwise appoint to the Board of Directors (provided that a Nominee appointed pursuant to an agreement, arrangement or other understanding with a stockholder or group of stockholders shall be counted only once under clauses (i) and (iii) of this Section 2.13(B));

(ii) incumbent director(s) who had been Nominees nominated by a Nominating Stockholder pursuant to this Section 2.13 with respect to either of the two preceding annual meetings other than any such director referred to in this clause (ii) whose term of office will expire at such annual meeting and who is not seeking (or agreeing) to be nominated at such annual meeting for another term of office; and

(iii) director(s) in office or director candidate(s) that in either case were elected or appointed to the Board of Directors or will be included in the Corporation's proxy statement with respect to such annual meeting as an unopposed (by the Corporation) nominee, pursuant to an agreement, arrangement or other understanding with a stockholder or group of stockholders (other than any such agreement, arrangement or understanding entered into in connection with an acquisition of shares of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, by such stockholder or group of stockholders, from the Corporation), other than any such director referred to in this clause (iii) who at the time of such annual meeting will have served as a director continuously for at least three years; provided, that in no circumstance shall the Maximum Number exceed the number of directors to be elected at the applicable annual meeting as noticed by the Corporation; and, provided, further, in the event that one or more vacancies for any reason occurs on the Board of Directors before the date of the annual meeting, and the Board of Directors resolves to reduce the size of the board in connection therewith, the Maximum Number shall be calculated based on the number of directors in office as so reduced.

Any Nominating Stockholder submitting more than one Nominee for inclusion in the Corporation's proxy statement pursuant to this Section 2.13 shall rank such Nominees based on the order that the Nominating Stockholder prefers such Nominees to be selected for inclusion in the Corporation's proxy statement and include such specified rank in its Nomination Notice. If the number of Nominees pursuant to this Section 2.13 for any annual meeting of stockholders exceeds the Maximum Number then, the highest ranking Nominee who meets the requirements of this Section 2.13 from each Nominating Stockholder will be selected for inclusion in the proxy statement until the Maximum Number is reached, going in order of the amount (largest to smallest) of the ownership position as disclosed in each Nominating Stockholder's Nomination Notice. If the Maximum Number is not reached after the highest ranking Nominee from each Nominating Stockholder has been selected, this selection process will continue as many times as necessary, following the same order each time, until the Maximum Number is reached. If, after the deadline for submitting a Nomination Notice as set forth in Section 2.13(D), a Nominating Stockholder becomes ineligible or withdraws its nomination or a Nominee becomes unwilling to serve on the Board of Directors, whether before or after the mailing of the definitive proxy statement, then the nomination shall be disregarded, and the Corporation: (1) shall not be required to include in its proxy statement or on any ballot or form of proxy the disregarded Nominee or any successor or replacement nominee proposed by the Nominating Stockholder or by any other Nominating Stockholder and (2) may otherwise communicate to its stockholders, including without limitation by amending or supplementing its proxy statement or ballot or form of proxy, that the Nominee will not be included as a Nominee in the proxy statement or on any ballot or form of proxy and will not be voted on at the annual meeting.

(C) Eligibility of Nominating Stockholder.

An "Eligible Holder" is a person who has either (1) been a record holder of the shares of common stock used to satisfy the eligibility requirements in this Section 2.13(C) continuously for the three-year period specified in Subsection (ii) below or (2) provides to the Secretary of the Corporation, within the time period referred to in Section 2.13(D), evidence of continuous ownership of such shares for such three-year period from one or more securities intermediaries in a form that the Board of Directors or its designee, acting in good faith, determines would be deemed acceptable for purposes of a shareholder proposal under Rule 14a-8(b)(2) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") (or any successor rule).

An Eligible Holder or group of up to 20 Eligible Holders may submit a nomination in accordance with this Section 2.13 only if the person or group (in the aggregate) has continuously owned at least the Minimum Number (as defined below) of shares of the Corporation's common stock throughout the three-year period preceding and including the date of submission of the Nomination Notice, and continues to own at least the Minimum Number through the date of the annual meeting. A group of funds shall be treated as one Eligible Holder for the purpose of determining the aggregate number of stockholders in this paragraph (C) if such Eligible Holder shall provide, together with the Nomination Notice, documentation reasonably satisfactory to the Corporation that demonstrates that the funds are (A) under common management and investment control, (B) under common management and funded primarily by the same employer, or (C) a "group of investment companies" as such term is defined in Section 12(d)(1)(G)(ii) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and each fund otherwise meets the requirements set forth in this Section 2.13. A record holder acting on behalf of one or more beneficial owners will not be counted separately as a stockholder with respect to the shares owned by beneficial owners on whose behalf such record holder has been directed in writing to act, but each such beneficial owner will be counted separately, subject to the other provisions of this paragraph (C), for purposes of determining the number of stockholders whose holdings may be considered as part of an Eligible Holder's holdings. For the avoidance of doubt, in the event of a nomination by a group of Eligible Holders, any and all requirements and obligations for an individual Eligible Holder that are set forth in this Section 2.13, including the minimum holding period, shall apply to each member of such group; provided, however, that the Minimum Number shall apply to the ownership of the group in the aggregate. Should any stockholder withdraw from a group of Eligible Holders at any time prior to the annual meeting of stockholders, the group of Eligible Holders shall only be deemed to own the shares held by the remaining members of the group.

The "Minimum Number" of shares of the Corporation's common stock means 3% of the number of outstanding shares of common stock as of the most recent date for which such amount is given in any filing by the Corporation with the SEC prior to the submission of the Nomination Notice.

For purposes of this Section, an Eligible Holder "owns" only those outstanding shares of the Corporation as to which the Eligible Holder possesses both:

(i) the full voting and investment rights pertaining to the shares; and

(ii) the full economic interest in (including the opportunity for profit and risk of loss on) such shares; provided that the number of shares calculated in accordance with clauses (i) and (ii) shall not include (and to the extent any of the following arrangements have been entered into by affiliates of the Eligible Holder (or of any Eligible Holder), shall be reduced by) any shares: (1) sold by such Eligible Holder or any of its affiliates in any transaction that has not been settled or closed, including any short sale, (2) borrowed by such Eligible Holder or any of its affiliates for any purpose or purchased by such Eligible Holder or any of its affiliates pursuant to an agreement to resell, or (3) subject to any option, warrant, forward contract, swap, contract of sale, other derivative or similar agreement entered into by such Eligible Holder or any of its affiliates, whether any such instrument or agreement is to be settled with shares or with cash based on the notional amount or value of outstanding shares of the Corporation, in any such case which instrument or agreement has, or is intended to have, the purpose or effect of: (x) reducing in any manner, to any extent or at any time in the future, such Eligible Holder's or any of its affiliates' full right to vote or direct the voting of any such shares, and/or (y) hedging, offsetting, or altering to any degree, gain or loss arising from the full economic ownership of such shares by such Eligible Holder or any of its affiliates.

An Eligible Holder "owns" shares held in the name of a nominee or other intermediary so long as the Eligible Holder retains the right to instruct how the shares are voted with respect to the election of directors and the right to direct the disposition thereof and possesses the full economic interest in the shares. An Eligible Holder's ownership of shares shall be deemed to continue during any period in which the Eligible Holder has delegated any voting power by means of a proxy, power of attorney, or other similar instrument or arrangement which in all such cases is revocable at any time by the Eligible Holder. An Eligible Holder's ownership of shares shall be deemed to continue during any period in which the Eligible Holder has loaned such shares provided that the Eligible Holder has retained the power to recall such loaned shares on no greater than five business days' notice and has recalled such loaned shares as of the date of the Nomination Notice and holds such shares through the date of the annual meeting. The terms "owned," "owning" and other variations of the word "own" shall have correlative meanings. Whether outstanding shares of the Corporation are "owned" for these purposes shall be determined by the Board.

(iii) No person shall be permitted to be in more than one group constituting a Nominating Stockholder (and no shares of common stock may be attributed to more than one Nominating Stockholder), and if any person appears as a member of more than one group, it shall be deemed to be a member of the group that has the largest ownership position as reflected in the Nomination Notice.

(D) Nomination Notice. To nominate a Nominee, the Nominating Stockholder must, for receipt no earlier than 150 calendar days and no later than 120 calendar days before the anniversary of the date that the Corporation mailed its proxy statement for the prior year's annual meeting of stockholders, submit to the Secretary of the Corporation at the principal executive office of the Corporation all of the following information and documents (collectively, the "Nomination Notice"):

(i) a written notice of the nomination of such Nominee that includes the following additional information, agreements, representations and warranties by the Nominating Stockholder (including each group member):

(a) the information required in the case of a nomination of directors pursuant to Section 2.8 and 2.9 of these By-laws;

(b) the details of any relationship that existed within the past three years and that would have been described pursuant to Item 6(e) of Schedule 14N (or any successor item) had it existed if a Schedule 14N were submitted as of the date of submission of the Nomination Notice;

(c) a representation and warranty that the Nominating Stockholder acquired the common stock of the Corporation in the ordinary course of business and did not acquire, and is not holding, securities of the Corporation for the purpose or with the effect or intent of influencing or changing control of the Corporation;

(d) a representation and warranty that the Nominee's candidacy or, if elected, Board membership would not violate applicable state or federal law or the rules of any stock exchange on which the Corporation's securities are traded;

(e) a representation and warranty that the Nominee: does not have any direct or indirect relationship with the Corporation other than those relationships that have been deemed categorically immaterial pursuant to the Corporation's Director Independence Guidelines as most recently published on its website and otherwise qualifies as independent under the rules of the primary stock exchange on which the Corporation's securities are traded; meets the director qualifications set forth in Exhibit A to the Corporation's Governance Guidelines; and is not and has not been subject to any event specified in Rule 506(d)(1) of Regulation D (or any successor rule) under the Securities Act of 1933 or Item 401(f) of Regulation S-K (or any successor rule) under the Exchange Act, without reference to whether the event is material to an evaluation of the ability or integrity of the Nominee;

(f) a representation and warranty that the Nominating Stockholder satisfies the eligibility requirements set forth in Section 2.13(C) and has provided evidence of ownership to the extent required by Section 2.13(C);

(g) a representation and warranty that the Nominating Stockholder intends to continue to satisfy the eligibility requirements described in Section 2.13(C) through the date of the annual meeting and intends (subject to any fiduciary obligations to the contrary, any contractual delegation of investment discretion to a third-party manager, or any mandatory fund rebalancing required by such stockholder's preexisting governing instruments or written investment policies) to continue to hold the Minimum Number of shares for at least one year following the annual meeting;

(h) details of any position of the Nominee as an officer or director of any competitor (that is, any entity that produces products or provides services that compete with or are alternatives to the products produced or services provided by the Corporation or its affiliates) of the Corporation, within the three years preceding the submission of the Nomination Notice;

(i) a representation and warranty that the Nominating Stockholder will not engage in, and has not and will not be a "participant" in another person's, "solicitation" within the meaning of Rule 14a-1(l) (without reference to the exception in Section 14a-(l)(2)(iv)) (or any successor rules) with respect to the annual meeting, other than with respect to the Nominating Stockholder's Nominee or any nominee of the Board;

(j) a representation and warranty that the Nominating Stockholder will not use (or distribute to any stockholder) any form of proxy or proxy card other than the Corporation's proxy card;

(k) a representation and warranty that the Nominating Stockholder has not nominated and will not nominate for election to the Board of Directors at the annual meeting any person other than the Nominee(s) being nominated pursuant to this Section 2.13.

(l) if desired, one statement for inclusion in the proxy statement in support of the Nominee's election to the Board of Directors, provided that such statement shall not exceed 500 words and shall fully comply with Section 14 of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder, including Rule 14a-9; and

General

Henry Schein, Inc. is a solutions company for health care professionals powered by a network of people and technology. We believe we are the world's largest provider of health care products and services primarily to office-based dental and medical practitioners, as well as alternate sites of care. Our philosophy is grounded in our commitment to help customers operate a more efficient and successful business so the practitioner can provide better clinical care.

With more than 89 years of experience distributing health care products, we have built a vast set of small, mid-sized and large customers in the dental and medical markets, serving more than one million customers worldwide across dental practices, laboratories, physician practices, and ambulatory surgery centers, as well as government, institutional health care clinics and other alternate care clinics.

We are headquartered in Melville, New York, employ more than 21,600 people (of which approximately 10,700 are based outside the United States) and have operations or affiliates in 32 countries and territories. Our broad global footprint has evolved over time through our organic success as well as through contribution from strategic acquisitions.

We offer a comprehensive selection of more than 120,000 branded products and Henry Schein private brand products in stock, as well as more than 180,000 additional products available as special-order items. Our infrastructure, including over 3.8 million square feet of space in 27 strategically located distribution centers around the world, enables us to historically provide rapid and accurate order fulfillment, better serve our customers and increase our operating efficiency. This infrastructure, together with broad product and service offerings at competitive prices, and a strong commitment to customer service, enables us to be a single source of supply for our customers' needs.

We conduct our business through two reportable segments: (i) health care distribution and (ii) technology and value-added services. These segments offer different products and services to the same customer base. Our dental businesses serve office-based dental practitioners, dental laboratories, schools, government and other institutions. Our medical businesses serve physician offices, urgent care centers, ambulatory care sites, emergency medical technicians, dialysis centers, home health, federal and state governments and large enterprises, such as group practices and integrated delivery networks, among other providers across a wide range of specialties.

The health care distribution reportable segment, combining our global dental and medical businesses, distributes consumable products, dental specialty products, small equipment, laboratory products, large equipment, equipment repair services, branded and generic pharmaceuticals, vaccines, surgical products, diagnostic tests, infection-control products and vitamins. While our primary go-to-market strategy is in our capacity as a distributor, we also market and sell under our own private label portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise products, and manufacture certain dental specialty products in the areas of implants, orthodontics and endodontics.

The technology and value-added services reportable segment provides software, technology and other value-added services to health care practitioners. Henry Schein One, the largest contributor of sales to this category, offers dental practice management solutions for dental and medical practitioners. In addition, we offer dentists and physicians a broad suite of electronic health records, integrated revenue cycle management, patient communication services including electronic marketing and web-site design, analytics and patient demand generation. Finally, our value-added practice solutions include practice consultancy, education, and the facilitation of financial service offerings (on a non-recourse basis) to help dentists and physicians operate and expand their business operations. We believe our hands-on consultative approach to provide solutions to support practice decision-making is a key differentiator for our business.

Recent Developments

See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Recent Developments" herein for a discussion related to the COVID-19 pandemic and recent corporate transactions.

Industry

The global health care distribution industry, as it relates to office-based health care practitioners, is fragmented and diverse. The industry ranges from sole practitioners working out of relatively small offices to mid-sized and large group practices ranging in size from a few practitioners to several hundred practices owned or operated by dental support organizations (DSOs), medical group purchasing organizations (GPOs), hospital systems or integrated delivery networks (IDNs).

Due in part to the inability of office-based health care practitioners to store and manage large quantities of supplies in their offices, the distribution of health care supplies and small equipment to office-based health care practitioners has been characterized by frequent, small quantity orders, and a need for rapid, reliable and substantially complete order fulfillment. The purchasing decisions within an office-based health care practice are typically made by the practitioner, hygienist or office manager. Supplies and small equipment are generally purchased from more than one distributor, with one generally serving as the primary supplier.

The health care distribution industry continues to experience growth due to demand driven by the aging population, increased health care awareness and the importance of preventative care, an increasing understanding of the connection between good oral health and overall health, improved access to care globally, the proliferation of medical technology and testing, new pharmacology treatments and expanded third-party insurance coverage, partially offset by the effects of unemployment on insurance coverage and technological improvements, including the advancement of software and services, prosthetic solutions and telemedicine. In addition, the non-acute market continues to benefit from the shift of procedures and diagnostic testing from acute care settings to alternate-care sites, particularly physicians' offices and ambulatory surgery centers.

We believe that consolidation within the industry will continue to result in a number of distributors, particularly those with limited financial, operating and marketing resources, seeking to combine with larger companies that can provide growth opportunities. This consolidation also may continue to result in distributors seeking to acquire companies that can enhance their current product and service offerings or provide opportunities to serve a broader customer base.

In addition, customer consolidation will likely lead to multiple locations under common management and the movement of more procedures from the hospital setting to the physician or alternate care setting as the health care industry is increasingly focused on efficiency and cost containment. This trend has benefited distributors capable of providing a broad array of products and services at low prices. It also has accelerated the growth of health maintenance organizations ("HMOs"), group practices, other managed care accounts and collective buying groups, which, in addition to their emphasis on obtaining products at competitive prices, tend to favor distributors capable of providing specialized management information support. We believe that the trend towards cost containment has the potential to favorably affect demand for technology solutions, including software, which can enhance the efficiency and facilitation of practice management.

Competition

The distribution and manufacture of health care supplies and equipment is highly competitive. Many of the health care products we sell are available to our customers from a number of suppliers. In addition, our competitors could obtain exclusive rights from manufacturers to market particular products. Manufacturers also could seek to sell directly to end-users, and thereby eliminate or reduce our role and that of other distributors. In certain parts of the dental end market, such as those related to dental specialty products, and medical end market manufacturers already sell directly to end customers.

In North America, we compete with other distributors, as well as several manufacturers, of dental and medical products, primarily on the basis of price, breadth of product line, e-commerce capabilities, customer service and value-added products and services. In the dental market, our primary competitors in the U.S. are the Patterson Dental division of Patterson Companies, Inc. and Benco Dental Supply Company. In addition, we compete against a number of other distributors that operate on a national, regional and local level. Our primary competitors in the U.S. medical market, which accounts for the large majority of our global medical sales, are McKesson Corporation and Medline Industries, Inc., which are national distributors. We also compete with a number of regional and local medical distributors, as well as a number of manufacturers that sell directly to physicians. With regard to our dental software, we compete against numerous companies, including the Patterson Dental division of Patterson Companies, Inc., Carestream Health, Inc., Open Dental Software, Inc., PlanetDDS LLC, Good Methods Global Inc. (d.b.a. CareStack) and Curve Dental, LLC. In other software end markets, including revenue cycle management, patient relationship management and patient demand generation, we compete with companies such as Vyne Therapeutics Inc., EDI-Health Group, Inc. (d.b.a. Dental X Change, Inc.), Weave Communications, Inc., Solutionreach, Inc., ZocDoc, Inc., LocalMed Inc. and Prosites Inc. The medical practice management and electronic medical records market is fragmented and we compete with numerous companies such as the NextGen division of Quality Systems, Inc., eClinicalWorks, Allscripts Healthcare Solutions, Inc. and Epic Systems Corporation.

Outside of the U.S., we believe we are the only global distributor of supplies and equipment to dental practices and our competitors are primarily local and regional companies. We also face significant competition internationally, where we compete on the basis of price and customer service against several large competitors, including the GACD Group, Proclinic SA, Lifco AB, Planmeca Oy and Billericay Dental Supply Co. Ltd., as well as a large number of other dental and medical product distributors and manufacturers in international countries and territories we serve.

Competitive Strengths

We have more than 89 years of experience in distributing products to health care practitioners resulting in strong awareness of the Henry Schein® brand. Our competitive strengths include:

A focus on meeting our customers' unique needs. We are committed to providing customized solutions to our customers that are driven by our understanding of the end markets we serve and reflect the technology-driven products and services best suited for their practice needs. We are committed to continuing to enhance these offerings through organic investment in our products and our teams, as well as through the acquisition of new products and services that may help us better serve our customers.

Direct sales and marketing expertise. Our sales and marketing efforts are designed to establish and solidify customer relationships through personal or virtual visits by field sales representatives, frequent direct marketing and telesales contact, emphasizing our broad product lines, including exclusive distribution agreements, competitive prices and ease of order placement, particularly through our e-commerce platforms. The key elements of our direct sales and marketing efforts are:

- Field sales consultants. We have over 3,450 field sales consultants, including equipment sales specialists, covering major North American, European and other international markets. These consultants complement our direct marketing and telesales efforts and enable us to better market, service and support the sale of more sophisticated products and equipment.

- Marketing. During 2021, we marketed to existing and prospective office-based health care providers through a combination of owned, earned and paid digital channels, as well as through catalogs, flyers, direct mail and other promotional materials. Our strategies included an emphasis on educational content through webinars and content marketing initiatives. We continue to enhance our marketing technology to improve our targeting capability and the relevance of messaging and offers.

- Telesales. We support our direct marketing effort with approximately 2,100 inbound and outbound telesales representatives, who facilitate order processing, generate new sales through direct and frequent contact with customers and stay abreast of market developments and the hundreds of new products, services and technologies introduced each year to educate practice personnel.

- Electronic commerce solutions. We provide our customers and sales teams with innovative and competitive e-commerce solutions. We continue to invest in our e-commerce platform to offer enhanced content management so customers can more easily find the products they need and to enable an engaging purchase experience, supported by excellent customer service.

- Social media. Our operating entities and employees engage our customers and supplier partners through various social media platforms, which are an important element of our communications and marketing efforts. We continue to expand our social media presence to raise awareness about issues, engage customers beyond a sale and deliver services and solutions to specialized audiences.

Broad product and service offerings at competitive prices. We offer a broad range of products and services to our customers, at competitive prices, in the following categories:

- Consumable supplies and equipment. We distribute consumable products, small equipment, laboratory products, large equipment, equipment repair services, branded and generic pharmaceuticals, vaccines, dental specialty products, diagnostic tests, infection-control products and vitamins. We offer over 120,000 Stock Keeping Units, or SKUs, to our customers. We offer over 180,000 additional SKUs to our customers in the form of special order items. We also market and sell our own private label portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise products and manufacture certain dental specialty products in the areas of implants, orthodontics and endodontics.

- Technology and other value-added products and services. We sell practice management, business analytics, patient engagement and patient demand creation software solutions to our dental customers. Our practice management solutions provide practitioners with electronic medical records, patient treatment history, analytics, billing, accounts receivable analyses and management, appointment calendars, electronic claims processing and word processing programs, network and hardware services, e-commerce and electronic marketing services, sourcing third party patient payment plans, transition services and training and education programs for practitioners. We also sell medical software for practice management, certified electronic health records ("EHR") and e-Prescribe medications and prescription solutions through MicroMD®. We have approximately 950 technical representatives supporting customers using our practice management solutions and services. As of December 25, 2021, we had an active user base of approximately 95,700 practices and 400,000 consumers, including users of AxiUm, Dentally®, Dentrix Ascend®, Dental Vision®, Dentrix® Dental Systems, Dentrix® Enterprise, Easy Dental®, EndoVision®, Evolution® and EXACT®, Gesden®, Jarvis Analytics™, Julie® Software, Oasis, OMSVision®, Orisline®, PBS Endo®, PerioVision®, Power Practice® Px, PowerDent, and Viive® and subscriptions for Demandforce®, Sesame, and Lighthouse360® for dental practices and DentalPlans.com® for dental patients; and MicroMD® for physician practices.

- Repair services. We have over 140 equipment sales and service centers worldwide that provide a variety of repair, installation and technical services for our health care customers. Our over 2,175 technicians provide installation and repair services for: dental handpieces; dental and medical small equipment; table-top sterilizers and large dental equipment.

- Financial services. We offer our customers solutions in operating their practices more efficiently by providing access to a number of financial services and products provided by third party suppliers (including non-recourse financing for equipment, technology and software products, non-recourse practice financing for leasehold improvements, business debt consolidation and commercial real estate, non-recourse patient financing and credit card processing) at rates that we believe are generally lower than what our customers would be able to secure independently. We also provide staffing services, dental practice valuation and brokerage services.

Commitment to superior customer service. We maintain a strong commitment to providing superior customer service. We frequently monitor our customer service through customer surveys, focus groups and statistical reports. Our customer service policy primarily focuses on:

- Exceptional order fulfillment. We ship an average of approximately 156,000 cartons daily. Historically, approximately 99% of items have been shipped without back ordering and were shipped on the same business day the order is received. Due to the significant increase in demand for personal protective equipment ("PPE"), as a result of COVID-19, during the year ended December 25, 2021, approximately 96% of items ordered were shipped without back ordering. As the demand for PPE stabilizes, we expect our percentage of items shipped without back-ordering and shipped on the same day to return to historical levels.

- Comprehensive ordering process. Customers may place orders 24 hours a day, 7 days a week via e-commerce solutions, telephone, fax, e-mail and mail.

Integrated management information systems. Our information systems generally allow for centralized management of key functions, including accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable, payroll, purchasing, sales, order fulfillment and financial and operational reporting. These systems allow us to manage our growth, deliver superior customer service, properly target customers, manage financial performance and monitor daily operational statistics.

Cost-effective purchasing. We believe that cost-effective purchasing is a key element to maintaining and enhancing our position as a competitively priced provider of health care products. We continuously evaluate our purchase requirements and suppliers' offerings and prices in order to obtain products at the lowest possible cost. In 2021, our top 10 health care distribution suppliers and our single largest supplier accounted for approximately 30% and 4%, respectively, of our aggregate purchases.

Efficient distribution. We distribute our products from our strategically located distribution centers. We strive to maintain optimal inventory levels in order to satisfy customer demand for prompt delivery and complete order fulfillment. These inventory levels are managed on a daily basis with the aid of our management information systems. Once an order is entered, it is electronically transmitted to the distribution center nearest the customer's location for order fulfillment.

Business Strategy

Our objective is to continue to expand as a global value-added provider of health care products and services to office-based dental and medical practitioners by increasing their efficiency and success. To accomplish this, we apply our competitive strengths in executing the following strategies:

- Increase penetration of our existing customer base. We have over 1 million customers worldwide and we intend to increase sales to our existing customer base and enhance our position as their primary supplier. We believe our offering of a broad range of products, services and support, including software solutions that can help drive improved workflow efficiency and patient communications for practices, coupled with our full-service value proposition, helps us to retain and grow our customer base.

- Increase the number of customers we serve. This strategy includes increasing the productivity of our field sales consultants and telesales team, as well as using our customer database to focus our marketing efforts in all of our operating segments. In the dental business, we provide products and services to independent practices, mid-market groups, and large DSOs as well as community health centers and government sites of care. Leveraging our broad array of assets and capabilities, we offer solutions to address these new markets. In the medical business, we have expanded to serve customers located in settings outside of the traditional office, such as urgent care clinics, retail, occupational health and home health settings. As settings of health care shift, we remain committed to serving these practitioners and providing them with the products and services they need.

- Leverage our value-added products and services. We continue to increase cross-selling efforts for key product lines utilizing a consultative selling process. In the dental business, we have significant cross-selling opportunities between our dental software users and our dental distribution customers. In the medical business, we have opportunities to expand our vaccine, injectables and other pharmaceuticals sales to health care practitioners, as well as cross-selling EHR systems and software when we sell our core products. Our strategy extends to providing health systems, integrated delivery networks and other large group and multi-site health care organizations, including physician clinics, these same value added products and services. As physicians and health systems closely align, we have increased access to opportunities for cross-marketing and selling our product and service portfolios.

- Pursue strategic acquisitions and joint ventures. Our acquisition strategy is focused on investments in companies that add new customers and sales teams, increase our geographic footprint (whether entering a new country, such as emerging markets, or building scale where we have already invested in businesses), and finally, those that enable us to access new products and technologies.

Markets Served

Demographic trends indicate that our markets are growing, as an aging U.S. population is increasingly using health care services. According to the U.S. Census Bureau's International Database, between 2021 and 2031, the 45 and older population is expected to grow by approximately 11%. Between 2021 and 2041, this age group is expected to grow by approximately 22%. This compares with expected total U.S. population growth rates of approximately 7% between 2021 and 2031 and approximately 12% between 2021 and 2041.

In the dental industry, there is predicted to be a rise in oral health care expenditures as the 45-and-older segment of the population increases. There is increasing demand for new technologies that allow dentists to increase productivity, and this is being driven in the U.S. by lower insurance reimbursement rates. At the same time, there is an expected increase in dental insurance coverage.

In the medical market, there continues to be a migration of procedures from acute-care settings to physicians' offices and home health settings, a trend that we believe provides additional opportunities for us. There also is the continuing use of vaccines, injectables and other pharmaceuticals in alternate-care settings. We believe we have established a leading position as a vaccine supplier to the office-based physician practitioner.

We support our dental and medical professionals through the many SKUs that we offer, as well as through important value-added services, including practice management software, electronic claims processing, financial services and continuing education, all designed to help maximize a practitioner's efficiency.

Additionally, we seek to expand our dental full-service model and medical offerings in countries where opportunities exist. We do this through both direct sales and by partnering with local distribution companies.

For information on revenues and long-lived assets by geographic area, see Note 3 – Segment and Geographic Data of "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Seasonality and Other Factors Affecting Our Business and Quarterly Results

We experience fluctuations in quarterly earnings. As a result, we may fail to meet or exceed the expectations of securities analysts and investors, which could cause our stock price to decline.

Our business is subject to seasonal and other quarterly fluctuations. Sales and profitability generally have been higher in the third and fourth quarters due to the timing of sales of seasonal products (including influenza vaccine) purchasing patterns of office-based health care practitioners for certain products (including equipment and software) and year-end promotions. Sales and profitability may also be impacted by the timing of certain annual and biennial dental tradeshows where equipment promotions are offered. In addition, some dental practices delay equipment purchases in the U.S. until year-end due to tax incentives. We expect our historical seasonality of sales to continue in the foreseeable future.

Governmental Regulations

We strive to be compliant with the applicable laws, regulations and guidance described below, and believe we have effective compliance programs and other controls in place to ensure substantial compliance. However, compliance is not guaranteed either now or in the future, as certain laws, regulations and guidance may be subject to varying and evolving interpretations that could affect our ability to comply, as well as future changes, additions and enforcement approaches, including political changes. President Biden's administration (the "Biden Administration") has indicated that it will be more aggressive in its pursuit of alleged violations of law, and it has revoked certain guidance that would have limited governmental use of informal agency guidance to pursue potential violations, as well as that it was more prepared to pursue individuals for corporate law violations, including an aggressive approach to anti-corruption activities. Changes to applicable laws, regulations and guidance described below, as well as related administrative or judicial interpretations, may require us to update or revise our operations, services, marketing practices and compliance programs and controls, and may impose additional and unforeseen costs on us, pose new or previously immaterial risks to us, or may otherwise have a material adverse effect on our business.

Government

Certain of our businesses involve the distribution, importation, exportation, marketing and sale of, and third party payment for, pharmaceuticals and medical devices, and in this regard, we are subject to extensive local, state, federal and foreign governmental laws and regulations, including as applicable to our wholesale distribution of pharmaceuticals and medical devices, and as part of our specialty home medical supply business that distributes and sells medical equipment and supplies directly to patients. The federal government and state governments have also increased enforcement activity in the health care sector, particularly in areas of fraud and abuse, anti-bribery and corruption, controlled substances handling, medical device regulations and data privacy and security standards.

Government and private insurance programs fund a large portion of the total cost of medical care, and there have been efforts to limit such private and government insurance programs, including efforts, thus far unsuccessful, to seek repeal of the entire United States Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, as amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act, each enacted in March 2010, (as amended, the "ACA"). In addition, activities to control medical costs, including laws and regulations lowering reimbursement rates for pharmaceuticals, medical devices and/or medical treatments or services, are ongoing. Many of these laws and regulations are subject to change and their evolving implementation may impact our operations and our financial performance.

Our businesses are also generally subject to numerous other laws and regulations that could impact our financial performance, including securities, antitrust, consumer protection, anti-bribery and anti-kickback, customer interaction transparency, data privacy, data security, government contracting, price gouging and other laws and regulations.

Failure to comply with laws, rules or regulations could have a material adverse effect on our business.

Operating, Security and Licensure Standards

Certain of our businesses are subject to local, state and federal governmental laws and regulations relating to the distribution of pharmaceuticals and medical devices and supplies. Among the United States federal laws applicable to us are the Controlled Substances Act, the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended ("FDC Act"), and Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act, as well as laws regulating the billing of and reimbursement from government programs, such as Medicare and Medicaid, and from commercial payers. We are also subject to comparable foreign regulations.

The FDC Act, the Controlled Substances Act, their implementing regulations, and similar foreign laws generally regulate the introduction, manufacture, advertising, marketing and promotion, sampling, pricing and reimbursement, labeling, packaging, storage, handling, returning or recalling, reporting, and distribution of, and record keeping for, pharmaceuticals and medical devices shipped in interstate commerce, and states may similarly regulate such activities within the state. Furthermore, Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act, which provides authority to prevent the introduction, transmission or spread of communicable diseases, serves as the legal basis for the United States Food and Drug Administration's ("FDA") regulation of human cells, tissues and cellular and tissue-based products, also known as "HCT/P products."

The Federal Drug Quality and Security Act of 2013 brought about significant changes with respect to pharmaceutical supply chain requirements. Title II of this measure, known as the Drug Supply Chain Security Act ("DSCSA"), is being phased in over a period of ten years, and is intended to build a national electronic, interoperable system by November 27, 2023, that will identify and trace certain prescription drugs as they are distributed in the United States. The law's track and trace requirements applicable to manufacturers, wholesalers, repackagers and dispensers (e.g., pharmacies) of prescription drugs took effect in January 2015, and continues to be implemented. The DSCSA product tracing requirements replace the former FDA drug pedigree requirements and pre-empt certain state requirements that are inconsistent with, more stringent than, or in addition to, the DSCSA requirements.

The DSCSA also establishes certain requirements for the licensing and operation of prescription drug wholesalers and third-party logistics providers ("3PLs"), and includes the eventual creation of national wholesaler and 3PL licenses in cases where states do not license such entities. The DSCSA requires that wholesalers and 3PLs distribute drugs in accordance with certain standards regarding the recordkeeping, storage and handling of prescription drugs. The DSCSA requires wholesalers and 3PLs to submit annual reports to the FDA, which include information regarding each state where the wholesaler or 3PL is licensed, the name and address of each facility and contact information. According to FDA guidance, states are pre-empted from imposing any licensing requirements that are inconsistent with, less stringent than, directly related to, or covered by the standards established by federal law in this area. Current state licensing requirements concerning wholesalers will remain in effect until the FDA issues new regulations as directed by the DSCSA. In addition, with respect to our specialty home medical supply business, we are subject to certain state licensure laws (including state pharmacy laws), and also certain accreditation standards, including to qualify for reimbursement from Medicare and other third-party payers.

The Food and Drug Administration Amendments Act of 2007 and the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act of 2012 amended the FDC Act to require the FDA to promulgate regulations to implement a unique device identification ("UDI") system. The UDI rule phased in the implementation of the UDI regulations, generally beginning with the highest-risk devices (i.e., Class III medical devices) and ending with the lowest-risk devices. Most compliance dates were reached as of September 24, 2018, with a final set of requirements for low risk devices being reached on September 24, 2022, which will complete the phase in. However, in May 2021, the FDA issued an enforcement policy stating that it does not intend to object to the use of legacy identification numbers on device labels and packages for finished devices manufactured and labeled prior to September 24, 2023. The UDI regulations require "labelers" to include unique device identifiers ("UDIs"), with a content and format prescribed by the FDA and issued under a system operated by an FDA-accredited issuing agency, on the labels and packages of medical devices (including, but not limited to, certain software that qualifies as a medical device under FDA rules), and to directly mark certain devices with UDIs. The UDI regulations also require labelers to submit certain information concerning UDI-labeled devices to the FDA, much of which information is publicly available on an FDA database, the Global Unique Device Identification Database. The UDI regulations and subsequent FDA guidance regarding the UDI requirements provide for certain exceptions, alternatives and time extensions. For example, the UDI regulations include a general exception for Class I devices exempt from the Quality System Regulation (other than record-keeping requirements and complaint files). Regulated labelers include entities such as device manufacturers, repackagers, reprocessors and relabelers that cause a device's label to be applied or modified, with the intent that the device will be commercially distributed without any subsequent replacement or modification of the label and include certain of our businesses.

Under the Controlled Substances Act, as a distributor of controlled substances, we are required to obtain and renew annually registrations for our facilities from the United States Drug Enforcement Administration ("DEA") permitting us to handle controlled substances. We are also subject to other statutory and regulatory requirements relating to the storage, sale, marketing, handling, reporting, record-keeping and distribution of such drugs, in accordance with the Controlled Substances Act and its implementing regulations, and these requirements have been subject to heightened enforcement activity in recent times. We are subject to inspection by the DEA. Certain of our businesses are also required to register for permits and/or licenses with, and comply with operating and security standards of, the DEA, the FDA, the United States Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS"), and various state boards of pharmacy, state health departments and/or comparable state agencies as well as comparable foreign agencies, and certain accrediting bodies, depending on the type of operations and location of product distribution, manufacturing or sale. These businesses include those that distribute, manufacture and/or repackage prescription pharmaceuticals and/or medical devices and/or HCT/P products, or own pharmacy operations, or install, maintain or repair equipment.

In addition, Section 301 of the National Organ Transplant Act, and a number of comparable state laws, impose civil and/or criminal penalties for the transfer of certain human tissue (for example, human bone products) for valuable consideration, while generally permitting payments for the reasonable costs incurred in procuring, processing, storing and distributing that tissue. We are also subject to foreign government regulation of such products. The DEA, the FDA and state regulatory authorities have broad inspection and enforcement powers, including the ability to suspend or limit the distribution of products by our distribution centers, seize or order the recall of products and impose significant criminal, civil and administrative sanctions for violations of these laws and regulations. Foreign regulations subject us to similar foreign enforcement powers.

EU Regulation of Medicinal and Dental Products

European Union ("EU") member states regulate their own healthcare systems, as does EU law. The latter regulates certain matters, most notably medicinal products and medical devices. Medicinal products are defined, broadly, as substances or combinations of substances having certain functionalities and may not include medical devices. EU "regulations" apply in all Member States, whereas "directives" are implemented by the individual laws of member states.

On medicines for humans, we are regulated under Directive No. 2001/83/EC of 6 November 2001, as amended by Directive 2003/63/EC of 25 June 2003, and EU Regulation (EC) No. 726/2004 of 31 March 2004. These rules provide for the authorization of products, and regulate their manufacture, importation, marketing and distribution. It implements requirements which may be implemented without warning, as well as a national pharmacovigilance system under which marketing authorizations may be withdrawn, and includes potential sanctions for breaches of the rules, and on other bases such as harmfulness or inefficiency.

EU Regulation No. 1223/2009 of 30 November 2009 on cosmetic products requires that cosmetic products (which includes dental products) be safe for human health when used under normal or reasonably foreseeable conditions of use and comply with certain obligations which apply to manufacturer, importer and distributor. It includes market surveillance, and non-compliance may result in the recall or withdrawal of products, along with other sanctions.

In the EU, the EU Medical Device Regulation No. 2017/745 of 5 April 2017 ("EU MDR") covers a wide scope of our activities, from dental material to X-ray machines, and certain software. It was meant to become applicable three years after publication (i.e., May 26, 2020). However, on April 23, 2020, to allow European Economic Area ("EEA") national authorities, notified bodies, manufacturers and other actors to focus fully on urgent priorities related to the COVID-19 pandemic, the European Council and Parliament adopted Regulation 2020/561, postponing the date of application of the EU MDR by one year (to May 26, 2021).

The EU MDR significantly modifies and intensifies the regulatory compliance requirements for the medical device industry as a whole. Among other things, the EU MDR:

- strengthens the rules on placing devices on the market and reinforces surveillance once they are available;
- establishes explicit provisions on manufacturers' responsibilities for the follow-up of the quality, performance and safety of devices placed on the market;
- improves the traceability of medical devices throughout the supply chain to the end-user or patient through a unique identification number;
- sets up a central database to provide patients, healthcare professionals and the public with comprehensive information on products available in the EU;
- strengthens rules for the assessment of certain high-risk devices, such as implants, which may have to undergo an additional check by experts before they are placed on the market; and
- identifies importers and distributors and medical device products through registration in a database (EUDAMED not due until May 26, 2022 and after).

In particular, the EU MDR imposes stricter requirements for the confirmation that a product meets the regulatory requirements, including regarding a product's clinical evaluation and a company's quality systems, and for the distribution, marketing and sale of medical devices, including post-market surveillance. Medical devices that have been assessed and/or certified under the EU Medical Device Directive may continue to be placed on the market until 2024 (or until the expiry of their certificates, if applicable and earlier); however, requirements regarding the distribution, marketing and sale including quality systems and post-market surveillance have to be observed by manufacturers, importers and distributors as of the application date.

Other EU regulations that may apply under appropriate circumstances include EU Regulation No. 1907/2006 of 18 December 2006 concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals, which requires importers to register substances or mixtures that they import in the EU beyond certain quantities, and the EU Regulation No. 1272/2008 of 16 December 2008 on classification, labelling and packaging of substances and mixtures, which sets various obligations with respect to the labelling and packaging of concerned substances and mixtures.

Furthermore, compliance with legal requirements has required and may in the future require us to delay product release, sale or distribution, or institute voluntary recalls of, or other corrective action with respect, to products we sell, each of which could result in regulatory and enforcement actions, financial losses and potential reputational harm. Our customers are also subject to significant federal, state, local and foreign governmental regulation, which may affect our interactions with customers, including the design and functionality of our products.

Certain of our businesses are subject to various additional federal, state, local and foreign laws and regulations, including with respect to the sale, transportation, storage, handling and disposal of hazardous or potentially hazardous substances, and safe working conditions. In addition, certain of our businesses must operate in compliance with a variety of burdensome and complex billing and record-keeping requirements in order to substantiate claims for payment under federal, state and commercial healthcare reimbursement programs. One of these businesses was recently suspended by CMS from receiving payments from Medicare, although it is permitted to continue to perform and bill for Medicare services. The amounts billed are being deposited in an escrow account pending resolution of an audit. The Company has not recognized revenue for these services and has currently deferred slightly over $4 million in revenue.

Certain of our businesses also maintain contracts with governmental agencies and are subject to certain regulatory requirements specific to government contractors.

Antitrust and Consumer Protection

The federal government of the United States, most U.S. states and many foreign countries have antitrust laws that prohibit certain types of conduct deemed to be anti-competitive, as well as consumer protection laws that seek to protect consumers from improper business practices. At the U.S. federal level, the Federal Trade Commission oversees enforcement of these types of laws, and states have similar government agencies. Violations of antitrust or consumer protection laws may result in various sanctions, including criminal and civil penalties. Private plaintiffs may also bring civil lawsuits against us in the United States for alleged antitrust law violations, including claims for treble damages. EU law also regulates competition and provides for detailed rules protecting consumers. The Biden Administration has indicated increased antitrust enforcement and has been more aggressive in enforcement activities.

Health Care Fraud

Certain of our businesses are subject to federal and state (and similar foreign) health care fraud and abuse, referral and reimbursement laws and regulations with respect to their operations. Some of these laws, referred to as "false claims laws," prohibit the submission or causing the submission of false or fraudulent claims for reimbursement to federal, state and other health care payers and programs. Other laws, referred to as "anti-kickback laws," prohibit soliciting, offering, receiving or paying remuneration in order to induce the referral of a patient or ordering, purchasing, leasing or arranging for, or recommending ordering, purchasing or leasing of, items or services that are paid for by federal, state and other health care payers and programs. Certain additional state and federal laws, such as the federal Physician Self-Referral Law, commonly known as the "Stark Law," prohibit physicians and other health professionals from referring a patient to an entity with which the physician (or family member) has a financial relationship, for the furnishing of certain designated health services (for example, durable medical equipment and medical supplies), unless an exception applies. Violations of Anti-Kickback Statutes or the Stark Law may be enforced as violations of the federal False Claims Act.

The fraud and abuse laws and regulations have been subject to heightened enforcement activity over the past few years, and significant enforcement activity has been the result of "relators" who serve as whistleblowers by filing complaints in the name of the United States (and if applicable, particular states) under applicable false claims laws, and who may receive up to 30% of total government recoveries. Penalties under fraud and abuse laws may be severe, including treble damages and substantial civil penalties under the federal False Claims Act, as well as potential loss of licenses and the ability to participate in federal and state health care programs, criminal penalties, or imposition of a corporate compliance monitor which could have a material adverse effect on our business. Also, these measures may be interpreted or applied by a prosecutorial, regulatory or judicial authority in a manner that could require us to make changes in our operations or incur substantial defense and settlement expenses. Even unsuccessful challenges by regulatory authorities or private relators could result in reputational harm and the incurring of substantial costs. Most states have adopted similar state false claims laws, and these state laws have their own penalties, which may be in addition to federal False Claims Act penalties, as well as other fraud and abuse laws.

With respect to measures of this type, the United States government (among others) has expressed concerns about financial relationships between suppliers on the one hand and physicians and dentists on the other. As a result, we regularly review and revise our marketing practices as necessary to facilitate compliance.

We also are subject to certain United States and foreign laws and regulations concerning the conduct of our foreign operations, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the U.K. Bribery Act, German anti-corruption laws and other anti-bribery laws and laws pertaining to the accuracy of our internal books and records, which have been the focus of increasing enforcement activity globally in recent years.

While we believe that we are substantially compliant with applicable fraud and abuse laws and regulations, and have adequate compliance programs and controls in place to ensure substantial compliance, we cannot predict whether changes in applicable law, or interpretation of laws, or changes in our services or marketing practices in response to changes in applicable law or interpretation of laws, or failure to comply with applicable law, could have a material adverse effect on our business.

3M Completes Acquisition of Acelity, Inc.

Acquisition Expands Presence in Advanced and Surgical Wound Care

ST. PAUL, Minn. – October 11, 2019 – 3M (NYSE: MMM) today announced it has completed the acquisition of Acelity, Inc. and its KCI subsidiaries worldwide from a consortium comprised of funds advised by Apax Partners (the Apax Funds), together with controlled affiliates of the Canada Pension Plan Investment Board (CPPIB) and the Public Sector Pension Investment Board (PSP Investments) for a total enterprise value of approximately $6.7 billion, including assumption of debt and other adjustments. Acelity is a leading global medical technology company focused on advanced wound care and specialty surgical applications marketed under the KCI brand.

"This is an exciting day as we bring together two premier and innovative companies that are focused on delivering comprehensive health care solutions to enable better outcomes for patients," said 3M chairman and CEO Mike Roman. "We are excited to have the tremendous people of Acelity join the 3M team, and are confident in the value that this acquisition will deliver to our customers and our shareholders. This addition further accelerates 3M as a leader in advanced wound care, which is a significant and growing market segment."

3M's Medical Solutions business is focused on applying 3M technologies to deliver safe and effective solutions to improve clinical outcomes and healthcare economics. The business offers a range of integrated solutions that include advanced and acute wound care dressings and products, medical tapes, sterilization products, and patient prep and warming products. These solutions cross the entire continuum of care, enabling better outcomes, improving the patient experience, and delivering strong economic value in today's value-based care environment.

The Acelity business is well known for creating and growing new segments based on the ability to identify and address unmet clinical needs with KCI-branded products that advance the practice of medicine, beginning with the introduction of V.A.C.® Therapy - groundbreaking Negative Pressure Wound Therapy. Today, KCI product offerings also include advanced wound dressings and negative pressure surgical solutions. KCI's solutions contribute to better patient outcomes by enhancing wound healing. The business has annual revenue of approximately $1.5 billion with year-to-date organic growth of 5 percent through September 30, 2019.

RE: NV Wholesaler Initial Application

To whom it may concern,

Exel Inc. d/b/a DHL Supply Chain (USA) ("DHL") is submitting this letter in reference to the question on Wholesaler Initial Application regarding pending complaint, investigation, or disciplinary actions.

[Exel Inc. d/b/a DHL Supply Chain (USA) ("DHL") is a part of Deutsche Post DHL Group, the world's leading contract logistics provider, and has tens of thousands of employees across North America. At any given time, DHL is a named defendant in civil matters, including employment cases. Based on knowledge and belief of the respondent completing this application after reasonable inquiry, DHL is not involved in any pending criminal proceedings. Nor is DHL part of any pending malpractice claims, civil claims, or lawsuits in connection with drugs/devices.]

Attached are letters from the State Board for the following 2 items:

1. On March 27, 2019, DHL received a notice from the Colorado Board of Pharmacy indicating that the Board initiated disciplinary action against DHL in connection with DHL's failure to notify the Board of a change in its Designated Representative for the site located at 1635 Stone Ridge Drive, Stone Mountain, GA 30083-118. The matter was resolved with the Board as of April 29, 2019 and is now closed.

2. On August 10, 2022, DHL received a proposed Imposition of Civil Fine from the Board in connection with DHL's alleged failure to timely notify the Board of a change in its Designated Representative. DHL accepted the Imposition of Civil Fine in the amount of $500, which was a technical violation only and not related to the delivery of patient care. Although we did notify on time and at all times a DR was present at the facility, the method of notification was technically incorrect which led to the delay. The matter was resolved with the Board as of September 19, 2022.

Please be assured that DHL takes these matters very seriously and has implemented corrective actions to prevent similar issues from occurring in the future. If you have any concerns regarding the matters set forth in this notice, please do not hesitate to contact DHL Regulatory Affairs at regulatory@dhl.com.

IMPOSITION OF CIVIL FINE
Case # 2022-000354

I, JONATHAN MENEZES, as an agent for Exel Inc. Dba DHL Supply Chain (USA), admit and agree the Alaska Board of Pharmacy (Board) has jurisdiction over the subject matter of Third-Party Logistics Provider License No. 156932, and over this Imposition of Civil Fine.

1. On June 30, 2021, we appointed a new Facility Manager. On March 21, 2022, the Board received our Change of Facility Manager form with the new Facility Manager notification; 264 days after the Facility Manager change occurred. This is a violation of 12 AAC 52.697(c).

We admit that as a result of these facts, grounds exist for possible denial of licensure or other disciplinary sanctions of my license pursuant to AS 08.01.75 and 12 AAC 52.697(c). We are agreeing to this Imposition of a Civil Fine of five hundred dollars ($500) in cash, certified check, or money order payable to the "State of Alaska" within ninety (90) days after this Imposition of Civil Fine is accepted by the Board.

We have the right to consult with an attorney, and a right to an administrative hearing on the facts in this case. We understand and agree by voluntarily signing this Imposition of Civil Fine, we are waiving our rights to counsel and to a hearing on this matter.

The Board is investigating this complaint. It is being sent to you as the designated representative of the above listed out-of-state prescription drug wholesaler. At this point, no assumption has been made about the truth or validity of any information provided to the Board.

Please send a written response within thirty (30) days of the date of this letter as indicated above. An earlier response may expedite the Board's review of this matter. To facilitate an efficient and timely review, please type your response. If this is not possible, please legibly print your response.

We encourage you to respond electronically. If you do, please submit the response to dora_pharmacyboard@state.co.us. Please scan and attach any relevant documents. Address all correspondence to the Board.
