I. Mashayla Coleman (23-505-PT-S)

No one was present on behalf of the Mashayla Coleman.

Jade Jacobo disclosed that Respondent Coleman was a former CVS employee, but she can participate in this matter fairly and without bias.

Laura Tucker, General Counsel for the Nevada Board of Pharmacy, prosecuted the case alleging that Respondent Coleman diverted controlled substances, 863 Alprazolam and 2,057mg of promethazine with codeine syrup.

Ms. Tucker requested that the Declaration of Darlene Nases, Board Coordinator for the Nevada Board of Pharmacy, be entered into the record as Exhibit A, which included Exhibits 1-3.

President Park admitted Exhibit A and Exhibits 1-3 into the record.

Board Action:

Motion: Jade Jacobo moved to find that Respondent Coleman was properly served and noticed of the hearing.

Second: Krystal Freitas

Action: Passed unanimously.

Board Action:

Motion: Jade Jacobo moved to make the Findings of Fact consistent with paragraphs 1-7 of the accusation.

G.	Robert Seik	(24-424-RPH-S)

Jeffrey Lang, Robert Seik, and Joey Gilbert, Esq. were present.

Gregory Zunino, Senior General Counsel for the Nevada Board of Pharmacy, prosecuted the case alleging that as pharmacy/pharmacy owner, Partell, is responsible for the acts of its employee in Case No. 23-175-PH-S who refused to transfer a prescription at the request of the patient. Partell is responsible for the acts of its employees in Case No. 23-239-PH-S who purchased drug substances from an unlicensed wholesaler in Nevada; dispensed several drug products to patients with directions to compound the drugs themselves; and furnished a patient's practitioner with prescription blanks bearing the name of the pharmacy. Partell is responsible for the acts of its employees in Case No. 23-429-PH-S who dispensed 512 invalid prescriptions issued for "Emergency Kits" or "COVID Kits" for which the drugs in each were not identified on the prescription and dispensed and substituted a different drug without permission in the “COVID Kits”. Partell is responsible for the acts of its employees in Case No. 24-424-RPH-S who accepted, processed, and dispensed prescriptions that were not valid and those of which were controlled substance prescription were not transmitted electronically as required by Nevada Law.

Mr. Zunino prosecuted the case alleging that as pharmacy owner and managing pharmacist during the times of the events, Respondent Seik is responsible for the acts of its employees in Case No. 23-429-PH-S who dispensed 512 invalid prescriptions issued for “Emergency Kits” or “COVID Kits” for which the drugs in each were not identified on the prescription and dispensed and substituted a different drug without permission in the “COVID Kits”. Respondent Seik is responsible for the acts of its employees in Case No. 24-424-RPH-S who accepted, processed, and dispensed prescriptions that were not valid and those of which were controlled substance prescription were not transmitted electronically as required by Nevada Law.

Mr. Zunino prosecuted the case alleging that as managing pharmacist during the times of the events, Respondent Lang is responsible for the acts of its employees who purchased drug substances from an unlicensed wholesaler in Nevada; dispensed several drug products to patients with directions to compound the drugs themselves; and furnished a patient’s practitioner with prescription blanks bearing the name of the pharmacy.

Mr. Zunino presented proposed stipulations for each Respondent in the cases.

Board discussion ensued.

The amended proposed stipulated penalties for Partell Specialty Pharmacy, License No. PH02028, are the following: Respondent’s license shall be revoked effective December 31, 2025. Prior to the revocation, Partell’s License No. PH02028 shall be placed on probation, effective immediately, and subject to the following conditions: 1) Respondent fined $10,000 for the violations; 2) Respondent assessed $3,000 in attorney’s fees and costs; 4) Respondent shall comply with all federal and state statutes and regulations concerning dangerous drugs and controlled substances and shall have no additional charges filed against it during the period of probation; and 4) Respondent shall submit to monthly inspections at owner’s expense during the probation period.

The amended proposed stipulated penalties for Robert Seik, Certificate of Registration No. 13574, are the following: Respondent’s registration shall be revoked effective August 1, 2025. The revocation shall be stayed and is placed on probation for a period of five (5) years subject to the following conditions: 1) Respondent fined $10,000 for the violations; 2) Respondent assessed $1,000 in attorney’s fees and costs; 3) On or before December 31, 2025, Respondent Seik shall complete twelve (12) additional hours of continuing education (CE) on pharmacy law and ethics; 4) On or after August 1, 2025, and through the end of probation, Respondent Seik shall not work as a managing pharmacist for any pharmacy licensed by the Board; 5) On and after December 31,

This clarifies things Jill.

We do not require a license for the wholesale distribution of medical devices. If the devices contain prescription drug products, then that activity would already be covered under the wholesale license.

Thank you for the information. We distribute legend and non-legend devices to hospitals, emergency first responders, physicians, and other wholesalers. Would the HME license apply to us? We do not sell directly to patients and the devices listed are not really in the category of what we sell.

I want to make sure we are adequately licensed, but I am not sure this applies to our company.

Thank you,

Hello,
My company is a distributor of legend devices. According to my research I am not sure if Indiana requires device distributors to be licensed, or just wholesale distributors that distribute drugs. My facilities are not located in state.

Can you please advise if a license is needed?

Thank you,

Jill Vennekotter

Reason/Charge
Cold Therapy Device Patient Injury

Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent	Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy
Plaintiff: Clifton Rivers	Lawsuit

Vanguard Medical, LLC

Provide explanation below:

Defendants:
Vanguard Medical, LLC, NICE Recovery Systems, Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc., Douglas Glod D.P.M, John Doe Corporation.

Explanation:
On November 3, 2020, patient, Clifton Rivers, received a NICE cold compression device from Vanguard Medical, prescribed by his Doctor to aid with recovery following his bunionectomy surgery, scheduled for November 5, 2020.

On November 12, 2020, the patient contacted his Doctor complaining of right foot pain, numbness and swelling and was admitted to the hospital until December 2, 2020 for treatment. The patient had allegedly received injuries resulting from a defective design of the NICE device and negligence by the surgeon.

Case was settled out of court with $0 liability.

26. Upon information and belief, Defendant Nice Recovery Systems LLC and/or Defendant Vanguard Medical LLC partnered and/or contracted with Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. and/or Defendant Douglas Glod, D.P.M., to provide or supply NICE1 devices to patients of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc., and/or Defendant Douglas Glod, D.P.M, including the plaintiff, Clifton Rivers. This partnership or contract included Defendant Vanguard Medical LLC's agents, servants, employees or representatives instructing patients of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. and/or Defendant Douglas Glod, D.P.M., on how to use the NICE1.

27. Defendant Nice Recovery Systems LLC and/or Defendant Vanguard Medical LLC is responsible for providing the NICE1 for use and treatment by Plaintiff Clifton Rivers.

on after surgery, twenty-four hours a day. Defendant Vanguard Medical LLC's representative also told Mr. Rivers to bring the therapy wrap piece of the Device to his surgery.

34. On November 5, 2020, Mr. Rivers underwent scheduled surgery, performed by Defendant Glod, at the Southern New England Surgery Center in Attleboro, Massachusetts, to correct his right foot bunion and tailor's bunion.

35. Upon completion of the surgery on November 5, 2020, Defendant Glod, and/or medical staff working with Defendant Glod at Defendant Glod's request, secured the therapy wrap piece of the Device on Mr. Rivers' right foot prior to his discharge, and reminded Plaintiff Rivers to follow the instructions previously provided to him on how he was to use the Device as he recuperated from the surgery.

36. On November 5, 2020, when Mr. Rivers arrived home after his operation, he connected the therapy wrap on his right foot to the Device and turned the Device on. Aside from powering the Device on, Mr. Rivers did not manipulate any controls on the Device, and as instructed by Defendants Glod and Vanguard Medical LLC, through its agents, servants, and employees, Mr. Rivers kept the device powered on, on his foot, twenty-four hours a day for the next seven days.

37. On November 12, 2020, Mr. Rivers contacted Defendant Glod's office, Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc.,, complaining of right foot pain, numbness, and swelling. Mr. Rivers was instructed to respond to Kent Hospital where he was diagnosed with a compartment syndrome and a postoperative infection.

38. Mr. Rivers was admitted to Kent Hospital on November 12, 2020, and discharged on December 2, 2020. During his admission, Mr. Rivers underwent a right foot fasciotomy on November 22, 2020 and a right foot debridement of all nonviable tissue on November 25, 2020.

43. On the date of Mr. Rivers' injury, the Device was in substantially the same condition as it was when originally manufactured.

44. Said injures and damages proximately resulted from the defective design and condition of said Device, which rendered it unreasonably dangerous to users like Mr. Rivers', and/or from Defendants' breach of warranties, and/or from Defendants' negligent acts and/or omissions, as herein referenced.

45. Further, Plaintiff Rivers' surgeries were also the result of Defendant Glod's failure to exercise diligence and skills of a reasonably competent physician of podiatry, and failure to properly diagnose, care and treat Plaintiff and was otherwise negligent.

46. At all times material hereto, Mr. Rivers was in the exercise of due care for his safety.

COUNT I
NEGLIGENCE
NICE RECOVERY SYSTEMS LLC

1. Plaintiff restates and realleges Paragraphs 1 through 46 of the Complaint as if fully set forth at length herein.

2. Defendant owed a duty to Plaintiff and others using the Device which is the subject of this Complaint to use reasonable care in the design, manufacture, distribution, sale, delivery, assembly, installation, supply, maintenance, and/or service of said Device.

3. Defendant further owed a duty to Plaintiff and others using said Device to test and inspect for, and warn of, defects and dangerous properties and conditions inherent in and arising from said Device.

4. Defendant breached said duties and was otherwise negligent in the design, manufacture, distribution, sale, delivery, assembly, installation, supply, maintenance, inspection, testing, and/or service of said Device.

3. At all material times, Plaintiff was a person reasonably expected to be affected by the use and operation of said Device.

4. Defendant impliedly and expressly warranted that said Device was safe, of merchantable quality, and fit for its intended and foreseeable uses.

5. At the time said Device was sold or leased, it did not comply with said warranties in that it was in a defective condition and was not fit for its ordinary purposes.

6. Plaintiff relied on the warranties made by Defendant and was permanently injured and sustained damage as a direct and proximate result of his reliance on said warranties and as a direct and proximate result of the breaches of said warranties by the Defendant.

7. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's breaches of warranties, Plaintiff suffered significant and permanent personal injuries, and was otherwise damaged.

8. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's breaches of warranties, Plaintiff suffered devastating injuries to his right lower extremity which necessitated several surgeries and other procedures.

7. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's breaches of warranties, Plaintiff has endured and will in the future endure mental and physical pain, suffering, and mental and emotional anguish and distress.

8. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's breaches of warranties, Plaintiff has been and will be unable to perform his usual activities, has suffered a loss of wages and earning capacity, and has been otherwise significantly and permanently damaged.

9. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff Rivers has incurred and will incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical treatment, medicines, hospitalization, rehabilitation therapy, and the like.

8. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff Rivers has incurred and will in the future incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical treatment, medicines, hospitalization, rehabilitation therapy, and the like.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, Clifton Rivers, demands judgment against Defendant Nice Recovery Systems LLC in an amount that, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the jurisdictional minimum of this Honorable Court, and whatever further relief this Honorable Court deems just.

COUNT IV
VICARIOUS LIABILITY
NICE RECOVERY SYSTEMS LLC

1. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference Paragraphs 1 through 46 and Counts I through III of the Complaint as if set forth fully and at length herein.

2. Defendant John and/or Jane Doe was an employee, agent, apparent agent, and/or servant of Defendant, and was acting within the scope of his/her employment at all times relevant hereto.

3. Defendant, through their agents, servants, employees and partners, was at all relevant times vicariously responsible for the acts of their employees, agents, and servants, including but not limited to, the acts of Defendant John and/or Jane Does, as set forth above.

4. As a direct and proximate result of said negligence, Plaintiff suffered significant and permanent personal injuries, and was otherwise damaged.

5. As a direct and proximate result of said negligence, Plaintiff suffered devastating injuries to his right lower extremity which necessitated several surgeries and other procedures.

4. Defendant breached said duties and was otherwise negligent in the design, manufacture, distribution, sale, lease, delivery, assembly, installation, supply, maintenance, inspection, testing, and/or service of said Device.

5. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's negligence, Plaintiff suffered significant and permanent personal injuries, and was otherwise damaged.

6. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's negligence, Plaintiff suffered devastating injuries to his right lower extremity which necessitated several surgeries and other procedures.

7. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's negligence, Plaintiff has endured and will in the future endure mental and physical pain, suffering, and mental and emotional anguish and distress.

8. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's negligence, Plaintiff has been and will be unable to perform his usual activities, has suffered a loss of wages and earning capacity, and has been otherwise significantly and permanently damaged.

9. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff Rivers has incurred and will incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical treatment, medicines, hospitalization, rehabilitation therapy, and the like.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, Clifton Rivers, demands judgment against Defendant Vanguard Medical LLC in an amount that, exclusive of interests and costs, exceeds the jurisdictional minimum of this Honorable Court, and whatever further relief this Honorable Court deems just.

8. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's breaches of warranties, Plaintiff has been and will be unable to perform his usual activities, has suffered a loss of wages and earning capacity, and has been otherwise significantly and permanently damaged.

9. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff Rivers has incurred and will incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical treatment, medicines, hospitalization, rehabilitation therapy, and the like.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, Clifton Rivers, demands judgment against Vanguard Medical LLC in an amount that, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the jurisdictional minimum of this Honorable Court, and whatever further relief this Honorable Court deems just.

COUNT VII
STRICT TORT LIABILITY
VANGUARD MEDICAL LLC

1. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 46 of the Complaint and Counts I through VI as if set forth fully at length herein.

2. At the time Defendant sold and supplied said Device, it was defective in design, manufacture, and sale, which defects rendered it unfit and unreasonably dangerous to foreseeable users such as Plaintiff.

3. When injured, Plaintiff was using said Device in an ordinary and foreseeable manner.

4. As a direct and proximate result of said defective conditions of said Device, Plaintiff suffered significant and permanent personal injuries, and was otherwise damaged.

5. As a direct and proximate result of said defective condition of said Device, Plaintiff suffered devastating injuries to his right lower extremity which necessitated several surgeries and other procedures.

4. As a direct and proximate result of said negligence, Plaintiff suffered significant and permanent personal injuries, and was otherwise damaged.

5. As a direct and proximate result of said negligence, Plaintiff suffered devastating injuries to his right lower extremity which necessitated several surgeries and other procedures.

6. As a direct and proximate result of said negligence, Plaintiff has endured and will in the future endure mental and physical pain, suffering, and mental and emotional anguish and distress.

7. As a direct and proximate result of said negligence, Plaintiff has been and will be unable to perform his usual activities, has suffered a loss of wages and earning capacity, and has been otherwise significantly and permanently damaged.

8. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff Rivers has incurred and will in the future incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical treatment, medicines, hospitalization, rehabilitation therapy, and the like.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, Clifton Rivers, demands judgment against Defendant Vanguard Medical LLC in an amount that, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the jurisdictional minimum of this Honorable Court, and whatever further relief this Honorable Court deems just.

COUNT IX
NEGLIGENCE
RHODE ISLAND FOOT CARE, INC.

1. Paragraphs 1 through 46 of the Complaint and Counts I through VIII are hereby incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

2. Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. undertook for a valuable consideration to diagnose, treat and care for Clifton Rivers.

COUNT X
LACK OF INFORMED CONSENT
RHODE ISLAND FOOT CARE, INC.

1. Paragraphs 1 through 46 and Counts I through IX are hereby incorporated by reference as if set forth fully at length herein.

2. It then and there became the duty of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc., no emergency existing, to inform Clifton Rivers of the risks of harm attendant to the course of treatment and care it proposed to administer to and perform upon him so that he could give his informed consent to the course of such treatment. It also then and there became the duty of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. to obtain Clifton Rivers' informed consent before proceeding with said course of treatment and care.

3. Nevertheless, Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. disregarded its duty as aforesaid and failed to inform Clifton Rivers of the risks of harm attendant to the course of treatment and care in question and proceed to perform said course of treatment and care without having obtained his informed consent.

4. If Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. had informed Clifton Rivers of the risks of harm attendant to the course of treatment and care in question including, but not limited to, the risk of his suffering those injuries from which he suffered and continues to suffer as a direct result of Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc.'s performance of the course of treatment and care in question, Clifton Rivers would have refused to consent to the performance of said course of treatment and care.

5. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff Clifton Rivers has incurred and will in the future incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical and nursing treatment, medicines, hospitalization, therapy, and the like.

5. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc.'s negligence as aforesaid, Clifton Rivers suffered severe injuries to his mind, body, nerves and nervous system, has endured and will in the future endure extreme mental pain, suffering and emotional distress, has and will in the future be unable to perform his usual activities, has suffered a loss of earning capacity and loss of earnings, and has suffered a loss of enjoyment of life, all of which injuries are permanent, and has been otherwise permanently damaged.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Clifton Rivers demands judgment against Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. in an amount that will justly compensate for his damages, together with interest, costs, and attorneys' fees, and such other and further relief as this Court deems just.

COUNT XII
VICARIOUS LIABILITY
RHODE ISLAND FOOT CARE, INC.

1. Paragraphs 1 through 46 and Counts I through XI are hereby incorporated by reference as if fully set forth at length herein.

2. Defendant Glod was an employee, agent, servant, and/or partner of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc., and was acting within the scope of his employment at all times relevant hereto.

3. Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc. was at all relevant times vicariously responsible for the acts of its employees, agents, servants, and/or partners including but not limited to, the acts of Defendant Glod, as set forth above.

4. By reason for the foregoing, Plaintiff Clifton Rivers has incurred and will in the future incur the need for and resulting expenses for medical and nursing treatment, medicines, hospitalization, therapy, and the like.

5. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc.'s negligence as aforesaid, Clifton Rivers suffered severe injuries to his mind, body, nerves and endured and will in the future endure extreme mental pain, suffering and emotional distress, has and will in the future be unable to perform his usual activities, has suffered a loss of earning capacity and loss of earnings, and has suffered a loss of enjoyment of life, all of which injuries are permanent, and has been otherwise permanently damaged.

7. The injuries suffered by Plaintiff Rivers as a result of Defendant Glod's negligence were not discoverable through reasonable diligence until he was diagnosed on or about March 15, 2021.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Clifton Rivers demands judgment against Defendant Glod in an amount that will justly compensate for his damages, together with interests, costs, and attorneys' fees, and such other and further relief as this Court deems just.

COUNT XIV
DOUGLAS GLOD, D.P.M.

1. Paragraphs 1 through 46 and Counts I through XIII are hereby incorporated by reference as if set forth fully at length herein.

2. It then and there became the duty of Defendant Glod, no emergency existing, to inform Plaintiff Rivers of the risks of harm attendant to the course of treatment and care he proposed to administer to and perform upon him so that he could give his informed consent to such course of treatment. It also then and there became the duty of Defendant Glod to obtain Plaintiff Rivers' informed consent before proceeding with said course of treatment and care.

3. Nevertheless, Defendant Glod disregarded his duty as aforesaid and failed to inform Clifton Rivers of the risks of harm attendant to the course of treatment and care in question and proceeded to perform said course of treatment and care without having obtained his informed consent.

Name of Business/Industry/Entity
Vanguard Medical, LLC

Provide explanation below:

Defendants:
Vanguard Medical, LLC, NICE Recovery Systems, Rhode Island Foot Care, Inc., Douglas Glod D.P.M, John Doe Corporation.

Explanation:
On November 3, 2020, patient, Clifton Rivers, received a NICE cold compression device from Vanguard Medical, prescribed by his Doctor to aid with recovery following his bunionectomy surgery, scheduled for November 5, 2020.

On November 12, 2020, the patient contacted his Doctor complaining of right foot pain, numbness and swelling and was admitted to the hospital until December 2, 2020 for treatment. The patient had allegedly received injuries resulting from a defective design of the NICE device and negligence by the surgeon.

Case was settled out of court with $0 liability.

Dear ADAM GIBSON,

I am pleased to inform you that based on the findings of the site visit conducted 09/10/2024 - 09/10/2024, at the location and service referenced above, your organization is found to be in compliance with the CHAP Standards of Excellence. The CHAP Board of Review (BOR) has granted Full Accreditation to your organization for the term of three (3) years.

The site visit findings determined that your agency is in compliance with CHAP Standards of Excellence and meets DMEPOS accreditation requirements under Section 1834(A) (20) of the Social Security Act, and the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 42, Part 424.58. Your agency has been approved for the following product categories: DM03 and DM18.

The continuation in good standing of this Accreditation is dependent upon your organization paying any and all accreditation and site visit fees in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Accreditation Services Agreement.

Please note that CHAP may conduct surveys less than every three years depending upon any applicable CMS or state regulation and/or the level of any deficiencies cited.

Should you wish to appeal, please email your Director of Accreditation, Shannon Dorsey-Dunlap, with the details of your appeal request within the next 10 days of notification receipt.

As a CHAP accredited agency, you are required to list our toll free CHAP Hotline telephone number to all of your clients. This hotline receives consumer complaints and questions about CHAP accredited organizations 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The CHAP Hotline is 1-800-656-9656.

Thank you for choosing CHAP as your national accreditation partner. Please contact Nancy McLaughlin at nancy.mclaughlin@chapinc.org or (202) 862-3413 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Teresa Harbour, RN, MBA, MHA

Professional Experience Statement

I have proudly served at JQ Medical Supply, LLC for the past 13 years, where I have developed and maintained deep expertise in a broad range of advanced medical supplies and patient support services. My work has focused extensively on compression therapy, ostomy care, urological supplies, Continuous Glucose Monitors (CGMs), insulin pumps, and insulin pump supplies.

Throughout my tenure, I have participated in annual, manufacturer-led training programs, ensuring that I remain knowledgeable and proficient in the most current technologies, products, and clinical application standards. My role has included direct interaction with patients and healthcare providers to ensure proper product selection, education, and compliance.

In addition, I hold a certification as a Compression Therapy Fitter, which allows me to provide specialized support in fitting and managing compression garments for various medical indications, such as lymphedema, venous disorders, and post-surgical recovery.

This extensive, hands-on experience and continued professional education have enabled me to deliver informed, empathetic, and effective service in support of both patients and healthcare professionals across multiple areas of care.

Sincerely,

Tricia Thurman

This is in response to Question # 4. Provide all the following where applicable:

Date of Event/Arrest	Disposition Date	State	City	County
Approx. 2007	Approx. 2007	DC	DC

Case #	Governing, licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency (Court)
unknown	U.S. District Court for District of Columbia

employment discrimination

Eileen Bradley

Eileen Bradley v. William Breskin, Paul Brown, and BCBSA

Provide explanation below:

In approximately 2007, I served as a Vice President of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association in Chicago, Illinois. An employee who suffered from alcoholism sued her immediate supervisor (who reported to me) and me for age and gender-based discrimination in connection with her termination of employement. I do not have any of the details regarding the court, case number, or exact dates of when the case was filed or settled. The claims were without merit. We settled the case for about $25,000 without any admission of liability, for an amount that was less than the legal fees for answering or moving to dismiss the complaint.

Question #5:

As you can see, I have served as an investor, director, officer, and partner of numerous firms during my career. In the ordinary course of their business activities, several of these firms have been parties to numerous lawsuits—as both plaintiffs and defendants. They have also been parties to arbitration and administrative proceedings. It is simply not possible for me to list—or even know about—such proceedings, but none have involved my conduct or character.

BLANKET ADDITIONAL INSURED BY CONTRACT

This endorsement modifies insurance provided under the following:

BUSINESS LIABILITY COVERAGE FORM

Except as otherwise stated in this endorsement, the terms and conditions of the Policy apply.

A. The following is added to Section C. WHO IS AN INSURED:

Additional Insureds When Required By Written Contract, Written Agreement Or Permit

The person(s) or organization(s) identified in Paragraphs a. through f. below are additional insureds when you have agreed, in a written contract or written agreement, or when required by a written permit issued by a state or governmental agency or subdivision or political subdivision that such person or organization be added as an additional insured on your Coverage Part, provided the injury or damage occurs subsequent to the execution of the contract or agreement, or the issuance of the permit.

A person or organization is an additional insured under this provision only for that period of time required by the contract, agreement or permit.

However, no such person or organization is an additional insured under this provision if such person or organization is included as an additional insured by any other endorsement issued by us and made a part of this Coverage Part.

The insurance afforded to such additional insured will not be broader than that which you are required by the contract, agreement, or permit to provide for such additional insured.

The insurance afforded to such additional insured only applies to the extent permitted by law.

The limits of insurance that apply to additional insureds are described in Section D. LIABILITY AND MEDICAL EXPENSES LIMITS OF INSURANCE. How this insurance applies when other insurance is available to an additional insured is described in the Other Insurance Condition in Section E. LIABILITY AND MEDICAL EXPENSES GENERAL CONDITIONS.

a. Vendors

Any person(s) or organization(s) (referred to below as vendor), but only with respect to "bodily injury" or "property damage" arising out of "your products" which are distributed or sold in the regular course of the vendor's business and only if this Coverage Part provides coverage for "bodily injury" or "property damage" included within the "products-completed operations hazard".

(1) The insurance afforded to the vendor is subject to the following additional exclusions:

This insurance does not apply to:

(a) "Bodily injury" or "property damage" for which the vendor is obligated to pay damages by reason of the assumption of liability in a contract or agreement. This exclusion does not apply to liability for damages that the vendor would have in the absence of the contract or agreement;

(b) Any express warranty unauthorized by you;

(c) Any physical or chemical change in the product made intentionally by the vendor;

(d) Repackaging, except when unpacked solely for the purpose of inspection, demonstration, testing, or the substitution of parts under instructions from the manufacturer, and then repackaged in the original container;

(e) Any failure to make such inspections, adjustments, tests or servicing as the vendor has agreed to make or normally undertakes to make in the usual course of business, in connection with the distribution or sale of the products;

(f) Demonstration, installation, servicing or repair operations, except such operations performed at the vendor's premises in connection with the sale of the product;

(May include copyrighted material of Insurance Services Office, Inc., with its permission)

(g) Products which, after distribution or sale by you, have been labeled or relabeled or used as a container, part or ingredient of any other thing or substance by or for the vendor; or

(h) "Bodily injury" or "property damage" arising out of the sole negligence of the vendor for its own acts or omissions or those of its employees or anyone else acting on its behalf. However, this exclusion does not apply to:

(i) The exceptions contained in Paragraphs (d) or (f); or

(ii) Such inspections, adjustments, tests or servicing as the vendor has agreed to make or normally undertakes to make in the usual course of business, in connection with the distribution or sale of the products.

(2) This insurance does not apply to any insured person or organization from whom you have acquired such products, or any ingredient, part or container, entering into, accompanying or containing such products.

b. Lessors Of Equipment

(1) Any person or organization from whom you lease equipment; but only with respect to their liability for "bodily injury", "property damage" or "personal and advertising injury" caused, in whole or in part, by your maintenance, operation or use of equipment leased to you by such person or organization.

(2) With respect to the insurance afforded to these additional insureds, this insurance does not apply to any "occurrence" which takes place after you cease to lease that equipment.

c. Lessors Of Land Or Premises

(1) Any person or organization from whom you lease land or premises, but only with respect to liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of that part of the land or premises leased to you.

(2) With respect to the insurance afforded to these additional insureds, this insurance does not apply to:

(a) Any "occurrence" which takes place after you cease to lease that land or be a tenant in that premises; or

(b) Structural alterations, new construction or demolition operations performed by or on behalf of such person or organization.

d. Architects, Engineers Or Surveyors

(1) Any architect, engineer, or surveyor, but only with respect to liability for "bodily injury", "property damage" or "personal and advertising injury" caused, in whole or in part, by your acts or omissions or the acts or omissions of those acting on your behalf:

(a) In connection with your premises;

(b) In the performance of your ongoing operations performed by you or on your behalf; or

(c) In connection with "your work" and included within the "products-completed operations hazard", but only if:

(i) The written contract, written agreement or permit requires you to provide such coverage to such additional insured; and

(ii) This Coverage Part provides coverage for "bodily injury" or "property damage" included within the "products-completed operations hazard".

(2) With respect to the insurance afforded to these additional insureds, the following additional exclusion applies:

This insurance does not apply to "bodily injury", "property damage" or "personal and advertising injury" arising out of the rendering of or the failure to render any professional services, including:

(i) The preparing, approving, or failure to prepare or approve, maps, shop drawings, opinions, reports, surveys, field orders, change orders, designs or drawings and specifications; or

(ii) Supervisory, surveying, inspection, architectural or engineering activities.

This exclusion applies even if the claims allege negligence or other wrongdoing in the supervision, hiring, employment, training or monitoring of others by an insured, if the "bodily injury", "property damage", or "personal and advertising injury" arises out of the rendering of or the failure to render any professional service.

e. State Or Governmental Agency Or Subdivision Or Political Subdivision Issuing Permit

(1) Any state or governmental agency or subdivision or political subdivision, but only with respect to operations performed by you or on your behalf for which the state or governmental agency or subdivision or political subdivision has issued a permit.

(2) With respect to the insurance afforded to these additional insureds, this insurance does not apply to:

(a) "Bodily injury", "property damage" or "personal and advertising injury" arising out of operations performed for the federal government, state or municipality; or

(b) "Bodily injury" or "property damage" included within the "products-completed operations hazard".

f. Any Other Party

(1) Any other person or organization who is not in one of the categories or classes listed above in Paragraphs a. through e. above, but only with respect to liability for "bodily injury", "property damage" or "personal and advertising injury" caused, in whole or in part, by your acts or omissions or the acts or omissions of those acting on your behalf:

(a) In the performance of your ongoing operations performed by you or on your behalf;

(b) In connection with your premises owned by or rented to you; or

(c) In connection with "your work" and included within the "products-completed operations hazard", but only if:

(i) The written contract, written agreement or permit requires you to provide such coverage to such additional insured; and

(ii) This Coverage Part provides coverage for "bodily injury" or "property damage" included within the "products-completed operations hazard".

(2) With respect to the insurance afforded to these additional insureds, the following additional exclusion applies:

This insurance does not apply to "bodily injury", "property damage" or "personal and advertising injury" arising out of the rendering of, or the failure to render, any professional architectural, engineering or surveying services, including:

(a) The preparing, approving, or failure to prepare or approve, maps, shop drawings, opinions, reports, surveys, field orders, change orders, designs or drawings and specifications; or

(b) Supervisory, surveying, inspection, architectural or engineering activities.

This exclusion applies even if the claims allege negligence or other wrongdoing in the supervision, hiring, employment, training or monitoring of others by an insured, if the "bodily injury", "property damage", or "personal and advertising injury" arises out of the rendering of or the failure to render any professional service described in Paragraphs f.(2)(a) or f.(2)(b) above.

Medline was placed on probation for 5 years. The state conducted multiple inspections of the facility throughout the probationary period and found Medline to comply with all requirements. The probationary period closed in August 2010.	Medline's Regulatory Affairs Department was significantly expanded to include a team of 7 Licensing Specialists that monitor and ensure our licenses are renewed on time. A temperature control room was constructed at the facility to ensure product is stored at the appropriate temperature and humidity. These control rooms are now a standard feature at our distribution centers. We worked closely with NABP to ensure that our temperature control facilities and procedures align with industry best practices throughout our distribution network.
12/7/2006	9101 Riverside Pkwy Lithia Springs, GA 30122	FILE CLOSED 2008 The Florida Certified Designated Representative at the Georgia facility unexpectedly resigned. The state of Florida suspended Medline's Florida Out of State Rx Drug Wholesale Distributor Permit (#23:1470) until a new licensed Florida CDR was hired at the facility.	To prevent this for occurring in the future, all Florida licensed Medline facilities are required to have multiple Florida Certified Designated Representatives on staff.
11/16/2007	10601 Southport Dr. Orlando, FL 32824 401 Commerce Blvd. Oldsmar, FL 34677 4750 118th Ave N Clearwater, FL 33762	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries was cited for several violations. Failure to pass and maintain a Florida compliant pedigree. Maintaining the wrong permit type for the activities performed in the facilities (in addition to a manufacturing permit, Florida required the facility a repackager permit). Distribution of saline to an unauthorized recipient. Additionally an Rx drug item was found at an unlicensed raw materials storage facility. Medline challenged several violations, resulting in most being substantially reduced or removed. Medline was assessed and paid a fine for these violations. All issues were addressed and resolved to the satisfaction of the FL DOH. After duly notifying state authorities, as required by law, Medline received a fined from New York for out-of-state professional misconduct. (Cal. No. 27278)	To address the pedigree issues, Medline instituted a Florida specific pedigree system. This program ensured that any pedigree shipments within our distribution network with potential to end up in Florida has the required Florida documentation. (Note - these requirements have since been preempted by federal law). To address the issue of the wrong permit type, Medline secured the repackaging permit. To address the sale of saline to an unauthorized person, Medline instituted a new procedure for obtaining and maintaining customer licenses for all Rx Drug purchases- this procedure generates an automatic block for any Rx Drug order by an unlicensed customer. The Rx Drug item unintentionally stored in the raw materials facility was properly disposed of. Waste disposal procedures were updated to ensure that this mistake would not recur.
11/26/2007	2708 NE Waldo Rd. Gainesville, FL 32609	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries' FL license (# 22:1022) was suspended for violations identified during a Florida BOP facility inspection. Medline, through Counsel, addressed the issues raised in the inspection and established that the suspension was unjustified. The suspension was lifted 3 days later on January 22, 2008. In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close this facility. (Case # 2007-37412)	After this inspection, Medline conducted a thorough review of its policies and procedures. Additionally, Medline implemented an internal auditing program to ensure that all distribution centers comply with internal policies and procedures and state and federal regulations.
3/5/2008	149 New Camellia Blvd. Covington, LA 70433	FILE CLOSED 2008 Medline Industries (LA #4318) was cited for failure to properly maintain copies of current customer licenses on-site. Medline was assessed and paid a fine. (Louisiana Administrative Docket #2008006). After duly notifying state authorities, as required by law, Medline received a fine from New York for out-of-state professional misconduct. (Cal. No. 27278)	In addition to storing copies of customers' licenses at headquarters, these licenses are now stored digitally so they can be accessed by our distribution centers.
5/9/2008	5450 W. Stewart Ave. Wausau, WI 54401	FILE CLOSED 2009 Medline Industries (WI # 1116-045) was cited and fined by the Wisconsin Department of Regulation & Licensing following a facility inspection. Medline managed a portion of a Wisconsin hospital's warehouse. The inspector cited Medline for failure to install a dividing fence between the Medline warehouse and the hospital portion of the facility. All of the hospital products were owned by the hospital. Medline was also cited for failure to access policies and procedures during the inspection. Corrections were made and the facility re-inspected, to the satisfaction of the state (Case #08	Immediately after the inspection, Medline and the owner of the facility erected a locked fence to divide the faculty. Medline also reviewed all of its other facilities to make sure no similar situations existed. In addition, training on where and how to access current policies and procedures was increased for distribution center personnel. This training is in addition to the training they receive on the policies and procedures themselves.

		PHM 037). In 2010, Medline made an unrelated business decision to close this facility. After duly notifying state authorities, as required by law, Medline received a fine from the states of Hawaii (Case #PHA 2009-7-L) and New York (Cal. No. 27278) for out-of-state professional misconduct.
8/21/2008	94-1420 Moaniani St. Waipahu, HI 96797	FILE CLOSED 2013 Medline Industries, Inc. (PWD 115) was fined $5000 and placed on probation for 5 years for failure to report disciplinary actions within 30 days. Medline submitted all required notices, but missed the 30-day deadline. The probationary period ended in August 2013. (Case # PHA 2008-17-L)	Medline implemented a new process to notify the necessary licensing boards of future disciplinary actions within the required reporting timelines.
3/19/2010	1401 N. Universal Ave. Kansas City, MO 64120	FILE CLOSED 2010 Medline Industries, Inc. applied for a Colorado Out-of-State Wholesaler license for the Kansas City, MO distribution center. The CO Board of Pharmacy issued a conditional license until the facility's MO probation period ended. (See 8/3/2005 discipline). Medline informed the CO Board when the MO probationary period was completed. Upon completion of probation, the Board issued a full license.	See 8/3/2005 discipline for corrective actions related to the underlying sanction.
1/6/2021	1501 Harris Rd Libertyville, IL 60048	FILE CLOSED 2021 Medline Industries, Inc. (OH License #01-1985050) received a fine of $250 from the Ohio Board of Pharmacy for the sale of dangerous drugs to an unlicensed entity. Medline maintained a current and valid DEA license on file for the physician rather than the TDDD license for the facility. The facility's TDDD license at the time of the sale had expired. The fine was paid on January 21, 2021 and the case was closed. (Case No. A-2020-0054 I-2019-0972-B.) After duly notifying state authorities, as required by law, Medline received a $500 fine from the Alabama State Board of Pharmacy for the same underlying conduct as the Ohio matter. The fine was paid and the matter closed. (Case No:21-L-0048)	Medline takes this matter very seriously. Medline reviewed the customer licensing policies and procedures and updated internal requirements for the type of license required for customers in Ohio. Efforts were taken by Customer Licensing to research, ensure the proper type, and check license status for a large number of existing Ohio licenses. The Ohio TDDD licenses are reviewed on an annual basis to ensure compliance.
11/1/2022	1040 Enterprise Parkway South West Jefferson, OH 43162	FILE CLOSED 2022 Medline Industries, LP (OH License #01-30000190) entered a settlement agreement and agreed to pay a fine of $1,125.00 to the Ohio Board of Pharmacy for alleged sales of dangerous drugs to an unlicensed entity. Medline maintained a physician license on file versus a Terminal Distributor (TDDD) license. The TDDD license was added in May 2022- prior to this investigation. During the period of July 2021 to March 2022, the customer's TDDD license lapsed and Medline was unaware. Medline is in the process of notifying states of this fine.	Medline is committed to following all applicable state and federal statutes and regulations, including customer license requirements. Medline updated customer licensing requirements after the 01/06/2021 fine. This incident occurred while Medline was in the process of updating a large number of Ohio accounts. Medline is implementing additional steps to ensure compliance, including, increasing staffing, training, and resources for the customer licensing team.
12/19/2022	9670 NW 112th Ave Miami, FL 33178	FILE CLOSED 2022 Medline Industries, LP (FL WDD# #2220297) entered a settlement agreement and agreed to pay a fine of $6,000.00 to the FL Dept. Business and Professional Regulation. Medline accepted a physician license for a facility customer, instead of the correct facility license. The second allegation relates to failure to include NDC numbers on outbound packing slips/ invoices. After duly notifying state authorities, as required by law, Medline received a reciprocal fine for disciplinary action by another state from the Hawaii Department of Consumer Affairs. The fine was paid and the matter closed. (Case PHA 2023-9-L).	Medline is addressing the customer licensing issue by expanding the customer licensing team resources and oversight. This process began after the 11/1/2022 Ohio Discipline and has been expanded to address FL and confirming other states. The packing slip/invoice error stemmed for an internal system error. The error was limited to DSCSA exempt products, i.e. IV fluids. A system fix is in progress.

07/19/2023 07/25/2023	1040 Enterprise Parkway South West Jefferson, OH 43162 251 Hilton Drive, Jeffersonville, IN 47130	FILE CLOSED 2023 Medline Industries, LP entered a settlement agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy and agreed to pay fines of $750 and $850 for alleged sales of dangerous drugs to an unlicensed entity from the Jeffersonville, IN (OH License #01-30000158) and West Jefferson, OH locations (OH License #01-30000190). The sales occurred between July 2021 and January 2022. After duly notifying state authorities, as required by law, Medline received a reciprocal fine for disciplinary action by another state from the Hawaii Department of Consumer Affairs. The fine was paid and the matter closed. (Case PHA 2023-9-L).	This underlying issue was previously corrected. These fines related to activities between July 2021 and January 2022. At that time Medline was in the process of updating Ohio customer requirements. Medline updated Ohio customer license requirements and implemented a TDDD verification process in 2021. In addition, Medline reviewed all existing Ohio accounts to verify the correct license was on file. The review process was completed in 2022. Medline also dedicated additional resources and staff for the customer licensing team and remains committed to following all state and federal laws and regulations.

Wholesaler" means a wholesale distributor as defined by 21 C.F.R. § 205.3(g) who supplies or distributes drugs, medicines or chemicals or devices or appliances that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician to a person other than the consumer or patient. The term includes a person who derives, produces, prepares or repackages drugs, medicines or chemicals or devices or appliances that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician on sales orders for resale. The term does not include a nonprofit cooperative agricultural organization which supplies or distributes veterinary drugs and medicines only to its own members.

ASSIGNMENT OF MEMBERSHIP INTERESTS

This Assignment of Membership Interests ("Assignment"), dated as of April 30, 2025 (the "Execution Date"), is made by Vasta Consulting, Inc., a Florida corporation ("Assignor"), to SCOA Wellness Holdings, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Assignee").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, this Assignment is being delivered pursuant to Section 2.08(h)(iv) of that certain Equity Purchase Agreement, dated as of March 22, 2024, by and among Assignor, Assignee and the other parties identified therein (as amended, restated, amended and restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time, the "Purchase Agreement");

WHEREAS, Assignor owns 40.4434% of the issued and outstanding Membership Interests of the Target (the "Owned Interests"); and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, Assignor has agreed to sell, convey, transfer, assign, and deliver to Assignee, free and clear of all Liens, and Assignee has agreed to accept and purchase from Assignor, 41.2099% of the Owned Interests, representing 16.6667% of the Fully Diluted Equity Interests in the Target on the date hereof (the "Assigned Interests").

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the respective representations and agreements hereinafter set forth and other good and valuable consideration, the adequacy and receipt of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties agree as follows:

1. Definitions. All capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings given to them in the Purchase Agreement.

2. Assignment. As of the Execution Date, Assignor hereby sells, conveys, transfers, assigns, and delivers to Assignee Assignor's rights, titles and interests in and to the Assigned Interests, free and clear of all Liens. Assignor represents that no certificates have been issued by the Target in respect of the Assigned Interests and therefore this instrument represents a valid assignment of the Assigned Interests which Assignor represents is free and clear of any and all security interests, liens, encumbrances, options, restrictions, claims and rights of others.

3. Acceptance by Assignee. Assignee hereby accepts the Assigned Interests as of the Execution Date and shall be deemed to have purchased, acquired and accepted the Assigned Interests as of the Execution Date.

4. Further Assurances. On and after the Execution Date, Assignor shall take any and all further actions, including, but not limited to, the execution of additional instruments or documents that may be reasonably requested in writing by Assignee to effectuate or evidence the sale, conveyance, transfer, assignment, and delivery of the Assigned Interests or the other actions expressly contemplated by this Assignment.

5. Miscellaneous. This Assignment shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of Assignor and Assignee and their respective successors and assigns. The Assignment shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without giving effect to any conflict or choice of law provision that would result in the imposition of another state's law. This Assignment may be executed in counterparts, by facsimile or PDF signature, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

Hi Kristy,

I am the CEO and founder of Quest Health Solutions, LLC. I have held this position since the company's incorporation in 2016 and have been actively involved in all aspects of our operations since day one.
Quest is a durable medical equipment provider specializing in continuous glucose monitors and insulin pump supplies. We maintain a direct supplier agreement with Abbott Diabetes Care, and our products are shipped through our contracted third-party logistics provider, Gemco Medical. As the owner, I oversee and manage all procurement, compliance, and product-related operations company-wide.
My responsibilities include:

- Managing vendor relationships, including our direct supplier agreement with Abbott
- Overseeing inventory, fulfillment processes, and distribution logistics
- Developing training programs for internal staff
- Ensuring compliance with state, federal, and payer-specific regulations related to medical product distribution
- Interfacing with providers and patients regarding proper use and support for CGMs and related devices.

Please let me know if you need any additional information. I will be happy to answer any other questions you may have.

Regards,

QUEST HEALTH SOLUTIONS

Provide explanation below:

In conjunction with a divorce proceeding Countrywide Home Loans filed a Mortgage Foreclosure Action against me and my ex-wife, Randi Handfinger. It was amicably resolved and dismissed with prejudice on 1/7/2013. There was no judgement entered against either of us and the property was not foreclosed on.

ORDER OF DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE

THIS CAUSE is before the Court upon the parties' Joint Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice, ECF No. [42] ("Stipulation"), filed on December 23, 2015. The Stipulation resolves all claims between Plaintiff Go Commando, LLC ("Plaintiff"), and Defendant Kimberly-Clark Corporation ("Defendant"), pursuant to the terms of a Confidential Settlement Agreement ("Agreement"). See id. The Court has carefully reviewed the Stipulation, the record, and is otherwise fully advised in the premises.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED AND ADJUDGED as follows:

1. The Stipulation, ECF No. [42], is GRANTED;
2. The above-styled case is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE;
3. Each party shall bear its own attorneys' fees and costs; and
4. Per the parties' request, the Court shall retain jurisdiction for the sole purpose of enforcing the terms of the Agreement, which terms are incorporated herein.

DONE AND ORDERED in Miami, Florida, this 23rd day of December, 2015.

(the Landlord or Landlord)

AND: VAST MEDICAL HOLDINGS, LLC, a Florida Limited Liability Company, having its head office at 7401 Wiles Road, Suite 139, in the city of Coral Springs, State of Florida, USA, 33067, herein acting by Adam Nadler, CEO & Co-Founder, duly authorized for the purposes hereof, as they so declare;

(the Tenant or Tenant)

THE PARTIES AGREE TO THE FOLLOWING:

ARTICLE 1 - DESCRIPTION OF THE LEASED PREMISES

1.1. Leasing of premises. The Landlord does hereby lease to the Tenant the Leased Premises described in the Lease Summary. The Leased Premises are located in the building commonly known as the Charter Place Office Building (shown in red on the site plan attached hereto as Schedule "A-1"), containing a total of approximately 76,904 rentable square feet (the Building). The Building forms part of an integrated mixed-use property located on the land legally described in Schedule "A-2" (the Land) and comprising: (i) 4 buildings, which contain office and retails spaces containing approximately 101 941 rentable square feet; and (ii) parking facilities, landscaped areas and other Common Areas (as defined herein) servicing the Building, the whole as shown in orange on the plan attached hereto as Schedule "A-3", (the Centre). The Building and the Centre may be increased or diminished at all times by the Landlord, at its entire discretion, provided that Tenant's rights of access to the Leased Premises shall not be materially interfered with or interrupted and such modification does not prevent the Tenant to use the Leased Premises for the purposes of the Authorized Use set forth in this Lease. In addition to the Leased Premises, Tenant and its invitees, guests and/or visitors shall have the non-exclusive right to use, in common with others the Common Areas.

1.2. Rentable Area. The parties agree that for the purpose of this Lease, the "Rentable Area" shall mean the useable square feet of the Leased Premises, together with an additional amount representing a portion of the Common Areas, service areas and other non-tenant space in the Building and/or the Centre. Landlord and Tenant acknowledge and accept the square footage with respect to the Building and the Leased Premises as set forth in the Lease and the same shall not be subject to material change except if by written agreement of the parties or in the event the Tenant request a modification of the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises.

The Landlord will not remeasure the Leased Premises, the Building and/or the Centre during the initial Term, save and except in case of a modification to the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises following a Tenant's request (e.g., an expansion of its premises).In such a case, the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises will be modified and will not be subject to appeal or any dispute, save and except in case of a manifest error.

After the initial Term, the Landlord will be permitted to re-measure the Leased Premises, the Building and/or the Centre if the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises is modified at Tenant's request or if the Landlord exercises its right under Article 20.2 of this Lease, it being understood that if the re-measured Rentable Area of the Leased Premises exceeds the approximate Rentable Area of 13,318 square feet by more than 7%, the re-measured Rentable Area shall be capped at 7% of 13,318 square feet (the Area Cap) for the purpose of calculating the Rent (Minimum Rent, Additional Rent) and any other amounts payable by the Tenant or the Landlord based on the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises, except if such exceeding Rentable Area is the result of a Tenant's request to increase the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises.

ARTICLE 2 - TERM

2.1. Term. The Term of the Lease shall be for the period defined in the Lease Summary (including any Renewal Option once duly exercised by the Tenant). As used herein, the term "Lease Year" shall mean the period of twelve (12) full calendar months commencing on the first day of January and ending on the last day of December, except for: (i) the first year of the Lease which commences on the Commencement Date; and (ii) the last year of the Lease, which ends at the end of the Term.

2.2. Possession of the Leased Premises. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Lease, the Tenant shall take possession of the Leased Premises as of the Commencement Date, subject to: (i) the signature of the present Lease by the parties; (ii) the remittance of the Tenant's plans and specifications within the time frame stipulated in this Lease; (iii) the Tenant's remittance of its certificate of insurance for the Leased Premises in accordance with this Lease; and (iv) the Tenant's remittance of the Deposit in accordance with Schedule "F" of this Lease.

The Commencement Date shall not be postponed for a delay reasonably attributable to the Tenant, which delay Landlord shall provide notice of to the Tenant in writing. If the delay is attributable to the Landlord or is due to a cause beyond its control, the Commencement Date and the expiration date will be postponed by the number of days equivalent to the delay, without any other recourse by the Tenant except as otherwise set forth herein. Any other period for which the Commencement Date is used for its establishment will be calculated with the new Commencement Date.

2.3. Intentionally deleted.

2.4. No tacit renewal. This Lease shall expire without notice or demand being necessary at the end of the Term. Should the Tenant remain in occupancy of the Leased Premises after the expiration of the Lease without having obtained the Landlord's prior written consent (the Overholding Period), such Overholding Period and the mere payment or acceptance of rent shall not constitute a renewal or extension of this Lease unless expressly consented thereto by the Landlord in writing in accordance with the Florida Statutes Title VI. Civil Practice and Procedure § 83.04. If the Tenant continues to occupy the Leased Premises after the end of the Term, the Tenant shall then be deemed to be occupying the Leased Premises against the Landlord's will, who may exercise any recourse available by law to evict the Tenant and claim damages from the Tenant. During any Overholding Period, the monthly Minimum Rent shall be equal to 1.5 times the Minimum Rent payable during the last month preceding the expiration or termination of the Lease, excluding any credit, free rent or reduction of any nature whatsoever granted to the Tenant during the Term, as the case may be. Without prejudice to the Landlord's other rights and recourses, during the Overholding Period the Tenant shall comply with all the other terms and conditions of this Lease, provided they apply to the Tenant on a monthly basis including the payment of the Additional Rent and all other sums due by the Tenant under this Lease. The Landlord may also repossess the Leased Premises and evict the Tenant from them in accordance with applicable law without notice or compensation and without affecting any other remedies it may have under the terms hereof or by virtue of the law.

ARTICLE 3 - RENT

3.1. Net Lease. The Tenant covenants and agrees that, except as herein set out, (i) the present Lease shall be an absolutely net lease in favour of the Landlord and (ii) that the Landlord shall not be responsible for any costs, charges, expenses, impositions or outlays of any kind or nature arising from or relating to the Leased Premises, Tenant's use and occupancy, Tenant's contents or the business carried on therein except as set forth herein. Any such costs, charges, expenses, impositions and outlays (including any such amount paid by the Landlord on the Tenant's behalf) relating to the Leased Premises shall therefore be the exclusive responsibility of the Tenant to the Landlord's complete exoneration except as set forth herein.

3.2. Rent. For the purposes of this Lease, "Rent" means the Minimum Rent and the Additional Rent, as hereinafter defined.

3.3. Minimum Rent. Subject to the Free Rent Period stipulated in Article 4 (Free Rent Period) of Schedule "F" (Special Provisions) of the present Lease, throughout the Term, the Tenant undertakes to pay to the Landlord the following Minimum Rent for the Leased Premises (the Minimum Rent):

Based on a Rentable Area of the Leased Premises of approximately 13,318 square feet

May 1, 2034 to April 30, 2035	$28.71	$382,359.78	$31,863.32

3.4. Additional Rent.

3.4.1. For the purpose of this Lease, the following words and expressions shall have the meaning hereinafter set forth:

a) "Additional Rent" means all of the financial obligations of the Tenant under this Lease, other than the Minimum Rent, and Landlord shall have the same rights and remedies for said payments.

b) "Administration Fee" means an annual administration fee which is of 5%, calculated on the total gross revenue of the Building subject to modification from time to time according to the commercial real estate industry standards in Class A office buildings of similar size located in the Coral Springs, Florida submarket.

c) "Common Areas" means all areas and elements of the Building and/or the Centre determined by the Landlord from time to time including, without limitation, roadways, sidewalks, landscaped areas, lobbies, washrooms available for use of tenants or the public, open or enclosed pedestrian walkways, interior courts, areas reserved for trucks, common loading areas and delivery facilities, driveways, customer and loading ramps, stairways, escalators and elevators available for use by the public or by tenants, fire alarms and fire protection and related communication systems, common pipes, electrical, sanitary and other common mechanical and electrical installations, public seating facilities and all other areas and facilities from time to time provided, designated, or made available by Landlord, from time to time, for the use of Tenant and other tenants or members of the public but shall specifically exclude any areas that are leased or held for the exclusive use of any other tenant or other occupant of the Centre, or that are reserved by Landlord for Landlord's sole use and/or benefit. It is understood that the Landlord may, from time to time, use the Common Areas or any part thereof for the purposes of presentation, decoration, entertainment, banquets and receptions and install other works or fixtures, either temporary or permanent for special events or permit the construction and installation of kiosks, permanent or temporary, in the Common Areas provided that the same do not materially interfere with or interrupt Tenant's access to or use of the Leased Premises;

d) "Operating Expenses" all reasonably and actually incurred costs attributable to the operation, the sustainability provisions, the administration, the maintenance, the repair, the supervision and the management of the Building and/or the Centre and the Land, including, without limitation:

I) salaries, benefits, pensions and related personnel costs and taxes for employees of Landlord engaged in the management, supervision, maintenance, operation, repair, security or replacement of elements of the Building and/or the Centre and the Land or relating to all service contracts as well as the fair market rental value of space (in the Building and/or the Centre or in another building) that is used by Landlord or its agent or contractor in connection with the maintenance, repair, administration and management of the Building and/or the Centre and the Land and any taxes relating thereto;

II) administrative charges for services such as supervision, accounting, secretarial, and bookkeeping incurred with respect to the Centre and accounting services and reasonable legal fees not attributable to leasing or rent collection activity or negotiations or disputes with Tenant or other tenants;

iii) telephone and stationery;

iv) cleaning, cleaning supplies for the Building, the Centre and/or the Land, uniforms and the cost of dry cleaning them, cleaning of windows and the exterior curtain wall;

v) landscaping, and lighting in the Common Areas;

vi) garbage and waste, recycling and compost (if applicable) collection and disposal;

vii) electricity, water, steam and other utilities, except as chargeable separately to Tenant under the Lease, and any taxes on utilities which are not recoverable from Tenant under other provisions of the Lease; viii) policing, security, concierge and other tenant services;

ix) rental and purchase costs of any materials, supplies, tools, equipment, signs and decorations used in the operation, repair, management, replacement (subject to the limitation set forth in xv) hereof) and maintenance and/or in the control of access to the Building and/or the Centre;

x) heating, ventilating and air-conditioning the Building and/or the Centre including, without limitation, the cost of operating, repairing, maintaining, replacement (subject to the limitation set forth in xv) hereof) and inspecting the machinery, materials and other installations, and if applicable, the cost of providing condenser water from cooling towers or chilled water for the HVAC equipment;

xi) insurance as may be carried by Landlord, such costs to include without limitation commercially reasonable premiums, deductibles and other related charges, in respect of or attributable to the Building, the Centre and the Land or related thereto including without limitation all risk insurance against fire, hurricane, earthquake, terrorism including also acts of terrorism and other perils and liabilities regarding material or bodily damages, elevator insurance, damages to the boiler and machinery insurance, loss of rental income insurance and other insurance customarily carried from time to time by landlords of comparable office buildings in the Coral Springs, Florida, submarket or required to be carried by Landlord's mortgagee;

xii) conservation of energy programs instituted by the Landlord from time to time; xiii) amortization (on a straight-line basis over the useful life or such other period as reasonably determined by Landlord) of the costs of:

1) all capitalized costs of the machinery, materials or supplies owned by the Landlord;
2) the replacement costs of all facilities serving or comprising the Building, the Centre and the Land which, by their nature, require periodic replacement and which costs are not charged fully in the Lease Year in which they are incurred;
3) the cost of repairs and modifications which are not charged fully during the Lease Year in which they are incurred;

xiv) interest calculated at the prime rate, plus 2% on the unamortized portion of the cost of all items subject to amortization;

xv) repairs, replacements, modernization or additional equipment required by law arising after the Commencement Date or by Landlord's insurers or which, in Landlord's reasonable opinion, may reduce Operating Expenses or are for the benefit or safety of the Building, the Centre and the Land, including, without limitation, the cost of communications equipment installed for the potential benefit of tenants in general and not for the exclusive use by a particular tenant, the cost of which shall, if applicable, be amortized over the useful life of such repairs, replacements, modernizations or additional equipment in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles;

xvi) professional fees except as they relate to the leasing and/or maintenance of the Building and the Centre; xvii) any taxes (other than the Real Estate Taxes) not otherwise charged directly to Tenant (including, for clarity purposes, any water taxes, if applicable) (excluding any penalties or interest thereon); xviii) repairs, maintenance and replacement of the goods and equipment of every nature of the Building, the Centre and the Land;

xix) the Administration Fee; and xx) any other expense or charge of any nature whatsoever which in accordance with general industry practice would be construed as an operating expense typically passed through to tenants of other Class A office buildings of similar size located in the Coral Springs, Florida submarket.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, none of the following will be included in Operating Expenses:

xxi) payments of principal and interest under any mortgage, ground lease or other indebtedness of the Landlord; xxii) any major cost or expense which is generally treated in accordance with accounting principles generally applied in the real estate management industry as being of capital nature and in respect to the Structure of the Building and/or the Centre, where "Structure" means any structural element of the Building and/or the Centre including, without limitation to the generality of the foregoing, the foundations, the structural metal, the structural columns and beams, the supporting elements, the bearing walls, the exterior walls and assemblies, the roof (excluding the roof membrane and insulation), the subfloors and the infrastructure of parking lots; xxiii) costs incurred for leasing or promotion to attract tenants (including leasing commissions, advertising costs, tenant allowances and the cost of redecorating and renovating space for new tenants), it being understood that the publicity and promotion costs related to activities intended for tenants and occupants of the Building and/or the Centre are included in the Operating Expenses; xxiv) penalties or fines for late payment of any Operating Expenses; xxv) costs pertaining specifically to the maintenance of a building other than the Building and/or the Centre;

xxvi) federal income, franchise, capital levy, transfer, capital stock, gift, sales, profit, margin, mortgage, rent or similar tax assessed upon the income of the Building, Centre or Landlord, estate or inheritance taxes, or any fine, penalty or cost attributable to delinquent payment thereof; xxvii) depreciation and amortization on initial costs of construction of the Building and/or the Centre; xxviii) any amounts directly chargeable to other tenants of the Building and/or the Centre for services or costs directly chargeable to said tenants individually; xxix) the cost of all repairs and replacements as a result of inherent structural defects to any part of the Building and/or the Centre;

xxx) the cost of repairs, restoration or other work occasioned by fire, windstorm or other casualty covered by Landlord's insurance policies and for which it has received compensation; xxxd) legal, consulting or professional fees or expenses paid or incurred in connection with negotiations of leases, financings, refinancings, restructurings or in the enforcement of other leases; xxxil) fees or costs in excess of the comparable market value thereof for services rendered by vendors affiliated with Landlord; xxxiil) Landlord's reimbursable expenditures, which for purposes of this Lease shall be any expense for which Landlord is reimbursed by a tenant of the Building or Centre or any other third party;

xxxiv) the cost of repairing or replacing any item covered by a warranty or guarantee; xxxv) salaries or other compensation of property management for the Centre above the grade of senior property manager who do not perform day-to-day property management for the Building or Centre; or xxxvi) the costs of investigation, monitoring, removal or remediation arising from the presence of Hazardous Materials in, on or about the Land, Building or Centre.

e) "Proportionate Share" means: the ratio between the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises and the rentable area of the Building, which corresponds to 17.32% as of the signature of this Lease, based on a Rentable Area of the Leased Premises of approximately 13,316 square feet, subject to vary or change from time to time according to the provisions of this Lease;

f) "Real Estate Taxes" means (a) all real estate taxes and assessments on the Centre, general and special, ordinary and extraordinary (net of any inducements or abatements), including also all increases in tax rate and/or assessed valuation, and taxes and assessments levied in substitution or supplementation in whole or in part of such taxes, (b) all personal property taxes for the Building's and/or Centre's personal property, (c) all other taxes, fees and assessments now or hereafter levied by any governmental authority on the Building and/or the Centre or its contents or on the operation and use thereof, (d) all amounts paid to any business improvement district by Landlord, and all unincorporated business or gross receipts taxes to the extent imposed on Landlord's gross receipts or gross income (as opposed to Landlord's net income), arena taxes and other taxes and assessments now or hereafter imposed on the Building and/or the Centre or any part thereof with respect to any public or quasi-public facilities, structures, improvements, services, roads or transportation, (e) public space projection rental charges and (f) all reasonable, out-of-pocket costs and fees incurred in connection with seeking reductions in or refunds in Real Estate Taxes including, without limitation, any costs incurred by Landlord to challenge the tax valuation of the property on which the Building and/or the Centre is located or to sustain a proposed assessment by reason of a challenge thereto from a citizens group or other entity. Real Estate Taxes shall exclude income taxes, franchise estate taxes, inheritance taxes or any other tax based upon the net income (as opposed to gross receipts or gross income) of Landlord, and all transfer, recordation, capital levy, capital stock, gift, sales, profit, margin, mortgage, rent or similar tax assessed upon the income of the Building, Centre or Landlord. Notwithstanding anything in this Lease to the contrary, Real Estate Taxes shall also exclude any interest, penalties or fines arising by reason of the late payment of same, unless such interest, penalty or fine incurred by the Landlord results from Tenant's failure to timely pay its Proportionate Share of Real Estate Taxes. Any new and/or special assessments included in Real Estate Taxes shall be deemed to be payable over the maximum number on installments allowed by applicable laws.

3.4.2. Real Estate Taxes and Other Taxes.

a) Payment of the Real Estate Taxes. Throughout the Term and any renewal thereof, the Tenant shall pay Tenant's Proportionate Share of the Real Estate Taxes via monthly installments at the estimated rate defined in the Lease Summary for the year ending 2025, in accordance with Article 3.7 (Obligation to Pay Rent) of the present Lease.

b) Estimate of the Real Estate Taxes. On the Commencement Date and thereafter before the beginning of each Lease Year, the Landlord will remit to the Tenant an estimate of the Tenant's Proportionate Share of the Real Estate Taxes for the current Lease Year, as per the following: (1) with respect to any special assessment that is payable in installments, Real Estate Taxes for such year shall include the amount of the installment (and any interest) due and payable during such Lease Year; and (2) with respect to all other real estate taxes, Real Estate Taxes for such year shall include the amount due and payable for such Lease Year. The Landlord's omission to remit such estimated amount on the Commencement Date or before the beginning of any Lease Year will not affect its right to do so later during the Lease Year with a retroactive effect to the beginning of such Lease Year. The Landlord makes such estimates without guarantee or representation.

The Landlord, in its commercially reasonable discretion and in accordance with sound commercial real estate practices in similar Class A office buildings in the Coral Springs, Florida, submarket, shall have the right to make reasonable allocations between, as the case may be, the various component parts of the Centre.

c) Actual Amount of the Real Estate Taxes. Within one hundred twenty (120) days of the end of each Lease Year, the Landlord shall remit to the Tenant a statement indicating the actual amount of the Real Estate Taxes for the said Lease Year. The aforementioned statement shall be final and binding on the parties (absent patent error). If it is established that payments made by the Tenant during such Lease Year are less than or greater than the payments that the Tenant should have made on the basis of the actual amount of Real Estate Taxes versus Tenant's estimated payments, the Landlord shall make the appropriate adjustments and the Landlord shall grant to Tenant a credit against the next due and payable installment(s) of Tenant's Proportionate Share of Real Estate Taxes, or refund the excess to Tenant within thirty (30) days if the Term has expired.

d) Tax Contestation. If the Landlord receives a reimbursement of a portion of Real Estate Taxes, the Landlord shall pay to the Tenant its Proportionate Share of Real Estate Taxes of said reimbursement. However, if any tax contest filed by Landlord results in additional Real Estate Taxes, or if the actual amount of Real Estate Taxes for a given Lease Year (above those shown in Landlord's estimates furnished to Tenant) increases, then in any such event such additional Real Estate Taxes shall be included in Real Estate Taxes for calculating Rent to be paid by Tenant. It is agreed between the parties that all costs relating to the objection, appeal or contestation concerning the Real Estate Taxes or any related estimate shall be included in the Operating Expenses.

The Landlord shall have no obligation to contest any contribution, tax or decision of a taxing authority or to appeal such decision, as well as to defer, settle or otherwise dispose of such contestation or such appeal in a way the Landlord deems appropriate. The Tenant hereby renounces to its right to contest, oppose or litigate the Real Estate Taxes levied and/or any assessment imposed in relation with such Real Estate Taxes.

To the best of Landlord's knowledge, as of the date hereof, the Land is not presently under any tax appeal, special assessment or similar tax proceeding that would materially increase Real Estate Taxes.

e) Additional Tax Liability. Tenant shall also pay and be liable for, as Additional Rent, all rental taxes, sales and use taxes or other similar taxes, if any, levied or imposed by any city, state, county or other governmental body having authority over the Building and/or the Centre on account of the Rent payable under this Lease (exclusive of income taxes, estate taxes, inheritance taxes or any other tax based on the net income, as opposed to gross receipts or gross income, of Landlord, and in order to avoid duplication, also exclusive of any taxes included in the definition of Real Estate Taxes, above). Tenant's obligation to make such payments shall be in addition to all of the other payments from Tenant required under the terms and conditions of this Lease. All such payments shall be paid concurrently with the payments of the Rent on which the tax is based. In the event that any business, rent or other taxes, or any governmental charges that are now or hereafter levied upon Tenant's use and occupancy of the Leased Premises or Tenant's business at the Leased Premises are enacted, changed or altered so that any of such taxes are levied against Landlord, or the mode of collection of such taxes is changed so that Landlord is responsible for collection of payment of such taxes, the Tenant undertakes to reimburse the Landlord for all amounts thus paid as Additional Rent, prior to such taxes due dates or within thirty (30) days of Landlord's written request to that effect.

3.4.3. Operating Expenses.

a) Payment of the Operating Expenses. Throughout the Term, the Tenant shall pay its Proportionate Share of the Operating Expenses. It is agreed and understood that for the year 2025, the Operating Expenses shall be estimated at, but not limited to, the annual rate defined in the Lease Summary, payable in accordance with the provisions of Article 3.7 (Obligation to pay Rent) of the present Lease.

b) Estimate of the Operating Expenses. On the Commencement Date and thereafter before the beginning of each Lease Year, the Landlord will remit to the Tenant an estimate of the Tenant's Proportionate Share of the Operating Expenses for the current Lease Year. The Landlord's omission to remit such estimated amount on the Commencement Date or before the beginning of any Lease Year will not affect its right to do so later during the Lease Year with a retroactive effect to the beginning of such Lease Year. The Landlord makes such estimates without guarantee or representation.

The Landlord, in its commercially reasonable discretion and in accordance with sound commercial real estate practices in similar Class A office buildings in the Coral Springs, Florida, submarket, shall have the right to make reasonable allocations between, as the case may be, the various component parts of the Centre.

c) Actual Amount of the Operating Expenses. Within one hundred twenty (120) days of the end of each Lease Year, the Landlord shall remit to the Tenant a statement indicating the actual amount of the Operating Expenses for the said Lease Year. Such statement shall be final and binding on the parties (absent patent error). Subject to Tenant's right to question, as set forth herein, if such statement established that payments made by the Tenant during such Lease Year are less than or greater than the payments that the Tenant should have made on the basis of the actual amount of Operating Expenses versus Tenant's estimated payments, the Landlord shall make the appropriate adjustments and the Landlord shall grant to Tenant a credit against the next due and payable installment(s) of Tenant's Proportionate Share of Operating Expenses, or refund the excess to Tenant within thirty (30) days if the Term has expired.

d) Right to Question. The Tenant will have the right to question and arbitrate the Operating Expenses within sixty (60) days following its receipt of the statement indicating the real amount of Operating Expenses, failing which the Tenant shall be deemed to have renounced to its right to question and arbitrate for the Lease Year in question. Should the Tenant consider that certain items of the Operating Expenses are not calculated in accordance with the provisions of this Lease, the Tenant will have the right to question the Landlord, who shall use commercially reasonable efforts to respond to Tenant's questions arising from such questioning and, in the event the Tenant is still not satisfied with the Landlord's answers, within thirty (30) days of Tenant's initial request, the resolution of the matter shall be referred to third-party arbitration (to an independent reputable accounting firm having 10 years of experience in Class A office buildings of similar size located in Broward County, Florida submarket) for resolution in accordance with the American Arbitration Association. The third-party arbitrator shall select either the Tenant's or Landlord's calculation of the Operating Expenses item(s) in question, and if Landlord shall have been determined to overcharged Tenant by more than seven percent (7%), Landlord shall bear the costs of such third-party arbitration and Tenant's reasonable, out-of-pocket costs of such questioning and arbitration, failing which, Tenant shall be responsible for the cost of the same.

Notwithstanding the present right to question and arbitrate, it is understood that the Tenant remains responsible to pay the Operating Expenses in accordance with the provisions of this Lease pending any dispute and the resolution of the same, at which time, Landlord shall credit any overcharged amount(s) following such dispute resolution and/or agreement by Landlord and Tenant as set forth herein to the next due installment(s) of Operating Expenses. For clarity purposes, the present right to question and arbitrate is personal to the Tenant and may not be transferred or assigned.

3.4.4. Utilities. The electricity consumed in the Leased Premises is included in the Operating Expenses.

3.4.5. Modification to the Tenant's Proportionate Share. Notwithstanding the foregoing, until 100% of the total leasable area of the Building is occupied, the Landlord shall be entitled to allocate those costs, charges, impositions, expenses and outlays which vary with the extent of the use and occupancy of the Building (such as, but not limited to, heating, air-conditioning and ventilating expenses, electricity, cleaning and cleaning supplies) to the rented space in the Building only and the Tenant shall pay a proportion of each of any of such costs, charges, impositions, expenses and outlays, same to be the ratio that the total leasable area of the Building bears to the total leasable area of all rented space in the Building. In no event will the Tenant be obliged to pay an amount in virtue of the foregoing which is greater than the amount the Tenant would have paid as the Tenant's Proportionate Share had 100% of the total leasable area of the Building been occupied and such costs, charges, impositions, expenses and outlays been included in Operating Expenses.

3.5. Broken Rent. Should the Commencement Date commence on a day other than the first day of the month, the installment of the Rent for the month in question shall be calculated on a per diem basis. If the Term expires a day other than the last day of a calendar month, the last day of the Term shall automatically be postponed to be the last day of the calendar month in question.

3.6. Interest on Overdue Payments. Unless otherwise provided herein, if the Tenant fails to pay an amount due in accordance within ten (10) days of when due, Tenant agrees to pay a late charge of 12% per annum of the amount of the payment overdue. Tenant further agrees that the late charge imposed is fair and reasonable, complies with all laws, regulations and statutes, and constitutes an agreement between Landlord and Tenant as to the estimated compensation for costs and further agrees that the late charge assessed pursuant to this Lease is not interest, and the late charge assessed does not constitute a lender or borrower/creditor relationship between Landlord and Tenant, and may be treated by Landlord as Additional Rent owed by Tenant, the whole subject to the other rights of the Landlord hereunder.

3.7. Obligation to pay Rent. The Tenant undertakes to pay the Rent to the Landlord or to any other entity designated by same, in advance, on the first day of each month, in consecutive, equal and monthly instalments, without any notice, reduction, deduction, compensation. To that effect, the Tenant shall, at its option: (i) remit to the Landlord, before the Commencement Date and before the expiry of each year, a series of cheques respectively dated the first (1st) day of each month of the following year, which said amounts will correspond to one twelfth (1/12) of the Rent applicable that Lease Year; or (ii) participate in an electronic funds transfer (EFT) system or a similar system whereby the Tenant will authorize its bank, trust company, credit union or other financial institution to transfer in the Landlord's bank account each month, or at any other time, all necessary sums to cover the Minimum Rent and the Additional Rent due by the Tenant on a monthly basis pursuant to the provisions of this Lease, provided the Tenant assumes the cost related to said electronic funds transfer, as the case may be.

The Rent shall be paid by the Tenant to the Landlord at the Landlord's address indicated in Article 26.7 (B) (Notice to the Landlord) herein or at any other location indicated by written notice from the Landlord to the Tenant.

ARTICLE 4 - USE OF THE LEASED PREMISES

4.1. Use. The Tenant, and its subsidiary Quest Health Solutions, LLC (Quest Health), undertakes to use the Leased Premises for the use indicated in the Lease Summary (the Authorized Use), being the use exercised by the Tenant at the time of the acceptance of the present Lease, no other use being permitted. Tenant shall advise the Landlord, in writing, of Quest Health's occupancy of the Leased Premises, in whole or in part. The Tenant shall indemnify and hold harmless the Landlord against any damages or claims incurred by Landlord as a result of Quest Health's occupancy of the Leased Premises, in whole or in part. Furthermore, the Tenant undertakes to ensure that Quest Health subscribes to the same insurance policies as the Tenant for the Leased Premises, uses the Leased Premises for the Authorized Use and respects the terms and conditions of this Lease at all times.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, neither the preceding paragraph nor anything to the contrary contained herein shall be interpreted as a restriction of Tenant's right to sublease the Leased Premises or assign the Lease to an assignee or a subtenant for any use other than the Authorized Use provided that such contemplated use by any such assignee or subtenant in connection with any assignment or sublease (i) is made in accordance with the terms and conditions stipulated in this Lease, (ii) complies with applicable laws and (iii) does not violate any other tenant(s) existing exclusive uses affecting the Building, the Centre and/or the Land and/or any restrictive covenants or encumbrances on or affecting the Building, the Centre and/or the Land at the time of the assignment/subletting request.

Any change in the Tenant's Authorized Use shall be subject to Landlord's prior written approval, which approval may not be unreasonably withheld. The Tenant recognizes that the Authorized Use shall not be considered as if an exclusivity is granted in favour of the Tenant. Additionally, the Tenant undertakes to promptly notify the Landlord in writing prior to the effective date of the change in the Tenant's trade name.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the use of the Leased Premises by the Tenant must at all times respect any present or future exclusivities and restrictive covenants affecting the Building and/or the Centre. As of the date hereof, Landlord represents to Tenant that the Authorized Use of the Leased Premises does not contravene to any exclusivity or leasing restrictions affecting the Building and/or the Centre.

4.2. Operation of the Leased Premises. The Tenant will begin to conduct its business operations in the Leased Premises on the Commencement Date and will thereafter conduct same throughout the Term of this Lease in the Leased Premises in a reputable and first-class manner. Except as otherwise set forth in this Lease or in connection with casualty, condemnation or Force Majeure, Tenant shall in no event leave the Leased Premises vacant or unoccupied during the Term for a period of more than ninety (90) days on a continuous basis, except in the event that:

a) the Tenant complies with the other provisions of this Lease, most notably, the payment of Rent and maintaining its insurance coverage;
b) the Tenant notifies the Landlord in writing of its intention to vacate the Leased Premises; and
c) the Tenant designates an employee or other person of its choice approved by the Landlord to inspect the Leased Premises on occasion in order to ensure the security and the condition of the Leased Premises and the equipment and installations contained therein as required pursuant to this Lease.

The Tenant agrees that the Landlord shall have the right to access the Leased Premises at all times (upon reasonable advance notice, save and except in case of a real of apprehended emergency where no advance notice is required) notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Lease and such access will in no event constitute a breach of Tenant's quiet enjoyment of the Leased Premises or be grounds for termination of the Lease, the whole, without penalty, charge or recourse by the Tenant against the Landlord.

4.3. Prohibited uses. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Tenant may not use or tolerate or permit that the Leased Premises, or any part thereof, be used for the following activities or business:

(a) any fraudulent or immoral practice;

(b) any business or any activity for which the Landlord has granted an exclusivity or has undertaken in vertu of a non-competition clause in other leases or offers to lease signed by the Landlord; and/or

(c) any business or activity that in the reasonable opinion of the Landlord would: (i) depreciate the character, quality or reputation of the Building and/or the Centre; (ii) or be dangerous or detrimental; (iii) affect the peaceful enjoyment of the other tenants or occupants of the Building and/or the Centre; (iv) cause noise or noxious odours that would disturb the other tenants or occupants; or (v)cause any loss or damage, alteration or deterioration to the Leased Premises and/or the Building and/or the Centre.

4.4. Warranty of Use. Landlord represents and warrants, to the best of its knowledge as of the date of this Lease, (i) that use of the Leased Premises for office purposes is permitted by all applicable laws, (ii) that there are no encumbrances on or effecting the Land or agreements which materially and adversely affect the use of the Premises for office use. Except as set forth herein, Landlord does not make any representation or warranty whatsoever to Tenant in respect of the use of the Leased Premises which is permitted under applicable laws during the Term and any renewal thereof. The present Lease shall not be interpreted so as to imply that the Lease is conditional upon the Tenant obtaining any permit, certificate or authorization for the carrying on of its activities in the Leased Premises from any municipal or other authority.

4.5. Compliance with Governmental Laws and Landlord's Regulations. Tenant shall obtain any and all licenses, authorizations, certificates and permits necessary for the conduct of its business in the Leased Premises, or any permitted use, comply with all governmental laws, ordinances and regulations applicable to the Leased Premises, and shall promptly comply with all governmental orders and directives for the correction, prevention and abatement of any violations or nuisances in or upon, or connected with, the Leased Premises, all at Tenant's sole expense. Except as otherwise set forth in Article 13.1 hereof, if, as a result of any change in the governmental laws, ordinances or regulations, the Leased Premises must be altered to lawfully accommodate Tenant's use and occupancy thereof, such alterations shall be made only with the consent of Landlord, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed, but the entire cost thereof shall be borne by Tenant provided, that, the necessity of Landlord's consent shall in no way create any liability against Landlord for failure of Tenant to comply with such laws, ordinances or regulations.

ARTICLE 5 - SATISFACTION OF THE LEASED PREMISES

The Leased Premises and Leasehold Improvements (as defined in Article 9.2 (Leasehold Improvements) below) will be conclusively deemed to be in good order and satisfactory condition in their actual state, except to the extent (a) the Tenant otherwise notifies the Landlord in writing within 30 days following the Commencement Date or (b) the Punch List Items (as defined in Article 9.2 (Leasehold Improvements) below) remain open and unresolved. The Punch List Items shall be sent to the Landlord within 30 days following the Substantial Completion of the Leasehold Improvements.

ARTICLE 6 - SERVICES

6.1. Business Hours of the Building and the Centre. The Landlord will keep the Building and the Centre open weekdays from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., and Saturdays, from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., the whole exclusive of legal Holidays or such other hours as may be designated from time to time by the Landlord. For purposes of this provision, "Holidays" shall include New Year's Day, Memorial Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

6.2. Cleaning of the Common Areas of the Building and the Centre. The Landlord shall keep the Common Areas of the Building and the Centre in a clean and proper order, at its cost. For clarity purposes, said costs shall be included in the Operating Expenses.

6.3. Cleaning of the Leased Premises. Outside the Business Hours, the Landlord shall ensure that the Leased Premises are adequately cleaned and are of a comparable standard with the cleaning performed in similar office buildings in the Coral Springs, Florida, submarket provided same are kept in order by the Tenant. For clarity purposes, said cleaning costs shall be included in the Operating Expenses.

6.4. Heating, Ventilating and Air-Conditioning. During the Business Hours, the Landlord shall provide heating and air-conditioning and ensure that the temperature within the Leased Premises shall be maintained at proper levels throughout the year as determined by the Landlord, from time to time in its commercially reasonable discretion and consistent with in similar office buildings in the Coral Springs, Florida submarket. The Landlord shall be under no obligation to operate the air-conditioning system in excess of what may be, in its commercially reasonable opinion, reasonable and normal in the circumstances. For clarity purposes, the heating and air-conditioning costs shall be included in the Operating Expenses. In the event Tenant requires or needs to have one or more separate systems of either heating, ventilating, air conditioning or other similar systems over and above that provided by Landlord, the cost of installation, care, operation, maintenance and repair thereof shall be borne by and paid for by Tenant.

Upon written request, the Tenant may benefit from heating, ventilation and air conditioning services after Business Hours as Additional Services. The Tenant will be solely responsible for the costs of said Additional Services, as per the rate applicable from time to time for those services in the Building, which is currently at $35.00/hour, plus 5% of the cost of such expense. The aforementioned rate may be re-evaluated from time to time by the Landlord.

For clarity purposes, water is an insta hot under their breakroom sink, not building related or serviced.

6.5. Elevators. The Landlord shall provide and maintain in working order automatic passenger elevators for operation during the Business Hours providing access to the floor upon which the Leased Premises are situated. Outside the Business Hours, the Tenant and any other tenants of the Building shall have access card, at no charge for the Tenant, to the elevators by using its key access cards. If applicable, the Tenant must use the designated elevator for all delivery and for all moving, the whole, outside Business Hours and according to the directives set by the Landlord (including, without limitation, upon a reasonable prior written notice) and Tenant shall not be charged for any costs associated with the same as Additional Services. The Tenant will use the elevators in common with others. The Tenant undertakes to ensure its representatives only take deliveries at the Building's loading ramp, if any.

6.6. Identification. Unless otherwise indicated, the Landlord shall add, at its sole expense prior to the Commencement Date, the Tenant's name on the Building's directory board according to the Building's norms and shall provide any other Building standard signage now or hereafter in effect for Tenant during the Term, provided that same Building standard signage is offered to all the tenants of the Building. All subsequent changes to any signage installed by Landlord which are requested by Tenant shall be at Tenant's sole costs, plus 5% of the cost of such expense.

6.7. Additional Services. If the Tenant requires additional services to be supplied by the Landlord in excess of the services being supplied in common to other tenants in the Building, and if the Landlord accepts to supply such services, the Tenant undertakes to assume their costs (plus 5% of the cost of such expense) (the Additional Services), and to pay such costs to the Landlord, promptly upon demand. The Tenant must give the Landlord a prior written notice of its requests for Additional Services and the Landlord shall benefit from a reasonable delay to respond to any such requests.

6.8. Information Technology. Tenant shall have access to the Building standard information technology (internet, phone and other cabling) hookups and cabling at the point of connection in the Leased Premises for its use. Tenant shall arrange for any internet, phone or other cabling services it requires for use of the Leased Premises at its sole cost and expense, at Landlord's exoneration.

ARTICLE 7 - TRANSFERS, ASSIGNMENT AND SUBLETTING

7.1. Assignment or subletting. Except as set forth in Article 7.5 hereof, the Tenant may not assign or transfer this Lease or any of the Tenant's rights, titles or interests therein or in the Leased Premises, or sublet the whole or any part of the Leased Premises or permit the Leased Premises or any part thereof to be used or occupied by any other person or grant security over any of its rights in this Lease, except if all the following conditions are duly fulfilled to Landlord's reasonable satisfaction:

7.1.1. the Tenant shall have entered into and provided to the Landlord a true written copy of the executed assignment or sublease agreement, which agreement must be conditional upon the Tenant obtaining Landlord's consent, and shall have provided to Landlord any other information as the Landlord may reasonably request;

7.1.2. the Tenant shall have provided adequate information to enable the Landlord to assess the creditworthiness, reputation and business of the proposed assignee or subtenant;

7.1.3. except as set forth in paragraph 4.1, there shall be no change in the Authorized Use;

7.1.4. the Tenant shall have obtained the written approval of the Landlord for such assignment or sublease, which approval may not be unreasonably withheld without serious reasons including, without limitation, each case enumerated in paragraph 7.1.10 of the present Article 7.1 (Assignment or subletting);

7.1.5. the Tenant shall assign this Lease or sublet the Leased Premises (or a portion thereof) only upon the terms of the agreement provided to the Landlord;

7.1.6. the Tenant shall enter into a consent of sublease or assignment agreement with the proposed subtenant or assignee and the Landlord, which consent agreement shall have been prepared by the Landlord on the Landlord's standard form, at the Tenant's expense;

7.1.7. the proposed subtenant or assignee shall have agreed in writing with the Landlord to observe and perform all the obligations of the Tenant under this Lease in respect to the Leased Premises or the part thereof which the Tenant wishes to sublet or assign; and

7.1.8. in the case of an assignment of the Lease, in whole or in part, the Tenant shall for the Term and any renewal thereof, be bound jointly or severally with the assignee for the performance of all terms, obligations and conditions of this Lease, without the benefits of division, discussion or subrogation and shall not be released from performing any of same, it being understood that in the case of a sublease of the Leased Premises, in whole or in part, the Tenant shall remain responsible at all times for the terms, obligations and conditions of this Lease.

7.1.9. the Landlord shall have 30 days from its receipt of the Tenant's request to:

(i) consent to such assignment or sublet and request additional guarantees, in its sole, but commercially reasonable discretion;

(ii) refuse its consent to such assignment or sublet; or
(iii) solely with respect to an assignment of this Lease in its entirety or in the case of a sublease for the entirety of the remaining Term, terminate this Lease without having to justify its election to terminate upon reasonable or other grounds it being expressly agreed and understood that this right to terminate has been freely given to the Landlord by the Tenant for valid commercial reasons.

7.1.10. the approval of the Landlord may be withheld at its sole, but commercially reasonable discretion for, without limitation, the following reasons:

(i) the fact that the Tenant is in default of any obligation under the Lease or any amendment thereto beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded therein;
(ii) intentionally deleted;
(iii) the Landlord is not satisfied with the creditworthiness, reputation or business of the proposed assignee or sub-tenant;
(iv) in the case the Landlord specifically agrees to release the Tenant following the assignment and the Tenant and/or the proposed assignee refuses to provide the Landlord with additional guarantees following the Landlord's review of the creditworthiness of the proposed assignee;
(v) intentionally deleted;
(vi) the Landlord will be in default under the provisions of any other lease, offer to lease or other agreement with a third party if it grants its consent; or
(vii) the Authorized Use of the Leased Premises is modified.

The Tenant shall pay to the Landlord, by certified cheque or wire transfer (the costs of such transfer shall be entirely borne by the Tenant), at Tenant's choice, an amount of $2,500.00, plus applicable taxes, for the preparation of the implementing documentation.

Should the rent payable by the subtenant or assignee be higher than the Rent payable by the Tenant under this Lease, the Tenant agrees to share equally such excess of such rent with the Landlord, in addition to the Rent payable by the Tenant provided herein, provided, however, that for paying such portion of excess rent, Tenant shall first be entitled to recover or deduct from such excess the Tenant's costs and expenses relating to said sublease, including, without limitation, the amount of any leasing commissions paid by Tenant to third parties, allowances or incentives, free rent, professional fees incurred in connection with the sublease or agreements relating thereto, listing fees, etc.

It is understood that the Landlord's failure to respond to the Tenant's request within the prescribed time limit shall not be deemed an acceptance of the proposed sublease or assignment by the Landlord.

For clarity purposes, the consent of the Landlord to any such transfer, assignment, sublet or use shall not constitute a waiver of this Article and shall not be deemed to permit any further transfer, assignment, encumbrance, sublet or use by another, nor shall it imply any release of the Tenant.

7.2. Tenant's liability, default and renunciation. If the Tenant fails to perform the obligations that it is obligated to perform for the subtenant beyond any applicable notice and cure periods, the subtenant will not have the right to exercise the Tenant's rights and recourses against the Landlord to have them performed. Consequently, the Tenant shall obtain an express renunciation to such right from any subtenant in any sublease. The subtenant's occupancy of all or part of the Leased Premises, the Landlord's tolerance for such occupancy, or the Landlord's acceptance of any payment from the subtenant shall in no event create any obligation of the Landlord towards the subtenant. If the subtenant does not perform any obligation to which it is bound or causes prejudice to the Landlord or to other tenants or occupants of the Building and/or the Centre, the Landlord may demand that the Tenant immediately terminate the sublease, the Tenant hereby undertaking to take all possible measures, including instituting legal proceedings, to effect such termination as expeditiously as possible.

7.3. Advertising of the Leased Premises. The Tenant shall not advertise or allow the Leased Premises to be advertised as being available for leasing without the written approval of the Landlord, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed, with respect to the form and content of such advertisement, which shall not mention any financial terms.

7.4. Corporate Reorganisations and Change in Control. Subject to the provisions of Article 7.5 (Affiliate Transfers) below, should the Tenant wish to undergo an amalgamation, or be subject to a change of control or any other form of corporate reorganisation, the Landlord's consent shall not be required (however it shall remain subject to the provisions of the present Article) but the Tenant undertakes to provide the Landlord with a written notice of the change (the Tenant's Change Notice) at the time of the change or as soon as reasonably possible thereafter, and to provide to the Landlord, along with the Tenant's Change Notice, all necessary information (such as by way of example, financial statements) allowing the Landlord to assess the creditworthiness, reputation or business of the Tenant. Following its receipt of the Tenant's Change Notice and the relevant documentation, the Landlord will evaluate the impact of the change on the Tenant's creditworthiness, reputation or business within 15 days following its receipt of the Tenant's Change Notice (the Analysis Period). Should the review of the relevant documentation show a negative impact on the Tenant's creditworthiness, reputation or business, the Landlord, acting reasonably, shall have the right to request additional guarantees from the Tenant, which additional guarantees shall be provided to the Landlord within 10 days following the Landlord's request or, if the Tenant is unable to provide the Landlord with the additional guarantees within the aforementioned 10-day period, the Tenant begins the process to provide the additional guarantees and is pursuing such process in good faith and with diligence and continuity during such 10-day period, then Tenant shall have such additional time as is reasonably necessary to give the additional guarantees. In the event the Tenant fails to provide the additional guarantees requested by the Landlord within the delay set forth herein, paragraph 17.1 (a) shall apply and the Landlord shall be entitled to send to the Tenant a notice of default, it being understood that upon the expiry of such notice of default, the Tenant shall automatically be deemed in default of its obligations under the Lease and the Landlord may avail itself of all recourses and remedies set forth in the Lease and the law, including, without limitation, the Landlord's right to terminate the Lease. For clarity purposes, after the Analysis Period, the Landlord will inform the Tenant in writing if it requests additional guarantees as per the foregoing or if it is satisfied of the Tenant's creditworthiness, reputation or business following the change, the Landlord acting reasonably.

7.5. Affiliate Transfers. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Article 7 or this Lease to the contrary, without the consent of Landlord, provided the Tenant is VAST MEDICAL HOLDINGS, LLC, the Tenant may assign this Lease or sublet the Leased Premises (including, without limitation, the entirety of the Leased Premises) to an Affiliate (defined herein) of Tenant, provided, that: (i) the Authorized Use remains unchanged or, should the Authorized Use require to be modified as a result of the assignment or sublease, the new authorized use shall not contravene to any restrictions or exclusivities in force in the Building and/or the Centre at the time of such assignment or sublease; (ii) Landlord shall have received a notice of such assignment or sublease from Tenant a minimum of ten (10) business days prior to the effective date of the transfer (unless such prior notice is prohibited by law or contract, in which event such notice shall be provided within ten (10) business days following such time as such notice is no longer prohibited by law or contract), including any documentation necessary to evidence compliance with this paragraph, as reasonably requested by Landlord; (iii) the assignment is for a valid business purpose and not to avoid any obligations or liability under this Lease; (iv) the Tenant remains jointly and severally liable with the assignee for the full performance of all the obligations under the Lease, the whole without benefit of division and discussion; and (v) the Tenant and the assignee sign the standard assignment form of the Landlord.

"Affiliate" means, (a) as to any designated person or entity, any other person or entity which has Control (directly or indirectly), is controlled by, or is under common Control with, such designated person or entity, (b) an entity that purchases all or substantially all (i.e., more than 50%) of Tenant's assets, equity or ownership interest(s) or (c) Quest Health defined in Article4.1 (Use) above. Control (and with correlative meaning, "controlled by" and "under common control with") means (i) ownership or (ii) voting control, directly or indirectly, of (x) 50% or more of the voting stock, partnership interests or other beneficial ownership interests of the entity in question, (y) the power to direct the operation or management of such entity, by contract or otherwise or (z) 50% or more of the Tenant's partners before the assignment or subletting are partners in the entity in question.

ARTICLE 8 - CARE OF LEASED PREMISES, CENTRE AND BUILDING

8.1. Maintenance of the Leased Premises. Throughout the Term of this Lease, the Tenant shall perform all required maintenance and repairs to the Leased Premises that are not Landlord's express responsibility hereunder and keep the Leased Premises (including all replacements, alterations, additions and improvements thereto) in good order and condition, reasonable wear and tear excepted; provided, however, that Tenant will not be responsible for or required to make, and Landlord will make, at Landlord's cost and expense, any repairs which may have been occasioned or necessitated by the gross negligence of Landlord, its agents, employees or invitees in the Leased Premises.

8.2. Termination of the Lease. In addition to the provisions of Article 9.9 (Landlord's Property), upon expiry of this Lease or in the event of premature termination, the Tenant shall return the Leased Premises in good order and in good condition, excluding normal wear and tear and damage by casualty. Also, the Tenant will have to repair all the damage caused to the Leased Premises following its removal work and its move-out of the Leased Premises. If the Tenant fails to comply with its obligations under Articles 8.1 and 8.2, the Landlord may carry out or have carried out the required work and claim from the Tenant the reimbursement of all reasonable costs and expenses thus incurred for this purpose, plus 5% of the cost of such expense, said amount being immediately due and payable on demand upon receipt of the Landlord's invoice to this effect. The Tenant shall, upon expiration of the Lease or in the event of the early termination of the Lease, remove from the Leased Premises all of its moveable partitions, business and trade fixtures, machinery and equipment which are installed in the Leased Premises and can be removed without structural damage to the Leased Premises and all contents, inventory, furniture, furnishings and other articles of moveable property owned by Tenant (collectively, Tenant's Property), failing which the said Tenant's Property shall become the property of the Landlord who may remove, sell or dispose of it in the manner it deems appropriate and the Landlord may invoice the Tenant for the reasonable costs and expenses thus incurred for the removal, plus 5% of the cost of such expense and shall be immediately due and payable on demand upon receipt of the Landlord's invoice to that effect.

8.3. Tenant's default. In the event the Tenant fails to comply with the obligation to maintain and repair imposed hereunder, the Landlord shall, after ten (10) days' written notice to Tenant of such failure or any longer period reasonably required by the Tenant in the circumstances, provided that Tenant commences to remedy its failure within said 10-day period and continues to remedy same diligently and in a timely manner thereafter (except in the case of an emergency in which event such notice as practicable under the circumstances shall not be required), have the right to carry out such maintenance and repairs and to claim all reasonable costs so incurred by the Landlord plus 5% of the cost of such expense. Said costs shall be payable by the Tenant to Landlord as Additional Rent and within thirty (30) days following Landlord's demand therefor.

8.4. Notice of defect or damage. The Tenant shall give the Landlord prompt written notice of defects in or damage to the Leased Premises or any part thereof, howsoever same may occur.

8.5. Landlord's obligations. Landlord shall maintain and make all necessary repairs and replacements to: (a) the Common Areas; (b) the Building and the Centre; and (c) the electrical, mechanical, plumbing, heating, ventilation and air conditioning, telecommunications, life safety and fire protection systems (including, without limitation, sprinkler systems and equipment) serving the Building and Centre in general (as opposed to any such systems exclusively serving a tenant's space) (the Building Systems); provided, however, that Landlord will not be responsible for or required to make, and Tenant will make, at Tenant's cost and expense, any repairs which may have been occasioned or necessitated by the act or negligence of Tenant, its agents, employees, invitees or any other person for whom it is responsible at law.

ARTICLE 9 - REPAIRS, ALTERATIONS, ADDITIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS

9.1. Condition of the Leased Premises. Except as otherwise set forth in this Lease, the Tenant acknowledges that the Landlord has made no promises, declarations nor any undertakings regarding the condition of the Leased Premises, any modifications, upgrades, decorations, installation of any kind of equipment in the Leased Premises and that as of the Commencement Date, the Tenant will take the Leased Premises on an "as is" basis.

9.2. Leasehold Improvements.

9.2.1. Tenant's Leasehold Improvements and Substantial Completion. At Tenant's request, Landlord shall, in a good and workmanlike manner and in accordance with applicable law and the Final Plans (as defined hereinafter), substantially complete the improvements required and requested by Tenant in connection with Tenant's initial occupancy and use of the Leased Premises, including those items set forth on Schedule "C" attached hereto (and as approximately depicted in the plan attached hereto as Schedule "A") (the Initial Scope), with such additions or modification as Tenant may include in the Plans, including, without limitation, a means of separate ingress and egress to a portion of the Leased Premises for access and use by Quest Health (together with the Initial Scope, collectively, the Leasehold Improvements) For clarity purposes, should any such addition and/or modifications from the Tenant affect the substantial completion of the Leasehold Improvements, the provisions of the 2nd paragraph of Section 2.2 (Possession of the Leased Premises) shall apply.

As used in the Lease, "Substantial Completion" or "Substantially Complete" shall mean (x) the Leasehold Improvements have been completed to the point where the Leased Premises are ready for non-exclusive occupancy and usage by Tenant for the Authorized Used (and is subject to further minor work such as cleanup, or completion of other minor or insubstantial details of construction, mechanical adjustment or decoration, the noncompletion of which does not materially interfere with Tenant's use, access or occupancy of the Leased Premises, (collectively, the Punch List Items)), (y) in a good and workman-like manner and (z) in accordance with the terms of this Lease and applicable laws (including the closure of any permits and/or approvals related thereto). Landlord shall complete all of the Punch List Items following Substantial Completion and use commercially reasonable efforts to do so within sixty (60) days after Substantial Completion, subject to Force Majeure.

9.2.2. Leasehold Improvements Allowance. Landlord will contribute to the Leasehold Improvements up to a maximum amount of $40.00 per square foot of the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises, plus applicable taxes (i.e., a maximum amount of $532,720.00, plus applicable taxes) (the Leasehold Improvements Allowance), which Leasehold Improvements Allowance may be used to cover both hard and soft costs related to the Leasehold Improvements. If the Leasehold Improvements Allowance shall not be sufficient to complete the Leasehold Improvements as set forth in the Approved Budget (as defined below), Tenant shall, within thirty (30) days of Landlord's written demand therefor pay Landlord the costs of the Leasehold Improvements which exceed the costs covered by the Leasehold Improvement Allowance, it being understood that the provisions of Article 9.3 (Coordination Fee) shall apply to such excess (as the case may be).

The Landlord will directly apply the Leasehold Improvements Allowance against the cost of the Leasehold Improvements and any unused portion(s) of the Leasehold Improvements Allowance in connection with the Leasehold Improvements (the Unused Allowance) may be used by Tenant for other alterations, additions or improvements to the Leased Premises (the Other Improvements). Should those Other Improvements be performed by the Landlord on behalf of the Tenant, the Landlord shall apply the Leasehold Improvements Allowance against the cost of such Other Improvements until extinction. Otherwise, if the Tenant performs or has its Other Improvements performed by a third-party contractor, the Unused Allowance shall be paid to the Tenant by the Landlord within 30 days following the Landlord's receipt of an invoice from the Tenant detailing the amount of the Unused Allowance requested, which invoice shall contain Tenant's applicable taxes number. The Tenant recognizes and agrees that the undertaking of the Landlord to pay the Unused Allowance is valid only for a period of 24 months following the Commencement Date.

Should the Lease be terminated prematurely for any reason related to or arising from a Tenant default beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded herein, the Tenant shall pay to the Landlord an amount equivalent to the unamortized portion of the Leasehold Improvements Allowance at the time of such termination within 5 days following said termination, without prejudice to any other remedies available to the Landlord. For the purposes hereof, the Leasehold Improvements Allowance shall be deemed to be amortized on a straight-line basis over the Initial Term.

9.2.3. Plans. Tenant shall be solely responsible for the timely preparation and submission to Landlord of the architectural, mechanical, electrical, plumbing, and construction drawings, plans and specifications of its Leasehold Improvements (individually called "Plan" and collectively called "Plans") necessary for Landlord and its contractor to construct the Leasehold Improvements, which shall include the Initial Scope and any other additions or modification as Tenant may reasonably elect as per the provisions of this Lease. The Plans shall be subject to reasonable review and comments by Landlord, which shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed. The parties agree that Tenant has provided its Plan to Landlord, which is attached hereto as Schedule "A". Landlord shall have a period of ten (10) days from receipt of the Plans to communicate its comments on the Plans to Tenant.

If Landlord reasonably comments on the Plans in such ten (10) day period, Tenant shall, within five (5) business days after receipt of Landlord's comments, work with its architect and design team to revise the Plans for resubmission to Landlord (the Revised Plans). Landlord shall then have a period of five (5) business days after receipt of the Revised Plans to communicate its comments on the Revised Plans to Tenant

The Plans or the Revised Plans, once finalized, shall be deemed the Final Plans for the purposes of this Lease. Thereafter, any revisions to the Final Plans shall only be changed by mutual written agreement of Tenant and Landlord.

In all cases, the Tenant undertakes to act diligently and in a timely manner to provide the Landlord its Plans and revised Plans to permit the Landlord to commence the Leasehold Improvements in a timely manner and not unreasonably delay the work schedule.

9.2.4. Budget. The Leasehold Improvements shall be conducted in accordance with the Approved Budget (as defined hereinafter).

Within ten (10) business days following finalization of the Final Plans, Landlord shall prepare a detailed, line-item construction budget identifying both the hard and soft costs associated with each component of the Leasehold Improvements (the Budget) and shall submit the same to Tenant for Tenant's approval not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed. Tenant shall have five (5) business days following receipt of the Budget to approve or request clarifications to the same and/or to perform value engineering and make changes to the Final Plans. If Tenant makes value engineering changes to the Final Plans, Landlord shall submit an updated version of the Budget to Tenant, and Tenant shall approve or request clarifications to the revised version of the Budget within five (5) business days following receipt, with such process to be repeated until the Budget is approved by Landlord and Tenant (the Approved Budget). The parties agree that the Approved Budget shall, subject to the terms, provisions and conditions of this paragraph, be the budget for the Leasehold Improvements, and neither Landlord, nor Landlord's contractor, shall incur any costs in connection with the Leasehold Improvements not contemplated by or which are inconsistent with the Approved Budget without Tenant's prior written approval, which shall not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed.

9.2.5. Delivery Condition. Landlord shall cause the Leased Premises to be delivered to Tenant upon the Commencement Date (i.e., on or prior to May 1, 2025) with (i) the Substantial Completion of the Leasehold Improvements (subject only to Punch List Items), the whole as per the provisions of Article 9.2.1 (Tenant's Leasehold Improvements and Substantial Completion), (ii) with the Leased Premises in compliance with all applicable laws, including environmental laws, and (iii) the systems and equipment serving the Leased Premises (including the portions of the Building Systems serving the same) in good working order and condition (collectively, the Delivery Condition).

9.2.6. Access to the Leased Premises during Work. During Landlord's construction of the Leasehold Improvements, should Tenant require to enter the Leased Premises, it shall submit a written request (including by electronic mail) to the Landlord to that effect who will coordinate Tenant's access to the Leased Premises with a Landlord's representative for the purposes of installation of Tenant's cabling, information technology systems and Tenant's Property. Such entry shall not interfere with or obstruct the progress of the work being done by Landlord on the Leasehold Improvements.

9.2.7. It is understood that the construction process for the Leasehold Improvements (including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing the bidding and tenders) shall not commence prior to the unconditional acceptance of the Lease by both parties acting reasonably and diligently, the Landlord's receipt of the Final Plans, the agreement by the parties on the Approved Budget as well as Landlord's receipt of any and all necessary consents, permits, licences and inspections from all governmental and regulatory authorities necessary to perform the Leasehold Improvements, which Landlord (or its general contractor) shall also close out with the applicable government and regulatory authorities upon completion of the Leasehold Improvements.

9.3. Coordination Fee. In order to reimburse the Landlord for the administrative costs incurred in the supervision of the work and the review and comments of plans, the Tenant undertakes to pay to the Landlord, upon demand and at the latest prior to the end of the work

9.3.1. Work performed by Landlord, on behalf of the Tenant: The Tenant shall not have to pay any Coordination Fee if the Leasehold Improvements and any work is performed by the Landlord on behalf of the Tenant.

However, should the Tenant use its own professionals for the preparation of its plans and specifications, it shall pay the out-of-pocket costs incurred by the Landlord (plus 5% on such out-of-pocket cost) for the review and comments of Tenant's plans modifying the mechanical, electrical and structural elements of the Leased Premises by the Landlord's external professionals.

For clarity purposes, there are no fees for the supervision of the Leasehold Improvements and any work performed by the Landlord on behalf of the Tenant.

(vi) "As-built" plans and specifications shall be remitted to the Landlord as soon as possible following completion of the work, as well as any other document or information required by the Landlord.

9.6. Structure and System. No repairs, alterations, decorations or improvements shall be permitted which may, in the Landlord's commercially reasonable discretion, weaken or endanger the structure of the Building and/or the Centre and/or that may affect the Building Systems or adversely affect the condition or operation of the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre or diminish the value

9.7. Default. Any improvements made by the Tenant without the prior written consent of the Landlord or which is not in accordance with: (a) the drawings and specifications approved by the Landlord; and/or (b) the environmental legislation and/or the laws; shall, if required by the Landlord, promptly be removed by the Tenant and the Leased Premises restored to its former condition.

9.8. Mechanics and Other Liens. In accordance with FL ST § 713.10, Tenant shall have no authority, express or implied to create or place any lien or encumbrance of any kind or nature whatsoever upon, or in any manner to bind, the interest of Landlord in the Leased Premises or to charge the rentals payable hereunder for any claim in favor of any person dealing with for any construction or repairs, and each such claim shall affect and each such lien shall attach to, if at all, only the leasehold interest granted to Tenant by this Instrument. Tenant covenants and agrees that it will pay or cause to be paid all sums legally due and payable by it on account of any labor performed or materials furnished in connection and legally asserted against its leasehold interest in the Leased Premises or the improvements thereon and that it will save and hold Landlord harmless from any and all loss, cost or expense based on or arising out of asserted claims or liens against the leasehold estate or against the right, title and interest of Landlord in the Leased liens or any other liens which may be imposed by law affecting Landlord's or its mortgagees' interest in the Building and/or the Centre to be placed upon the Building and/or the Centre and in case of the filing of any such lien Tenant will promptly notice thereof, Landlord shall have the right and privilege, at Landlord's option, of paying and discharging the same or any portion thereof without inquiry as to the validity thereof, and any amounts so paid, including expenses and interest, shall be additional indebtedness hereunder due from Tenant to Landlord and shall be repaid to Landlord

Tenant shall have the right to contest any such lien in good faith and with all due diligence so long as any such contest, or action taken in connection therewith, protects the interest of Landlord and Landlord's mortgagee in the Leased Premises and Landlord and such mortgagee shall not be subject to any criminal or civil liability as a result of such Lien and the contest thereof as are satisfactory to Landlord and any such mortgagee. Tenant shall notify all potential lienors with which it deals of the provisions of this section.

9.9. Landlord's property. Upon the expiration or earlier termination of the Lease, the Premises or any leasehold improvements installed by the Tenant, or by the Landlord on the Tenant's behalf, save and except that it will remove the following leasehold improvements as requested by Landlord: improvements of a structural nature; Building systems and/or the Centre's

Landlord reviews Tenant's drawings and specifications in accordance with the terms of this Lease; and (iv) all non-standard items and non-standard leasehold improvements such as safes, computer rooms and raised floors, non-standard ceiling grid, or other unusual or abnormal items furnished by the Tenant without Landlord's prior its cabling (including any and all fibre optic cables), wiring and security system, from the Leased Premises at the end of the Term. It shall be permitted to do so provided it: (i)

It is specifically understood that should Tenant remove the leasehold improvement and/or items in the Leased Premises, the Tenant shall, at its sole costs and expenses, repair any damage caused to the Leased Premises and/or the Building and/or the Centre resulting from such removal as from the expiration and/or Tenant's default, at Tenant's costs, plus 5% of the cost of such expense.

Premises, the Building and/or the Centre (which are not the Tenant's responsibility under this Lease), the Tenant shall permit same to be performed without being entitled to any indemnity or reduction in rental or any damages or compensation therefor. All such work shall be completed by the Landlord with reasonable dispatch and the cost thereof shall be included in Operating Expenses.

ARTICLE 11 - ACCESS TO THE LEASED PREMISES

The Landlord, its agents and representatives may enter the Leased Premises at all reasonable times, upon reasonable advance notice (save and except in case of a real or apprehended emergency where no prior written notice is required), to examine their condition, to regulate the heating and air-conditioning apparatus and for all maintenance and repair purposes. The Tenant shall allow Landlord and Landlord parties access to the Leased Premises at all reasonable times and upon reasonable advance notice (save and except in case of a real or apprehended emergency where no prior written notice is required) during normal Business Hours to show (i) any person having an interest in either leasing the Leased Premises during the last 12 months of the Term or (i) acquiring the Land and Building or advancing money upon the security of the Land and the Building and/or the Centre. Tenant shall have 24-hour, 7-day per week access to the Leased Premises, subject to the terms and conditions in this Lease, casualty, condemnation and Force Majeure. During any periods of access by Landlord to the Leased Premises any Landlord parties shall use commercially reasonable efforts to minimize interference with Tenant's use of the Leased Premises for its business purpose.

ARTICLE 12 - PROTECTION OF EQUIPMENT

The Tenant shall, to the extent required by Article [illegible] of the Leased Premises) hereof, protect from damage all the heating and air-conditioning apparatus, water, gas and drain pipes, water closets, sinks and accessories thereof in and about the Leased Premises and keep same free from all obstructions that might prevent their free working and shall give to the Landlord prompt written notice of any accident to or defect therein or thereof. Tenant shall pay for any damage resulting from misuse or failure to protect same shall be the sole responsibility of the Tenant.

ARTICLE 13 - COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS AND INDEMNIFICATION

13.1. Compliance with Laws. Tenant, at Tenant's sole expense, shall comply with all laws, rules, orders, ordinances, directions, regulations and requirements (including environmental laws) of federal, state, county, and municipal authorities now in force or which may hereafter be in force, which shall impose any duty upon the Landlord or Tenant with respect to the use, occupancy or alteration of the Leased Premises. Tenant shall comply with all laws, ordinances, rules or regulations of any governmental authority required of either the Landlord or the Tenant relating to the repair and maintenance of the Leased Premises. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything in this Lease to the contrary including this Article 13.1 (Compliance with Laws), in accordance with Article [illegible] Landlord is required to make any structural changes to the Leased Premises, the Building or the Centre (including the Building and/or Centre's systems) unless the same are necessitated by reason of Tenant's performance of any alterations, improvements or additions, or Tenant's specific manner of use of the Leased Premises. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary Landlord shall be responsible [illegible] comply with applicable laws from and after the Commencement Date.

The Tenant is responsible for any damage of any kind caused by Tenant or its agents, employees, contractors or any other person for whom it is responsible at law whether [illegible] non-compliance with applicable laws.

Notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary, the Tenant undertakes to indemnify and hold the Landlord, its representatives, agents, successors, heirs and assigns harmless against any and all loss, cost, damage, claim, action, [illegible] incurred by Landlord to the extent arising out of Tenant's failure to respect any obligations to comply with applicable laws and the environmental laws as required by this Lease relating to the Leased Premises, the Building or the Centre.

13.2. [illegible] radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas that, when it has accumulated in a building in sufficient quantities, may present health risks to persons who are exposed to it over time. Levels of radon that exceed federal and state guidelines have been found in buildings in Florida. Additional information regarding radon and radon testing may be obtained from your county health department.

13.3. Hazardous materials or substances. Except as may be used in accordance with applicable laws, Tenant shall not cause or permit any Hazardous Material (as [illegible] to be brought upon, kept or used in or about the Leased Premises [illegible] sublessees, contractors, consultants or invitees without the prior written consent of Landlord, which consent may be withheld for any reason whatsoever or for no reason at all.

As used herein, the term "Hazardous Material" or "Hazardous Materials" means any hazardous or toxic substance, material or waste, including, but not limited to, those substances, materials, and wastes listed in the United States Department of Transportation Hazardous Materials Table (49 CFR 172.101) or by the Environmental Protection Agency as hazardous substances (40 CFR Part 302) and amendments thereto, or such substances, materials and wastes that are or become regulated under any applicable local, state or federal law. "Hazardous Material" includes any and all material or substances which are defined as "hazardous waste", "extremely hazardous waste" or a "hazardous substance" pursuant to local, state or federal governmental law. "Hazardous substance" includes, but is not restricted to, asbestos, polychlorobiphenyls ("PCB's"), petroleum, any and all material or substances which are classified as "biohazardous" or "biological waste" (as such terms are defined by Florida Administrative Code ("F.A.C.") Chapter 17-712, as amended from time to time), and extremely "hazardous waste" or "hazardous substance" pursuant to federal, state or local governmental law.

Tenant shall be solely responsible for all costs, expenses and amounts required to remediate, clean up and correct any matter as a result of the Tenant's failure to respect this undertaking, and Tenant shall further fully and completely indemnify, defend and hold harmless Landlord (or any party claiming by, through or under Landlord) from any and all claims, judgments, damages, penalties, fines, costs, liabilities or losses to the extent arising therefrom. For clarity purposes, this indemnification of Landlord by Tenant includes, without limitation, the costs incurred in connection with any investigation or site conditions or any clean-up, remedial, removal or restoration work required by any federal, state or local governmental agency or political subdivision because of Hazardous Material present in the soil or ground water on or under the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre arising as a result of action from Tenant or its agents, principals, employees, assigns, sublessees, contractors, consultants, or invitees action or any person for whom it is legally responsible.

13.4. Compliance with Fire Prevention Code. Landlord has provided sprinklers within the Leased Premises as required by the building code of the local government where the Leased Premises are located which shall be delivered to Tenant in good working order and condition on the Commencement Date and maintained by Landlord pursuant to Article 8.5 (Landlord's obligations) hereof. Tenant shall endeavour to comply with any fire prevention laws, ordinances, rules or regulations applicable to the Leased Premises in its use and occupancy thereof.

13.5. Damages caused by Tenant. The Tenant shall be responsible for any claim from a third-party or any event and/or damage incurred in, on or to the Leased Premises, or caused, in whole or in part, by an act or gross negligence from the Tenant (or any person for whom it is legally responsible) or any other person whose presence in the Leased Premises or in the Building and/or Centre was permitted by the Tenant (or by any person for whom it is legally responsible), except if such claim, cost, event or damage results from the Landlord's wilful misconduct or gross negligence or that of the personnel for which the Landlord is legally responsible or any other person whose presence in the Leased Premises, the Building and/or Centre was permitted by the Landlord.

13.6. Indemnification. Subject to Article 18.4 (Waivers of Subrogation/Release of Claims) hereof and except to the extent caused by or arising from Landlord's or its agent's, principal's, contractor's, invitee's, employee's act or negligence, Tenant shall hold the Landlord harmless and shall indemnify Landlord from and against any liability, event, claim, damage or expense arising from (i) any act or negligence of the Tenant, its officers, representatives, employees, agents, guests, occupants, authorized subtenants and/or any person for whom it is legally responsible in the Leased Premises and/or the Building and/or the Centre or (ii) due to a non-compliance with one or other of the provisions of this Lease beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded herein by the Tenant or its officers, representatives, employees, agents, guests, occupants, authorized subtenants and/or any person for whom it is legally responsible including liability for injury or damage to the person or persons property of Tenant's officers, representatives, employees, agents, guests, occupants, authorized subtenants and/or any person for whom it is legally responsible. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in this Lease, any indemnification due to a non-compliance with one or other of the provisions of this Lease beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded herein, damage to property, injury or death, which would occur during the Term of this Lease, will survive the expiration of this Lease.

ARTICLE 14 - DAMAGE AND DESTRUCTION

14.1. Landlord's notice. Should the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre be damaged, the Landlord shall, within 60 days following the date of occurrence of the damage (the Landlord's Notice), give a notice to the Tenant stating (i) the condition of the Leased Premises and/or the Building and (ii) the estimated time period for the necessary repairs to restore any access to or use of the same, as stipulated below.

14.2. Irreparable destruction. Should the Landlord deem that the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre be wholly inhabitable, inaccessible or should their use be dangerous in its commercially reasonable discretion and cannot, despite Landlord's diligent efforts, be reasonably repaired within 180 days following the loss in Landlord's Notice, either party may terminate the Lease as of the date of the loss, by giving the other party written notice to that effect within 30 days following the Landlord's Notice, failing which the Lease shall remain in full force effect.

14.3. Reparable destruction. Should the Landlord deem that the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre be inhabitable, inaccessible, or should their use be dangerous in its commercially reasonable discretion but may be repaired within 180 days following the loss in Landlord's Notice, the payment of Rent shall abate from the date of the loss until such time that Landlord delivers the Leased Premises to Tenant in its base building condition (including the Initial Scope) permitting the Tenant to perform its Leasehold Improvements therein. If Landlord, after having elected to repair the Leased Premises, fails to substantially complete the repair of the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre, as the case may be, within said 180-day timeline after the date of the casualty or loss, Tenant may, by written notice to Landlord, elect to terminate this Lease by written notice within 10 business days following the expiry of such 180-day delay, failing which, the Tenant shall be deemed to have renounced to its right to terminate.

14.4. Partial destruction. Should the Landlord deem that the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre be damaged but may be repaired within 180 days following the loss and are partly usable or accessible in the interim in Landlord's Notice, as the case may be, payment of Rent shall abate, with respect to the unusable area, from the date of the loss until such time Landlord delivers the unusable portion of the Leased Premises to Tenant in its base building condition (including the Initial Scope) permitting the Tenant to perform its Leasehold Improvements therein. If Landlord, after having elected to repair the Leased Premises, fails to substantially complete the repair of the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre, as the case may be, within said 180-day timeline after the date of the casualty or loss, Tenant may, by written notice to Landlord, elect to terminate this Lease by written notice within 10 days following the expiry of such 180-day delay failing which, the Tenant shall be deemed to have renounced to its right to terminate.

14.5. Lease in force. Except as may otherwise be provided in this Article, this Lease shall continue to be and remain in full force and effect upon the occurrence of any damage or destruction to the Building and/or the Centre and/or the Leased Premises or any part(s) thereof as contemplated in this Article.

14.6. Rebuilding. It is expressly understood that all repair and rebuilding by the Landlord under any provision of this Article may be carried out by the Landlord, as the Landlord in its discretion determines and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, in no event shall the Landlord be bound to repair or rebuild the Leased Premises and the Building and/or the Centre to their original form, specification or dimension but the same shall allow Tenant's (and Quest Health's) use of the Leased Premises for the Authorized Use.

14.7. Termination. In the event that either party elects to terminate this Lease as set forth herein, the parties' obligations under this Lease shall lapse on the effective date of such termination date, including, without limitation, Tenant's obligations pursuant to Article 8.2 (Termination of the Lease) hereof.

14.8. Insurance Proceeds. In the event of the termination of the Lease as provided in this Article, all insurance proceeds with respect to the Leasehold Improvements shall be and remain the absolute property of the Landlord. In the event the Leased Premises are rebuilt, the Tenant shall use all insurance proceeds with respect to the Leasehold Improvements for the rebuilding of such Leasehold Improvements.

ARTICLE 15 - NON-RESPONSIBILITY OF LANDLORD

15.1. Except to the extent caused by the gross negligence or wilful misconduct of the Landlord or any of Landlord's agents, contractors, employees, invitees or licensees, the Landlord shall not be liable for any loss, injury or destruction, arising in or about the Leased Premises, the Building and/or the Centre, to any property or person, or for any personal injuries sustained by the Tenant, its officers, servants, employees, agents invitees, occupants or authorized subtenants, which may result at any time from any reason or cause whatsoever, the Tenant hereby covenanting to release the Landlord for any and all damages, losses, costs, claims or demands in respect of such damage.

loss, injury or destruction. Except to the extent caused by the gross negligence or wilful misconduct of the Landlord or any of Landlord's agents, contractors, employees, invitees or licensees, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, the Landlord shall not, under any circumstances, be liable for any damage resulting from water, steam, rain which may leak into, issue or flow from the pipes or plumbing or sprinklers or from any other part of the Building and/or the Centre or from any other place or quarter. An event or circumstance contemplated in this Article 15.1 shall be deemed not to be an eviction or disturbance of the Tenant's enjoyment of the Leased Premises and the occurrence thereof shall not render the Landlord liable in damages to the Tenant or entitle the Tenant to claim any reduction or abatement of the Rent.

15.2. Except to the extent caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of the Landlord or any of Landlord's agents, contractors, employees, invitees or licensees, the Tenant hereby releases the Landlord, its directors, officers, shareholders, employees and agents from all liability for any direct and/or indirect damages, losses or claims arising or resulting from an event or circumstance contemplated in Article 15.1 hereinabove, and waives the benefit of any disposition of the law in virtue of which the Tenant would have been entitled to claim a deferral, reduction or abatement of the Rent or the termination of the Lease.

15.3. Without limiting the generality of Articles 15.1 and 15.2, the Tenant recognizes and agrees that the Landlord shall not be held responsible should it be required to, for health or security reasons, such as, by way of example, pandemics, epidemics or any similar sanitary emergencies:

(i) forbid or limit certain entrances and/or access to the Building and/or the Centre; and/or
(ii) limit the number of functioning elevators or the number of person permitted in an elevator at once; and/or
(iii) limit the access to the Building and/or the Centre only to the Tenant and its employees.

15.4. It is expressly understood and agreed that nothing in this Lease shall be construed as creating any liability against Landlord, or its successors and assigns, personally, and in particular without limiting the generality of the foregoing, there shall be no personal liability to pay any indebtedness accruing hereunder or to perform any covenant, either express or implied, herein contained, and that all personal liability of Landlord, or its successors and assigns, of every sort, if any, is hereby expressly waived by Tenant, and that so far as Landlord, or its successors and assigns, is concerned Tenant shall look solely to the Building for the payment thereof. This provision is not intended to be a measure or agreed amount of Landlord's liability with respect to any particular breach, and shall not be utilized by any court or otherwise for the purpose of determining any liability of Landlord hereunder, except only as a maximum amount not to be exceeded in any event.

15.5. Landlord acknowledges and agrees that under no circumstances shall any partner, member, shareholder, director, officer, or manager of Tenant (individual or otherwise) have personal liability for or with respect to any of the obligations of Tenant under this Lease or any renewals, modifications or extensions hereof.

ARTICLE 16 - ROBBERY AND THEFT

Except to the extent caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of the Landlord or any of Landlord's agents, contractors, employees, invitees or licensees, without restricting the generality of the preceding Article 15 (Non-responsibility of Landlord), the Landlord will not be liable for any damage of any kind or nature to the Leased Premises or to any goods, merchandise, stock-in-trade, assets, fixtures, furniture, accessories or equipment belonging to the Tenant or to the Tenant's officers, servants, employees, agents, invites, occupants or authorized subtenants resulting from robbery, burglary, theft or acts of violence of any kind, and the Tenant will hold the Landlord free, clear and harmless from any liability or loss resulting therefrom.

ARTICLE 17 - DEFAULT AND REMEDIES OF LANDLORD

17.1. Default. The occurrence of any of the following events shall constitute a default by the Tenant subject to the notice and cure periods afforded herein:

(a) If any item of Rent is not paid on its due date and such failure continues for a period of five (5) business days after written notice by Landlord to Tenant of such failure;

(b) If Tenant assigns, transfers or encumbers the Lease or sublets or permits the use of the Leased Premises by others except in a manner permitted in this Lease;

(c) If Tenant fails to operate it in accordance with the laws and with the provisions of this Lease and such failure continues for a period of 5 business days after written notice by Landlord to Tenant of such failure;

(d) if the whole or a substantial portion of the property of Tenant on the Leased Premises is seized before or after judgment or taken in execution or attachment by a creditor of Tenant or any third party;

(e) if the Tenant shall become insolvent, admit in writing its inability to pay its debts generally as they become due, file a petition in bankruptcy or a petition to take advantage of any insolvency statute, make an assignment for the benefit of creditors, make a transfer in fraud of creditors, apply for or consent to the appointment of a receiver of itself or of the whole or any substantial part of its property, or file a petition or answer seeking reorganization or arrangement under the federal bankruptcy laws, as now in effect or hereafter amended, or any other applicable law or statute of the United States or any state thereof; provided, however, in the event of any action brought by anyone other than Tenant (including, without limitation, an involuntary third party action) by or against Tenant, only if the same is not discharged within ninety (90) days of the filing of the same;

(f) if Tenant is in default pursuant to another lease with Landlord or any of its affiliates;

(g) intentionally deleted;

(h) if the Tenant is a company, the dissolution, liquidation or cancellation of the company;

(i) if Tenant fails to perform any of its other obligations under this Lease and fails to cure the default within 20 days following written notice of Landlord of such failure (or any shorter delay reasonably determined by the Landlord according to the nature of the default and/or the urgency of the situation); provided, however, in the event such failure or breach cannot be cured within 20 days, such 20-day period of time shall be extended for such period of time as may be reasonably required to cure such failure or breach in the event Tenant commences such cure within such initial 20 day period and thereafter diligently prosecutes such cure to completion;

17.2. Landlord's Recourses. If Tenant defaults hereunder, Landlord is entitled to any one or more of the following recourses, Tenant hereby accepting that all recourses pursuant to this Lease and the Law are cumulative and may be exercised separately or concurrently:

(a) enter the Leased Premises, if necessary, and proceed to cure the default, including without limitation the making of any payments due or alleged to be due by Tenant to third parties creditors (such as, without limitation, the costs of insurance or business taxes) and the non-payment of which may adversely affect any part of the Building and/or the Centre or affecting any repairs to the Leased Premises, and Tenant shall pay on demand Landlord's costs (plus 5% of such costs) on account thereof;

(b) terminate this Lease upon giving notice of such termination to Tenant. Tenant hereby accepts and consents that this Lease shall then, by such notice, terminate ipso facto without the necessity of any other "mise en demeure" or legal process whatsoever and no payment or acceptance of Rent subsequent to such default shall give Tenant the right to continue occupancy of the Leased Premises or in any way affect the rights of Landlord herein. Tenant shall leave and surrender the Leased Premises to Landlord on the date indicated in the termination notice and may remove Tenant's Property but thereafter, the Landlord shall have the right to enter the Leased Premises and remove any persons or property thereupon without the necessity of any legal proceedings whatsoever;

(c) intentionally deleted;

(d) if the Tenant or any person carrying on business in or from the Leased Premises becomes bankrupt or insolvent, then the full amount of the Rent owed and the Rent collected in advance for any period that may be permitted by law becomes immediately and automatically due and payable, without limiting any other rights conferred to the Landlord by this Lease or by law. In the event Landlord collects the accelerated rent from Tenant, Tenant shall be credited for rents received if the Leased Premises are relet. It is expressly understood that Landlord shall have no obligation to relet the Leased Premises;

(e) in addition to any other recourses which Landlord may have hereunder or by Law, Landlord shall be entitled to recover from Tenant all other damages and all costs and expenses it may incur or suffer by reason of Tenant's default or termination of this Lease, including without limitation:

(i) damages for loss of Rent or sales taxes;

(ii) the cost incurred by Landlord to take possession of the Leased

Premises and the cost of terminating this Lease;

(iii) the unamortized portion of the Leasehold Improvements Allowance, of any brokerage commission, free rent, and/or any allowance granted to the Tenant (amortized on a straight line-basis over the initial Term); and

(iv) all costs and charges (including judicial and extra-judicial fees) reasonably incurred after default of Tenant or upon expiration of the Term, or in enforcing any provision contained in this Lease;

(f) Intentionally deleted;

(g) Intentionally deleted;

(h) upon 48 hours prior written notice, interrupt any service(s) which Landlord is obligated or elects to furnish to the Leased Premises or to Tenant pursuant to this Lease; and

(i) any other recourses available in accordance with applicable law.

17.3. Costs. If either party institutes a suit against the other for violation of or to enforce any covenant, term or condition of this Lease, each party shall pay all of its respective costs and expenses, including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees.

17.4. No Waiver. No act, tolerance or forgetting of the Landlord with regard to the Tenant's default may be considered as a waiver of its rights hereunder with regard to this default or any other subsequent default, unless this waiver is expressed in writing.

17.5. Survival of Obligations. If Tenant has failed to perform any of its obligations under this Lease, such obligations and the rights of Landlord in respect thereto shall survive the expiration of the Term or earlier termination of this Lease.

ARTICLE 18 - INSURANCE

18.1. Tenant's Insurance. Tenant shall procure and maintain throughout the Term a policy or policies of insurance in form and substance satisfactory to Landlord, at Tenant's sole cost and expense, insuring Landlord, Landlord's mortgagee, if any, and Tenant against all claims, demands or actions arising out of or in connection with (i) the Leased Premises, (ii) the condition of the Leased Premises, (iii) Tenant's operations in and maintenance and use of the Leased Premises and (iv) Tenant's liability assumed under this Lease; the limits of such policy or policies to be in the amount of not less than $2,000,000 per occurrence, $3,000,000 in the aggregate in respect of injury to persons (including death), and in the amount of not less than $500,000.00 per occurrence in respect of property damage or destruction, including loss of use thereof. The Landlord may modify the insurance coverage(s) from time to time.

All insurance contemplated in the present Article shall include:

i) the Landlord (it being agreed that for the purposes of this paragraph, the term "Landlord" includes the owners of the Building and/or the Centre from time to time and their representatives and mandatories from time to time), and any mortgagee designated by notice from Landlord as additional insured; and

ii) a provision prohibiting the insurer from materially altering or cancelling any coverage without first giving Landlord at least 30 days prior notice thereof.

Each party agrees to first look to its respective insurance policies in connection with any claim, loss or damage covered under such insurance policies during the Term before proceeding with a claim against the other, subject to the provisions of Article 18.4 (Waivers of Subrogation/Release of Claims).

All such policies shall be procured by Tenant from responsible insurance companies satisfactory to the Landlord. Certificates of insurance shall be delivered to Landlord prior to the Commencement Date. Not less than 15 days prior to the expiration date of any such policies, certified copies of the renewals (bearing notations evidencing the payment of renewal premiums) shall be delivered to Landlord.

In the event the Tenant fails to subscribe any of the insurance required hereunder, the Landlord may subscribe for same on the Tenant's behalf, the whole at the Tenant's cost (plus 5% of the cost of such expense) which Tenant agrees to reimburse to the Landlord within thirty (30) days of Landlord's demand therefor.

18.2. Increased Risk and Remedies. Tenant shall not do or commit any act upon the Leased Premises or bring into or keep upon the Leased Premises any article (such as, but not limited to, fireworks, explosives, etc.), which will affect the fire risk or increase the rate of fire insurance or other insurance on the Building and/or the Centre. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, in no event shall any inflammable materials, except for kinds and quantities required for ordinary retail or office occupancy and permitted by the

Docusign Envelope ID: A36E9423-87A6-459E-AD86-F9112429BD34

Insurance policies covering the Building and/or the Centre, or any explosives whatsoever, be taken into the Leased Premises or retained therein.

Tenant shall comply with the rules and requirements of Landlord's insurers' inspection service and with the requirements of all insurance companies having policies of any kind whatsoever in effect covering the Building and/or the Centre, including policies insuring against contractual and extra-contractual liability.

Should the rate of any type of insurance on the Building and/or the Centre be increased by reason of any violation of the Lease by Tenant or by reason of the occupancy of the Leased Premises by Tenant, Landlord, in addition to all other remedies, may pay the amount of such increase, and the amount so paid shall become due and payable immediately by Tenant and collectible as Additional Rent.

Should any insurance policy on the Building and/or the Centre be cancelled or threatened to be cancelled by the insurer by reason of the use and occupation of the Leased Premises or any part thereof by Tenant or by any permitted assignee, subtenant, concessionaire or licensee of Tenant, or by anyone permitted by Tenant to be upon the Leased Premises, Landlord may at its option terminate the Lease by leaving at the Leased Premises a Notice of its intention to do so and thereupon Rent and other payments for which Tenant is liable hereunder shall be apportioned and paid in full to the effective date of termination under such notice and Tenant shall forthwith deliver vacant possession of the Leased Premises to Landlord, the whole without prejudice to all other rights and recourses of Landlord against Tenant. Landlord may also, at its option and at the expense of Tenant, enter upon the Leased Premises and rectify the situation causing such cancellation or threatened cancellation.

The Landlord, by its representatives, may at any time enter the Leased Premises to remove any article or remedy any condition, which, in the Landlord's opinion, would be likely to lead to cancellation of any insurance policy or an increase of the premium. Such entry by the Landlord will not be deemed a re-entry or a trespass, nor a breach of Tenant's peaceful enjoyment of the Leased Premises.

18.3. Landlord's Insurance. During the Term and any renewal thereof, Landlord shall maintain insurance coverage for the Building and/or the Centre in force as a prudent and diligent owner would do so for a similar building.

18.4. Waivers of Subrogation/Release of Claims. Each of Landlord and Tenant hereby waives all claims for recovery from the other party and the other's respective agents, members, partners, shareholders, officers, directors and employees (collectively, the Released Parties) and releases the other party from and against any loss, damage or destruction to any of its property (including the Leased Premises, the Building, the Centre, and their contents), the elements of which are insured against or which would have been insured against had such party suffering such loss, damage or destruction maintained the property or physical damage insurance policies required by this Lease, provided that it has been indemnified therefor from its insurer. In no event shall this clause be deemed, construed, or asserted to (a) affect or limit any claims or rights against any Released Parties other than the right to recover damages for loss, damage or destruction to property, or (b) benefit any third party other than the Released Parties. Every policy of property insurance obtained by Landlord or Tenant with respect to the Building and Centre shall contain a waiver of subrogation by the insurer with respect to claims against the other party.

ARTICLE 19 - ELECTRIC CURRENT AND METERED UTILITIES

The Tenant undertakes never to consume an amount of electrical power exceeding the capacity of the facilities supplying the Leased Premises through existing electrical outlets in the Leased Premises. The Landlord shall be entitled at any time to check the electrical power requirements of the Leased Premises, and should such requirements exceed the capacity of the facilities supplying the Leased Premises, the Landlord may, at its discretion, make the necessary arrangements and effect the changes deemed necessary to increase such capacity, and any costs thus incurred shall be chargeable solely to the Tenant, or the Landlord may require the Tenant to reduce its electrical power requirements to within the existing capacity.

If Tenant shall require water, electric current or any other resource in excess of that usually furnished to other office tenants in the Building, Landlord may install, as of the Commencement Date or at any time during the Term, a separate and/or multiple water, electricity and natural gas (if applicable) meter(s) or other measuring devices in the Leased Premises or elsewhere in the Building and/or Centre to measure the Tenant's consumption of each such utility. The cost of any such meter and the installation, operation, maintenance, and repair thereof shall be paid by the Tenant, and Tenant agrees to pay Landlord promptly upon demand for all such water, electric current or other resource consumed, as shown by said meter, at the rates charged by the local public utility furnishing the same, plus any additional expense incurred in keeping account of the water, electric current or other resource so consumed.

In all cases, access to the Building's main electrical room may be given to Tenant upon a reasonable prior written request to the Landlord.

ARTICLE 20 - RELOCATION AND MODIFICATION BY THE LANDLORD

20.1. Intentionally deleted.

20.2. Notwithstanding any provision of this Lease, the Landlord reserves the right at any time and from time to time to change, alter, modify and expand the Building and/or the Centre, modify the destination of the Common Areas as the Landlord in its sole and entire discretion deems expedient, same to include, without limitation, the right of the Landlord to add additional floors to the Building and/or the Centre, to expand the length or width of the Building and/or the Centre, and to change, alter and amend the location, dimensions or specifications of the pipes, wires, ducts, conduits, utilities, mechanical systems, Common Areas and other Building and/or the Centre services (including such as may be contained in the Leased Premises). The Tenant waives and renounces to any and all claims as a consequence of the foregoing providing the physical dimensions of the Leased Premises remain substantially as contemplated herein. In the event any such change results in additional land being utilized to service the Building and/or the Centre, such additional land shall be deemed included in the definition of "Land" for all purposes of this Lease. In the event any such change results in a change in the rentable area of the Building and/or the Centre, the Tenant's Proportionate Share shall be modified accordingly, provided that this modification does not materially impact the Tenant's obligations under this Lease.

ARTICLE 21 - EMINENT DOMAIN

If the whole or any substantial part of the Leased Premises and/or the Building and/or the Centre should be taken for any public or quasi-public use under governmental law, ordinance or regulation, or by right of eminent domain or by private purchase in lieu thereof and the taking would prevent or materially interfere with the use of or access to the Leased Premises and/or the Building or the Centre for the purpose for which they are then being used, this Lease shall terminate effective when the legal taking shall occur as if the date of such taking were the date originally fixed in the Lease for the expiration of the Term.

If part of the Building and/or Leased Premises and/or Centre shall be taken for any public or quasi-public use under governmental law, ordinance or regulation, or by right of eminent domain, or by private purchase in lieu thereof, and this Lease is not terminated as provided above, provided Tenant's use of or access to the Leased Premises is not materially interfered with or interrupted, this Lease shall not terminate but the Rent payable hereunder during the unexpired portion of this Lease shall be reduced to such extent, if any, as may be fair and reasonable and Landlord shall use reasonable commercial efforts to restore the Leased Premises, or so much so as is affected by such taking, to a condition suitable for Tenant's use (including access), as near to the condition thereof immediately prior to such taking (including the Initial Scope) as is reasonably feasible within 180 days (subject to Force Majeure) of such right of eminent domain, or by private purchase in lieu thereof, failing which, Tenant may terminate this Lease and the parties' obligations hereunder shall lapse.

In the event of any such taking or private purchase in lieu of taking, Landlord and Tenant shall each be entitled to receive and retain such separate awards and/or portion of lump sum awards as may be allocated to their respective interests in any condemnation proceedings; provided that Tenant shall not be entitled to receive any award for the loss of any improvements paid for by Landlord or for Tenant's loss of its leasehold interest, the right to such award as to such item being hereby assigned by Tenant to Landlord. Landlord is not obligated to contest any such taking or private purchase in lieu of taking.

ARTICLE 22 - RULES AND REGULATIONS

Tenant shall faithfully observe and comply with the rules and regulations attached to this Lease as Schedule "D" and all reasonable modifications thereof and additions thereto from time to time put into effect by Landlord which are reasonably and uniformly enforced in a non-discriminatory manner against all tenants of the Building and/or the Centre. Landlord shall not be responsible for the non-performance by any other tenant or occupant of the Building and/or the Centre of any said rules and regulations.

ARTICLE 23 - SUBORDINATION, TENANT ESTOPPEL AND QUIET ENJOYMENT

23.1. Subordination. Tenant accepts this Lease subject and subordinate to any mortgage and/or deed of trust now or at any time hereafter constituting a lien or charge upon the Building, the Centre or the Leased Premises without the necessity of any act or execution of any additional instrument of subordination; provided, however, that if the mortgagee, trustee, or holder of any such mortgage or deed of trust elects to have Tenant's interest in this Lease superior to any such instrument, then by notice to Tenant from such mortgagee, trustee or holder, this Lease shall be deemed superior to such lien, whether this Lease was executed before or after said mortgage or deed of trust.

Tenant shall at any time hereafter on demand execute any instruments, releases or other documents which may be required by any mortgagee for the purpose of evidencing the subjection and subordination of this Lease to the lien of any such mortgage or for the purpose of evidencing the superiority of this Lease to the lien of any such mortgage, as may be the case. Provided that the Tenant is not in default of its obligations under the Lease, Landlord shall, upon Tenant's request therefor, use commercially reasonable efforts to cause any mortgagee, trustee, or holder of any such mortgage or deed of trust having rights over the Building and/or the Centre (now, or at any point during the Term) to execute and deliver a subordination and attornment agreement on a customary form acceptable to such mortgagee, trustee, or holder of any such mortgage or deed of trust. The Tenant will assume all costs incurred by the Landlord to obtain such subordination and attornment agreement, which costs are payable upon Landlord's request.

23.2. Estoppel. Tenant shall at any time and from time to time within 7 business days after written request from Landlord, execute and deliver to Landlord or any prospective landlord, mortgagee or prospective mortgagee a sworn and acknowledged estoppel certificate, in the form reasonably satisfactory to any prospective landlord, mortgagee or prospective mortgagee certifying and stating as follows: (a) this Lease has not been modified or amended (or if modified or amended, setting forth such modifications or amendments); (b) this Lease as so modified or amended is in full force and effect (or if not in full force and effect, the reasons therefore); (c) to Tenant's actual knowledge, that Tenant has no offsets or defenses to its performance of the terms and provisions of this Lease, including the payment of rent, or if there are any such defenses or offsets, specifying the same; (d) Tenant is in possession of the Leased Premises, if such be the case; (e) if an assignment of rents or leases has been served upon Tenant by a mortgagee or prospective mortgagee, Tenant has received such assignment and agrees to be bound by the provisions thereof; and (f) any other accurate statements reasonably required by Landlord, any prospective landlord, mortgagee or prospective mortgagee. It is intended that any such statement delivered pursuant to this subsection may be relied upon by any prospective purchaser or mortgagee and their respective successors and assigns.

23.3. Quiet Enjoyment. Landlord represents and warrants that Tenant (and any permitted assignees), so long as Tenant or any such permitted assignees is not in default beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded herein, shall peaceably and quietly have, hold and enjoy the Leased Premises for the Term without hindrance or molestation from Landlord, subject to the terms and provisions of this Lease. Landlord agrees to make commercially reasonable efforts to protect Tenant from interference or disturbance by other tenants or third persons; however, Landlord shall not be liable for any such interference or disturbance, nor shall Tenant be released from any of the obligations of this Lease because of such interference or disturbance.

ARTICLE 24 - FORCE MAJEURE

24.1. Except for an obligation of either party to pay any amount of money hereunder due and owing to the other, each time an obligation is to be performed under the provisions of this Lease, such obligation shall be performed subject to a Force Majeure. Should a party hereto be, in good faith, delayed or prevented from upholding its obligations under the Lease due to a Force Majeure, said party shall not be deemed in default during the delay/impediment period, and any such delayed or prevented obligation shall resume and be executed in a reasonable time after the delay/impediment period. The Tenant and the Landlord shall respectively notify one another, without delay, of the cause, the duration (to the extent known or estimated) and the consequence of any Force Majeure.

For the purposes of the present Lease the expression "Force Majeure" means an event which: (i) is external to the party invoking it; (ii) is beyond said party's reasonable control; (iii) could not have been reasonably foreseen by said party; (iv) is irresistible by said party; and (iv) makes the performance of one or more of the party's obligations under this Lease impossible. The Tenant's financial situation or its lack or decrease of business or customers shall under no circumstances constitute a Force Majeure.

24.2. Despite any law to the contrary and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Landlord shall not be liable, in any manner, to the Tenant or to any other person claiming through the Tenant for the Landlord's failure or delay to perform any of its obligations hereunder or be responsible for any damage resulting from delays in the construction, finishing or delivery of the Leased Premises or the Building and/or the Centre or from the interruption or modification of any service or facility provided in the Leased Premises, the Building and/or the Centre, caused or required by a Force Majeure, including but not limited to a strike, lock-out, labor trouble, labor controversy, riot, accident, epidemic, pandemic, inability to procure materials or labor, bankruptcy or insolvency of contractor, supplier or subcontractor, government rule, regulation, order or state of emergency declared by any competent authority limiting or prohibiting access to the Building and/or the Centre, act of god, fire or other casualty, act or omission of any other tenant or occupant of the Building and/or the Centre, fortuitous event, or any other cause or condition, whether of the foregoing nature or not, which is beyond the reasonable control of Landlord.

24.3. For clarity purposes, no event or circumstance contemplated in Articles 24.1 and 24.2 hereinabove shall be deemed to be an eviction or disturbance of the Tenant's quiet enjoyment of the Leased Premises, and the occurrence of any such event or circumstance shall not entitle the Tenant to : (i) any deferral, abatement, reduction or cancellation of the Rent, subject to any postponement of the Commencement Date in accordance with the Lease; nor (ii) the termination of the Lease; nor (iii) any indemnity or compensation against any amount payable under the Lease. The Landlord shall, notwithstanding the foregoing and without delay, take all available reasonable steps to terminate the event or circumstance in question, if applicable.

ARTICLE 25 - WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL

It is mutually agreed by and between Landlord and Tenant that, to the fullest extent allowed by law, the respective parties hereto do hereby waive trial by jury in any action, proceeding or counterclaim brought by either party hereto against the other pertaining to any matter whatsoever arising out of or in any way connected with this Lease, Tenant's use of occupancy of the Leased Premises or any claim of injury or damage. It is further mutually agreed that in the event Landlord commences any summary proceeding for possession of the Leased Premises, Tenant will not interpose any counterclaim of whatever nature or description in any such proceeding (excluding any mandatory counterclaims which Tenant must raise or forfeit to avoid being in default under other contractual obligations) but, rather, will assert any such claim which Tenant might have in a separate independent action.

ARTICLE 26 - ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS

26.1. Landlord. Landlord shall have the right to assign any of its rights and obligations under this Lease and Landlord's grantee or Landlord's successor, as the case may be, shall upon such assignment, become Landlord hereunder, thereby freeing and relieving the grantor or assignor, as the case may be, of all covenants and obligations of Landlord hereunder.

26.2. Amendment of Lease. This Lease may be amended only by an agreement in writing signed by the Landlord, the Tenant and the guarantor, if any. The Landlord shall prepare any amendment of the Lease and the Tenant shall pay to the Landlord the Landlord's costs (plus 5% of the cost of such expense) for such preparation, unless such amendment is requested by the Landlord.

26.3. No Waiver. No covenant, term or condition of the present Lease stipulated in favour of either party shall be waived, except by express written consent of the other party, whose forbearance or indulgence in any regard whatsoever shall not constitute a waiver of the covenant, term or condition to be performed by the other party; and until complete performance by the other party of the said covenant, term of condition, each party shall be entitled to invoke any remedies available under this Lease or by law despite such forbearance or indulgence.

26.4. Punctual Payment. The acceptance by the Landlord of any post-dated cheque or money owing for rent after its due date is to be considered as a mode of collection only, without novation of, nor derogation from, any of Landlord's rights, recourses and actions in virtue of this Lease which demands punctual payment of all obligations. All sums owing by the Tenant under this Lease not paid when due shall thereafter bear interest at a rate equivalent to 12% per annum of the amount of the payment due. The Landlord may impute any of Tenant's payments in payment of any sum which has become due, regardless of any designation or imputation by Tenant.

26.5. Successor. The terms, provisions and covenants and conditions contained in this Lease shall apply to, inure to the benefit of, and be binding upon, the parties hereto and upon their respective heirs, legal representatives, successors and permitted assigns, except as otherwise herein expressly provided.

26.6. Brokerage Commission. Landlord and Tenant each represents and warrants to the other that it has not dealt with any broker, finder or agent in connection with this Lease or the leasing of the Leased Premises other than the Brokers. Landlord and Tenant each agrees to indemnify and hold the other harmless from and against all claims, costs, expenses and liabilities, including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses, arising from its breach of such representation. Landlord shall pay the commission due to Avison Young – Florida, LLC pursuant to a separate agreement. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, any commission payable to Keller Williams Realty Boca Raton, itself represented by Andrew Kolnes, will be paid by Avison Young – Florida, LLC to the full exoneration of the Landlord. The provisions of this Article shall survive the expiration or earlier termination of this Lease.

26.7. Notices and Demands.

26.8. Authority. Landlord and Tenant each represents and warrants to the other that (a) this Lease (i) has been duly authorized, executed and delivered by it, and (ii) constitutes the legal, valid and binding obligation of it and (b) the execution and delivery of this Lease is not prohibited by, nor does it conflict with, or constitute a default under, any agreement or instrument to which it may be bound or any applicable law. The Tenant further represents and warrants that it has and is qualified to do business in Florida and that each and all of the persons signing on behalf of the corporation are authorized to do so.

26.9. Rent payment. All amounts payable to Landlord by Tenant in virtue of this Lease, shall be payable as set forth herein. Payment by the Tenant of an amount less than the Rent shall not be deemed a recognition of a total payment of Rent, and the Landlord shall be deemed to have accepted such payment as a partial payment without prejudice to the Landlord's rights to recover the balance owed, or to avail itself of any other remedy

26.10. Performance by a third party. The Tenant, including any person claiming to be a subtenant or assignee of the Tenant, agrees that the payment of Rent, or the performance of any obligation by any person other than the Tenant, shall not constitute an acknowledgement of rights other than those expressly granted hereunder or a waiver of any of the Landlord's rights and recourse. The Landlord may, at any time, accept a payment of Rent from the Tenant or from any physical or moral person occupying or not the Leased Premises, without in any way waiving any of its rights and recourse in virtue of this Lease.

26.11. Prior Agreements. The present Lease cancels and supersedes any and all prior leases and agreements, written or otherwise, entered into by the Landlord and the Tenant regarding the Leased Premises hereunder. This Lease and such rules and regulations as may be adopted and promulgated by the Landlord from time to time constitute the entire agreement between the parties.

26.12. Invalidity. If any clause, provision or portion of this Lease or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be invalid or unenforceable under applicable law, such event shall not affect, impair or render invalid or unenforceable the remainder of this Lease.

26.13. Personal Rights. The parties recognize and agree that all rights and options granted to the Tenant by the Landlord under this Lease, as well as all future rights and options that may be granted to the Tenant by the Landlord under the Lease, are personal to the Tenant its permitted assigns (provided the assignment of Tenant's rights with respect to the Renewal Option shall have been agreed to in writing by the Landlord, acting reasonably) or Affiliate, and may not be assigned or transferred or otherwise alienated to a third party except as set forth herein without the prior consent of the Landlord, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed.

26.14. Captions. The captions appearing in this Lease have been inserted as a matter of convenience and for reference only and in no way define, limit or enlarge the scope or meaning of this Lease or any provision thereof.

26.15. Time is of the essence. All delays provided for in the Lease in connection with an undertaking or an obligation of the Tenant or of the Landlord are of the essence.

26.16. Confidentiality. The Tenant agrees that all terms and conditions of this Lease shall remain confidential and that it shall not disclose to any person at any time whatsoever (excluding its attorneys, advisors, partners, members, officers and consultants who have a need to know for the purpose of this Lease), without having first obtained the written consent of the Landlord.

26.17. Counterparts. This Lease may be executed and exchanged in any number of counterparts and transmitted by email, portable document format (.PDF) or DocuSign, all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument and each counterpart (including by electronic delivery and execution) shall be deemed to be an original hereof.

26.18. Joint Responsibility. If several persons and/or guarantors sign the Lease, their responsibility will be joint and several, (i.e. each person will be responsible for the obligations of the Tenant under the terms of the Lease, the whole without benefit of division and discussion).

26.19. Survival. The obligations of either party not fully performed as of the expiration or earlier termination of the term of this Lease shall survive the expiration or earlier termination of the Term, including without limitation, in the case of Tenant, all payment obligations with respect to the Additional Rent and all obligations concerning the condition of the Leased Premises.

26.20. Hereof/Herein/Hereunder. The words "hereof", "herein", "hereunder", "hereinafter" and the like refer to this entire Lease, not just to the specific article, section or paragraph in which such words appear.

26.21. Americans With Disabilities Act. Tenant, at Tenant's sole expense, shall comply with all laws, rules, orders, ordinances, directions, regulations and requirements of federal, state, county and municipal authorities as applicable now in force or which may hereafter be in force, which shall impose any duty upon the Landlord or Tenant with respect to the use, occupation or alteration of the Leased Premises. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything in this Lease to the contrary, nothing contained in this Article 26.21 or this Lease to the contrary, shall require Tenant to make any structural changes to the Leased Premises, the Building or the Centre. If any such structural changes are necessitated by reason of Tenant's performance of any alterations, improvements or additions or Tenant's manner of use of the Leased Premises, such changes shall be subject to the provisions of Article 9 (Repairs, Alterations, Additions and Improvements).

ARTICLE 27 - LANDLORD'S LIEN

Subject to the Landlord holding at all times the entire amount of the Deposit or of the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, indicated in Schedule "F" (Special Conditions), Landlord confirms and acknowledges that Landlord has no lien, right of distraint, or security interest in Tenant's Property located in, on or at the Leased Premises, and that such Tenant's Property, including, without limitation, goods, wares, equipment, fixtures, furniture, inventory, accounts, contract rights, chattel paper and other personal property of Tenant situated on the Leased Premises, shall not constitute security for payment of any Rent.

ARTICLE 28 - SCHEDULES

The schedules attached hereto form an integral part of this Lease.

ARTICLE 29 - ACCEPTANCE

SCHEDULE "D"
RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. The sidewalks, halls, passages, exits, entrances, elevators, escalators and stairways shall not be obstructed by Tenant or used for any purpose other than for ingress and egress from its Leased Premises. The halls, passages, exits, entrances, elevators and stairways are not for the use of the general public and Landlord shall in all cases retain the right to control and prevent access thereto by all persons whose presence, in the judgment of Landlord, shall be prejudicial to the safety, character, reputation and interests of the Building and/or the Centre and its tenants, provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent such access to persons with whom Tenant normally deals in the ordinary course of Tenant's business unless such persons are engaged in illegal activities. Tenant shall not go upon the roof of the Building and/or upon the roof of other buildings of the Centre.

2. The bulletin board or directory of the Building will be provided exclusively for the display of the name and location tenants and Landlord reserves the right to exclude any other names therefrom.

3. No curtains, draperies, blinds, shutters, shades, screens or other coverings, awnings, hangings or decorations shall be attached to, hung or placed in, or used in connection with, any window or door on the Leased Premises without the prior written consent of Landlord. In any event, all such items shall be installed inboard of Landlord's standard window covering and shall in no way be visible from the exterior of the Building. No articles shall be placed on the window sills so as to be visible from the exterior of the Building. No articles shall be placed against glass partitions or doors which might appear unsightly from outside Tenant's Leased Premises.

4. Landlord reserves the right to exclude from the Building and/or the Centre between the hours of 8:00 p.m. and 8:00 a.m. weekdays, and at all hours on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays all persons who are not tenants or their accompanied guests. Tenant shall be responsible for all persons it allows to enter the Building and/or the Centre and shall be liable to Landlord for all acts of such persons.

5. Landlord shall in no case be liable for damages for error with regard to the admission or exclusion of any person from the Building and/or the Centre.

6. During the continuance of any invasion, mob, riot, public excitement or other circumstances rendering such action advisable in Landlord's opinion, Landlord reserves the right to prevent access to the Building and/or the Centre by closing the doors, or otherwise, for the safety of tenants and protection of the Building and/or the Centre and property in the Building and/or the Centre.

7. Except with the written consent of Landlord no persons other than those approved by Landlord shall be permitted to enter the Building and/or the Centre for the purpose of cleaning it. Tenant shall not cause any unnecessary labor by reason of its carelessness or indifference in the preservation of good order and cleanliness. Landlord shall in no way be responsible to Tenant for any loss of property on its Leased Premises however occurring, or any damage done to the effects of Tenant by the janitor or any other employee or any other person.

8. Tenant shall not use upon its Leased Premises vending machines or accept barbering or bootblacking services in its Leased Premises except from persons authorized by Landlord.

9. Tenant shall see that all doors to its Leased Premises are securely locked and that all utilities, water faucets or water apparatus are shut off before Tenant leaves the Leased Premises, so as to prevent waste or damage, and shall be responsible for all injuries sustained by other tenants or occupants of the Building and/or the Centre or Landlord as a result of its failure to do so. Tenants shall keep the door or doors to the Building corridors closed at all times except for ingress and egress.

10. Tenant shall not waste electricity, water or air conditioning and agrees to cooperate fully with Landlord to assure the most effective operation of the Building's heating and air conditioning, and shall refrain from attempting to adjust any controls.

11. Tenant shall not alter any lock or access device or install a new or additional lock or access device or any bolt on any door in its Leased Premises without prior written consent of Landlord. If Landlord shall give its consent, Tenant shall in each case furnish Landlord with a key for any such lock.

12. Tenant shall not make or have made additional copies of any keys or access devices provided by Landlord. Tenant, upon the termination of the tenancy, shall deliver to Landlord all the keys or access devices to the Building, offices, rooms and toilet rooms which shall have been furnished to Tenant or which Tenant shall have had made. In the event of the loss of any keys or access devices so furnished by Landlord, Tenant shall pay Landlord therefore.

13. The toilet rooms, toilets, urinals, wash bowls and other apparatus shall not be used for any purpose other than that for which they were constructed and no foreign substance of any kind whatsoever, including, but not limited to, coffee grounds shall be thrown therein, and the expense of any breakage, stoppage, or damage resulting from the violation of this rule shall be borne by the tenant, who, or whose employees or invitees shall have caused it.

14. Tenant shall not keep in the Building any kerosene, gasoline or inflammable or combustible fluid or material other than limited quantities necessary for the operation or maintenance of office equipment.

15. Tenant shall not permit to be kept in its Leased Premises any tout or noxious gas or substance or permit its Leased Premises to be used in a manner offensive or objectionable to Landlord or other occupants of the Building by reason of noise, odors and/or vibrations or interfere in any way with other tenants or those having business therein, nor shall any animals or birds be brought or kept in or about the Building.

14. No cooking shall be done in the Leased Premises (except that use by the Tenant of Underwriter's Laboratory approved equipment for the preparation of coffee, tea, hot chocolate and similar beverages for Tenant and its employees shall be permitted, provided that such equipment and use is in accordance with applicable federal, state and city laws, codes, ordinances, rules and regulations) nor shall the Leased Premises be used for lodging.

15. Tenant shall not sell or permit the sale, at retail, of newspapers, magazines, periodicals, theater tickets or any other goods on the Leased Premises, nor shall Tenant carry on, or permit the business of stenography, typewriting or any similar business in or from the Leased Premises for the service or accommodation of occupants of any other portion of the Building, nor shall the Leased Premises be used for the storage of merchandise, manufacturing of any kind, the business of a public barber shop, or beauty parlor, or for any improper, immoral or objectionable purpose, or any business activity other than that specifically provided for in Tenant's lease.

16. Landlord will direct electricians as to where and how telephone, telegraph and electrical wires are to be introduced or installed. No boring or cutting for wires will be allowed without the prior written consent of Landlord. The location of burglar alarms, telephones, call boxes or other office equipment affixed to the Leased Premises shall be subject to the written approval of Landlord.

17. Tenant shall not install any radio or television antenna, loudspeaker or any other device on the exterior walls or the roof of the Building. Tenant shall not interfere with radio or television broadcasting or reception from or in the Building and/or the Centre.

18. Tenant shall not lay linoleum, tile, carpet or any other floor covering so that the same shall be affixed to the floor of its Leased Premises in any manner except as approved in writing by Landlord. The expense of repairing any damage resulting from a violation of this rule or the removal of any floor covering shall be borne by Tenant.

19. No furniture, freight, equipment, materials, supplies, packages, merchandise or other property will be received in the Building and/or in the Centre or carried up or down elevators except between such hours and in such elevators as shall be designed by Landlord. Landlord shall have the right to prescribe the weight, size and position of all safes, furniture, files, bookcases or other heavy equipment brought into the Building and/or into the Centre. Safes or other heavy objects shall, if considered necessary by Landlord, stand on wood strips of such thickness as determined by Landlord to be necessary to properly distribute the weight thereof. Landlord will not be responsible for loss of or damage to any such safe, equipment or property from any cause, and all damage done to the Building and/or to the Centre by moving or maintaining any such safe, equipment or other property shall be repaired at the expense of Tenant.

20. Business machines and mechanical equipment belonging to Tenant which cause noise or vibration that may be transmitted to the structure of the Building or to any space therein to such a degree as to be objectionable to Landlord or to any tenants in the Building shall be placed and maintained by Tenant, at Tenant's expense, on vibration eliminators or other devices sufficient to eliminate noise or vibration. The persons employed to move such equipment in or out of the Building must be acceptable by Landlord.

21. Tenant shall not place a load upon any floor which exceeds the load per square foot which such floor was designed to carry and which is allowed by law. Tenant shall not mark, or drive nails, screws or drill into, the partitions, woodwork or plaster or in any way deface the Leased Premises.

22. There shall not be used in any space or in the public areas of the Building and/or the Centre, either by Tenant or others, any hand trucks "except those equipped with rubber tires and side guards or such other material-handling equipment as Landlord may approve. No other vehicles of any kind shall be brought by Tenant into or kept in or about the Leased Premises.

23. Tenant shall store all its trash and garbage within the interior of its Leased Premises. No materials shall be placed in the trash boxes or receptacles if such material is of such nature that it may not be disposed of in the ordinary and customary manner of removing and disposing of trash and garbage in this area without violation of any law or ordinance governing such disposal. All trash, garbage and refuse disposal shall be made only through entryways and elevators provided for such purposes and at such times as Landlord may designate.

24. Canvassing, soliciting or distributing of handbills or any other written material and peddling in the Building and/or in the Centre are prohibited and Tenant shall cooperate to prevent the same. Tenant shall not make room-to-room solicitation of business from other tenants in the Building and/or in the Centre.

25. Landlord reserves the right to exclude or expel from the Building and/or from the Centre any person who, in Landlord's judgment, is intoxicated or under the influence of liquor or drugs or who is in violation of any of the rules and regulations of the Building and/or the Centre.

26. Without the prior written consent of Landlord, Tenant shall not use the name of the Building and/or of the Centre in connection with the business of Tenant except as Tenant's address.

27. Tenant shall comply with all energy conservation, safety, fire protection and evacuation procedures and regulations established by Landlord or any governmental agency.

28. Tenant assumes any and all responsibility for protecting its Leased Premises from theft, robbery and pilferage.

29. The requirements of Tenant will be attended to only upon application at the office of the Building and/or the Centre by an authorized individual. Employees of Landlord shall not perform any work or do anything outside of their regular duties unless given special instructions from Landlord, and no such employees will admit any person (Tenant or otherwise) to any office without specific instructions from Landlord.

30. Landlord may waive anyone or more of these Rules and Regulations for the benefit of any particular Tenant, but no such waiver by Landlord shall be construed as a waiver of such Rules and Regulations in favor of any other Tenant, nor prevent Landlord from thereafter enforcing any such Rules and Regulations against any or all tenants of the Building and/or the Centre.

31. Landlord reserves the right to make such other reasonable rules and regulations as in its judgment may from time to time be needed for safety and security, for care and cleanliness of the Building and/or the Centre and for the preservation of good order therein. Tenant agrees to abide by all such Rules and Regulations herein above stated and any additional rules and regulations which are adopted.

32. All wallpaper or vinyl fabric materials which Tenant may install on painted walls shall be applied with a strippable adhesive. The use of non-strippable adhesives will cause damage to the walls when materials are removed, and repairs made necessary thereby shall be made by Landlord at Tenant's expense.

33. Tenant shall provide and maintain hard surface protective mats under all desk chairs which are equipped with coasters to avoid excessive wear and tear to carpeting. If Tenant fails to provide such mats, the cost of carpet repair or replacement made necessary by such excessive wear and tear shall be charged to and paid by Tenant.

34. Tenant will refer all contractors, contractors' representatives and installation technicians rendering any service to Tenant to Landlord for Landlord's supervision, approval, and control before performance of any contractual service. This provision shall apply to all work performed in the Building, including installations of telephones, telegraph equipment, electrical devices and attachments and installations of any nature affecting floors, walls, woodwork, trim, windows, ceilings, equipment or any other physical portion of the Building.

35. Tenant shall give prompt notice to Landlord of any accidents to or defects in plumbing, electrical fixtures, or heating apparatus so that such accidents or defects may be attended to properly.

Docusign Envelope ID: A36E9423-87A8-459E-AD86-F91124298D34

36. Tenant shall be responsible for the observance of all of the foregoing Rules and Regulations by Tenant's employees, agents, clients, invitees and guests.

37. Tenant shall not allow its employees or invitees to park in other than designated areas, nor shall any washing of cars or car repairs be permitted in any parking areas, nor shall overnight parking be permitted, nor shall commercial trucks be allowed in the parking areas other than in designated delivery areas.

38. Other than for single-trip useges, Tenant shall make reservations for use of any elevators, which shall be accepted by Landlord on a first-come, first-serve basis.

39. These Rules and Regulations are in addition to, and shall not be construed to in any way modify, alter or amend, in whole or in part, the terms, covenants, agreements and conditions of any lease of Leased Premises in the Building.

SCHEDULE "F"
SPECIAL PROVISIONS

In the event of an inconsistency between any of the terms, covenant or conditions of the Lease and this Schedule "F", this Schedule "F" shall control over the conflicting provision of the Lease.

1. RENEWAL OPTION

Provided that: (i) the Lease is signed by the parties; (ii) the Tenant is not in default under the terms and conditions of the Lease beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded herein; and (iii) excluding transactions with an Affiliate, the Tenant has not transferred or subleased the Leased Premises, in whole or in part; the Landlord hereby grants to the Tenant an option to renew the Term for the entire the Leased Premises for an additional period of 5 years, commencing on May 1, 2035 and terminating on April 30, 2040 (the Renewal Option), upon the same terms and conditions set out in the Lease, with the exception that:

a) there shall be no further option to renew the Term;

b) the Leased Premises shall be accepted by the Tenant in the same state as that in which they are at the end of the then current Term;

c) there shall be no work executed in the Leased Premises by the Landlord;

d) there shall be no free rent periods, no allowance nor any monetary inducements allocated to the Tenant;

e) the Landlord may, at its sole discretion, modify the insurance coverages mentioned in the Lease to reflect the Landlord's then applicable standards; and

f) the Minimum Rent shall be negotiated in order to reflect the then prevailing market rental rates payable at the time of the exercise of the Renewal Option, for comparable premises (excluding sub-leases, and assignments) and located in in comparable buildings in the Coral Springs submarket of Broward County, Florida, taking into consideration all current marketplace concessions (including, without limitation, all free rent periods, Leasehold Improvement Allowances, and other economic incentives) available to tenants in the marketplace taking into account the (x) Renewal Option term, (y) creditworthiness of the Tenant and (z) all other elements affecting the transaction.

The Tenant shall notify the Landlord in writing of its intention to exercise said Renewal Option, which notice must be received by the Landlord not less than 12 months prior to the expiry of the then current Term (the Renewal Notice), failing which, the Lease shall terminate at the expiry of the Term pursuant to the terms of the Lease and the Renewal Option shall automatically become null and void end of no further effect.

Should the parties fail to reach an agreement with respect to the amount of the Minimum Rent payable during the Renewal Option within 30 days following the Landlord's receipt of the Tenant's Renewal Notice (the Negotiation Period), the parties shall refer the litigation to an Expert (as hereinafter defined).

Within 15 days following the end of the Negotiation Period, the parties shall name, by mutual agreement, a real estate expert having at least 10 years of experience in the real estate industry of Coral Springs submarket of Broward County, Florida, and working for a reputable real estate firm (the Expert), which shall be mandated by the Landlord and the Tenant to determine the Minimum Rent payable by the Tenant during the Renewal Option. Following the nomination of the Expert, the Landlord and the Tenant shall each have 10 days to remit to the Expert their respective proposal of the minimum rent reflecting the fair market value (collectively the Proposals and individually, the Proposal). The Expert shall then have 10 days following its receipt of the Proposals to determine which Proposal best represents the fair market value. The decision of the Expert shall be final and binding upon the Landlord and the Tenant. The Landlord and the Tenant shall equally share (i.e., 50/50) the Expert's fees.

For clarity purposes, if the parties refer the litigation to an Expert in accordance with the foregoing, the Tenant will be deemed to have exercised its Renewal Option and will be bound by the decision of the Expert.

The present Renewal Option is a personal right granted to the Tenant and cannot, except in the case of an assignment to an Affiliate, be transferred or assigned.

2. DEPOSIT

The Tenant undertakes to remit to the Landlord the sum of $134,181.84 (as defined in Section D) (Deposit) of the Lease Summary) within 10 days from the execution of the Lease, via certified cheque or wire transfer (the cost of such transfer, as the case may be, shall be entirely borne by the Tenant), at Tenant's discretion) (the Deposit), failing which the present Lease will become null and void. Provided the Tenant is not in default of its obligation under the present Lease beyond any applicable notice and cure periods at the time thereof, the Landlord will apply an amount of $44,730.61 against the Rent (i.e. Minimum Rent and Additional Rent) payable by the Tenant on the month of August 2025 (or if the same occurs during the Free Rent Period, this date shall be tolled until the next month Minimum Rent and Additional Rent are due hereunder), leaving a balance to the Deposit in the amount of $89,461.23 (the Balance of the Deposit). Said Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, is given by the Tenant as security for the due performance by the Tenant of all the terms, obligations and conditions herein to be respectively paid, observed and performed by the Tenant. If the Tenant shall breach any of such terms, covenants and conditions beyond any applicable notice and cure periods afforded herein, the Landlord may, at its option and without notice, appropriate and apply said Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, so much thereof as may be necessary, as full or partial compensation to the Landlord for loss or damage suffered or sustained by the Landlord arising out of or in connection with such breach by the Tenant. The Tenant, within 10 business days of demand, shall forthwith pay to Landlord an amount sufficient to restore the Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be to the original sum required to be deposited. In the event of bankruptcy or other credit or debtor proceedings against the Tenant, such Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, shall automatically be deemed to be Landlord's property as prepaid rent, without any recourses by the Tenant or any other third party. Provided the Tenant is not in default under the Lease beyond any applicable notice and cure periods, the Landlord shall remit the Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, to the Tenant within a delay of 30 days after the termination of this Lease or any renewal thereof.

Should the Landlord transfer or otherwise assign its interest in the Lease, the parties hereto recognize and agree that the Landlord shall have the right to transfer its rights and interests in the Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, to the transferee or assignee, upon notice to the Tenant. The Tenant shall in no event be released from its obligations hereinabove regarding the Deposit and/or the Balance of the Deposit, as the case may be, whether it assigns the Lease or whether the Tenant subleases the Leased Premises, with or without the Landlord's consent.

3. FREE GROSS RENT PERIOD

Notwithstanding anything in this Lease to the contrary, provided that: (I) the Lease is signed by the parties; (ii) the Tenant is not in default under the terms and conditions of the Lease beyond any applicable notice and cure periods; and (iii) except in the case of an assignment to an Affiliate, the Tenant has not transferred or subleased the Leased Premises, in whole or in part; the Tenant will not have to pay Rent (i.e., Minimum Rent and Additional Rent) for the following 7 non-consecutive months: the first 4 full months following the Commencement Date (i.e., May 2025 to August 2025 inclusively), as well as May 2026, June 2026 and May 2027 (collectively the Free Rent Period). All the other terms and conditions of the Lease shall apply during the Free Rent Period. In the event that one of the conditions indicated in the present article have not been met, the present Free Rent Period shall automatically become null and void and the Rent shall be payable by the Tenant as per Article 3 (Rent) of the Lease.

The present Free Rent Period is a personal right granted to the Tenant and any permitted assigns thereof and cannot, except in the case of an assignment to an Affiliate, be transferred or assigned to a third party.

4. SIGNAGE

Provided that the Lease is unconditionally accepted by the parties,Tenant will be provided the right, after obtaining the Landlord's prior written approval, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed with respect to the conception, design, language, wording and location of the sign to install and maintain, at Tenant's cost and expense, Building standard signage of the Tenant's name/logo adjacent to its principal entry door.

At the end of the Term or any renewal or extension thereof, the Tenant shall remove any such signs (as the case may be) and reinstate the wall to its original state, the whole at its sole cost and responsibility or, the Landlord may choose to proceed with the foregoing, at its sole discretion, and in such a case, the Tenant shall reimburse the Landlord for all reasonable costs incurred for same, plus 5% of the cost of such expense. Tenant's obligation to observe this covenant shall survive the expiration or earlier termination of this Lease.

The present signage right is a personal right granted to the Tenant and any permitted assigns thereof and cannot, except in the case of an assignment to an Affiliate, be transferred or assigned to a third party.

5. PARKING

Provided that the Lease is signed by the parties, as of the Commencement Date, the Tenant and its employees shall be entitled to lease 53 unreserved parking spaces in the parking garage located adjacent to the Building, calculated as per a ratio of 4 unreserved parking spaces per 1,000 square feet of the Rentable Area of the Leased Premises (which ratio may vary from time to time), in common with the other tenants of the Building and/or the Centre, free of charge for the Tenant.

It is understood that the Landlord shall provide parking access cards for the initial 53 unreserved parking spaces in the parking garage located adjacent to the Building at Landlord's cost and expense and Tenant shall be responsible to pay for the costs of any additional access cards which exceed the aforementioned 53 unreserved parking spaces, or for any replacement of lost or defective access cards at the rate in force in the Building and/or the Centre from time to time, which is currently established at $8.00 per access card, plus applicable taxes.

Except to the extent arising from Landlord or its agent's, contractor's, employee's, licensee's or invitee's wilful misconduct or gross negligence, the Landlord shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused to any vehicles of the Tenant, its employees and visitors, or to any of the property located therein, the Tenant, its employees and visitors hereby undertaking to obtain and maintain the proper insurance coverages against theft, loss and civil liability on their vehicles and their belongings. Moreover, the Tenant undertakes to add the aforementioned parking spaces on its certificate of insurance for the Leased Premises and to maintain such insurance in force throughout the Term and any renewal thereof.

The present parking right is a personal right granted to the Tenant and any permitted assigns thereof, and cannot be transferred or assigned to a third party.

6. IT ROOM

Provided that the Tenant remits its plans and specification to the Landlord for its review and comments, the Tenant may install, at its sole cost, an internal IT room within its Leased Premises with supplemental HVAC unit (the HVAC Unit), for which the Tenant shall be at all times responsible, and which will service Tenant's low voltage and internal personal and telecommunication needs. The Tenant, at its sole cost, shall be uniquely responsible for all insurance coverage, maintenance, repairs and replacement of the HVAC Unit and shall indemnify and hold harmless the Landlord from any liability, damages, losses, expenses, claims or actions arising in connection to the installation of the HVAC Unit to the complete exoneration of the Landlord.

Moreover, the Tenant shall, at its cost, throughout the Term and any renewal thereof, enter into a contract with a duly qualified third party for the preventive maintenance of the HVAC Unit. The Tenant shall provide the Landlord with a copy of such preventive maintenance contract within 30 days following the installation of the HVAC Unit and within 30 days following any renewals of such contract as well as copies of all invoices and work orders issued pursuant to such preventive maintenance contract for the preceding year, which invoices and work orders must include a description of the work and/or maintenance performed.

At the end of the Term or at the early expiry of the Lease, the Tenant shall be responsible, at its sole cost, to remove the HVAC Unit from the Leased Premises and to repair any damage caused to the Leased Premises resulting from such removal, to the entire satisfaction of the Landlord, failing which the Landlord shall be entitled to remedy the Tenant's default, at the Tenant's cost, plus 5% of the cost of such expense.

Provide explanation below:

Dear Sir or Madam, during the years of 1996 thru 1998 I had recently divorced and started down the wrong path of drugs and alcohol and was arrested several times for drug paraphanelia, posession of a narcotic, Shop lifting or driving with a suspended license which I am not proud of.

After my last arrest in 1998 I turned my life around and am now alcohol and drug free since March 22, 2022 I work a program of recovery and do many things to give back to my community including working with the Juvenile Hall so that the kids see that they don't have to make the same mistakes that I did and also have been in service by going into the jails to share my experience strength and hope with the inmates who are incarcerated.

When asked how I still stay clean I share that I still go to meetings, I still work with my sponsor, I still work the 12 steps of recovery, I'm still in service and most of all I don't put anything into my body.

I'm hoping that with sharing my story you will see that my life has changed and my actions from 24 years ag show that I am not the same person I use to be and can be approved by the state of NV for licensing.

Per the applications request I am attaching all of my past violations and am available for any questions you might have.

Sincerely,

Tammy Bowman

Hi Kristy, I have been employed full-time by Quest since 1/3/2022, and I am present on-site during all regular business hours. In my capacity, I support the daily operations of our facility, including the coordination of documentation, regulatory processes, and patient communication related to our medical products — specifically continuous glucose monitors (CGMs) and insulin pump supplies.

Quest Health Solutions holds a direct supplier agreement with Abbott Diabetes Care, and our fulfillment is managed through our logistics partner, Gemco Medical. As part of my role, I maintain oversight of shipment workflows, ensure documentation is in compliance with policy, and support product-related processes aligned with our delivery protocols and equipment procedures.

I have successfully completed required annual training on topics including HIPAA, corporate compliance, patient rights, CGM product training, and equipment delivery procedures, all of which are vital to the safe and compliant operation of a durable medical equipment provider.

Additionally, on July 13, 2023, for our original Application submitted, I personally appeared before the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy as an authorized representative of Quest Health Solutions. For reference, I have included a copy of the formal meeting request and the Board's approval confirmation email after the meeting took place.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions that you might have,

Sincerely,

QUEST HEALTH SOLUTIONS

ASSIGNMENT OF MEMBERSHIP INTERESTS

This Assignment of Membership Interests ("Assignment"), dated as of April 30, 2025 (the "Execution Date"), is made by Vasta Consulting, Inc., a Florida corporation ("Assignor"), to SCOA Wellness Holdings, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Assignee").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, this Assignment is being delivered pursuant to Section 2.08(h)(iv) of that certain Equity Purchase Agreement, dated as of March 22, 2024, by and among Assignor, Assignee and the other parties identified therein (as amended, restated, amended and restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time, the "Purchase Agreement");

WHEREAS, Assignor owns 40.4434% of the issued and outstanding Membership Interests of the Target (the "Owned Interests"); and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, Assignor has agreed to sell, convey, transfer, assign, and deliver to Assignee, free and clear of all Liens, and Assignee has agreed to accept and purchase from Assignor, 41.2099% of the Owned Interests, representing 16.6667% of the Fully Diluted Equity Interests in the Target on the date hereof (the "Assigned Interests").

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the respective representations and agreements hereinafter set forth and other good and valuable consideration, the adequacy and receipt of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties agree as follows:

1. Definitions. All capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings given to them in the Purchase Agreement.

2. Assignment. As of the Execution Date, Assignor hereby sells, conveys, transfers, assigns, and delivers to Assignee Assignor's rights, titles and interests in and to the Assigned Interests, free and clear of all Liens. Assignor represents that no certificates have been issued by the Target in respect of the Assigned Interests and therefore this instrument represents a valid assignment of the Assigned Interests which Assignor represents is free and clear of any and all security interests, liens, encumbrances, options, restrictions, claims and rights of others.

3. Acceptance by Assignee. Assignee hereby accepts the Assigned Interests as of the Execution Date and shall be deemed to have purchased, acquired and accepted the Assigned Interests as of the Execution Date.

4. Further Assurances. On and after the Execution Date, Assignor shall take any and all further actions, including, but not limited to, the execution of additional instruments or documents that may be reasonably requested in writing by Assignee to effectuate or evidence the sale, conveyance, transfer, assignment, and delivery of the Assigned Interests or the other actions expressly contemplated by this Assignment.

5. Miscellaneous. This Assignment shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of Assignor and Assignee and their respective successors and assigns. The Assignment shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without giving effect to any conflict or choice of law provision that would result in the imposition of another state's law. This Assignment may be executed in counterparts, by facsimile or PDF signature, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

ORDER OF DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE

THIS CAUSE is before the Court upon the parties' Joint Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice, ECF No. [42] ("Stipulation"), filed on December 23, 2015. The Stipulation resolves all claims between Plaintiff Go Commando, LLC ("Plaintiff"), and Defendant Kimberly-Clark Corporation ("Defendant"), pursuant to the terms of a Confidential Settlement Agreement ("Agreement"). See id. The Court has carefully reviewed the Stipulation, the record, and is otherwise fully advised in the premises.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED AND ADJUDGED as follows:

1. The Stipulation, ECF No. [42], is GRANTED;
2. The above-styled case is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE;
3. Each party shall bear its own attorneys' fees and costs; and
4. Per the parties' request, the Court shall retain jurisdiction for the sole purpose of enforcing the terms of the Agreement, which terms are incorporated herein.

- Please contact this office immediately if any information on this license is incorrect.
- This license must be displayed at the address licensed.
- The license renewal application and fee are due every two years BEFORE the anniversary date. Please note that it is the responsibility of the license holder to remit the licensure fee before the expiration date, whether a payment notice is received or not. Failure to submit the renewal fee before the expiration date will result in a $100.00 delinquency fee for each location and must be remitted before the license will be issued.
- A license that is amended, including a change of name, ownership, legal entity, or a notification of a change in the location of a licensed place of business will require submission of new application and fee. Applications for these changes can be downloaded from our website at www.dshs.texas.gov.
- Please submit written notice if you close or sell your business.
- If you have any questions or desire additional information concerning the application process or this license, please contact the Drug and Device Business Filing and Verification Unit at (512) 834-6727. In order to serve you better, DSHS would like you to complete the short online survey at: https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/RLUsurvey. The information you provide will assist DSHS in its efforts to continually improve and become more responsive to the needs of its customers. Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

Jennifer Marissa Roy
TenderHeart Health Outcomes, Inc.

Please find below an expanded overview of my relevant experience with the products provided by TenderHeart Health Outcomes, Inc. While this experience is primarily drawn from my role as Intake Manager at Longhorn Health Solutions, I have consistently carried out these responsibilities across all management positions held at both TenderHeart Health Outcomes and Longhorn Health Solutions:

- Led the development and ongoing maintenance of a comprehensive product formulary to ensure patients received the most appropriate medical supplies based on their individual needs.
- Designed and implemented standardized procedures for item selection, promoting operational consistency and efficiency.
- Handled product-related escalations, effectively resolving patient concerns by identifying and transitioning them to more suitable medical supply options.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or need further details.

There are no relevant disciplinary actions taken against the applicant corporation Vantive US Healthcare, LLC ("Vantive US") or the facility related to the license. Vantive US is a subsidiary of Baxter Healthcare Corporation, which in turn is a subsidiary of Baxter International Inc., a publicly traded company listed on the New York Stock Exchange with tens of thousands of employees world-wide. For purposes of transparency, we are providing disclosures pertaining to state disciplinary actions and charges against Baxter Healthcare Corporation. Additional information regarding specific Vantive US or Baxter Healthcare Corporation facilities (e.g., inspection history) can be found on the FDA website.

State Pharmacy License Disciplinary Actions

Utah, License # 12435996-1710, 2023

On February 17, 2023, The Utah Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to timely notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter Byhalia, MS location. Baxter paid the fine and is waiting for the final signed order.

Utah, Pharmacy Class C License # 9451291-1710, 2022

On May 31, 2022, The Utah Department of Commerce issued a Citation and Order due to a failure to file a timely notification of the change in the designated representative at the Baxter - Hayward (W. Winton) location. Baxter resolved the matter and paid a reduced fine.

Idaho, Out of State Mail Service Pharmacy License # 36855MS, 2022

On March 3, 2022, The Idaho Board of Pharmacy issued an Order and Stipulation for violations stemming from an expired non-resident PIC registration. The registration has since been approved by the Board. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, Permit #194460, 2022

On May 3, 2022, The Alabama Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter – Hayward (W. Winton location). Baxter resolved the matter and paid the required fine.

Georgia, Wholesaler Pharmacy License # PHWH001754, 2017

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice. This issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities.

Baxter disclosed this issue on a renewal application for a Georgia wholesale license for its Marion, NC facility, and in October 2017, the state of Georgia issued a disciplinary order against that license (PHWH001754) based on the disclosure.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities.

Iowa, Nonresident Pharmacy License # 4127, 2014

The Iowa Board of Pharmacy (the "Iowa Board") issued a Stipulation for Baxter's Omaha, Nebraska pharmacy due to improperly delegating final verification of prescriptions for peritoneal dialysis solutions to a pharmacy technician. The Omaha facility is licensed in Nebraska under a Delegated Dispensing Permit, and utilized multiple quality checks, including retrospective pharmacist review, to ensure proper dispensing of peritoneal dialysis products to patients. Upon request by the Iowa Board, Baxter promptly modified its operations to ensure pharmacist verification of all orders. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Montana, License #2152, 2010

The Montana Board of Pharmacy (the "Montana Board") issued a Stipulation for violations stemming from the failure of Baxter to notify the Montana Board in the requisite time frame of a change in the designated Person-in-Charge for the Waukegan, IL facility. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, License #191639, 2009

The Alabama Board of Pharmacy found the Buford, GA facility was in violation of Code of Alabama (1975) Section 34-23-32. The facility continued distribution operations during the time between the valid license expired and when the expired license was renewed. Baxter Healthcare renewed the license, signed a Consent Order and paid the applicable fine.

Florida, Non-Resident Drug Manufacturer Permit No.: 26:4672, 2009

The Florida Department of Health (the "Florida Department") alleged that Baxter (Memphis, TN) sold prescription drugs to an unpermitted facility in Florida in violation of Section 499.005(15), F.S. Specifically, the Florida Department alleged that Baxter sold prescription drugs to Invivo at an unpermitted location. Baxter entered into a settlement agreement, whereby it neither admitted nor denied the allegations, and paid a fine.

Louisiana, License #3691, 2008

Louisiana Board of Wholesale Drug Distributors conducted a routine inspection of the facility operated by Baxter's third party logistics provider. Inspectors concluded Baxter (Round Lake, IL) violated Louisiana Administrative Code 46:XCI.311.D, which requires a licensee to maintain copies of current licenses for its customers who are authorized to obtain and possess legend drugs and devices. Baxter obtained customer licenses, signed a Consent Order, and paid the applicable fine.

Missouri, License #2005002668, 2005

The Missouri Board of Pharmacy (the "Missouri Board") issued a restricted drug distributor license to the facility located in Memphis, TN. The Missouri Board determined the facility violated Section 338.333.1 and 338.337.1 RSMo because the facility shipped legend drugs and/or medical devices into the state without being properly licensed. The proper license was obtained. The probationary period was successfully completed on October 21, 2007 and the restriction on the license was removed.

State Non-Disciplinary Settlements for Memphis Facility

Florida, License #s 26:506 (Memphis, TN) and 26:384 (Marion, NC), 2015

In June 2015, the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation (the "Department") sent Notices of Violation to Baxter alleging the shipment of prescription drugs to a Baptist Health South Florida, Inc. ("Baptist"), prior to Baptist receiving its permit to operate as a restricted prescription drug distributor – health care entity. Baxter had shipped products to the Baptist address under the valid medical license of the Medical Director, in reliance on a document evidencing the Medical Director's intent that he serve as the purchaser of the product. In August 2015, Baxter and the Department resolved this matter via a non-disciplinary settlement.

Other Actions: Dismissed Charge of Drug Law Violation

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities, or the facility that is the subject of this application.

Wholesaler – License Number WH03400

Dear Sir/Madam:

This letter is intended to notify you of two upcoming changes in the ownership of Vantive US Healthcare LLC ("VH-US"), which currently holds the following license(s) issued by Nevada State Board of Pharmacy:

- Wholesaler – License Number WH03400

These upcoming ownership changes, which are further described below, are anticipated to happen in close succession. As such, we would like to request that the two changes (i) be treated as a single change of ownership for licensing purposes, (ii) be processed through the submission of a single change of ownership application (for each license referenced above), and (iii) upon approval, result in the issuance of a single new license to VH-US or continuation of existing VH-US license.

In support of these requests, we have provided below specific details regarding the two planned ownership changes as well as relevant background information.

Background

The upcoming ownership changes that are the focus of this letter follow certain corporate changes involving VH-US that have occurred over the last year. These changes are illustrated by the corporate structure charts included in Attachment A (See Charts A and B). In summary:

- In early 2023, Baxter International Inc. ("BII"), the parent company of Baxter Healthcare Corporation ("BHC"), publicly announced its intention to separate its Kidney Care (renal and acute therapies) business into a new, independent publicly traded company.

- In executing this separation, two new legal entities were formed: (i) Vantive Health LLC ("VH"), which was established as a direct subsidiary of BII, and (ii) VH-US, which was established as a direct subsidiary of BHC.

- Steps were then initiated to transfer all relevant state licenses previously held by BHC to VH-US, which is the current license holder.

Details of Upcoming Ownership Changes

Two ownership changes involving VH-US are now contemplated:

- Ownership Change #1 (direct change): On or around December 31, 2024, VH-US (which is currently a direct subsidiary of BHC) will become a direct subsidiary of VH (See Chart C in Attachment A). Accordingly, VH will be the new "parent" of VH-US, with BII remaining the "grandparent" of VH-US.

- Ownership Change #2 (indirect change): While the initial plan (as noted above) was for BII's Kidney Care business to be a public spin-off, in August 2024, BII announced that it had executed a definitive agreement to sell the Kidney Care business to funds affiliated with the global investment firm, The Carlyle Group. As a result of this transaction, which is expected to close by the end of 2024 or early 2025, Spruce Bidco, II, Inc. ("SB"), a Delaware corporation that is part of The Carlyle Group , will obtain 100% ownership in VH, thus replacing BII as the "grandparent" (i.e., indirect owner) of VH-US (See Chart D in Attachment A).

Of note, VH-US, the current license holder, will remain the license holder following Ownership Changes #1 and #2. In addition, these upcoming changes will not result in any change to the EIN of VH-US, nor will there be any changes to VH-US's day-to-day facility operations or the products/services currently provided.[43]

Request

Given that these upcoming ownership changes are expected to occur in close succession, we request that the two changes (i) be treated as a single change of ownership for licensing purposes, (ii) be processed through the submission of a single change of ownership application (for each license referenced above), and (iii) upon approval by Nevada State Board of Pharmacy, result in the issuance of a single new license to VH-US.

We plan to begin the license application submission process in the next ten (10) days. We therefore respectfully request that you let us know at your earliest convenience—within the next ten (10) days—if you have any concerns granting these requests, or if you require any additional information regarding the proposed ownership changes to make such determination. Otherwise, we will proceed with filing the necessary licensing application(s) and supporting document(s), as applicable, in accordance with the applicable deadlines.

[43] Although occasional and periodic changes in the VH-US Officers slate may occur, VH-US will notify Nevada State Board of Pharmacy of any such changes in accordance with the requisite state notification process.

We are committed to ensuring compliance with applicable statutory and regulatory licensing requirements, and look forward to aligning on our proposed approach to handling the ownership changes described in this letter. To the extent any of the timelines noted above are materially delayed and/or there is a material change to the anticipated transaction structure outlined above (and in Attachment A), we will promptly update you.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of our requests. Please do not hesitate to contact me if there are any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

LaToyia M. Martin
Manager, Quality Compliance

Previous Corporate Structure (pre-Feb. 2024)	Current Corporate Structure (as of November 1, 2024)	Corporate Structure Planned On or Around December 31, 2024. NOTE: VH-US becomes a direct subsidiary of VH; however, BII continues to be the ultimate owner as the 'grandparent' company	Final Corporate Structure. NOTE: VH-US continues to be a direct subsidiary of VH; however, there is now a complete corporate separation from all Baxter entities at this stage. This marks the final separation of Vantive from Baxter.

Title XXXIII
REGULATION OF TRADE, COMMERCE, INVESTMENTS, AND SOLICITATIONS

Chapter 499
FLORIDA DRUG AND COSMETIC ACT

View Entire Chapter

499.015 Registration of drugs and devices; issuance of certificates of free sale.—

(1)(a) Except for those persons exempted from the definition of manufacturer in s. 499.003, any person who manufactures, packages, repackages, labels, or relabels a drug or device in this state must register such drug or device biennially with the department; pay a fee in accordance with the fee schedule provided by s. 499.041; and comply with this section. The registrant must list each separate and distinct drug or device at the time of registration.

(b) The department may not register any product that does not comply with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended, or Title 21 C.F.R. Registration of a product by the department does not mean that the product does in fact comply with all provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended.

(2) The department may require the submission of a catalog and specimens of labels at the time of application for registration of drugs or devices packaged and prepared in compliance with the federal act, which submission constitutes a satisfactory compliance for registration of the products. With respect to all other drugs and devices, the department may require the submission of a catalog and specimens of labels at the time of application for registration, but the registration will not become effective until the department has examined and approved the label of the drug or device. This approval or denial must include written notification to the manufacturer.

(3) Except for those persons exempted from the definition of manufacturer in s. 499.003, a person may not sell any product that he or she has failed to register in conformity with this section. Such failure to register subjects such drug or device to seizure and condemnation as provided in s. 499.062, and subjects such person to the penalties and remedies provided in this part.

(4) Unless a registration is renewed, it expires 2 years after the last day of the month in which it was issued. Any product registration issued or renewed on or after July 1, 2016, shall expire on the same date as the manufacturer or repackager permit of the person seeking to register the product. If the first product registration issued to a person on or after July 1, 2016, expires less than 366 days after issuance, the fee for product registration shall be $15. If the first product registration issued to a person on or after July 1, 2016, expires more than 365 days after issuance, the fee for product registration shall be $30. The department may issue a stop-sale notice or order against a person that is subject to the requirements of this section and that fails to comply with this section within 31 days after the date the registration expires. The notice or order shall prohibit such person from selling or causing to be sold any drugs or devices covered by this part until he or she complies with the requirements of this section.

(5) A product regulated under this section which is not included in the biennial registration may not be sold until it is registered and complies with this section.

(6) The department may issue a certificate of free sale for any product that is required to be registered under this part.

(7) A product registration is valid only for the company named on the registration and located at the address on the registration. A person whose product is registered by the department under this section must notify the department before any change in the name or address of the establishment to which the product is registered. If a person whose product is registered ceases conducting business, the person must notify the department before closing the business.

(8) Notwithstanding any requirements set forth in this part, a manufacturer of medical devices that is registered with the federal Food and Drug Administration is exempt from this section and s. 499.041(6) if:

(a) The manufacturer's medical devices are approved for marketing by, or listed with the federal Food and Drug Administration in accordance with federal law for commercial distribution; or

(b) The manufacturer subcontracts with a manufacturer of medical devices to manufacture components of such devices.

(9) However, the manufacturer must submit evidence of such registration, listing, or approval with its initial application for a permit to do business in this state, as required in s. 499.01, and any changes to such information previously submitted at the time of renewal of the permit. Evidence of approval, listing, and registration by the federal Food and Drug Administration must include:

(a) For Class II devices, a copy of the premarket notification letter (510K);

(b) For Class III devices, a federal Food and Drug Administration premarket approval number;

(c) For a manufacturer who subcontracts with a manufacturer of medical devices to manufacture components of such devices, a federal Food and Drug Administration registration number; or

(d) For a manufacturer of medical devices whose devices are exempt from premarket approval by the federal Food and Drug Administration, a federal Food and Drug Administration registration number.

[1]Note.—

A. Section 11, ch. 2019-99, provides in part that "[i]mplementation of sections 2 through 10 of this act is contingent upon authorization granted under federal law, rule, or approval." Section 11, ch. 2019-99, was codified as s. 499.02851. Section 12, ch. 2019-99, provides that "[t]his act shall take effect July 1, 2019."

B. Subject to the contingency as to implementation in s. 11, ch. 2019-99, s. 8, ch. 2019-99, amends subsection (1), to read:

(1)(a) Except for those persons exempted from the definition of manufacturer in s. 499.003, any person who manufactures, packages, repackages, labels, or relabels a drug or device in this state must register such drug or device biennially with the department; pay a fee in accordance with the fee schedule provided by s. 499.041; and comply with this section. The registrant must list each separate and distinct drug or device at the time of registration.

(b) The department may not register any product that does not comply with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended, or Title 21 C.F.R. Registration of a product by the department does not mean that the product does in fact comply with all provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended.

(c) Registration under this section is not required for prescription drugs imported under the International Prescription Drug Importation Program established in s. 499.0285.

PHARMACEUTICAL WHOLESALER SURETY BOND

Application/License No. _____

VANTIVE US HEALTHCARE LLC (Applicant/Principal), doing or intending to do business as a pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 7511 114th Avenue North Largo, FL 33773 (Address of Applicant/Principal), as PRINCIPAL, and WESTERN SURETY COMPANY (Surety Company), a corporation organized under the laws of the state of SD (State of Incorporation) and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is 151 N. Franklin Street Chicago, IL 60606 (Address of Surety) as SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($100,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on February 20, 2025 (Effective Date).

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statutes (NRS) 639.515 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $100,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

Posted February 20, 2020

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

(1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
(2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
(3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
(4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS
639.515. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
(5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
(6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
(7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 20th day of February, 2025.

PART I

Item 1. Business.

Company Overview

Baxter International Inc., through its subsidiaries, provides a broad portfolio of essential healthcare products, including acute and chronic dialysis therapies; sterile intravenous (IV) solutions; infusion systems and devices; parenteral nutrition therapies; inhaled anesthetics; generic injectable pharmaceuticals; surgical hemostat and sealant products, advanced surgical equipment; smart bed systems; patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies; and respiratory health devices. These products are used by hospitals, kidney dialysis centers, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, doctors' offices and by patients at home under physician supervision. Our global footprint and the critical nature of our products and services play a key role in expanding access to healthcare in emerging and developed countries. As of December 31, 2022, we manufactured products in over 20 countries and sold them in over 100 countries.

Baxter International Inc. was incorporated under Delaware law in 1931. As used in this report, "Baxter International" means Baxter International Inc. and "we", "our" or "us" means Baxter International and its consolidated subsidiaries, unless the context otherwise requires.

Recently Announced Strategic Actions

In January 2023, we announced the following planned strategic actions that are intended to enhance our operational effectiveness, accelerate innovation and drive additional stockholder value: (a) a proposed spinoff of our Renal Care and Acute Therapies product categories into an independent publicly traded company, (b) our development of a new operating model to simplify our operations and (c) our pursuit of strategic alternatives (including a potential sale) for our BioPharma Solutions (BPS) product category.

This proposed spinoff of our Renal Care and Acute Therapies product categories (the proposed spinoff) is currently expected to be completed during the first half of 2024, approximately 12 to 18 months from the date of the related announcement. In 2022 we generated $4.4 billion of combined net sales from our Renal Care and Acute Therapies product categories, representing approximately 29% of our consolidated net sales. We intend for the proposed spinoff to qualify as tax-free to Baxter and our shareholders for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The proposed spinoff is subject to the satisfaction of customary conditions, including final approval from our Board of Directors, the filing and effectiveness of a registration statement on Form 10, receipt of an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ruling or related tax opinions from counsel, satisfactory completion of financing arrangements, consultations with works councils and other employee representative bodies and any necessary regulatory approvals.

To strengthen our ability to deliver on our vision to transform healthcare, we are designing a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations. Once the simplified model is implemented, we expect to be a more integrated and nimble organization that can respond more effectively to changes in the macroeconomic environment, while enhancing our ability to drive innovation in our product portfolio. As part of these actions, we are working to create a more resilient supply chain and better align our manufacturing footprint and supply chain to our commercial activities. Under the new model, our business will be managed across four global business units consisting of: (1) Medical Products and Therapies, which will include our Medication Delivery, Advanced Surgery and Clinical Nutrition product categories, (2) Healthcare Systems and Technologies, which will include the Patient Support Systems, Front Line Care and Global Surgical Solutions product categories obtained in the Hillrom acquisition, (3) Pharmaceuticals, which will include our BPS product category, for which we are exploring strategic alternatives, and our Pharmacauticals product category and (4) Kidney Care, which will include our Renal Care and Acute Therapies product categories that we are proposing to spinoff into an independent publicly traded company.
We expect to have our new organizational designs substantially finalized in the second quarter of 2023. The new operating model will have significant impacts on our systems and processes across our entire company and we expect to have those broader operational changes, including our updated management reporting framework for the new operating model, fully implemented during the second half of 2023. At that time, we expect that our reportable segments will be changed to align with the new operating model.

We are pursuing strategic alternatives (including a potential sale) for our BPS product category, which includes contract manufacturing services provided to pharmaceutical and biopharmaceutical companies. In 2022 we generated $644 million of net sales from that product category, representing approximately 4% of our consolidated net sales. A potential sale of, or other strategic transaction involving, BPS would help us further narrow our strategic focus as a company while providing an opportunity for capital deployment, including debt repayment.

Following these planned strategic actions (including completion of the proposed spinoff), we intend to emerge as a stronger hospital solutions and connected care company. As a more focused business, we expect to be better positioned to make strategic investments to accelerate our vision and to deliver differentiated value to our stakeholders with our unique combination of products, therapies and connected care platforms.

There can be no guarentees thet the proposed spinoff, the simplified operating model or the sale of, or other strategic transaction involving, our BPS product category will be completed in the manner or over the timeframes described above, or at all.

Acquisition of Hillrom

On December 13, 2021, we completed our acquisition of all outstanding equity interests of Hill-Rom Holdings, Inc. (Hillrom) for a purchase price of $10.5 billion. Including the assumption of Hillrom's outstanding debt obligations, the enterprise value of the transaction was approximately $12.8 billion. Hillrom was a global medical technology leader and its products and services help enable earlier diagnosis and treatment, optimize surgical efficiency, and accelerate patient recovery while simplifying clinical communication and shifting care closer to home. Hillrom made those outcomes possible through digital and connected care solutions and collaboration tools, including smart bed systems, patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices, advanced equipment for the surgical space and more, delivering actionable, real-time insights at the point of care. In 2022 the Patient Support Systems, Front Line Care and Global Surgical Solutions product categories of our Hillrom segment collectively generated net sales of $2.9 billion. During 2022, we also recognized $2.8 billion of goodwill impairments and $332 million of indefinite-lived intangible asset impairments related to goodwill and trade name intangible assets that arose from the Hillrom acquisition. See Notes 2, 4, 5 and 17 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information about the Hillrom acquisition, goodwill and intangible asset impairments, Hillrom acquisition financing arrangements and Hillrom segment results, respectively.

Business Segments and Products

We currently manage our global operations based on four segments, consisting of the following geographic segments related to our legacy Baxter business: Americas (North and South America), EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and APAC (Asia-Pacific), and a global segment for our recently acquired Hillrom business. As discussed above under "Recently Announced Strategic Actions," we are designing a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations and we expect that our reportable segments will be changed to align with that new operating model when it is fully implemented.

The Americas, EMEA and APAC segments provide a broad portfolio of essential healthcare products, including acute and chronic dialysis therapies; sterile IV solutions; infusion systems and devices; parenteral nutrition therapies; inhaled anesthetics; generic injectable pharmaceuticals; and surgical hemostat and sealant products. As discussed above under "Recently Announced Strategic Actions," we are pursuing the proposed spinoff of our Renal Care and Acute Therapies product categories and strategic alternatives for our BPS product category. The Hillrom segment provides digital and connected care solutions and collaboration tools, including smart bed systems, patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices and advanced equipment for the surgical space.

For financial information about our segments, see Note 17 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Business Strategy

Our business stretegy is focused on driving sustainable growth and innovation aligned with our mission to save and sustain lives and our vision to transform healthcare with a customer focus to improve patient outcomes, enhance workflow efficiency, and enable cost-effective care. Our diversified and broad portfolio of medical products that treat life-threatening acute or chronic conditions end our global presence are core components of our strategy as we work to achieve these objectives. We are focused on four strategic pillars as part of our pursuit of industry leading performance: innovation; market expansion; operational efficiency; and capital allocation.

Innovation

Our innovation strategy is focused on connected care and core therapies offerings. Connected care offerings include devices or software that can connect, communicate and/or analyze data to help transform healthcare and improve patient outcomes. Our acquisition of Hillrom has been a key driver in developing our connected care offerings, as its product portfolio includes digital and connected care solutions and collaboration tools such as smart bed systems, patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices, advanced equipment for the surgical space and more, delivering actionable, real-time insights at the point of care. Our core therapies product offerings include medical devices and consumable medical products designed to address essential patient and provider needs across the continuum of care.

As part of this strategy and consistent with our recently announced strategic initiatives, we are shifting our investments to drive innovation in product areas where we have compelling opportunities to serve patients and healthcare professionals while advancing our business. We are accelerating the pace in which we bring these advances to market to support our future growth. We are in the midst of launching several new products, geographic expansions and line extensions including in such areas as chronic and acute renal care, smart pump technology, hospital pharmaceuticals and nutritionals, surgical sealants, smart beds, respiratory vests and more. These comprise a mix of entirely new offerings, improvements on existing technologies and the expansion of current products into new geographies.

Market Expansion

The market expansion component of our strategy includes capturing revenue synergies through the integration of Hillrom, expanding our portfolio geographically, broadening our portfolio through channel expansion and increasing utilization of our products and therapies through market development activities. These initiatives include using Baxter's geographic footprint to introduce the Hillrom product portfolio into new markets, as well as expanding value-added services, increasing adoption of underpenetrated therapies and providing education and advocacy to improve access to our products.

Operational Excellence

As discussed above under "Recently Announced Strategic Actions," we are designing a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations. Once the simplified model is implemented, we expect to be a more integrated and nimble organization that can respond more effectively to changes in the macroeconomic environment, while enhancing our ability to drive innovation in our product portfolio. As part of these actions, we are working to create a more resilient supply chain and better align our manufacturing footprint and supply chain to our commercial activities. We also continue to focus on increasing efficiencies through automation and digitization and we remain committed to deliver on the targeted cost synergies expected to be achieved from our acquisition of Hillrom. We intend to continue to actively manage our cost structure to help ensure that we are committing resources to the highest value uses. Such high value activities include supporting innovation, building out the portfolio, expanding patient access and accelerating growth for our stockholders.

Maintaining Disciplined and Balanced Capital Allocation

Subject to market conditions and our investment grade targets, our capital allocation strategies include the following:

- debt repayments to support our deleveraging commitments;
- active portfolio management through the identification of attractive acquisition and divestiture transactions, including our recent acquisition of Hillrom, the proposed spinoff and our pursuit of strategic alternatives (including a potential sale) for our BPS product category; and
- return capital to stockholders through dividends. We also intend to reinstate share repurchases over the longer term.

We paid down approximately $900 million of debt during 2022 and we continue to be committed to an investment grade rating, including taking actions toward achieving our 2.75x net leverage commitment. We currently expect to apply proceeds from the proposed spinoff and potential BPS divestiture toward reducing indebtedness and addressing near-term debt maturities. During this deleveraging period, we currently intend to maintain our dividend, not make any share repurchases and be highly selective with respect to any potential acquisitions.

Sales and Distribution

We have our own direct sales force and also make sales to and through independent distributors, drug wholesalers acting as sales agents and specialty pharmacy or other alternate site providers. In the United States, third parties, such as Cardinal Health, Inc., warehouse and ship a significant portion of our products through their distribution centers. These centers are generally stocked with adequate inventories to facilitate prompt customer service. Sales and distribution methods include frequent contact by sales and customer service representatives, automated communications via various electronic purchasing systems, circulation of catalogs and merchandising bulletins, direct-mail campaigns, trade publication presence and advertising.

Sales are made and products are distributed on a direct basis or through independent distributors or sales agents in more than 100 countries as of December 31, 2022.

International Operations

The majority of our revenues are generated outside of the United States and geographic expansion remains a component of our strategy (including with respect to the Hillrom business). Our international presence includes operations in Europe, the Middle East, Africa, Asia-Pacific, Latin America and Canada. We are subject to certain risks inherent in conducting business outside the United States. For more information on these risks, see the information under the captions "Risks Related to Baxter's Business —We are subject to risks associated with doing business globally" and "—Changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates could have a material adverse effect on our operating results and liquidity" in Item 1A of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

For financial information about our foreign and domestic revenues and segment information, see Notes 10 and 17, respectively, in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. For more information regarding foreign currency exchange risk, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Financial Instrument Market Risk" in Item 7 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Contractual Arrangements

Our products are sold through contracts with customers, both within and outside the United States. Some of these contracts have terms of more than one year and place limits on our ability to increase prices. In the case of hospitals, governments and other facilities, these contracts may specify minimum quantities of a particular product or categories of products to be purchased by the customer.

In keeping with the increased emphasis on cost-effectiveness in healthcare delivery, many hospitals and other customers of medical products in the United States have joined group purchasing organizations (GPOs), or formed integrated delivery networks (IDNs), to enhance purchasing power. GPOs and IDNs negotiate pricing arrangements with manufacturers and distributors and the negotiated prices are made available to members. We have purchasing agreements with several of the major GPOs in the United States. GPOs may have agreements with more than one supplier for certain products. Accordingly, in these cases, we face competition from other suppliers even where a customer is a member of a GPO under contract with us. Purchasing power is similarly consolidated in many other countries. For example, public contracting authorities often act as the purchasing entities for the hospitals and other customers of medical products in their region and many hospitals and other customers have joined joint procurement entities and buying consortia. The result is that demand for healthcare products is increasingly concentrated across our markets globally. Additionally, our contractual pricing arrangements with GPOs, IDNs and public contracting authorities limit our ability to increase prices in order to offset raw materials or component price increases or otherwise.

Raw Materials and Component Parts

Raw materials and component parts essential to our business are purchased from numerous suppliers worldwide in the ordinary course of business. While many of these materials are generally available, we have experienced and may in the future experience shortages of supply. Additionally, certain of these materials are secured from single source suppliers or on a spot basis and not pursuant to a contractual arrangement. In recent periods, we have experienced increased costs and shortages of raw materials and component parts (including resins and electromechanical devices), which has had a negative impact on our profit margins, due to the increased costs, and on our sales for certain product categories, due to our inability to fully satisfy demand.

In an effort to manage risk associated with raw materials and component supply, we work closely with our suppliers to help ensure availability and continuity of supply while maintaining high quality and reliability. We also seek to develop new and alternative sources of supply where beneficial to our overall raw materials procurement strategy. Refer to Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for further information regarding risks related to the supply chain, raw materials and component parts.

We are not always able to recover cost increases for raw materials and component parts through customer pricing due to contractual limits, where applicable, and market forces. This circumstance occurred during 2022 and our profit margins were adversely impacted because we were unable to fully offset all such cost increases through customer pricing adjustments or other pricing actions. We seek to utilize long-term supply contracts with some suppliers to help maintain continuity of supply and manage the risk of price increases. Our ability to do so in the face of limited supply of certain raw materials and component parts and inflationary environment may be limited.

Competition and Healthcare Cost Containment

Our businesses benefit from a number of competitive advantages, including the breadth and depth of our product offerings and our strong relationships with customers, including hospitals and clinics, GPOs, IDNs, physicians and patients, many of whom self-administer home-based therapies that we supply. We also benefit from efficiencies and cost advantages resulting from shared manufacturing facilities and the technological advantages of our products.

Although no single company competes with us in all of our businesses, we face substantial competition in each of our segments from international and domestic healthcare, medical products and pharmaceutical companies and providers of all sizes, and these competitors often differ across our businesses. In addition, global and regional competitors continue to expand their manufacturing capacity and sales and marketing channels. We believe customer purchasing decisions are primarily focused on cost-effectiveness, price, service, product performance and technological innovation. There has been increasing consolidation in our customer base and by our competitors, which continues to result in pricing and market pressures.

Global efforts toward healthcare cost containment continue to exert pressure on product pricing. Governments around the world use various mechanisms to control healthcare expenditures, such as price controls, the formation of public contracting authorities, product formularies (lists of recommended or approved products), and competitive tenders which require the submission of a bid to sell products. Sales of our products are dependent, in part, on the availability of reimbursement by government agencies and healthcare programs, as well as insurance companies and other private payers. In the United States, the federal and many state governments have adopted or proposed initiatives relating to Medicaid and other health programs that may limit reimbursement or increase rebates that we and other providers are required to pay to the state. In addition to government regulation, managed care organizations in the United States, which include medical insurance companies, medical plan administrators, health-maintenance organizations, hospital and physician alliances and pharmacy benefit managers, continue to put pressure on the price and usage of healthcare products. Managed care organizations seek to contain healthcare expenditures, and their purchasing strength has been increasing due to their consolidation into fewer, larger organizations and a growing number of enrolled patients. We face similar issues outside of the United States. In Europe and Latin America, for example, the government provides healthcare at low cost to patients, and controls its expenditures by purchasing products through public tenders, collective purchesing, regulating prices, setting reference prices in public tenders or limiting reimbursement or patient access to certain products. For further discussion, refer to Item 1A of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Intellectual Property

Patents and other proprietary rights are essential to our business. We rely on patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, know-how and confidentiality agreements to develop, maintain and strengthen our competitive position. We own a number of patents and trademarks throughout the world and have entered into license arrangements relating to various third-party patents and technologies. Products manufactured by us are sold primarily under our own trademarks and trade names. Some products distributed by us are sold under our trade names, while others are sold under trade names owned by our suppliers or partners. Trade secret protection of unpatented confidential and proprietary information is also important to us. We maintain certain details about our processes, products and technology as trade secrets and generally require employees, consultants, and business partners to enter into confidentiality agreements. These agreements may be breached and we may not have adequate remedies for any breach. In addition, our trade secrets may otherwise become known or be independently discovered by competitors. To the extent that our employees, consultants, and business partners use intellectual property owned by others in their work for us, disputes may arise as to the rights in related or resulting know-how and inventions.

Our policy is to protect our products and technology through patents and trademarks on a worldwide basis. This protection is sought in a manner that balances the cost of such protection against obtaining the greatest value for us. We also recognize the need to promote the enforcement of our patents and trademarks and take commercially reasonable steps to enforce our patents and trademarks around the world against potential infringers, including judicial or administrative action where appropriate.

We operate in an industry susceptible to significant patent litigation. At any given time, we are involved as either a plaintiff or defendant in a number of patent infringement and other intellectual property-related actions. Such litigation can result in significant royalty or other payments or result in injunctions that can prevent the sale of products. For more information on patent and other litigation, see Note 7 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Research and Development

Our investment in research and development (R&D), consistent with our portfolio optimization and capital allocation strategies, helps fuel our future growth and our ability to remain competitive in each of our product categories. Accordingly, we continue to focus our investment on select R&D programs to enhance future growth through clinical differentiation. Expenditures for our R&D activities were $605 million in 2022, $534 million in 2021, and $521 million in 2020. These expenditures include costs associated with R&D activities performed at our R&D centers located around the world, which include facilities in Belgium, Sweden, India, Italy, Germany, China, Japan and the United States, as well as in-licensing, milestone and reimbursement payments made to partners for R&D work performed at non-Baxter locations. As discussed above in under "Recently Announced Strategic Actions," we are designing a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations. We are also working to create a more resilient supply chain and better align our manufacturing footprint and supply chain to our commercial activities. These activities may rasult in the consolidation of one or more R&D facilities.

For more information on our R&D activities, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Strategic Objectives" in Item 7 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Quality Management

Our continued success depends upon the quality of our products. Quality management plays en essential role in determining and meeting customer requirements, helping to prevent defects, facilitating continuing improvement of our processes, products and services, and helping to assure the safety and efficacy of our products. Our quality system enables the design, development, manufacturing, packaging, sterilization, handling, distribution and labeling of our products to ensure that they conform to customer requirements. In order to consistently improve the effectiveness and efficiency of our quality system, various measurement, monitoring and analysis methods, such as management reviews and internal, external and vendor audits, are employed at local and central levels.

Each product that we market is required to meet specific quality standards, both in packaging and in product integrity and quality. If any of those is determined to be compromised at any time, we endeavor to take corrective and preventive actions designed to ensure compliance with regulatory requirements and to meet customer expectations. For more information on corrective actions taken by us, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Certain Regulatory Matters" in Item 7 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Corporate Responsibility

Driven by our mission to save and sustain lives, Baxter's corporate responsibility strategy focuses on addressing the environmental, social and governance (ESG) issues that affect our patients, customers, employees, communities and other stakeholders worldwide. Our corporate responsibility approach supports our business priorities to achieve top quartile results relative to industry peers and other comparators across four dimensions: patient safety and quality, growth through innovation, best place to work and industry-leading performance. Advancing our corporate responsibility goals contributes to business, social and economic value, including attraction and retention, enhanced operational efficiency and implementation of enterprise risk management strategies, among others.

In 2021, we launched our 2030 Corporate Responsibility Commitment featuring ten strategic goals for focused action. Our Commitment is anchored by three pillars - Empower Our Patients, Protect Our Planet and Champion Our People and Communities - and bolstered by our approach to the foundational principles of Ethics and Compliance, Human Rights, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion and Privacy and Data Protection. The 2030 Corporate Responsibility Commitment and Goals highlight Baxter's corporate responsibility focus and help to further advance our ESG performance. Our progress against these goals is published annually in our Corporate Responsibility Report which is available on our website under "Our Story-Corporate Responsibility." The Corporate Responsibility Report is not incorporated by reference into this Annual Report on Form 10-K or any other document filed with the SEC.

Government Regulation

Our operations and many of the products manufactured or sold by us are subject to extensive regulation by numerous government agencies, both within and outside the United States. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in the United States, the European Medicines Agency (EMA) in Europe, the China Food and Drug Administration (CFDA) in China and other government agencies, inside and outside of the United States, administer requirements covering the testing, safety, effectiveness, manufacturing, labeling, promotion and advertising, distribution and post-market surveillance of our products. We must obtain specific approval from FDA and non-U.S. regulatory authorities before we can market and sell most of our products in a particular country. Even after we obtain regulatory approval to market a product, the product and our manufacturing processes and quality systems are subject to continued review by FDA and other regulatory authorities globally, including additional 510(k) and other regulatory submissions, and approvals or the time needed to secure approvals are not certain. State agencies in the United States also regulate our facilities, operations, employees, products and services within their respective states. We, along with our facilities, are subject to periodic inspections and possible administrative and legal actions by FDA and other regulatory agencies inside and outside the United States. Such actions may include warning letters, product recalls or seizures, monetary sanctions, injunctions to halt the manufacture and distribution of products, civil or criminal sanctions, refusal of a government to grant approvals or licenses, restrictions on operations or withdrawal of existing approvals and licenses. As situations require, we take steps to ensure safety and efficacy of our products, such as removing products found not to meet applicable requirements from the market and improving the effectiveness of quality systems. For more information on compliance actions taken by us, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Certain Regulatory Matters" in Item 7 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

We are also subject to various laws inside and outside the United States concerning our relationships with healthcare professionals and government officials, price reporting and regulation, the promotion, sales and marketing of our products and services, the importation and exportation of products, the operation of our facilities and distribution of products. In the United States, we are subject to the oversight of FDA, Office of the Inspector General within the Department of Health and Human Services (OIG), the Center for Medicare/Medicaid Services (CMS), the Department of Justice (DOJ), Environmental Protection Agency, Department of Defense and Customs and Border Protection in addition to others. We supply products and services to healthcare providers that are reimbursed by federally funded programs such as Medicare. As a result, our activities are subject to regulation by CMS and enforcement by OIG and DOJ. In each jurisdiction outside the United States, our activities are subject to regulation by government agencies including the EMA in Europe, CFDA in China and other agencies in other jurisdictions. Many of the agencies enforcing these laws have increased their enforcement activities with respect to healthcare companies in recent years. These actions appear to be part of a general trend toward increased enforcement activity globally.

Our operations involve the use of substances regulated under environmental laws, primarily in manufacturing and sterilization processes. Our environmental policies require compliance with all applicable environmental regulations and contemplate, among other things, appropriate capital expenditures for environmental protection. For example, we made $6 million, $33 million and $10 million of capital expenditures in 2022, 2021 and 2020, respectively, related to a new ethylene oxide emissions control system at our Mountain Home, Arkansas facility that was substantially completed in 2022.

Human Capital Management

As of December 31, 2022, we employed approximately 60,000 people globally, with approximately 19,000 employees in the United States and approximately 41,000 employees outside of the United States. Our employees are our most important assets and set the foundation for our ability to achieve our strategic objectives. They contribute to our success and are instrumental in driving operational execution and our ability to deliver strong

PHARMACEUTICAL WHOLESALER SURETY BOND

Bond No. K41969520

Application/License No. _____

ACCLARENT, INC. (Applicant/Principal), doing or intending to do business as a pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 31 Technology Drive Irvine, CA 92618 (Address of Applicant/Principal), as PRINCIPAL, and FEDERAL INSURANCE COMPANY (Surety Company), a corporation organized under the laws of the state of IN (State of Incorporation) and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is 202B Hall's Mill Road Whitehouse Station, NJ 08889 (Address of Surety) as SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on December 6, 2024 (Effective Date).

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statue (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

(1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
(2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
(3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
(4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
(5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
(6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
(7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 6th day of December, 20 24.

"RESOLVED, that the following authorizations relate to the execution, for and on behalf of the Company, of bonds, undertakings, recognizances, contracts and other written commitments of the Company entered into in the ordinary course of business (each a "Written Commitment"):

(1) Each of the Chairman, the President and the Vice Presidents of the Company is hereby authorized to execute any Written Commitment for and on behalf of the Company, under the seal of the Company or otherwise.

(2) Each duly appointed attorney-in-fact of the Company is hereby authorized to execute any Written Commitment for and on behalf of the Company, under the seal of the Company or otherwise, to the extent that such action is authorized by the grant of powers provided for in such person's written appointment as such attorney-in-fact.

(3) Each of the Chairman, the President and the Vice Presidents of the Company is hereby authorized, for and on behalf of the Company, to appoint in writing any person the attorney-in-fact of the Company with full power and authority to execute, for and on behalf of the Company, under the seal of the Company or otherwise, such Written Commitments of the Company as may be specified in such written appointment, which specification may be by general type or class of Written Commitments or by specification of one or more particular Written Commitments.

(4) Each of the Chairman, the President and the Vice Presidents of the Company is hereby authorized, for and on behalf of the Company, to delegate in writing to any other officer of the Company the authority to execute, for and on behalf of the Company, under the Company's seal or otherwise, such Written Commitments of the Company as are specified in such written delegation, which specification may be by general type or class of Written Commitments or by specification of one or more particular Written Commitments.

(5) The signature of any officer or other person executing any Written Commitment or appointment or delegation pursuant to this Resolution, and the seal of the Company, may be affixed by facsimile on such Written Commitment or written appointment or delegation.

FURTHER RESOLVED, that the foregoing Resolution shall not be deemed to be an exclusive statement of the powers and authority of officers, employees and other persons to act for and on behalf of the Company, and such Resolution shall not limit or otherwise affect the exercise of any such power or authority otherwise validly granted or vested."

I, Rupert HD Swindells, Assistant Secretary of FEDERAL INSURANCE COMPANY, VIGILANT INSURANCE COMPANY, PACIFIC INDEMNITY COMPANY, WESTCHESTER FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY and ACE AMERICAN INSURANCE COMPANY (the "Companies") do hereby certify that

(i) the foregoing Resolutions adopted by the Board of Directors of the Companies are true, correct and in full force and effect,
(ii) the foregoing Power of Attorney is true, correct and in full force and effect.

Given under my hand and seals of said Companies at Whitehouse Station, NJ, this 6th day of December 2024

Rupert HD Swindells, Assistant Secretary

Item 5.02. Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

Appointment of Mojdeh Poul as President and Chief Executive Officer and Director

On November 4, 2024, Integra LifeSciences Holdings Corporation (the "Company") announced the appointment of Mojdeh Poul to serve as its President and Chief Executive Officer. Ms. Poul is expected to join the Company on January 6, 2025 (the "Effective Date"). In this capacity, Ms. Poul will be the Company's principal executive officer. In connection with her appointment as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, the Board of Directors of the Company (the "Board") also appointed Ms. Poul as a director of the Board effective with the commencement of her employment, with her term expiring at the Company's 2025 annual meeting of stockholders. Ms. Poul is not expected to serve on any standing committees of the Board.

Ms. Poul, 61, has over thirty years of experience leading global businesses and operations in large multinational organizations. From April 2019 to June 2022, Ms. Poul served as the Executive Vice President and Group President of 3M Company's Healthcare Business, where she led the global P&L, strategy, manufacturing and commercial operations, and R&D for the $8.6 billion Healthcare Business Group. Prior to that, Ms. Poul held multiple leadership roles at 3M, including Executive Vice President of Safety & Graphics Business Group, President of 3M Canada, and President of two divisions within the 3M Healthcare Business Group. Before joining 3M in April of 2011, Ms. Poul held global business leadership roles of increasing responsibility with leading global medical technology companies, including Medtronic, Boston Scientific, and Teleflex Medical. Ms. Poul has served on the Board of Directors of Stanley Black and Decker since February of 2021, where she is a member of the audit and talent & compensation committees. She has also served on the Board of Directors of iRhythm Technologies, Inc. since June 2023 and Align Technology since December 2023, and is a member of the audit committee for each company. Ms. Poul holds an MBA from University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill as well as a Master of Engineering and B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from University of Louisville.

In connection with Ms. Poul's appointment, the Company entered into an employment agreement (the "Employment Agreement") with Ms. Poul. The Employment Agreement will be effective as of the Effective Date, and the initial term expires on the third anniversary of the Effective Date, unless earlier terminated, and is subject to successive automatic one-year renewal terms unless either party gives timely written notice of termination.

Pursuant to the Employment Agreement, Ms. Poul is entitled to receive an annual base salary of $1,050,000. Ms. Poul will also be eligible for an annual bonus opportunity targeted at 125% of her annual base salary (the "Target Bonus"). Her actual bonus will be based on performance relative to the performance goals established under the annual bonus program by the Compensation Committee of the Board (the "Compensation Committee"). Ms. Poul's base salary is subject to annual review and may be increased in the discretion of the Company. Consistent with Company policies, Ms. Poul, as an employee of the Company, will not be entitled to any compensation for her service as a director on the Board.

Ms. Poul also will receive a one-time grant of restricted stock units with a grant date value of $1,500,000 (the "Initial RSU Award") on or following the Effective Date. The Initial RSU Award will vest in three substantially equal annual installments starting on the first anniversary of the Effective Date, subject to Ms. Poul's continued employment with the Company through the applicable vesting dates. On or following the Effective Date, Ms. Poul will also receive a one-time grant of an option to purchase up to $1,500,000 of shares of the Company's common stock, at an exercise price per share to be equal to the closing price of the Company's common stock as reported by the Nasdaq Global Market on the grant date (the "Initial Option Award") and will vest and become exercisable in four substantially equal annual installments starting on the first anniversary of the Effective Date, subject to Ms. Poul's continued employment with the Company through the applicable vesting dates. In the first quarter of 2025, Ms. Poul shall also receive a performance-based restricted stock unit award with a grant date fair value of $3,000,000 (the "Initial PSU Award," and together with the Initial RSU Award and the Initial Option Award, the "Initial Equity Awards") with such terms and conditions as determined by the Compensation Committee and substantially similar to those applicable to performance-based restricted stock units granted to the Company's senior executives in 2025. Each of the Initial Equity Awards will be granted under, and subject to, the Fifth Amended and Restated Integra LifeSciences Holdings Corporation 2003 Equity Incentive Plan, as amended (the "Plan").

Ms. Poul also will receive, as a one-time employment commencement award distinct from the Initial Equity Awards, (i) a grant of restricted stock units with a grant date value of $750,000 (the "Commencement RSU Award") and (ii) a grant of an option to purchase up to $750,000 of shares of the Company's common stock, at an exercise price per share to be equal to the closing price of the Company's common stock as reported by the Nasdaq Global Market on the grant date (the "Commencement Option Award"), each of which will be granted under the Plan on or following the Effective Date. The Commencement RSU Award will vest in three substantially equal annual installments starting on the first anniversary of the Effective Date and the Commencement Option Award will vest and become exercisable in four substantially equal annual installments starting on the first anniversary of the Effective Date, in each case subject to Ms. Poul's continued employment with the Company through the applicable vesting dates.

Commencing in 2026, Ms. Poul will be eligible to receive annual equity-based awards, with the amount, form and mix of such award to be determined by the Compensation Committee in its discretion. Under the Employment Agreement, Ms. Poul shall receive a one-time payment of $250,000 to cover relocation expenses and Ms. Poul shall also be eligible to receive reimbursement of: (i) up to $50,000 in temporary housing expenses for up to six months; and (ii) up to $25,000 in legal fees and expenses actually incurred in connection with the drafting, review and negotiation of the Employment Agreement and any related agreements on or prior to the Effective Date.

Under the Employment Agreement, if Ms. Poul's employment is terminated outside the context of a "change in control" by the Company for a reason other than death, disability, or "cause" or by Ms. Poul for "good reason," Ms. Poul will be eligible to receive (i) a severance amount equal to 2.0 times her then-current annual base salary payable over the two-year period following such termination and (ii) a monthly cash payment equal to Ms. Poul's monthly COBRA premium for up to 18 months following such termination.

If, within 24 months following a "change in control" of the Company, Ms. Poul terminates her employment for "good reason," or her employment is terminated by the Company for a reason other than death, disability, or "cause," Ms. Poul will be eligible to receive: (i) a single lump sum severance amount equal to 2.99 times the sum of Ms. Poul's annual base salary and Target Bonus, (ii) a monthly cash payment equal to Ms. Poul's monthly COBRA premium for up to 18 months following such termination, (iii) a single lump sum equal to the pro rata portion of Ms. Poul's annual bonus for the year in which the termination occurs, and (iv) full accelerated vesting of all outstanding equity awards granted to Ms. Poul and, to the extent any outstanding equity award is a Company stock option, such option will remain exercisable until the earlier of the first anniversary of the termination date and the expiration date set forth in the option agreement evidencing such option.

If Ms. Poul's employment is terminated due to her death, then her estate will receive (i) a lump sum cash payment equal to Ms. Poul's annual base salary, and (ii) Company-subsidized healthcare continuation coverage for up to 12 months after her death.

Ms. Poul's right to receive the severance payments and benefits pursuant to the Employment Agreement (other than upon her death) is contingent on Ms. Poul's execution and non-revocation of a general release of claims in favor of the Company. In addition, to the extent that any payment or benefit received in connection with a change in control would be subject to an excise tax under Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, such payments and/or benefits will be subject to a "best pay cap" reduction if such reduction would result in a greater net after-tax benefit to Ms. Poul than receiving the full amount of such payments.

The description of the Employment Agreement does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Employment Agreement, which is filed as Exhibit 10.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K.

In connection with her appointment, Ms. Poul also entered into the Company's standard indemnification agreement (the "Indemnification Agreement"), the form of which is filed as Exhibit 10.1 to the Company's Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the SEC on July 19, 2022. Pursuant to the terms of the Indemnification Agreement, the Company may be required, among other things, to indemnify Ms. Poul for some expenses, including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines and settlement amounts incurred by her in any action or proceeding arising out of her services as an executive officer and director of the Company.

Other than with respect to the compensation matters described above, there are no arrangements or understandings between Ms. Poul and any other persons pursuant to which Ms. Poul was appointed as the Company's President and Chief Executive Officer or as a director of the Company. There also are no family relationships between Ms. Poul and any director or executive officer of the Company and Ms. Poul has no direct or indirect interest in any transaction or proposed transaction required to be disclosed pursuant to Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.

Departure of Jan De Witte as President and Chief Executive Officer and Director

Ms. Poul will succeed Jan De Witte, who, as previously disclosed, informed the Company on February 27, 2024 of his intention to resign from his position as President and Chief Executive Officer and director of the Company following the completion of a succession process. In connection with the appointment of Ms. Poul, the Company and Mr. De Witte have mutually agreed that Mr. De Witte's resignation as President and Chief Executive Officer and a director of the Company will be effective as of the Effective Date.

As previously disclosed, the Company and Mr. De Witte executed a letter agreement, dated February 27, 2024, in connection with his informing the Company of his intention to resign. Following the appointment of Ms. Poul, and pursuant to the terms of the letter agreement, the Company and Mr. De Witte entered into a consulting agreement which shall be effective as of the Effective Date. The terms and conditions of the consulting agreement are described in the Company's Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") on February 28, 2024 (File No.: 24690037). Such description does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the consulting agreement, which will be filed as an exhibit to the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024.

Mr. De Witte's resignation as President and Chief Executive Officer and director of the Company was not due to any disagreement with the Company on any matter relating to the Company's operations, policies or practices.

Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

On November 4, 2024, the Company issued a press release announcing certain of the matters described under Item 5.02 of this Current Report on Form 8-K. A copy of this press release is attached as Exhibit 99.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and is incorporated herein by reference.

Information in this Item 7.01 and Exhibit 99.1 of Item 9.01 below shall not be deemed "filed" for the purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"), or otherwise incorporated by reference into any filing pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Exchange Act except as otherwise expressly stated in such a filing.

Title: Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary

EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

This Employment Agreement (this "Agreement"), by and between Integra LifeSciences Holdings Corporation, a Delaware Corporation ("Holdings") and Integra LifeSciences Corporation ("OpCo" and, together with Holdings, the "Company"), and Mojdeh Poul ("Executive") is entered into as of November 4, 2024 and shall be effective as of January 6, 2025 (the "Effective Date").

Background

The Company desires to employ Executive, and Executive desires to become an employee of the Company, on the terms and conditions contained in this Agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the mutual agreements contained herein and intended to be legally bound hereby, the parties hereto agree as follows:

Terms

1. Definitions. The following words and phrases shall have the meanings set forth below for the purposes of this Agreement (unless the context clearly indicates otherwise):

(a) "Base Salary" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 5.

(b) "Board" shall mean the Board of Directors of Holdings, or any successor thereto.

(c) "Cause," as determined by the Board in good faith, shall mean Executive has –

(i) failed to perform her stated duties in all material respects;

(ii) materially breached any material obligation under this Agreement or materially breached any material policy of the Company or any of its subsidiaries (including any code of conduct or harassment policies);

(iii) demonstrated her personal dishonesty in connection with her employment by the Company;

(iv) engaged in fraud or embezzlement from the Company or any of its subsidiaries;

(v) engaged in a breach of fiduciary duty in connection with her employment with the Company;

(vi) engaged in willful misconduct that is materially and demonstrably injurious to the Company or any of its subsidiaries; or

(vii) been convicted or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to a felony or to any other crime involving moral turpitude.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, except with respect to clause (vi), Executive's employment will not be terminated for Cause unless and until (1) the Company provides Executive with written notice setting forth in reasonable detail the facts and circumstances claimed by the Company to constitute Cause, and (2) Executive fails to cure or remedy such acts or omissions within 15 days following her receipt of such notice

(and during such 15-day period Executive has had the opportunity with the assistance of her own legal counsel to appear before the Board to address such matter).

(d) A "Change in Control" shall have the meaning set forth in the Plan.

(e) "Code" shall mean the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

(f) "Disability" shall mean Executive's inability to perform her duties hereunder, with or without any reasonable accommodation, by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which is expected to result in death or which has lasted or is expected to last for a continuous period of not fewer than six months.

(g) "Good Reason" shall mean:

(i) a material breach of this Agreement by the Company which is not cured by the Company within 15 days of its receipt of written notice of the breach;

(ii) without Executive's express written consent, and following Executive's Relocation, the relocation by the Company of Executive's office location to a location more than forty (40) miles from Princeton, New Jersey;

(iii) without Executive's express written consent, (i) the Company reduces Executive's Base Salary or Target Bonus opportunity, (ii) materially reduces the aggregate fringe benefits provided to Executive or (iii) substantially alters Executive's authority and/or title as set forth in Section 2 hereof in a manner reasonably construed to constitute a demotion, including, without limitation, the Company ceasing to be a public company or ceasing to be traded on the Nasdaq Global Select Market; or

(iv) without Executive's express written consent, Executive fails at any point during the two-year period following a Change in Control to hold the title and authority (as set forth in Sections 2 and 4(a) hereof) with the Parent Corporation (or if there is no Parent Corporation, the Surviving Corporation) that Executive held with the Company immediately prior to the Change in Control, provided Executive resigns within two years of the Change in Control.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, Executive's employment will not be deemed to have resigned for Good Reason unless (1) Executive provides the Company with written dated notice setting forth in reasonable detail the facts and circumstances claimed by Executive to constitute Good Reason within 60 days after the date of the occurrence of any event that Executive knows or should reasonably have known to constitute Good Reason, (2) the Company fails to cure such acts or omissions within 30 days following its receipt of such notice, and (3) the effective date of Executive's termination for Good Reason occurs no later than 60 days after the expiration of the Company's cure period.

(h) "Non-Renewal Termination" shall mean a termination of Executive's employment by reason of a Non-Renewal of the Employment Period by the Company; and, at the time of such Non-Renewal, Executive is willing and able to continue performing services on the terms and conditions set forth herein during the Renewal Term.

(i) "Plan" shall mean Holdings' 2003 Equity Incentive Plan, as amended and restated from time to time.

(j) "Principal Executive Office" shall mean the Company's principal office for executives, presently located at 1100 Campus Road, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

(k) "Restricted Period" shall mean a period of 24 months following the Termination Date.

(l) "Termination Date" shall mean the date of Executive's "separation from service" from the Company (within the meaning of Section 409A(a)(2)(A)(i) of the Code and Treasury Regulation Section 1.409A-1(h)), as specified in the Termination Notice.

(m) "Termination Notice" shall mean a written dated notice which: (i) indicates the specific termination provision in this Agreement relied upon (if any); (ii) sets forth in reasonable detail the facts and circumstances claimed to provide a basis for the termination of Executive's employment under such provision (with a period of at least 7 days to cure in the event of a termination by Executive for Good Reason or by the Company for Cause to the extent that the act or omission is capable of cure); (iii) specifies a Termination Date; and (iv) is given in the manner specified in Section 19(k).

2. Employment; Directorship.

(a) Effective as of the Effective Date, Executive shall serve as the President and Chief Executive Officer of Holdings and shall be employed by OpCo, and Executive hereby agrees to accept such employment and agrees to render services to the Company in such capacity (or in such other capacity in the future as the Board may reasonably deem equivalent to such position) on the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement. Executive shall report to the Board.

(b) In addition, Executive shall be appointed to serve on the Board on the Effective Date and, during the Employment Period, the Company shall cause Executive to be nominated to stand for election to the Board at any meeting of stockholders of Holdings during which any such election is held and Executive's term as director will expire if she is not reelected; provided, however, that (i) the Company shall not be obligated to cause such nomination if any of the events constituting Cause have occurred and not been cured or Executive has issued a Termination Notice and (ii) the stockholders' failure to reelect Executive shall not constitute a termination of Executive's employment by the Company without Cause and shall not constitute an event giving rise to Good Reason.

(c) Following the Relocation (as defined below), Executive's primary place of employment shall be at the Principal Executive Office, subject to any "work from home" policies approved by the Board that apply to Executive.

3. Term of Agreement. Unless earlier terminated by Executive or the Company as provided in Section 14 hereof, the term of Executive's employment as the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company under this Agreement (the "Employment Period") shall commence on the Effective Date and terminate on the third anniversary of the Effective Date (the "Initial End Date"); provided, however, that the Employment Period shall automatically renew for successive one-year periods on each anniversary of the Initial End Date (such extension, the "Renewal Period"), unless either party provides the other party with written notice in accordance with Section 19(k) below of intent not to renew the Employment Period on terms and conditions at least as favorable as the terms and conditions herein (a "Non-Renewal") at least 90 days prior to the end of the then-current Employment Period.

4. Duties. Executive shall:

(a) have duties, authority and responsibilities reasonably consistent with her employment hereunder and shall faithfully and diligently do and perform all such acts and duties, and furnish such services as are assigned to Executive as of the Effective Date, and (subject to Section 2) such additional acts, duties and services as the Board may assign in the future; and

(b) devote her full professional time, energy, skill and best efforts to the performance of her duties hereunder, in a manner that will faithfully and diligently further the business and interests of the Company, and shall not be employed by or participate or engage in or in any manner be a part of the management or operations of any business enterprise other than the Company without the prior consent of the Board, which consent may be granted or withheld in its sole discretion; provided, however, that notwithstanding the foregoing, Executive may serve on civic or charitable boards or committees so long as such service does not materially interfere with Executive's obligations pursuant to this Agreement. The Company and Executive agree that Executive may participate on the board of directors of one non-competitive publicly-traded company and any further public or private board service is subject to the prior written approval of the Board.

5. Annual Compensation. Executive's base salary rate shall be equal to $1,050,000 per annum. Executive's base salary, as determined in accordance with this Section 5 and as may be increased from time to time, is hereinafter referred to as her "Base Salary." Executive's Base Salary shall be payable in periodic installments in accordance with the Company's regular payroll practices in effect from time to time. The Base Salary shall be subject to annual review, but may not be decreased without Executive's express written consent. Any increase in the Base Salary shall be in the sole discretion of the Company.

6. Annual Bonus Opportunity.

(a) Annual Bonus. Executive shall have the opportunity to receive an annual performance bonus in an amount targeted at 125% of Executive's Base Salary (the "Target Bonus"). For the avoidance of doubt, in the event performance objectives with respect to a performance period are achieved at below threshold, no annual bonus will be earned pursuant to this Section 6(a) with respect to such performance period. The actual amount of any such annual bonus that the Company determines to pay to Executive (the "Annual Bonus") shall be based upon the satisfaction of performance objectives established and evaluated by the Compensation Committee of the Board (the "Compensation Committee") in its sole discretion.

(b) Time and Form of Payment. The Compensation Committee shall, in its sole discretion, determine the extent to which the Annual Bonus shall be paid in cash and the extent to which such Annual Bonus shall be paid in the form of one or more equity-based awards (including equity-based awards settled on a deferred basis), provided that any portion of such Annual Bonus that is paid in the form of an equity-based award shall be fully vested as of the date on which such award is granted. The Annual Bonus, if any, will be paid in cash and/or by grant of an equity-based award by March 15 of the year after the applicable performance year, subject to Executive's continued employment through the payment date.

7. Benefit Plans. Executive shall be entitled to participate in and receive benefits under any employee benefit plan or stock-based plan of the Company in accordance with their terms, and shall be eligible for any other plans and benefits covering executives of the Company, to the extent commensurate with her then duties and responsibilities fixed by the Board.

8. Equity Compensation.

(a) On or following the Effective Date, Holdings shall grant to Executive a restricted stock unit award covering an aggregate number of shares of Holdings common stock such that the award has an aggregate grant-date fair market value equal to $1,500,000 (the "RSU Award"). The RSU Award shall vest in three substantially equal annual installments on the first three anniversaries of the Effective Date, subject to Executive's continued employment through the applicable vesting date. Except as set forth in Section 14(c)(iv), the terms and conditions of the RSU Award shall be governed in all respects by the terms and conditions of the applicable award agreement and the Plan.

(b) On or following the Effective Date, Holdings shall grant to Executive an option to purchase shares of Holdings common stock (the "Option"). The aggregate number of shares of Holdings common stock subject to the Option shall be determined such that the aggregate grant-date fair value of the Option shall be $1,500,000, using the same assumptions that Holdings uses in the preparation of its financial statements. The Option shall vest and become exercisable in four substantially equal annual installments on the first four anniversaries of the Effective Date, subject to Executive's continued employment through the applicable vesting date. The Option shall be a nonqualified stock option, shall have an exercise price per share equal to the Fair Market Value (as defined in the Plan) of Holdings' common stock on the applicable grant date, and have a maximum term of eight years from the applicable grant date. Except as set forth in Section 14(c)(iv), the terms and conditions of the Option shall be governed in all respects by the terms and conditions of the applicable award agreement and the Plan.

(c) In the first quarter of calendar year 2025, Holdings shall grant to Executive a performance-based restricted stock unit award covering an aggregate number of Holding's common stock such that the award has an aggregate grant-date fair market value equal to $3,000,000 (the "PSU Award"). The terms and conditions of the PSU Award shall be determined by the Compensation Committee and shall be substantially similar to those applicable to the performance-based restricted stock units awards granted to the Company's senior executives in 2025 and, except as set forth in Section 14(c)(iv), shall be governed in all respects by the terms and conditions of the applicable award agreement and the Plan.

(d) On or following the Effective Date, and as a one-time employment commencement award distinct from the awards described above in this Section, Holdings shall grant to Executive a restricted stock unit award covering an aggregate number of shares of Holdings common stock such that the award has an aggregate grant-date fair market value equal to $750,000 (the "Commencement RSU Award"). The Commencement RSU Award shall vest in three substantially equal annual installments on the first three anniversaries of the Effective Date, subject to Executive's continued employment through the applicable vesting date. Except as set forth in Section 14(c)(iv), the terms and conditions of the Commencement RSU Award shall be governed in all respects by the terms and conditions of the applicable award agreement and the Plan.

(e) On or following the Effective Date, and as a one-time employment commencement award distinct from the awards described above in this Section, Holdings shall grant to Executive an option to purchase shares of Holdings common stock (the "Commencement Option"). The aggregate number of shares of Holdings common stock subject to the Commencement Option shall be determined such that the aggregate grant-date fair value of the Commencement Option shall be $750,000, using the same assumptions that Holdings uses in the preparation of its financial statements. The Commencement Option shall vest and become exercisable in four substantially equal annual installments on the first four anniversaries of the Effective Date, subject to Executive's continued employment through the applicable vesting date. The Commencement Option shall be a nonqualified stock option, shall have an exercise price per share equal to the Fair Market Value (as defined in the Plan) of Holdings' common stock on the applicable grant date, and have a maximum term of eight years from the applicable grant date. Except as set forth in Section 14(c)(iv), the terms and conditions of the Commencement Option shall be governed in all respects by the terms and conditions of the applicable award agreement and the Plan.

(f) Commencing with calendar year 2026, Executive will be eligible to receive equity-based compensation, as determined by the Board or the Compensation Committee from time to time, under any program(s) maintained by Holdings for its other senior executives.

(g) Each of the RSU Award, Option, PSU Award, Commencement RSU Award and Commencement Option shall be set forth in a separate award agreement to be entered into by Executive and the Company that are substantially similar to the Company's forms of award agreements currently applicable to its senior executives.

(h) The Company agrees that for so long as it is required to file reports under Sections 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act, it will maintain in effect a Form S-8 registration statement covering the issuance to Executive of the shares underlying Executive's then outstanding equity-based compensation awards.

9. Vacation. During the Employment Period, Executive shall be entitled to vacation in accordance with the plans, policies, programs and practices of the Company applicable to its senior executives, as in effect from time to time.

10. Business Expenses. The Company shall reimburse Executive or otherwise pay for all reasonable expenses incurred by Executive in furtherance of or in connection with the business of the Company, including, but not limited to, automobile and traveling expenses and all reasonable entertainment expenses, subject to such reasonable documentation, the applicable plans, policies, and practices of the Company applicable to its senior executives, as in effect from time to time, and other limitations as may be established by the Company.

11. Relocation Benefits. The Company expects Executive to relocate her principal place of residence to a location within 45 miles of the Principal Executive Office prior to the six-month anniversary of the Effective Date (such relocation, the "Relocation"). In furtherance of the Relocation, the Company shall (i) pay to Executive a one-time bonus of $250,000 (the "Relocation Bonus") that is intended to cover Executive's expenses associated with the Relocation, which shall be paid within 30 days following the Effective Date and (ii) reimburse Executive for the cost of temporary housing for up to six months, such cost not to exceed $50,000 in the aggregate. If Executive's employment is terminated by the Company for Cause or by Executive without Good Reason, or if Executive does not comply with the Relocation requirement, in any case, prior to the first anniversary of the Effective Date, then (i) Executive shall be required to repay the Relocation Bonus to the Company within 30 days following the earlier of Executive's termination date and the first anniversary of the Effective Date, and (ii) the Company shall have a right to offset any such reimbursement against any sums it might otherwise owe to Executive in any such event.

12. Legal Fees. The Company shall reimburse Executive for up to $25,000 in legal fees and expenses actually incurred by Executive in connection with the drafting, review and negotiation of this Agreement and any related agreements on or prior to the Effective Date. Subject to Section 19(b) below, the Company shall reimburse such legal fees and expenses in 2025 following Executive's delivery to the Company of documentation evidencing such expenses.

13. Disability. In the event Executive incurs a Disability, Executive's obligation to perform services under this Agreement will terminate, and the Board may terminate this Agreement upon written notice to Executive.

14. Termination.

(a) Termination without Salary Continuation. In the event that (i) Executive terminates her employment hereunder other than for Good Reason, or (ii) Executive's employment is terminated by the Company for Cause, Executive shall have no right to compensation or other benefits pursuant to this Agreement for any period after her last day of active employment.

(b) Termination without Cause, for Good Reason or due to Non-Renewal (No Change in Control). Except as provided in Section 14(c) in the event of a Change in Control, and subject to Executive's execution and delivery of a general release attached as Exhibit A hereto (the "Release") and the Release becomes irrevocable within 30 days (or, to the extent required by law, 52 days) following the Termination Date, in the event that Executive's employment is terminated by the Company for a reason other than death, Disability or Cause, Executive terminates her employment for Good Reason or Executive's employment terminates by the Company by reason of a Non-Renewal Termination, then, subject to Section 14(e) below:

(i) The Company shall pay Executive a severance amount equal to 2.0 times Executive's Base Salary (determined without regard to any reduction in violation of Section 5) as of her last day of active employment, payable over the two-year period immediately following the Termination Date (the "Severance Period"), with such amount to be paid in substantially equal installments in accordance with the Company's regularly-scheduled payroll dates during the Severance Period with the first payment being made on the first normal payroll date following the 60th day following the Termination Date, and the amount otherwise payable prior to such first payroll date shall be paid on such date without interest thereon; and

(ii) The Company shall pay to Executive, for the period ending on the earliest of (A) 18 months following the Termination Date, (B) the date of Executive's full-time employment by another employer, (C) Executive's death, or (D) the first month in which Executive does not pay to the Company the applicable monthly premium for COBRA insurance coverage under the Company's group health plan, a monthly cash payment, payable on the first business day of each month that follows the Termination Date, in an amount equal to Executive's monthly premium cost for "COBRA" family health coverage under the Company's group health plan.

(c) Termination without Cause, for Good Reason or due to Non-Renewal (Change in Control). Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth in Section 14(b), and subject to Executive's execution and delivery of the Release and the Release becomes irrevocable within 30 days (or, to the extent required by law, 52 days) following the Termination Date, in the event that, within 24 months following a Change in Control, Executive terminates her employment for Good Reason, Executive's employment is terminated by the Company for a reason other than death, Disability or Cause or Executive's employment terminates by the Company by reason of a Non-Renewal Termination, then, subject to Section 14(e) below:

(i) The Company shall pay Executive a severance amount equal to 2.99 times the sum of (a) Executive's Base Salary, and (b) Executive's Target Bonus, each as of her last day of active employment (but disregarding any reduction that gives rise to Good Reason). Any amount payable pursuant to this Section 14(c)(i) shall be paid in a single lump sum cash payment within 60 days following the Termination Date; provided, however that if the Change in Control does not constitute a "change in control event" for purposes of Section 409A of the Code and the regulations promulgated thereunder, any amount payable pursuant to this Section 14(c)(i) instead shall be payable over the three-year period immediately following the Termination Date (the "CIC Severance Period"), with such amount to be paid in substantially equal installments in accordance with the Company's regularly-scheduled payroll dates during the CIC Severance Period with the first payment being made on the first normal payroll date following the 60th day following the Termination Date, and amount otherwise payable prior to such first payroll date shall be paid on such date without interest thereon;

(ii) The Company shall pay to Executive, for the period ending on the earliest of (A) 18 months following the Termination Date, (B) the date of Executive's full-time employment by another employer, (C) Executive's death, or (D) the first month in which Executive does not pay to the Company the applicable monthly premium for COBRA insurance coverage under the Company's group health plan, a monthly cash payment, payable on the first business day of each month that follows the Termination Date, in an amount equal to Executive's monthly premium cost for "COBRA" family health coverage under the Company's group health plan;

(iii) The Company shall pay to Executive a pro-rata portion of Executive's Annual Bonus for the fiscal year in which the Termination Date occurs, based on actual results for such year (determined by multiplying the amount of such bonus which would be due for the full fiscal year by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days during the fiscal year of termination that Executive is employed by the Company and the denominator of which is the total number of days in such fiscal year), payable in a single lump sum no later than March 15 of the year following the year in which the Termination Date occurs; and

(iv) All outstanding equity awards granted to Executive under any of the Holdings' equity incentive plans (or awards substituted therefor covering the securities of a successor company) shall immediately become vested in full and, to the extent any such award is a stock option, shall, to the extent vested as of the Termination Date (after giving effect to any accelerated vesting that occurs in connection with such termination), remain exercisable until the earlier to occur of (A) the first anniversary of the Termination Date or (B) the stated expiration date set forth in the applicable stock option agreement.

(d) Termination Notice. Except in the event of Executive's death, a termination under this Agreement shall be effected by means of a Termination Notice.

(e) Payment Delay. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary herein, no compensation or benefits, including without limitation any severance payments or benefits payable under this Section 14, shall be paid to Executive during the six-month period following Executive's "separation from service" (within the meaning of Section 409A(a)(2)(A)(i) of the Code) to the extent that the Company reasonably determines that paying such amounts at the time or times indicated in this Agreement would be a prohibited distribution under Section 409A(a)(2)(B)(i) of the Code. Any amounts delayed as a result of the previous sentence shall be paid to Executive in a lump sum within 30 days after the end of such six-month period, and any amounts payable to Executive after the expiration of such six-month period under this Agreement shall continue to be paid to Executive in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. If Executive dies during such six-month period and prior to the payment of the delayed amounts hereunder, such unpaid delayed payments shall be paid to the personal representative of Executive's estate within 30 days after the date of Executive's death. If a portion of the severance pay or benefits is deferred compensation subject to Section 409A of the Code, and the payment thereof is contingent upon execution and nonrevocation of a general release of claims, and the period for considering or revoking the release spans two calendar years, then the portion of the severance pay or benefits that is deferred compensation will be paid or begin to be paid on the first business day of the second calendar year.

(f) No Mitigation. Executive shall not be required to mitigate the amount of any payment provided for in this Section 14 by seeking other employment or otherwise.

15. Limitation on Payments.

(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, in the event that any payment or benefit received or to be received by Executive (whether pursuant to the terms of this Agreement or any other plan, arrangement or agreement, including any payment or benefit received in connection with a termination of Executive's employment) (all such payments and benefits, including the payments and benefits under Section 14 hereof, being hereinafter referred to as the "Total Payments") would be subject (in whole or part) to the excise tax imposed under Section 4999 of the Code (the "Excise Tax"), then, after taking into account any reduction in the Total Payments provided by reason of Section 280G of the Code in such other plan, arrangement or agreement, the Total Payments shall be reduced to the extent necessary so that no portion of the Total Payments is subject to the Excise Tax, but such reduction shall be made only if (i) the net amount of such Total Payments as so reduced (and after subtracting the net amount of federal, state and local income taxes on such reduced Total Payments and after taking into account the phase out of itemized deductions and personal exemptions attributable to such reduced Total Payments), is greater than or equal to (ii) the net amount of such Total Payments without such reduction (but after subtracting the net amount of federal, state and local income taxes on such Total Payments and the amount of Excise Tax to which Executive would be subject in respect of such unreduced Total Payments and after taking into account the phase out of itemized deductions and personal exemptions attributable to such unreduced Total Payments). The Total Payments shall be reduced in the following order: (A) reduction of any cash severance payments otherwise payable to Executive that are exempt from Section 409A of the Code; (B) reduction of any other cash payments or benefits otherwise payable to Executive that are exempt from Section 409A of the Code, but excluding any payments attributable to any acceleration of vesting or payments with respect to any equity award that are exempt from Section 409A of the Code; (C) reduction of any other payments or benefits otherwise payable to Executive on a pro-rated basis or such other manner that complies with Section 409A of the Code, but excluding any payments attributable to any acceleration of vesting and payments with respect to any equity award that are exempt from Section 409A of the Code; and (D) reduction of any payments attributable to any acceleration of vesting or payments with respect to any equity award that are exempt from Section 409A of the Code, in each case beginning with payments that would otherwise be made last in time.

(b) For purposes of determining whether and the extent to which the Total Payments will be subject to the Excise Tax, (i) no portion of the Total Payments the receipt or enjoyment of which

Executive shall have waived at such time and in such manner as not to constitute a "payment" within the meaning of Section 280G(b) of the Code shall be taken into account; (ii) no portion of the Total Payments shall be taken into account which, in the written opinion of independent auditors of nationally recognized standing ("Independent Advisors") selected by the Company, does not constitute a "parachute payment" within the meaning of Section 280G(b)(2) of the Code (including by reason of Section 280G(b)(4)(A) of the Code) and, in calculating the Excise Tax, no portion of such Total Payments shall be taken into account which, in the opinion of the Independent Advisors, constitutes reasonable compensation for services actually rendered, within the meaning of Section 280G(b)(4)(B) of the Code, in excess of the Base Amount (as defined in Section 280G(b)(3) of the Code) allocable to such reasonable compensation; and (iii) the value of any non-cash benefit or any deferred payment or benefit included in the Total Payments shall be determined by the Independent Advisors in accordance with the principles of Sections 280G(d)(3) and (4) of the Code.

16. Assignability. The Company may assign this Agreement and its rights and obligations hereunder in whole, but not in part, to any entity to which the Company may transfer all or substantially all of its assets, if in any such case said entity shall expressly in writing assume all obligations of the Company hereunder as fully as if it had been originally made a party hereto. This Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon Holdings, OpCo and their respective successors and assigns. This Agreement is personal to Executive, and her rights and duties hereunder shall not be assigned except as expressly agreed to in writing by the Company.

17. Death of Executive. If Executive dies during the term of this Agreement, the Company shall pay Executive's spouse a death benefit equal to one (1) times Executive's Base Salary at the time of her death, which shall be paid to Executive's spouse in a lump sum cash payment within 30 days following the date of Executive's death. In addition, the Company shall pay to Executive's spouse and eligible dependents for the period ending on the earlier of (i) the first anniversary of Executive's death, or (ii) the first month in which Executive's spouse and/or eligible dependents do not pay to the Company the applicable monthly premium for COBRA insurance coverage under the Company's group health plan, a monthly cash payment that is equal to Executive's monthly premium cost for "COBRA" family health coverage under the Company's group health plan. The first monthly cash payment provided for in the immediately preceding sentence shall be paid within 30 days following the date of Executive's death and each monthly payment thereafter shall be paid on the first business day of each month, commencing with the second month that follows the date of Executive's death. Any amounts due to Executive under this Agreement (not including any Base Salary not yet earned by Executive) unpaid as of the date of Executive's death shall be paid in a single sum on the first business day of the second month following Executive's death (or any earlier date as required by applicable law) to Executive's surviving spouse, or if none, to the duly appointed personal representative of her estate.

18. Certain Covenants.

(a) Nondisparagement. During and after Executive's employment or other service with the Company, Executive agrees to not, at any time, make, directly or indirectly, any oral or written statements that are disparaging of the Company, the products or services of the Company, or any of the Company's present or former officers, equity holders, directors or employees; provided that Executive may confer in confidence with her legal representatives and make demonstrably true statements. During and after Executive's employment or other service with the Company, the Company agrees that the Board members and the Company's officers shall not, at any time, make, directly or indirectly, any oral or written statements that are disparaging of Executive; provided that such individuals may confer in confidence with his or her or the Company's legal representatives and make demonstrably true statements.

(b) Injunctive and Other Relief.

(i) Executive acknowledges and agrees that the covenants contained herein are fair and reasonable in light of the consideration paid hereunder, and that damages alone shall not be an adequate remedy for any breach by Executive of her covenants contained herein and accordingly expressly agrees that, in addition to any other remedies which Company may have, Company shall be entitled to injunctive relief in any court of competent jurisdiction for any breach or threatened breach of any such covenants by Executive. Nothing contained herein shall prevent or delay Company from seeking, in any court of competent jurisdiction, specific performance or other equitable remedies in the event of any breach or intended breach by Executive of any of its obligations hereunder.

(ii) Notwithstanding the equitable relief available to the Company, Executive, in the event of a breach of her covenants contained in Section 18 hereof, understands and agrees that the uncertainties and delay inherent in the legal process would result in a continuing breach for some period of time, and therefore, continuing injury to the Company until and unless Company can obtain such equitable relief. Therefore, in addition to such equitable relief, Company shall be entitled to monetary damages for any such period of breach until the termination of such breach, in an amount up to the amount of all monies received by Executive as a result of said breach.

(iii) If any provision of Section 18 is determined to be invalid or unenforceable by reason of its duration or scope, such duration or scope, or both, shall be deemed to be reduced to a duration or scope to the extent necessary to render such provision valid and enforceable. In such event, Executive shall negotiate in good faith to provide Company with lawful and enforceable protection that is most nearly equivalent to that found to be invalid or unenforceable.

(c) Exceptions. Nothing contained in this Agreement shall prohibit Executive from reporting or communicating with, cooperating with, or providing information (including trade secrets) in confidence to, any federal, state or local government regulator (including, but not limited to, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission, or the U.S. Department of Justice), without notice to the Company, for the purpose of reporting or investigating a suspected violation of law, or from providing such information to Executive's attorney or in a sealed complaint or other document filed in a lawsuit or other governmental proceeding. Pursuant to 18 USC Section 1833(b), (1) Executive will not be held criminally or civilly liable under any federal or state trade secret law for the disclosure of a trade secret that is made: (x) in confidence to a federal, state, or local government official, either directly or indirectly, or to an attorney, and solely for the purpose of reporting or investigating a suspected violation of law; or (y) in a complaint or other document filed in a lawsuit or other proceeding, if such filing is made under seal; and (2) Executive acknowledges that an individual who files a lawsuit for retaliation by an employer for reporting a suspected violation of law may disclose the trade secret to the attorney of the individual and use the trade secret information in the court proceeding, if the individual files any document containing the trade secret under seal and does not disclose the trade secret, except pursuant to court order.

(d) Company. For purposes of this Section 18, the term "Company" shall mean Integra LifeSciences Holdings Corporation and any corporation, partnership or other entity owned directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, by Integra LifeSciences Holdings Corporation.

(e) Additional Restrictive Covenants. As a condition to Executive's employment with the Company and the effectiveness of this Agreement, Executive agrees and acknowledges that (i) Executive shall execute on the Effective Date a restrictive covenant agreement in a form to be provided by the Company and (ii) if the Relocation occurs following the Effective Date, Executive shall execute a new or amended restrictive covenant, in a form to be provided by the Company, following the Relocation.

19. Miscellaneous.

(a) Amendment. No provision of this Agreement may be amended unless such amendment is signed by Executive and such officer as may be specifically designated by the Board to sign on the Company's behalf.

(b) Section 409A.

(i) This Agreement shall be interpreted to avoid any penalty taxes or interest under Section 409A of the Code. If any payment or benefit cannot be provided or made at the time specified herein without incurring taxes or interest under Section 409A of the Code, then such benefit or payment shall be provided in full at the earliest time thereafter when such taxes or interest will not be imposed. All payments of nonqualified deferred compensation subject to Section 409A of the Code to be made upon a termination of employment under this Agreement may only be made upon a "separation from service" as defined under Section 409A of the Code. For purposes of Section 409A of the Code, each payment made under this Agreement shall be treated as a separate payment. In no event may Executive, directly or indirectly, designate the calendar year of payment.

(ii) To the extent that any payments or reimbursements provided to Executive under this Agreement are deemed to constitute compensation to which Treasury Regulation Section 1.409A-3(i)(1)(iv) would apply, such payments or reimbursements shall be made or provided in accordance with the requirements of Section 409A of the Code, including, where applicable, the requirement that (A) any reimbursement is for expenses incurred during Executive's lifetime (or during a shorter period of time specified in this Agreement), (B) the amount of expenses eligible for reimbursement during a calendar year may not affect the expenses eligible for reimbursement in any other calendar year, (C) the reimbursement of an eligible expense will be made on or before the last day of the calendar year following the year in which the expense is incurred, and (D) the right to reimbursement is not subject to liquidation or exchange for another benefit. If expenses are incurred in connection with litigation, any reimbursements under this Agreement shall be paid not later than the end of the calendar year following the year in which the litigation is resolved.

(c) Nature of Obligations. Nothing contained herein shall create or require the Company to create a trust of any kind to fund any benefits which may be payable hereunder, and to the extent that Executive acquires a right to receive benefits from the Company hereunder, such right shall be no greater than the right of any unsecured general creditor of the Company.

(d) Withholding. The Company shall have the right to withhold from all payments made pursuant to this Agreement any federal, state, or local taxes and such other amounts as may be required by law to be withheld from such payments.

(e) Prior Employment. Executive represents and warrants that her acceptance of employment with the Company has not breached, and the performance of her duties hereunder will not breach, any duty owed by her to any prior employer or other person. Executive further represents and warrants to the Company that (i) the performance of her obligations hereunder will not violate any agreement between her and any other person, firm, organization or other entity, (ii) she is not bound by the terms of any agreement with any previous employer or other party to refrain from competing, directly or indirectly, with the business of such previous employer or other party that would be violated by her entering into this Agreement and/or providing services to the Company pursuant to the terms of this Agreement, and (iii) Executive's performance of her duties under this Agreement will not require her to, and she shall not, rely on in the performance of her duties or disclose to the Company or any other person or entity or induce the Company in any way to use or rely on any trade secret or other confidential or proprietary information or material belonging to any previous employer of Executive.

(f) Headings. The Section headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect in any way the meaning or interpretation or this Agreement. In the event of a conflict between a heading and the content of a Section, the content of the Section shall control.

(g) Recoupment. To the extent required by applicable law, any applicable securities exchange listing standards or the Company's Incentive Compensation Recovery Policy or Clawback Policy (each, as amended from time to time, or any successor or replacement policy), any amounts paid or payable under this Agreement (including, without limitation, amounts paid prior to the effectiveness of such law or listing standards) shall be subject to forfeiture, repayment or recapture to the extent required by such applicable law, policy or listing standard.

(h) Gender and Number. Whenever used in this Agreement, a masculine pronoun is deemed to include the feminine and a neuter pronoun is deemed to include both the masculine and the feminine, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise. The singular form, whenever used herein, shall mean or include the plural form where applicable.

(i) Severability. If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be invalid or unenforceable under any applicable law, such event shall not affect or render invalid or unenforceable any other provision of this Agreement and shall not affect the application of any provision to other persons or circumstances.

(j) Binding Effect. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective successors, permitted assigns, heirs, executors and administrators.

(k) Notice. For purposes of this Agreement, notices and all other communications provided for in this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given if hand-delivered, sent by documented overnight delivery service or by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, postage prepaid, addressed to the respective addresses set forth below:

(l) Effectiveness; Entire Agreement. This Agreement shall become effective as of the Effective Date. As of the Effective Date, this Agreement sets forth the entire understanding of the parties and supersedes all prior agreements, arrangements and communications, whether oral or written, pertaining to the subject matter hereof. This Agreement and the obligations and commitments hereunder shall neither commence nor be of any force or effect prior to the Effective Date.

(m) Governing Law. The validity, interpretation, construction and performance of this Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the United States where applicable and otherwise by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

Axogen Reports Preliminary Unaudited Revenue for Fourth Quarter and Full-Year 2024

ALACHUA and TAMPA, Fla., January 10, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Axogen, Inc. (NASDAQ: AXGN), a global leader in developing and marketing innovative surgical solutions for peripheral nerve injuries, today announced preliminary unaudited fourth quarter and full-year 2024 key financials.

Preliminary Fourth Quarter and Year-End Key Business Highlights

- Fourth quarter revenue is expected to be approximately $49.4 million, which represents a 15.1% increase over the fourth quarter of 2023 driven by solid performance across the product portfolio.
- Full-year 2024 revenue is expected to be approximately $187.3 million, which represents a 17.8% increase over the full-year of 2023.
- Our positive performance reflects continued improvements in the execution of our commercial strategies, including a focus on high-potential accounts in Extremities and OMF-Head & Neck applications, adoption of Axogen's complete peripheral nerve surgical algorithm across all procedures, and continued adoption of Resensation® as an expectation for post mastectomy breast reconstruction procedures.
- We expect full year gross margin to be above 75.5%.
- Total balance of cash, cash equivalents and investments on December 31, 2024, is expected to be approximately $39.5 million, representing an increase of approximately $2.5 million over that balance at the end of 2023.

"We are pleased with our fourth-quarter and full-year 2024 performance, which reflects continued improvements in effectiveness and efficiency across the business," said Michael Dale, President and Chief Executive Officer of Axogen. "Looking to the future, on March 4th, 2025, we look forward to hosting an Investor Day at which we will share our strategic priorities for the future and the work we believe will best advance our mission to make peripheral nerve care, standard-of-care for all patients."

The results disclosed in this press release are preliminary and unaudited. The Company expects to report full, audited results for the fourth quarter and year ended December 31, 2024, on or before Investor Day.

About Axogen

Axogen (AXGN) is the leading Company focused specifically on the science, development, and commercialization of technologies for peripheral nerve regeneration and repair. Axogen employees are passionate about helping to restore peripheral nerve function and quality of life to patients with physical damage or transection to peripheral nerves by providing innovative, clinically proven, and economically effective repair solutions for surgeons and health care providers. Peripheral nerves provide the pathways for both motor and sensory signals throughout the body. Every day, people suffer traumatic injuries or undergo surgical procedures that impact the function of their peripheral nerves. Physical damage to a peripheral nerve, or the inability to properly reconnect peripheral nerves, can result in the loss of muscle or organ function, the loss of sensory feeling, or the initiation of pain.

Axogen's platform for peripheral nerve repair features a comprehensive portfolio of products that are used across two primary application categories: scheduled, non-trauma procedures and emergent trauma procedures. Scheduled procedures are generally characterized as those where a patient is seeking relief from conditions caused by a nerve defect or surgical procedure. These procedures include providing sensation for women seeking breast reconstruction following a mastectomy, nerve reconstruction following the surgical removal of painful neuromas, oral and maxillofacial procedures, and nerve decompression. Emergent procedures are generally characterized as procedures resulting from injuries that initially present in an ER. These procedures are typically referred to and completed by a specialist either immediately or within a few days following the initial injury.

Axogen's product portfolio includes Avance® Nerve Graft, a biologically active off-the-shelf processed human nerve allograft for bridging severed peripheral nerves without the comorbidities associated with a second surgical site; Axoguard Nerve Connector®, a porcine submucosa ECM coaptation aid for tensionless repair of severed peripheral nerves; Axoguard Nerve Protector®, a porcine submucosa ECM product used to wrap and protect damaged peripheral nerves and reinforce the nerve reconstruction while preventing soft tissue attachments; Axoguard HA+ Nerve Protector™, a porcine submucosa ECM base layer coated with a proprietary hyaluronate-alginate gel, a next-generation technology designed to provide short- and long-term protection for peripheral nerve injuries; and Axoguard Nerve Cap®, a porcine submucosa ECM product used to protect a peripheral nerve end and separate the nerve from the surrounding environment to reduce the development of symptomatic or painful neuroma. The Axogen portfolio of products is available in the United States, Canada, Germany, the United Kingdom, Spain, South Korea, and several other countries.

Cautionary Statements Concerning Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains "forward-looking" statements as defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements are based on management's current expectations or predictions of future conditions, events, or results based on various assumptions and management's estimates of trends and economic factors in the markets in which we are active, as well as our business plans. Words such as "expects," "anticipates," "intends," "plan(s)," "believes," "seeks," "estimates," "projects," "forecasts," "continue," "may," "should," "will," "goals," and variations of such words and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding our preliminary, unaudited fourth quarter and full year 2024 performance, statements related to our mission of making peripheral nerve care, standard of care for all patients, and statements related to our expectations regarding adoption of breast Resensation®, as well as statements under the subheading " Preliminary Fourth Quarter and Year-End Key Business Highlights." Actual results or events could differ materially from those described in any forward-looking statements as a result of various factors, including, without limitation, potential disruptions caused by leadership transitions, global supply chain issues, record inflation, hospital staffing issues, product development, product potential, expected clinical enrollment timing and outcomes, regulatory process and approvals, APC transition timing and expense, financial performance, sales growth, surgeon and product adoption, market awareness of our products, data validation, our visibility at and sponsorship of conferences and educational events, global business disruption caused by Russia's invasion of Ukraine and related sanctions, geopolitical conflicts in the Middle East, as well as those risk factors described under Part I, Item 1A., "Risk Factors," of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the most recently ended fiscal year and Part II, Item 1A., "Risk Factors," for our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the most recently ended fiscal quarter. Forward-looking statements are not a guarantee of future performance, and actual results may differ materially from those projected. The forward-looking statements are representative only as of the date they are made and, except as required by applicable law, we assume no responsibility to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has assigned the above Labeler Code to your firm. The number cannot be used until you have confirmed the assignment. Please revise and resubmit your Labeler Code Request SPL to include the assigned number above to complete the process. To do this, open the previous Labeler Code Request SPL file and fill in the new information (your assigned Labeler Code) without changing the other existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.

For CDER Direct Users: Open the previously submitted and accepted Labeler Code Request, click Create New Version, enter the Labeler Code assigned in the field for "Labeler Code", and Submit SPL.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Note that receipt of this letter is not to be construed as Federal Government endorsement or approval of the establishment or its products.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides a "safe harbor" for forward-looking statements. This Annual Report on Form 10-K (this "Annual Report") contains forward-looking statements regarding us, our business prospects and our results of operations that are subject to certain risks and uncertainties that could cause our actual business, prospects and results of operations to differ materially from those that may be anticipated by such forward-looking statements. Factors that could cause or contribute to such differences include, but are not limited to, those described in Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this Annual Report. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this Annual Report. We expressly disclaim any intent or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise. Readers are urged to carefully review and consider the various disclosures made by us in this Annual Report and in our other reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") that advise interested parties of the risks and uncertainties that may affect our business.

All statements, other than statements of historical facts, contained in this Annual Report, including statements regarding our plans, objectives and expectations for our business, operations and financial performance and condition, are forward-looking statements. In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by the following words: "anticipate," "believe," "continue," "could," "estimate," "expect," "intend," "may," "might," "target," "ongoing," "plan," "potential," "predict," "project," "should," "will," "would," or the negative of these terms or other comparable terminology, although not all forward-looking statements contain these words. Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause our results, performance or achievements to be materially different from the information expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements in this Annual Report. Additionally, our forward-looking statements do not reflect the potential impact of any future acquisitions, mergers, dispositions, joint ventures or investments that we may make. Forward-looking statements may include, among other things, statements relating to:

- our clinical trial plans and the estimated timelines and costs for such trials;
- our plans to develop and commercialize our products, and our expectations about the market opportunity for gedatolisib and our CELsignia tests, and our ability to serve those markets;
- our expectations with respect to our competitive advantages, including the potential efficacy of gedatolisib in various patient types alone or in combination with other treatments;
- our expectations regarding the timeline of patient enrollment and results from clinical trials, including our existing Phase 3 VIKTORIA-1 clinical trial and Phase 1b/2 study and clinical trial for gedatolisib;
- our expectations regarding our ability to obtain FDA approval to commercialize gedatolisib;
- our expectations regarding governmental laws and regulations affecting our operations, including, without limitation, developments in laws and regulations or their interpretation, including, among others, changes in tax laws and regulations internationally and in the U.S. and laws that affect our operations and our laboratory;
- our expectations with respect to the development, validation, required approvals, costs and timelines of gedatolisib and our CELsignia tests;
- our beliefs related to the potential benefits resulting from Breakthrough Therapy designation for gedatolisib;
- our beliefs about our ability to capitalize on the exclusive global development and commercialization rights obtained from our license agreement with Pfizer with respect to gedatolisib;
- our plans with respect to research and development and related expenses for the foreseeable future;
- our beliefs with respect to the potential rate and degree of market acceptance, both in the United States and internationally, and clinical utility of our therapeutics, diagnostic platform and tests;
- our expectations regarding the future payments that may be owed to Pfizer under our license agreement with them;
- our revenue expectations;
- our intended business development activities, including collaborations with pharmaceutical companies;
- our plans with respect to pricing in the United States and internationally, and our ability to obtain reimbursement for both our gedatolisib drug candidate and CELsignia tests, including expectations as to our ability or the amount of time it will take to achieve successful reimbursement from third-party payors, such as commercial insurance companies and health maintenance organizations, and from government insurance programs, such as Medicare and Medicaid;
- our expectations as to the use of proceeds from our recent financing activities;
- our expectations with respect to accessing our current debt facility or any other debt facility or other capital sources in the future;
- our beliefs regarding the adequacy of our cash on hand to fund our research and development expenses, capital expenditures, working capital, sales and marketing expenses, and other general corporate expenses, as well as the increased costs associated with being a public company; and
- our expectations regarding our ability to obtain and maintain intellectual property protection for our product candidates, including our gedatolisib drug candidate and our CELsignia platform and tests.

These statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause our results or our industry's actual results, levels of activity, performance or achievements to be materially different from the information expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. Certain risks, uncertainties and other factors include, but are not limited to, our limited operating history; our potential inability to develop, validate and commercialize gedatolisib on a timely basis or at all; the uncertainties and costs associated with clinical studies and with developing and commercializing biopharmaceuticals; the complexity and difficulty of demonstrating the safety and sufficient magnitude of benefit to support regulatory approval of gedatolisib and other products we may develop; challenges we may face in developing and maintaining relationships with pharmaceutical company partners; the complexity and timeline for development of our CELsignia tests; the uncertainty regarding market acceptance of our products and services by physicians, patients, third-party payors and others in the medical community, uncertainty with respect to the size of market opportunities available to us; uncertainty regarding the pricing of drug products and molecular and other diagnostic products and services that compete or may compete with us; uncertainty with insurance coverage and reimbursement for our products and services; the potential impact of public health matters on our business and clinical study activities; difficulties we may face in managing growth, such as hiring and retaining key personnel; changes in government regulations; costs to comply with evolving regulations; and obtaining and maintaining intellectual property protection for our technology and time and expense associated with defending third-party claims of intellectual property infringement, investigations or litigation threatened or initiated against us. See "Risk Factors" in Part I, Item 1A of this Annual Report for additional risks, uncertainties and other factors applicable to the Company.

SUMMARY OF RISK FACTORS

Below is a summary of the material factors that make an investment in our common stock speculative or risky. This summary does not address all of the risks that we face. Additional discussion of the risks summarized in this risk factor summary, and other risks that we face, can be found in the "Risk Factors" section of Part I, Item 1A of this Annual Report and should be carefully considered, together with other information in this Annual Report and our other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission before making investment decisions regarding our common stock.

- We have a limited operating history and we may never generate revenue or profit;
- Our inability to raise additional capital on acceptable terms in the future may limit our ability to develop and commercialize our therapeutic (Rx) and companion diagnostic (CDx) strategy;
- Future financing activities could dilute the percentage ownership of our stockholders and could cause our stock price to fall, or could result in operating or other restrictions;
- We are currently conducting and will continue to conduct clinical trials. Clinical trials are expensive and complex with uncertain outcomes, which may prevent or delay commercialization of our products;
- Our near-term revenue prospects depend on the success of our initial drug product, gedatolisib. If we are unable to successfully complete clinical development of, obtain regulatory approval for or commercialize gedatolisib, or if we experience delays in doing so, our business will be materially and adversely impacted;
- The successful development and commercialization of our products is highly uncertain;
- We were not involved in the early development of gedatolisib, so we are dependent on third parties having accurately generated, collected, interpreted and reported data from certain preclinical and clinical trials;
- As an organization, we have never successfully completed any registrational clinical trials, and we may be unable to do so for any drug candidates we may develop;
- For a new drug to be approved for marketing, the FDA in the United States and health authorities in other countries, must determine that the drug is safe and effective. Because all drugs can have adverse effects, the data from our Phase 3 clinical study must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the FDA and other health authorities that the benefits of gedatolisib in combination with palbociclib and fulvestrant, or gedatolisib in combination with fulvestrant, outweigh its risks. Failure to demonstrate sufficient magnitude of benefit, even if the benefit is found to be statistically significant, may not support regulatory approval;
- We must navigate lengthy, uncertain, and expensive regulatory approval processes to be able to market our products in the U.S. and other jurisdictions;
- If we encounter difficulties enrolling patients in any of our clinical trials, our clinical development activities could be delayed or otherwise adversely affected;
- We depend on intellectual property licensed from third parties, including from Pfizer for our lead product candidate, gedatolisib, and termination of this license could result in the loss of significant rights, which would materially and adversely impact our business;
- If we and our business partners are unable to obtain and maintain intellectual property protection for our products and technology, or if the scope of the intellectual property protection obtained is not sufficiently broad, our competitors could develop and commercialize products or technology similar or identical to ours, and our ability to successfully commercialize our technology and diagnostic tests may be impaired;
- If we fail to comply with our obligations under our patent license with Pfizer, we could lose certain license rights that are important to our business;
- We rely on third parties to conduct certain aspects of our preclinical studies and clinical trials and to formulate and manufacture our drug product. If these third parties do not successfully carry out their contractual duties, meet expected deadlines or comply with regulatory requirements, we may not be able to obtain regulatory approval for, or commercialize, any potential product candidates;
- We will be dependent on our ability to attract and retain key personnel;
- We may encounter difficulties in scaling production, commercializing, marketing and distributing our products, including in hiring and retaining a qualified sales force;
- We have not independently verified our estimated market opportunities;
- We face significant competition from other pharmaceutical and diagnostic companies; and
- The price of our common stock may be volatile and fluctuate substantially.

PART I

Overview

Unless otherwise provided in this Annual Report, references to the "Company," "we," "us," and "our" and similar references refer to Celcuity Inc., a Delaware corporation. We own various unregistered trademarks and service marks, including our corporate logo. Solely for convenience, the trademarks, trade names and service marks in this Annual Report, including those owned by third parties, may be referred to without the ®, ™ or ℠ symbols, but such references should not be construed as any indicator that the owner of such trademarks, trade names and service marks will not assert, to the fullest extent under applicable law, their rights thereto. We do not intend the use or display of other companies' trademarks, trade names and service marks to imply an endorsement or sponsorship of us by any other companies.

We are a clinical-stage biotechnology company focused on the development of targeted therapies for the treatment of multiple solid tumor indications. Our lead therapeutic candidate is gedatolisib, a potent, well-tolerated, small molecule reversible inhibitor, administered intravenously, that selectively targets all Class I isoforms of phosphatidylinositol-3-kinase (PI3K) and the two mechanistic target of rapamycin (mTOR) sub-complexes, mTORC1 and mTORC2. Gedatolisib's mechanism of action and pharmacokinetic properties are highly differentiated from other currently approved and investigational therapies that target PI3K or mTOR alone or together. We believe there is significant potential for gedatolisib to address breast and prostate cancer tumors, and it has the potential to be used in other tumor types where the PAM pathway is either: i) driving tumorigenesis directly; ii) cooperating with other dysregulated signaling pathways; or iii) a mechanism of resistance to other drug therapies.

We obtained exclusive global development and commercialization rights to gedatolisib in April 2021 under a license agreement with Pfizer, Inc. As of December 31, 2023, 492 patients with solid tumors have received gedatolisib in eight completed clinical trials. Gedatolisib's safety, tolerability and pharmacokinetic profile were determined in a Phase 1 First-in-Human study. Of the 492 patients, 129 were treated with gedatolisib as a single agent in three clinical trials. The remaining 363 patients received gedatolisib in combination with other anti-cancer agents in five clinical trials. Additional patients received gedatolisib in combination with other anti-cancer agents in nine investigator sponsored clinical trials.

Our initial clinical development programs for gedatolisib are focusing on the treatment of patients with hormone receptor positive (HR+), human epidermal growth factor receptor 2 negative (HER2-), or HR+/HER2-, advanced or metastatic breast cancer and patients with metastatic castration resistant prostate cancer (mCRPC).

In January 2022, gedatolisib was granted Fast Track designation for the treatment of patients with HR+/HER2- metastatic breast cancer after progression on CDK4/6 therapy. Fast Track designation is granted by the FDA for products that are intended for the treatment of serious or life-threatening disease or conditions and which demonstrate the potential to address an unmet medical need.

In July 2022, gedatolisib was granted Breakthrough Therapy Designation for HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer after progression on CDK4/6 therapy. Breakthrough Therapy designation is granted by the FDA to expedite the development and regulatory review of an investigational medicine that is intended to treat a serious or life-threatening condition. The criteria for Breakthrough Therapy designation requires preliminary clinical evidence that demonstrates the drug may have substantial improvement on one or more clinically significant endpoints over available therapy.

In December 2022, we dosed the first patient in our Phase 3, open-label, randomized clinical trial, VIKTORIA-1. This trial is evaluating the efficacy and safety of two regimens in adults with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer whose disease has progressed after prior CDK4/6 therapy in combination with an aromatase inhibitor: 1) gedatolisib in combination with palbociclib and fulvestrant; and 2) gedatolisib in combination with fulvestrant. Over two hundred clinical sites in North America, Europe, South America, Asia, and Australia are participating in the study.

In February 2024, we dosed our first patient in our Phase 1b/2 clinical trial, CELC-G-201, evaluating gedatolisib in combination with darolutamide in patients with mCRPC.

The PI3K/AKT/mTOR Pathway

Dysregulation of the PI3K/protein kinase B (AKT)/mTOR, or PAM, signaling pathway is observed in many types of cancer, including breast and prostate cancer. The important role the PAM pathway plays in cancer has led to significant investment in the development of many different PI3K and mTOR inhibitors for solid tumors.

Activities associated with PI3K involve complex essential cell regulatory mechanisms including feedforward and feedback signaling loops. Overactivation of the pathway is frequently present in human malignancies and plays a key role in cancer progression. Four catalytic isoforms of Class I PI3K preferentially mediate signal transduction and tumor cell survival based on the type of malignancy and the genetic or epigenetic alterations an individual patient harbors. Due to the multiple subcellular locations, activities, and importance of the different PI3K complexes in regulating many types of cancer cell proliferation, control of PI3K activity is an important target in cancer therapy.

mTOR is a critical effector in cell-signaling pathways commonly dysregulated in human cancers. The mTOR signaling pathway integrates both intracellular and extracellular signals and serves as a central regulator of cell metabolism, growth, proliferation, and survival. mTOR is a serine/threonine protein kinase, a downstream effector of PI3K, and regulated by hormones, growth factors, and nutrients, that are contained in two functionally distinct protein assemblies – mTORC1 and mTORC2. In cancer, dysfunctional signaling leads to various constitutive activities of the mTOR complexes, making mTOR a good therapeutic target.

Developing efficacious and well-tolerated therapies that target this pathway has been challenging. This reflects the inherent adaptability and complexity of the PI3K pathway, where numerous feedforward and feedback loops, crosstalk with other pathways, and compensatory pathways enable resistance to PI3K inhibition. Another major hurdle for the development of PI3K pathway inhibitors has been the inability to achieve optimal drug-target blockade in tumors while avoiding undue toxicities in patients.

Gedatolisib

By targeting multiple nodes of the PAM pathway, gedatolisib can overcome adaptive resistance mechanisms that inhibitors targeting single PI3K/mTOR nodes do not address. As a result, we believe gedatolisib offers distinct advantages over currently approved and investigational therapies that target PI3K or mTOR alone or together.

- Overcomes limitations of therapies that only inhibit a single Class I PI3K isoform or only one mTOR kinase complex.

  Gedatolisib is a pan-class I isoform PI3K inhibitor with low nanomolar potency for the p110α, p110β, p110γ, and p110δ isoforms. Because gedatolisib inhibits all four PI3K isoforms and both mTOR complexes, it prevents the confounding effect of isoform interaction that may occur with isoform specific PI3K inhibitors and the confounding interaction between PI3K isoforms, AKT, and mTOR. By contrast, node-specific inhibitors cross-activate uninhibited sub-units due to numerous feedforward and feedback loops between the PI3K isoforms, AKT, and mTOR, which in turn induces compensatory resistance that reduces the efficacy of isoform specific PI3K, pan-AKT, or single mTOR kinase complex inhibitors.

  To compare the functional effect of inhibiting single versus multiple PAM pathway nodes, we evaluated gedatolisib, and node-selective inhibitors for PI3Kα (alpelisib), AKT (capivasertib) and mTORC1 (everolimus) in a panel of breast cancer cell lines using a live cell proliferation rate dose response analysis. The results of this analysis are presented in the table below.

Breast Cancer Cell Line Proliferation Rate Dose Response Analysis

Average values for 14 PIK3CA MT and 14 PIK3CA WT breast cancer cell lines

	Geda	Alpe	Evero	Capi	Geda	Alpe	Evero	Capi
All	12	6,308	3,611	8,660	108%	89%	82%	80%
MT	12	2,594	1,867	2,590	174%	116%	68%	99%
WT	12	10,308	5,501	15,209	162%	62%	56%	60%

Note: Growth rate (GR) was assessed using 28 cell lines by measuring live cells reducing potential with Real Time-Glo MT luciferase assay before and after 72-hour drug treatment. GR50 (concentration required to inhibit growth rate by 50%) is a measure of potency. Max cell growth inhibition (GR at highest drug concentration tested) is a measure of efficacy.

On average, gedatolisib was 300-fold more potent than the single node PAM inhibitors analyzed and only gedatolisib induced a significant cytotoxic effect. In addition, gedatolisib's potency and efficacy was comparable in cell lines with and without PIK3CA mutations, in contrast to the single node PAM inhibitors.

- Better tolerated by patients than oral PI3K and mTOR drugs.

Gedatolisib is administered intravenously (IV) on a four-week cycle of three weeks-on, one week-off, in contrast to the orally administered pan-PI3K or dual PI3K/mTOR inhibitors that are no longer being clinically developed. Oral pan-PI3K or PI3K/mTOR inhibitors have repeatably been found to induce significant side effects that were not well tolerated by patients. This typically leads to a high proportion of patients requiring dose reductions or treatment discontinuation, despite showing promising efficacy. By contrast, gedatolisib stabilizes at lower concentration levels in plasma compared to orally administered PI3K inhibitors, resulting in less toxicity, while maintaining concentrations sufficient to inhibit PI3K/mTOR signaling.

Isoform-specific PI3K inhibitors administered orally were developed to reduce toxicities in patients. While the range of toxicities associated with isoform-specific inhibitors is narrower than oral pan-PI3K or PI3K/mTOR inhibitors, administering them orally on a continuous basis still leads to challenging toxicities. The experience with an FDA approved oral p110-α specific inhibitor, Piqray, illustrates the challenge. In its Phase 3 pivotal trial, Piqray was found to induce a Grade 3 or 4 adverse event (AE) related to hyperglycemia in 39% of patients evaluated. In addition, 26% of patients discontinued alpelisib due to treatment related adverse events. By contrast, in the 103-patient dose expansion portion of the Phase 1b clinical trial with gedatolisib, only 7% of patients experienced Grade 3 or 4 hyperglycemia and less than 10% discontinued treatment.

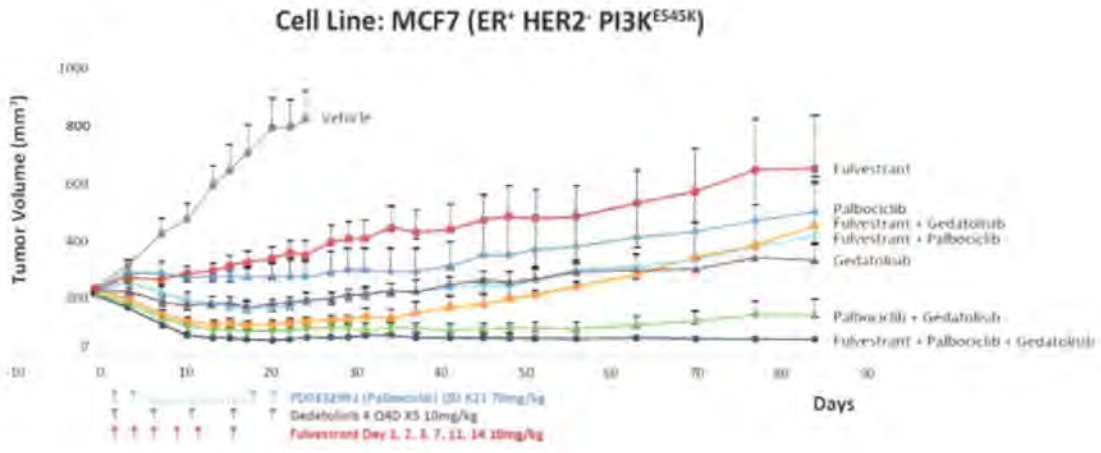
Clinical Development

As of December 31, 2023, 492 patients with solid tumors have received gedatolisib in eight completed clinical trials. Gedatolisib's safety, tolerability and pharmacokinetic profile were determined in a Phase 1 First-in-Human study. Of the 492 patients, 129 were treated with gedatolisib as a single agent in three clinical trials. The remaining 363 patients received gedatolisib in combination with other anti-cancer agents in five clinical trials. Additional patients received gedatolisib in combination with other anti-cancer agents in nine investigator sponsored clinical trials.

Breast Cancer Program

Breast cancer is the most prevalent cancer in women, accounting for 30% of all female cancers and 13% of cancer-related deaths in the United States. The National Cancer Institute estimated that approximately 298,000 new cases of breast cancer would be diagnosed in the United States in 2023, and approximately 43,200 breast cancer patients would die of the disease.

Four different breast cancer subtypes are currently identified using molecular tests that determine the level of HR and HER2 expression. The most common subtype of advanced breast cancer (ABC) is HR+/HER2-. Approximately 70% of all breast cancer tumors express the estrogen receptor (ER), which, upon activation, regulates the expression of various genes involved in tumor proliferation. Despite progress in treatment strategies, metastatic HR+/HER2- breast cancer (MBC) remains an incurable disease, with a median overall survival (OS) of three years and a five-year survival rate of 34%.



Four different classes of targeted therapies are currently used to treat HR+/HER2- tumors: endocrine-based therapies, CDK4/6 inhibitors, PI3K inhibitors and mTOR inhibitors. Each of the CDK4/6 inhibitors, PI3K inhibitors and mTOR inhibitors are generally used to respond to the related mechanisms of resistance to endocrine therapy, namely, activation of the CDK4/6, PI3K and mTOR pathways.

Over 70% of breast cancers have direct or indirect activation of the PAM pathway. The upregulation of the PAM pathway promotes hormone-dependent and independent ER transcriptional activity, which contributes to endocrine resistance, leading to tumor cell growth, survival, motility, and metabolism. Clinical studies have demonstrated that PI3K and mTOR inhibition can restore sensitivity to estrogen therapy (ET).

Additionally, the PAM pathway, like other mitogenic pathways, can also promote the activities of cyclin D and CDK4/6 to drive proliferative cell cycling. The available evidence indicates that resistance to CDK4/6 inhibition in patients with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer is a transient adaptive mechanism, most likely involving the PI3K/mTOR pathway. This data indicates that CDK4/6 signaling is restored in CDK4/6 resistant tumors when PI3K/mTOR inhibitors are applied. Thus, continuing CDK4/6 inhibitor treatment in combination with a PI3K/mTOR inhibitor in patients who progressed on their prior CDK4/6 inhibitor, would both blockade the reactivated CDK4/6 pathway and prevent adaptive activation of the PI3K/mTOR pathway. This suggests the limited efficacy induced by current standard-of-care (SOC) therapies in patients who have progressed on a CDK4/6 therapy reflects the mechanistic inadequacy of relying on partial PI3K/mTOR inhibition (e.g., alpelisib or everolimus) and no CDK4/6 inhibition to address this complex disease mechanism.

We believe the complex connection between the PI3K/mTOR and CDK4/6 pathways can enable gedatolisib to adaptively reactivate CDK4/6 signaling that reportedly occurs in CDK4/6 resistant tumors when the PI3K/mTOR pathway is completely blockaded. By re-activating CDK4/6 signaling, we believe gedatolisib can restore the therapeutic effect of CDK4/6 inhibition when it is combined with a CDK4/6 inhibitor. The contributory effect of a CDK4/6 inhibitor when combined with gedatolisib would thus largely reflect the interaction between the two therapies that gedatolisib initiates.

Evidence of gedatolisib's anti-tumor activity in breast cancer cells was provided in a study evaluating the MCF7 xenograft model (ER+/HER2-/PIK3CA mutant), where the combination of gedatolisib with palbociclib and fulvestrant caused 90% tumor regression with no tumor regrowth observed for more than 60 days after the final dose.

Clinical Experience with Gedatolisib in Breast Cancer

The favorability of preliminary results from our most recently completed clinical trial, a Phase 1b study which evaluated 138 patients with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer (ABC), led us to focus on our initial clinical development program on advanced breast cancer.

On January 13, 2022, gedatolisib was granted Fast Track designation for the treatment of patients with HR+/HER2- metastatic breast cancer after progression on CDK4/6 therapy. Fast Track designation is granted by the FDA for products that are intended for the treatment of serious or life-threatening disease or conditions and which demonstrate the potential to address an unmet medical need. The designation offers the opportunity for frequent interactions with the FDA to discuss the drug's development plan and to ensure collection of appropriate data needed to support drug approval, as well as eligibility for rolling submission of a New Drug Application.

On July 18, 2022, gedatolisib was granted Breakthrough Therapy Designation for HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer after progression on CDK4/6 therapy. Breakthrough Therapy designation is granted by the FDA to expedite the development and regulatory review of an investigational medicine that is intended to treat a serious or life-threatening condition. The criteria for Breakthrough Therapy designation require preliminary clinical evidence that demonstrates the drug may have substantial improvement on one or more clinically significant endpoints over available therapy. The benefits of Breakthrough Therapy Designation include more intensive guidance from the FDA on an efficient development program, access to a scientific liaison to help accelerate review time, and potential eligibility for priority review if relevant criteria are met. Celcuity's breakthrough application was supported by data from a Phase 1b study that assessed the safety, tolerability and clinical activity of gedatolisib in combination with palbociclib and fulvestrant in patients with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer whose disease progressed during treatment with a CDK4/6 therapy and an aromatase inhibitor.

Phase 1b HR+/HER2- ABC Clinical Trial Results

A Phase 1b dose-finding trial with an expansion portion for safety and efficacy evaluated gedatolisib when added to either the standard doses of palbociclib plus letrozole or palbociclib plus fulvestrant in patients with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer. PI3K mutation status was not used as an eligibility criterion. Patient enrollment for the trial is complete.

A total of 138 patients with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer were dosed in the clinical trial. Five patients from this study continue to receive study treatment, as of December 31, 2023, each of whom have received study treatment for more than five years.

- 35 patients were enrolled in two dose escalation arms to evaluate the safety and tolerability and determine the maximum tolerable dose (MTD) of gedatolisib when used in combination with the standard doses of palbociclib and endocrine therapies. The MTD was determined to be 180 mg administered intravenously once weekly.

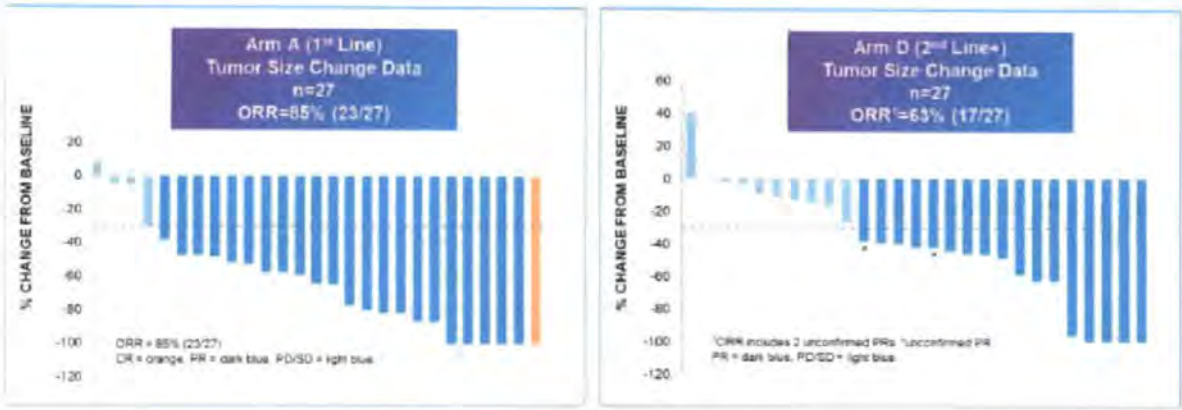
- 103 patients were enrolled in one of four expansion arms (A, B, C, D) to determine if the triplet combination of gedatolisib plus palbociclib and letrozole or gedatolisib plus palbociclib and fulvestrant produced a superior objective response (OR), compared to historical control data of the doublet combination (palbociclib plus endocrine therapy). All patients received gedatolisib in combination with standard doses of palbociclib and endocrine therapy (either letrozole or fulvestrant). In Arms A, B, and C, patients received an intravenous dose of 180 mg of gedatolisib once weekly. In Arm D, patients received an intravenous dose of 180 mg of gedatolisib on a four-week cycle of three weeks-on, one week-off. Objective response was determined using Response Evaluation Criteria in Solid Tumors v1.0, or RECIST v1.0.

    - Arm A: ABC with progression and no prior endocrine-based systemic therapy or a CDK4/6 inhibitor in the metastatic setting. First-line endocrine-based therapy for advanced disease (CDK4/6 treatment naive).

    - Arm B: ABC with progression during one or two prior endocrine-based systemic therapy in the advanced setting, with no prior therapy with any CDK inhibitor. Second- or third-line endocrine-based therapy for metastatic disease.

    - Arm C: ABC with progression during one or two prior endocrine-based systemic therapies in the advanced setting and following prior therapy with a CDK inhibitor. Second- or third-line endocrine-based therapy for advanced disease.

    - Arm D: ABC with progression during one or two prior endocrine-based systemic therapies in the advanced setting and following prior therapy with a CDK inhibitor. Second- or third-line endocrine-based therapy for advanced disease.



Analysis for the 103 patients enrolled in the expansion portion of the Phase 1b clinical trial showed:

- Efficacy analysis for all arms in aggregate amongst patients with evaluable tumors:

    - 64% objective response rate (ORR)

    - 92% clinical benefit rate (CBR)

- Best responses, as measured by RECIST v1.0, are shown in the following chart for Arm A (1st line patients) and Arm D (2nd/3rd line patients who received Phase 3 dosing regimen). The dotted line represents the cutoff for partial response (PR), defined as a 30% reduction from the baseline tumor assessment.

Source: Layman SABCS 2021

- Safety analysis:
  - For all arms in aggregate, all patients experienced at least one Grade 1 or Grade 2 treatment-emergent adverse event. The Grade 3 and 4 treatment-emergent adverse events occurring in at least 20% of patients were neutropenia (63%), stomatitis (27%) and rash (20%). Neutropenia is a known class effect of CDK4/6 inhibitors. Stomatitis was reversible in most patients with a steroidal mouth rinse. All grades of treatment-related adverse events related to hyperglycemia were reported in 22% of patients; Grade 3 or 4 hyperglycemia was reported in 7% of patients. Gedatolisib was discontinued in less than 10% of patients.
  - For the patients in Arm D, who received the Phase 3 dosing schedule, Grade 3 and 4 treatment-emergent adverse events occurring in at least 20% of patients were neutropenia (67%), leukopenia (22%), and stomatitis (22%). All grades of treatment-related adverse events related to hyperglycemia were reported in 26% of patients; Grade 3 or 4 hyperglycemia was reported in 7% of patients. Gedatolisib was discontinued in 4% of patients.
- Best overall response data for each arm is presented in the table below:

Phase 3 HR+/HER2- ABC Clinical Trial (VIKTORIA-1)

In 2022, we initiated VIKTORIA-1, a Phase 3, open-label, randomized clinical trial to evaluate the efficacy and safety of gedatolisib in combination with fulvestrant with or without palbociclib in adults with HR+/HER2- advanced breast cancer whose disease has progressed after prior CDK4/6 therapy in combination with an aromatase inhibitor. This multi-center, international trial is expected to enroll approximately 701 total subjects at more than 200 clinical sites across North America, Europe, Latin America, and Asia. The first patient was dosed in December 2022.

The clinical trial will enable separate evaluation of subjects according to their PIK3CA status.

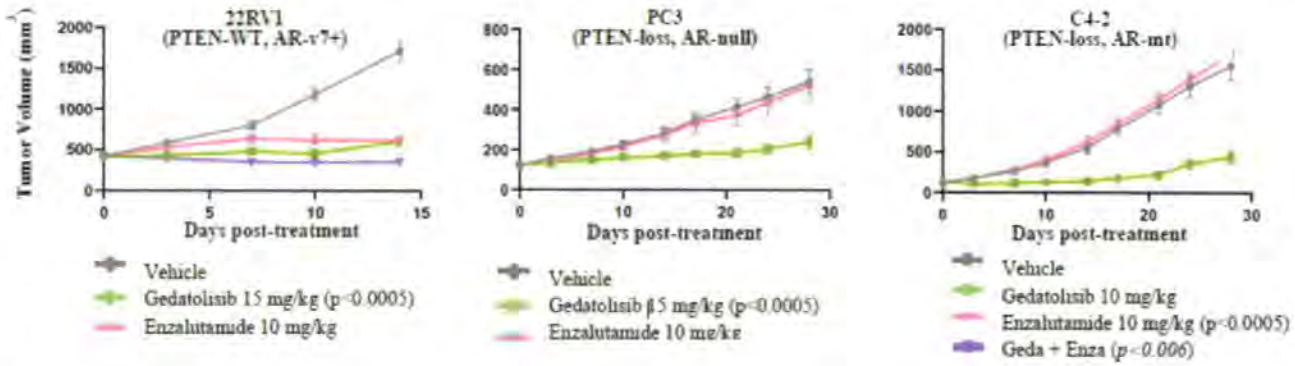
- Subjects who meet eligibility criteria and do not have confirmed PIK3CA mutations (WT) will be randomly assigned (1:1:1) to receive a regimen of either gedatolisib, palbociclib, and fulvestrant (Arm A), gedatolisib and fulvestrant (Arm B), or fulvestrant (Arm C). Up to 351 subjects who are PIK3CA WT will be enrolled.

- Subjects who meet eligibility criteria and have PIK3CA mutations (MT) will be randomly assigned (3:3:1) to receive a regimen of either gedatolisib, palbociclib, and fulvestrant (Arm D), alpelisib and fulvestrant (Arm E), or gedatolisib and fulvestrant (Arm F). Up to 350 subjects who are PIK3CA MT will be enrolled.

The clinical trial primary endpoints are progression free survival (PFS), per RECIST 1.1 criteria, as assessed by blinded independent central review (BICR). Two primary endpoints will be evaluated in subjects who are PI3KCA WT, and one primary endpoint will be evaluated in subjects who are PI3KCA MT. In subjects who are PI3KCA WT, the PFS of gedatolisib in combination with palbociclib and fulvestrant (Arm A) will be compared to fulvestrant monotherapy (Arm C), and the PFS in gedatolisib in combination with fulvestrant (Arm B) will be compared to fulvestrant monotherapy (Arm C). In subjects who are PI3KCA MT, the PFS of gedatolisib in combination with palbociclib and fulvestrant (Arm D) will be compared to alpelisib combined with fulvestrant (Arm E).

All subjects will receive treatment according to the assigned study arm until objective progressive disease, unacceptable toxicity, death, or withdrawal of consent, whichever occurs first. Subjects in Arm C will have the option to receive the treatment regimen provided in Arm A or Arm B upon radiographically confirmed disease progression. Subjects will be followed for AEs, safety laboratory testing, tumour assessment by RECIST v1.1, quality of life, and overall survival.

Prostate Cancer Program



In the United States, prostate cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in men. Current estimates predict that one in eight men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in his lifetime. The American Cancer Society estimates that in 2024 there will be over 299,000 new cases of prostate cancer in the United States and approximately 35,250 deaths from the disease. Although the majority of patients are diagnosed with localized prostate cancer, about 6% of patients present with metastatic disease with a 5-year survival rate of 29%. Androgen deprivation therapy (ADT) via medical or surgical castration has been the mainstay treatment for metastatic prostate cancer. However, prostate cancer cells develop resistance to ADT and progress to castration resistance, leading to poor prognosis and a median overall survival of about 3 to 5 years.

Men with mCRPC have a poor prognosis and a predicted survival rate of fewer than two years from the initial time of progression. Treatment options for prostate cancer depend on many different factors, including the stage of the cancer. Castration-resistant prostate cancer is defined by disease progression despite androgen deprivation therapy, or ADT, and is often indicated by rising levels of PSA. Current standard of care for men with castration-resistant prostate cancer provides that patients should initially receive a combination of ADT and either abiraterone, which works by decreasing androgen levels, or enzalutamide, which works by blocking androgen binding to AR. If the disease progresses despite these second-generation hormonal therapies, chemotherapy is considered the next treatment option. Treatment with chemotherapy is generally postponed for as long as possible due to the potential for severe side effects including neuropathies, nausea, diarrhea, decreased mental capacity and increased risk of infections.

Preclinical studies have demonstrated a potential association between the PAM pathway and androgen receptor (AR) signaling in prostate cancer cells developing resistance to ADT. In these studies, the AR and PAM pathways were shown to cross-regulate each other. This is similar to the relationship demonstrated in breast cancer with the estrogen receptor pathway and the PAM pathway. Additionally, 70% - 100% of mCRPC tumors have PAM related pathway alterations.

Several clinical studies have shown promising results by inhibiting the PAM pathway in combination with an AR inhibitor. In separate Phase 2 and Phase 3 trials, the AKT inhibitor, ipatasertib, showed improvement in radiographic PFS (rPFS) in patients with mCRPC and tumors with phosphatase and tensin homolog (PTEN) loss when ipatasertib was combined with the AR inhibitor, abiraterone, versus abiraterone alone. In a Phase 2 trial, the pan-PI3K inhibitor, samotolisib, reported median rPFS of 10.2 when combined with enzalutamide versus 5.5 months for enzalutamide alone.

Evidence of gedatolisib's in vivo activity in prostate cancer was provided in a study evaluating the 22RV-1, PC3, and C4-2 prostate cancer xenograft models. As seen in the figures below, gedatolisib induced greater than 80% tumor growth inhibition, regardless of the xenograft model's sensitivity to the AR inhibitor, enzalutamide and the cell lines' PTEN or AR status. In addition, gedatolisib combined with enzalutamide induced significantly greater tumor growth inhibition than enzalutamide alone in the enzalutamide sensitive model (C4-2).

Phase 1b/2 mCRPC Clinical Trial (CELC-G-201)

We received approval from the US FDA in mid-2023 to proceed with the clinical development of gedatolisib in combination with Nubeqa® (darolutamide), an approved androgen receptor inhibitor, for the treatment of patients with mCRPC. We have since initiated a Phase 1b/2 study (CELC-G-201) that will enroll up to 54 participants with mCRPC who progressed after treatment with an androgen receptor inhibitor. We dosed our first patient in this trial in February 2024.

In the Phase 1b portion of the study, Celcuity expects that 36 participants will be randomly assigned to receive 600 mg darolutamide combined with either 120 mg gedatolisib in Arm 1 or 180 mg gedatolisib in Arm 2. An additional 12 participants will then be enrolled in the Phase 2 portion of the study at the recommended phase 2 dose (RP2D) level to enable evaluation of 30 participants treated with the RP2D of gedatolisib.

The primary objectives of the Phase 1b portion of the trial include assessment of the safety and tolerability of gedatolisib in combination with darolutamide and determination of the recommended Phase 2 dose of gedatolisib. The primary objective of the Phase 2 portion of the trial is to assess the radiographic progression-free survival (rPFS) at six months of patients who received the RP2D.

Pfizer License Agreement

In April 2021, we entered into a license agreement, or the Gedatolisib License Agreement, with Pfizer pursuant to which we acquired exclusive (including as to Pfizer) worldwide sublicensable rights to research, develop, manufacture, and commercialize gedatolisib for the treatment, diagnosis and prevention of all diseases. Pursuant to the Gedatolisib License Agreement, we are obligated to use commercially reasonable efforts to develop and seek regulatory approval for at least one product in the U.S. and if regulatory approval is obtained, to commercialize such product in the U.S and at least one international major market.

We paid Pfizer a $5.0 million upfront fee upon execution of the Gedatolisib License Agreement and issued to Pfizer $5.0 million of our common stock. We are also required to make milestone payments to Pfizer upon achievement of certain development and commercial milestone events, up to an aggregate of $335.0 million. We will pay Pfizer tiered royalties on sales of gedatolisib at percentages ranging from the low to mid-teens, that may be subject to deductions for expiration of valid claims, amounts due under third-party licenses and generic competition. Unless earlier terminated, the Gedatolisib License Agreement will expire upon the expiration of all royalty obligations. The royalty period will expire on a country-by-country basis upon the later of (a) 12 years following the date of First Commercial Sale of such Product in such country, (b) the expiration of all regulatory or data exclusivity in such country for such Product or (c) the date upon which the manufacture, use, sale, offer for sale or importation of such Product in such country would no longer infringe, but for the license granted herein, a Valid Claim of a Licensed Patent Right. Capitalized terms in this paragraph have the meanings set forth in the Gedatolisib License Agreement.

We have the right to terminate the Gedatolisib License Agreement for convenience upon 90 days' prior written notice. Pfizer may not terminate the agreement for convenience. Either we or Pfizer may terminate the Gedatolisib License Agreement if the other party is in material breach and such breach is not cured within the specified cure period. In addition, either we or Pfizer may terminate the Gedatolisib License Agreement in the event of specified insolvency events involving the other party.

Manufacturing

We rely on third parties to manufacture gedatolisib. We expect to enter into agreements with contract manufacturing organizations, or CMOs, to produce drug substance for gedatolisib. We require all of our CMOs to conduct manufacturing activities in compliance with current good manufacturing practice, or cGMP, requirements. We anticipate that these CMOs will have the capacity to support both clinical supply and commercial-scale production, but we do not have any formal agreements at this time to cover commercial production. We may also elect to enter into agreements with other CMOs to manufacture supplies of drug substance and finished drug product.

Sales and Marketing

If any of our product candidates are approved, we intend to market and commercialize them in the U.S. and select international markets, either alone or in partnership with others. Cancer patients are managed by oncologists, medical geneticists and urologists, and therefore we believe can be reached with a targeted sales force.

Competition for Gedatolisib

The pharmaceutical industry is characterized by rapid evolution of technologies and intense competition. While we believe that our product candidates, technology, knowledge, experience and scientific resources provide us with competitive advantages, we face competition from major pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, academic institutions, governmental agencies and public and private research institutions, among others. Any product candidates that we successfully develop and commercialize will compete with approved treatment options, including off-label therapies, and new therapies that may become available in the future. Key considerations that would impact our ability to effectively compete with other therapies include the efficacy, safety, method of administration, cost, level of promotional activity and intellectual property protection of our products. Many of the companies against which we may compete have significantly greater financial resources and expertise than we do in research and development, manufacturing, preclinical testing, conducting clinical trials, obtaining regulatory approvals and marketing approved products.

Current Date: 02-DEC-2024
Labeler DUNS: 097816566
Labeler Name: Nuvalent, Inc.
Labeler Code Assigned: 85001

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has assigned the above Labeler Code to your firm. The number cannot be used until you have confirmed the assignment. Please revise and resubmit your Labeler Code Request SPL to include the assigned number above to complete the process. To do this, open the previous Labeler Code Request SPL file and fill in the new information (your assigned Labeler Code) without changing the other existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.
For CDER Direct Users: Open the previously submitted and accepted Labeler Code Request, click Create New Version, enter the Labeler Code assigned in the field for "Labeler Code", and Submit SPL.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Note that receipt of this letter is not to be construed as Federal Government endorsement or approval of the establishment or its products.

For additional information please visit Drug Registration and Listing System or reply back to this email (edrls@fda.hhs.gov).

CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS AND INDUSTRY DATA

This Annual Report on Form 10-K (Annual Report) of Nuvalent, Inc. contains express or implied forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act), that are based on our management's beliefs and assumptions and on information currently available to our management. These statements relate to future events or our future operational or financial performance, and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements contained in this Annual Report include, among other things, statements about:

- the initiation, timing, progress, results, and costs of our zidesamtinib (NVL-520), neladalkib (NVL-655), NVL-330 and discovery programs and our current and future preclinical studies and clinical trials, including statements regarding the timing of initiation and completion of studies or trials and related preparatory work, alignment with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regarding the design of trials, and when the results of the studies or trials will become available;
- the ability of our preclinical studies and clinical trials to demonstrate safety and efficacy of our product candidates, and other positive results;
- the beneficial characteristics, and the potential safety, efficacy and therapeutic effects of our product candidates;
- the timing, scope and likelihood of regulatory filings and approvals, including timing of Investigational New Drug applications (INDs), New Drug Applications (NDAs), and final FDA approval of our current product candidates or any future product candidates;
- the timing, scope or likelihood of foreign regulatory filings and approvals;
- our ability to identify research priorities and apply a risk-mitigated strategy to efficiently discover and develop product candidates, including by applying learnings from one program to other programs and from one indication to other indications;
- our estimates of the number of patients that we will enroll and our ability to initiate, recruit, and enroll patients in and conduct and successfully complete our clinical trials at the pace that we project;
- our ability to scale-up our manufacturing and processing approaches to appropriately address our anticipated commercial needs, which will require significant resources;
- our ability to maintain and further develop the specific shipping, storage, handling and administration of zidesamtinib, neladalkib and NVL-330 at clinical sites;
- our ability to obtain funding for our operations necessary to complete further development and commercialization of our product candidates;
- our ability to take advantage of accelerated regulatory pathways for our product candidates;
- our ability to obtain and maintain regulatory approval of our product candidates;
- our ability to commercialize our product candidates, if approved, including the geographic areas of focus and sales strategy;
- the pricing and reimbursement of our product candidates, if approved;
- the implementation of our business model, and strategic plans for our business, product candidates, and technology;
- the scope of protection we are able to establish and maintain for intellectual property rights covering our product candidates and other product candidates we may develop, including the extensions of existing patent terms where available, the validity of intellectual property rights held by third parties, and our ability not to infringe, misappropriate or otherwise violate any third-party intellectual property rights;
- estimates of our future expenses, revenues, capital requirements, and our needs for additional financing;
- the period over which we estimate our existing cash, cash equivalents and marketable securities will be sufficient to fund our future operating expenses and capital expenditure requirements;
- future agreements with third parties in connection with the development and commercialization of our product candidates;
- the size and growth potential of the markets for our product candidates, and our ability to serve those markets;
- our financial performance;
- the rate and degree of market acceptance of our product candidates, if approved;

- regulatory developments in the United States (the U.S.) and foreign countries;
- our ability to contract with third-party suppliers and manufacturers and their ability to perform adequately;
- our ability to produce our product candidates with advantages in turnaround times or manufacturing cost;
- our competitive position and the success of competing therapies that are or may become available;
- our need for and ability to attract and retain key scientific, management and other personnel;
- the impact of laws and regulations;
- developments relating to our competitors and our industry;
- the effect of public health emergencies, natural disasters or geopolitical events, including civil or political unrest or military conflicts, on any of the foregoing or other aspects of our business operations, including but not limited to our preclinical studies and clinical trials; and
- other risks and uncertainties, including those listed under the section titled "Risk Factors."

In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terminology such as "may," "might," "could," "would," "should," "expect," "plan," "anticipate," "intend," "believe," "expect," "estimate," "seek," "predict," "future," "project," "potential," "continue," "target," "aim" or the negative of these terms or other comparable terminology. These statements are only predictions. You should not place undue reliance on forward-looking statements because they involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties, and other factors, which are, in some cases, beyond our control and which could materially affect results. Factors that may cause actual results to differ materially from current expectations include, among other things, those listed under the sections titled "Risk Factors" and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," and elsewhere in this Annual Report. If one or more of these risks or uncertainties were to occur, or if our underlying assumptions prove to be incorrect, actual events or results may vary significantly from those implied or projected by the forward-looking statements. No forward-looking statement is a guarantee of future performance. You should read this Annual Report and the documents that we reference in this Annual Report and have filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) completely and with the understanding that our actual future results may be materially different from any future results expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements.

The forward-looking statements in this Annual Report represent our views as of the date of this Annual Report. We do not undertake any obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statement except to the extent required by applicable law. You should therefore not rely on these forward-looking statements as representing our views as of any date subsequent to the date of this Annual Report.

This Annual Report also contains estimates, projections and other information concerning our industry, our business and the markets for our product candidates. Information that is based on estimates, forecasts, projections, market research or similar methodologies is inherently subject to uncertainties and actual events or circumstances may differ materially from events and circumstances that are assumed in this information. Unless otherwise expressly stated, we obtained this industry, business, market and other data from our own internal estimates and research as well as from reports, research surveys, studies, and similar data prepared by market research firms and other third parties, industry, medical and general publications, government data and similar sources. All of the market data used in this Annual Report involve a number of assumptions and limitations, and you are cautioned not to give undue weight to such data. Industry publications and third-party research, surveys and studies generally indicate that their information has been obtained from sources believed to be reliable, although they do not guarantee the accuracy or completeness of such information. Our estimates of the potential market opportunities for our product candidates include several key assumptions based on our industry knowledge, industry publications, third-party research and other surveys, which may be based on a small sample size and may fail to accurately reflect market opportunities. While we believe that our internal assumptions are reasonable, no independent source has verified such assumptions.

Except where the context otherwise requires or where otherwise indicated, the terms "Nuvalent," "we," "us," "our," "our Company," "the Company," and "our business" in this Annual Report refer to Nuvalent, Inc. and its consolidated subsidiary.

SUMMARY OF RISK FACTORS

Below is a summary of the principal factors that make an investment in our common stock speculative or risky. This summary does not address all of the risks that we face. Additional discussion of the risks summarized in this risk factor summary, and other risks that we face, can be found below under the section titled "Risk Factors" and should be carefully considered, together with other information in this Annual Report and our other filings with the SEC before making investment decisions regarding our common stock.

- We have a limited operating history, have not completed any later-stage clinical trials, have no products approved for commercial sale and have not generated any revenue, which may make it difficult for investors to evaluate our current business and likelihood of success and viability;
- We have incurred significant net losses in each period since our inception, and we expect to continue to incur significant net losses for the foreseeable future;
- Our future prospects are substantially dependent on zidesamtinib (NVL-520), neladalkib (NVL-655) and NVL-330. If we are unable to advance these product candidates through development, obtain regulatory approval and ultimately commercialize such product candidates, or experience significant delays in doing so, our business will be materially harmed;
- Our preclinical studies and clinical trials may fail to adequately demonstrate the safety and efficacy of any of our product candidates, which would prevent or delay development, regulatory approval and commercialization;
- Our discovery and development activities are focused on the development of targeted therapeutics for patients with cancer-associated genomic alterations, which is a rapidly evolving area of science, and the approach we are taking to discover and develop drugs may never lead to approved or marketable products;
- The outcome of preclinical testing and early clinical trials may not be predictive of the success of later clinical trials, and the results of our clinical trials may not satisfy the requirements of the FDA, European Medicines Agency (EMA) or other comparable foreign regulatory authorities;
- In addition to zidesamtinib, neladalkib and NVL-330, our prospects depend in part upon discovering, developing and commercializing additional product candidates from our discovery programs, which may fail in development or suffer delays that adversely affect their commercial viability;
- Our approach to the discovery and development of product candidates is unproven, and we may not be successful in our efforts to use and expand our approach to build a pipeline of product candidates with commercial value;
- We may not be able to submit INDs, clinical trial applications (CTAs) or comparable applications to commence clinical trials on the timelines we expect, and even if we are able to, the FDA, EMA or any comparable foreign regulatory authority may not permit us to proceed;
- Our product candidates may cause significant adverse events, toxicities or other undesirable adverse events when used alone or in combination with other approved products or investigational new drugs that may result in a safety profile that could prevent regulatory approval, prevent market acceptance, limit their commercial potential or result in significant negative consequences;
- Interim, preliminary and topline data from our preclinical studies and clinical trials that we announce or publish from time to time may change as more data become available and are subject to audit and verification procedures that could result in material changes in the final data;
- If we experience delays or difficulties in the enrollment or maintenance of patients in clinical trials, our regulatory submissions or receipt of necessary marketing approvals could be delayed or prevented;
- We have never commercialized a product candidate as a company before and currently lack all of the necessary expertise, personnel and resources to successfully commercialize any products on our own or together with suitable collaborators;
- We face substantial competition which may result in others discovering, developing or commercializing products before or more successfully than we do;
- The manufacture of drugs is complex, and our third-party manufacturers may encounter difficulties in production. If any of our third-party manufacturers encounter such difficulties, our ability to provide adequate supply of our product candidates for clinical trials or our products for patients, if approved, could be delayed or prevented;
- The market opportunities for any product candidates we develop, if approved, may be limited to certain smaller patient subsets and may be smaller than we estimate them to be;
- We may be unable to obtain U.S. or foreign regulatory approval and, as a result, may be unable to commercialize our product candidates;

- Even if our product candidates receive regulatory approval, they will be subject to significant post-marketing regulatory requirements and oversight;
- Where appropriate, we plan to pursue approval from the FDA, EMA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities through the use of accelerated registration pathways. If we are unable to obtain such approval, we may be required to conduct additional preclinical studies or clinical trials beyond those that we contemplate, which could increase the expense of obtaining, and delay the receipt of, necessary marketing approvals. Even if we receive accelerated approval from the FDA, EMA or comparable regulatory authorities, if our confirmatory trials do not verify clinical benefit, or if we do not comply with rigorous post-marketing requirements, the FDA, EMA or such other regulatory authorities may seek to withdraw accelerated approval;
- If our product candidates are licensed for marketing and receive federal healthcare reimbursement, any relationships we may have with healthcare providers will be subject to applicable healthcare fraud and abuse laws and regulations, which could expose us to criminal and civil penalties and exclusion from participation in government healthcare programs;
- Our reliance on a limited number of employees who provide various administrative, research and development, and other services across our organization presents operational challenges that may adversely affect our business;
- If we are unable to establish sales or marketing capabilities or enter into agreements with third parties to sell or market our product candidates, we may not be able to successfully sell or market our product candidates that obtain regulatory approval;
- If we are unable to obtain, maintain and enforce patent protection for our technology and product candidates, or if the scope of the patent protection obtained is not sufficiently broad, our competitors could develop and commercialize technology and products similar or identical to ours, and our ability to successfully develop and commercialize our technology and product candidates may be adversely affected;
- We may become involved in lawsuits to protect or enforce our patent or other intellectual property rights, which could be expensive, time-consuming and unsuccessful;
- Third parties may allege that we are infringing, misappropriating or otherwise violating their intellectual property rights, the outcome of which would be uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business;
- If we are unable to protect the confidentiality of our trade secrets and other proprietary information, our business and competitive position would be adversely affected;
- If our trademarks and trade names are not adequately protected, we may not be able to build name recognition in our markets of interest and our business may be adversely affected;
- We rely on third parties to conduct our preclinical studies and clinical trials, and those third parties may not perform satisfactorily, including failing to meet deadlines for the completion of such trials, research and studies;
- If we decide to establish collaborations, but are not able to establish those collaborations on commercially reasonable terms, we may have to alter our development and commercialization plans;
- Our operating results may fluctuate significantly, which makes our future operating results difficult to predict and could cause our operating results to fall below expectations or our guidance;
- Our principal stockholders own a significant percentage of our stock and can exert significant control over matters subject to stockholder approval. Two of our directors are affiliated with one of our principal stockholders; and
- We do not intend to pay dividends on our common stock so any returns will be limited to the value of our stock.

PART I

Overview

We are a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company focused on creating precisely targeted therapies for patients with cancer. We leverage our team's deep expertise in chemistry and structure-based drug design to develop innovative small molecules that are designed with the aim to overcome the limitations of existing therapies for clinically proven kinase targets.

Limitations faced by currently available kinase inhibitors can include (i) kinase resistance, or the emergence of new mutations in the kinase target that can enable resistance to existing therapies, (ii) kinase selectivity, or the potential for existing therapies to inhibit other structurally similar kinase targets and lead to off-target adverse events, and (iii) limited brain penetrance, or the ability for the therapy to treat disease that has spread or metastasized to the brain. By prioritizing target selectivity, we believe our drug candidates have the potential to overcome resistance, avoid dose-limiting off-target adverse events, address brain metastases, and drive more durable responses. This may result in the potential to drive deeper, more durable responses with minimal adverse events, and we believe these potential benefits may support opportunities for clinical utility earlier in the treatment paradigm.

In January 2024, we announced our "OnTarget 2026" operating plan to guide efforts towards having our first potential approved product in 2026. In September 2024, we announced achievement of all of the 2024 milestones originally laid out in the OnTarget 2026 operating plan. We subsequently announced anticipated milestones for 2025.

Zidesamtinib (NVL-520)

Our first lead product candidate, zidesamtinib (NVL-520), is being developed for patients with ROS proto-oncogene 1 (ROS1)-positive non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC). Zidesamtinib is a novel ROS1-selective inhibitor designed with the aim to address the clinical challenges of emergent treatment resistance, central nervous system (CNS)-related adverse events, and brain metastases that may limit the use of currently available ROS1 tyrosine kinase inhibitors (TKIs). Zidesamtinib has received FDA Breakthrough Therapy designation for the treatment of patients with ROS1-positive NSCLC who have previously been treated with two or more prior ROS1 TKIs, and orphan drug designation for ROS1-positive NSCLC.

Our ARROS-1 clinical trial is a first-in-human Phase 1/2, multicenter, open-label, dose-escalation and expansion study evaluating zidesamtinib as an oral monotherapy in patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors. Dosing was initiated in the Phase 1 portion of the ARROS-1 clinical trial in January 2022. From January 2022 to August 2023, the Phase 1 portion of the ARROS-1 trial enrolled 104 patients (99 NSCLC, 5 other solid tumors).

In September 2023, we announced the initiation of the Phase 2 portion of the ARROS-1 clinical trial, following alignment with the FDA on a recommended Phase 2 dose (RP2D) of 100 mg once daily (QD). The Phase 2 portion of the ARROS-1 clinical trial is designed to evaluate the safety and activity of zidesamtinib in patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors, examining several specific cohorts of patients based on the prior anti-cancer therapies that such patients have received. Phase 2 cohorts have been designed to support potential registration in TKI-naïve and/or TKI pre-treated ROS1-positive NSCLC patients.

At the European Society for Medical Oncology (ESMO) Congress in September 2024, we presented updated data from the Phase 1 dose-escalation portion of the ARROS-1 clinical trial based on a data cut-off date on July 1, 2024. Data presented showed that treatment with zidesamtinib resulted in durable clinical responses in heavily pre-treated patients with ROS1-positive NSCLC, including in subgroups of patients who had likely exhausted all available therapies, including lorlatinib and/or repotrectinib, had a history of brain metastases, or had the G2032R resistance mutation. Additionally, zidesamtinib was well-tolerated with a preliminary safety profile that was favorable and consistent with its ROS1-selective, tropomyosin receptor kinase (TRK)-sparing design.

Between September 2023 and December 31, 2024, 326 patients were enrolled in the Phase 2 portion of the ARROS-1 clinical trial. We periodically review data from the ARROS-1 clinical trial to provide progress updates on the trial's status and to form the basis for engagement with the FDA on, among other things, the appropriate amount of information that may be sufficient to support an NDA submission. We expect to report topline pivotal data for TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC in the first half of 2025 in support of an anticipated NDA submission by mid-year 2025, with an initial target indication of TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC. We plan to continue engagement with the FDA on accelerated opportunities towards a potential line-agnostic indication supported by the ongoing TKI-naïve cohort in the Phase 2 portion of the ARROS-1 trial.

Neladalkib (NVL-655)

Our second lead product candidate, neladalkib (NVL-655), is being developed for patients with anaplastic lymphoma kinase (ALK)-positive NSCLC. Neladalkib is a brain-penetrant ALK-selective inhibitor designed with the aim to address the clinical challenges of emergent treatment resistance, CNS-related adverse events, and brain metastases that may limit the use of first-generation (1G; crizotinib), second-generation (2G; ceritinib, alectinib, or brigatinib), and third-generation (3G; lorlatinib) ALK inhibitors. Neladalkib has received FDA Breakthrough Therapy designation for the treatment of patients with locally advanced or metastatic ALK-positive NSCLC who have been previously treated with two or more ALK TKIs, and orphan drug designation for ALK-positive NSCLC.

Our ALKOVE-1 clinical trial is a first-in-human Phase 1/2, multicenter, open-label, dose-escalation and expansion study evaluating neladalkib as an oral monotherapy in patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors. Dosing was initiated in the Phase 1 portion of the ALKOVE-1 clinical trial in June 2022. From June 2022 to February 2024, the Phase 1 portion of the ALKOVE-1 trial enrolled 133 patients (131 NSCLC, 2 other solid tumors).

In February 2024, we announced the initiation of the Phase 2 portion of the ALKOVE-1 clinical trial, following alignment with the FDA on a RP2D of 150 mg QD. The Phase 2 portion of the ALKOVE-1 clinical trial is designed to evaluate the safety and activity of neladalkib in several expansion cohorts of patients defined based on the number and type of prior anti-cancer therapies they have received. The Phase 2 cohorts are designed with registrational intent for TKI pre-treated patients with ALK-positive NSCLC and to enable preliminary evaluation for patients with ALK-positive NSCLC who are TKI-naïve.

At the ESMO Congress in September 2024, we presented updated data from the Phase 1 dose-escalation portion of the ALKOVE-1 clinical trial, based on a data cut-off date of June 15, 2024. Data presented showed that treatment with neladalkib resulted in durable clinical responses in heavily pre-treated patients with ALK-positive NSCLC, including in subgroups of patients who had likely exhausted all available therapies, including lorlatinib, had a history of brain metastases, or had single or compound ALK resistance mutations. Additionally, neladalkib demonstrated a favorable preliminary safety profile consistent with its ALK-selective, TRK-sparing design.

Between February 2024 and December 31, 2024, 463 patients were enrolled in the Phase 2 portion of the ALKOVE-1 clinical trial. We expect to report pivotal data for TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC by year-end 2025.

We believe that the previously presented data in heavily pre-treated patients could have the potential to translate to deep, durable responses in the front-line setting. In the first half of 2025, we plan to initiate a Phase 3 clinical trial, which we refer to as the ALKAZAR trial, with registrational intent for TKI-naïve patients. The ALKAZAR trial will be a global, randomized, controlled trial designed to evaluate neladalkib versus the current standard of care for the treatment of patients with TKI-naïve ALK-positive NSCLC. Patients will be randomized 1:1 to receive neladalkib monotherapy or ALECENSA® (alectinib) monotherapy, reflecting input from collaborating physician-scientists and alignment with the FDA. The ALKAZAR trial is designed to enroll approximately 450 patients with TKI-naïve ALK-positive NSCLC. The primary endpoint is progression free survival (PFS) based on Blinded Independent Central Review (BICR). Secondary endpoints include overall survival, PFS based on investigator's assessment, time to intracranial response, and BICR assessment of intracranial objective response rate (IC-ORR), intracranial duration of response (IC-DOR), objective response rate (ORR), duration of response (DOR), time to intracranial progression, and safety.

Our third product candidate, NVL-330, is a brain-penetrant human epidermal growth factor receptor 2 (HER2)-selective inhibitor designed with the aim to address the combined medical need of treating tumors driven by HER2 mutations and alterations, including HER2 exon 20 insertion mutations (HER2ex20), treating brain metastases, and avoiding treatment-limiting adverse events including due to off-target inhibition of wild-type epidermal growth factor receptor (EGFR). Preclinical data have shown that NVL-330 inhibited a broad range of HER2 oncogenic alterations, including HER2ex20, in cell-based assays, was brain penetrant and was selective for HER2 oncogenic alterations over the structurally related wild-type EGFR.

We are currently enrolling patients in the HEROEX-1 clinical trial, a Phase 1a/1b, multicenter, open-label, dose-escalation and expansion trial evaluating NVL-330 in pre-treated patients with advanced HER2-altered NSCLC, including those with HER2ex20 mutations. In July 2024, we announced that the first patient was dosed with NVL-330 in the HEROEX-1 trial. The HEROEX-1 trial is evaluating the overall safety and tolerability of NVL-330. Additional objectives include determination of the RP2D, characterization of the pharmacokinetic profile, and preliminary evaluation of anti-tumor activity.

Discovery Programs

We have prioritized a number of additional small molecule research programs following an assessment of medical need. Research for these programs is ongoing.

Our approach

Our approach is built on three core principles:

- Patient-driven focus. We prioritize therapeutic targets where patient needs and limitations of existing therapies can be identified and characterized in partnership with physician-scientists. Leveraging our team's deep expertise and experience in drug discovery, we translate those medical insights into detailed target product profiles with well-defined selection criteria to ensure that our product candidates are purpose-built to address specific and current medical needs.

- Deep expertise in chemistry and structure-based drug design to achieve precise selectivity ("Threading the needle"). We prioritize exquisite target selectivity in the design of our molecules to precisely meet the selection criteria we have pre-defined in our target product profiles. Leveraging our team's deep expertise in chemistry and structure-based drug design, we 'thread the needle' to navigate competing molecular challenges and develop innovative small molecules that have the potential to overcome resistance, minimize adverse events, optimize CNS activity, and drive more durable responses.

•Efficient drug discovery and development. We prioritize programs that may leverage our pipeline discovery and development efforts and experience, with a specific focus on clinically proven kinase targets, with the goal of bringing our therapies to patients as soon as possible. Building on existing discovery tools and processes for the investigation of clinically proven kinase targets, we further leverage our team's deep experience in the advancement of oncology product candidates from nomination through clinical development, as well as potential opportunities for accelerated regulatory pathways, to achieve an efficient approach to drug discovery and development.

With the continued increase in the adoption of kinase inhibitors as the standard of care across a broadening set of indications, we believe that opportunities to apply our established approach of efficient drug discovery and development will continue to grow.

Our programs

We are currently advancing two parallel lead programs in addition to multiple early-stage development and discovery programs as summarized in Figure 1 below. We hold worldwide development and commercialization rights to our product candidates.

Zidesamtinib (NVL-520, ROS1-Selective inhibitor)

ROS1 rearrangements occur in up to approximately 3% of metastatic NSCLCs. At the time of diagnosis, up to 40% of these patients present with accompanying brain metastases. Beyond NSCLC, ROS1 rearrangements have also been reported across a wide range of solid tumors as well as lymphoma.

There are three FDA approved TKIs for the treatment of patients with ROS1-positive NSCLC: Xalkori (crizotinib), Rozlytrek (entrectinib), and Augtyro (repotrectinib). Additional treatment options for patients who are TKI pre-treated include the TKI lorlatinib, recommended for use according to the National Comprehensive Cancer Network (NCCN) guidelines, chemotherapy with or without immunotherapy, or experimental therapies in clinical trials. The current standard of care for TKI-naïve patients with ROS1-positive NSCLC is crizotinib. As of 2024, Pfizer Inc. (Pfizer) no longer separately reports crizotinib sales but for 2023 reported an estimated $374 million in global net sales across all indications. There is no clear standard of care for TKI pre-treated patients with ROS1-positive NSCLC.

Zidesamtinib is a brain-penetrant ROS1-selective inhibitor designed with the aim to remain active in tumors that have developed resistance to currently available ROS1 inhibitors, including tumors with the prevalent G2032R resistance mutation and those with the S1986Y/F, F2004C, F2004V, L2026M, D2033N, or G2101A resistance mutations. We believe we have optimized zidesamtinib for brain penetrance and ROS1 selectivity to potentially improve treatment options for patients with brain metastases and avoid CNS adverse events related to off-target inhibition of the structurally related TRK family.

We are currently investigating zidesamtinib in the Phase 2 portion of our ARROS-1 clinical trial, a first-in-human Phase 1/2, multicenter, open-label, dose-escalation and expansion study evaluating zidesamtinib as an oral monotherapy in patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors. The Phase 1 dose-escalation portion of ARROS-1 was conducted in patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC or other solid tumors who had received at least one prior ROS1 TKI or any prior therapy, respectively, and evaluated the safety, tolerability and RP2D of zidesamtinib, among other objectives. Upon determination of the RP2D (100 mg QD), the trial transitioned into the ongoing Phase 2 portion designed to evaluate zidesamtinib in patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors and to support potential registration of zidesamtinib in ROS1-positive patients with NSCLC who are TKI-naïve and who have been previously treated with ROS1 kinase inhibitors.

We expect to report pivotal data for TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC in the first half of 2025 in support of an anticipated NDA submission by mid-year 2025, with an initial target indication of TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC. We plan to continue engagement with the FDA on accelerated opportunities towards a potential line-agnostic indication supported by the ongoing TKI-naïve cohort in the Phase 2 portion of the ARROS-1 trial.

Neladalkib (NVL-655, ALK-Selective inhibitor)

ALK rearrangements occur in approximately 5% of metastatic NSCLCs. At the time of initial diagnosis, up to 40% of these patients present with accompanying brain metastases. Beyond NSCLC, ALK fusions have also been reported in various other solid tumors as well as lymphoma.

There are six FDA approved TKIs for the treatment of patients with ALK-positive NSCLC: Xalkori (crizotinib), Zykadia (ceritinib), Alecensa (alectinib), Alunbrig (brigatinib), Lorbrena (lorlatinib), and Ensacove (ensartinib). Additional treatment options for patients who are TKI pre-treated include chemotherapy with or without immunotherapy, or experimental therapies in clinical trials. The current standard of care for TKI-naïve patients with ALK-positive NSCLC is alectinib, which had an estimated $1.7 billion in reported global 2024 net sales. Following treatment with alectinib, the current second-line TKI standard of care is lorlatinib with an estimated $731 million in reported global 2024 net sales across all indications. There is no clear third-line TKI standard of care for patients with ALK-positive NSCLC.

Neladalkib is a brain-penetrant ALK-selective inhibitor designed with the aim to remain active in tumors that have developed resistance to first-, second-, and third-generation ALK inhibitors, including tumors with the G1202R (GR) resistance mutation or compound resistance mutations, including G1202R/L1196M (GRLM), G1202R/G1269A (GRGA), or G1202R/L1198F (GRLF). We believe we have optimized neladalkib for brain penetrance and ALK selectivity to potentially improve treatment options for patients with brain metastases and avoid CNS adverse events related to off-target inhibition of the structurally related TRK family.

We are currently investigating neladalkib in the Phase 2 portion of our ALKOVE-1 clinical trial, a first-in-human Phase 1/2, multicenter, open-label, dose-escalation and expansion study evaluating neladalkib as an oral monotherapy in patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors. The Phase 1 dose-escalation portion of ALKOVE-1 was conducted in patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC or other solid tumors who had received at least one prior ALK TKI or at least one prior systemic anticancer therapy, respectively, and evaluated the safety, tolerability and RP2D of neladalkib, among other objectives. Upon determination of the RP2D (150 mg QD), the trial transitioned into the ongoing Phase 2 portion designed to evaluate neladalkib in patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors, to support potential registration of neladalkib for TKI pre-treated patients with ALK-positive NSCLC, and to enable preliminary evaluation for patients with ALK-positive NSCLC who are TKI-naïve. We expect to report pivotal data for TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC from the ALKOVE-1 trial by year-end 2025.

In the first half of 2025, we plan to initiate our ALKAZAR Phase 3 clinical trial with registrational intent for TKI-naïve patients. The ALKAZAR trial will be a global, randomized, controlled trial designed to evaluate neladalkib versus the current standard of care, ALECENSA® (alectinib), for the treatment of patients with TKI-naïve ALK-positive NSCLC.

NVL-330 (HER2-Selective inhibitor)

Mutations and alterations in HER2 are oncogenic and are found in approximately 3% of cancers, including up to 4% of advanced NSCLC patients. Within NSCLC, 90% of HER2 mutations occur through HER2ex20. HER2 mutations have also been identified in multiple cancers, including breast, esophageal, endometrial, bladder, colorectal, skin, ovarian, head and neck, and cervical. Brain metastases are present at diagnosis in an estimated 19% of HER2 mutant-positive NSCLC patients, and more patients will develop them during treatment.

NVL-330 is a brain-penetrant HER2-selective inhibitor which we believe we have optimized for selectivity versus the structurally related wild-type EGFR that is associated with dose-limiting side effects including skin rash and gastrointestinal toxicity. We are currently investigating NVL-330 in our ongoing HEROEX-1 clinical trial, a first-in-human Phase 1a/1b, multicenter, open-label, dose-escalation and expansion trial evaluating NVL-330 as an oral monotherapy in pre-treated patients with advanced HER2-altered NSCLC, including those with HER2ex20 mutations.

We continue to evaluate new program areas with a focus on addressing the limitations of existing therapies for other clinically proven kinase targets in oncology. As treatment landscapes evolve, we also continue to work with our physician-scientist partners to anticipate emerging patient needs in established areas of development and leverage our existing expertise in the area with the aim to efficiently discover and develop new product candidates with the potential to comprehensively address those emerging challenges. We believe that opportunities to apply our established model of efficient drug discovery and development continue to expand, and align with the increasing adoption of kinase inhibitors as standard of care across a broadening set of indications.

OnTarget 2026 operating plan

OnTarget 2026 delineates our three-year operating plan towards bringing new, potential best-in-class medicines to patients with cancer and is summarized in Figure 2 below. As part of this plan announced in January 2024, we have outlined the following completed 2024 milestones and anticipated 2025 milestones, leading to our first potential approved product in 2026:

- 2024: Execute on Global Registrational Strategies
  - ✓ Progress the Phase 2 portion of the ARROS-1 trial of zidesamtinib in patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC with registrational intent;
  - ✓ Initiate the Phase 2 portion of the ALKOVE-1 trial of neladalkib in patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC with registrational intent;
  - ✓ Launch our front-line development strategy for our ALK program;
  - ✓ Present interim data from the ongoing ARROS-1 and ALKOVE-1 clinical trials at medical meetings; and
  - ✓ Initiate a Phase 1 trial for our HER2 program.
- 2025: First Pivotal Data
  - Report pivotal data for TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC from our ARROS-1 Phase 1/2 trial of zidesamtinib in the first half of 2025;
  - Submit an NDA for zidesamtinib, with an initial target indication of TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC by mid-year 2025;
  - Report pivotal data for TKI pre-treated patients with advanced ALK-positive NSCLC from our ALKOVE-1 Phase 1/2 trial of neladalkib by year-end 2025;
  - Initiate the ALKAZAR Phase 3 randomized, controlled trial of neladalkib for TKI-naïve patients with ALK-positive NSCLC in the first half of 2025; and
  - Progress the HEROEX-1 Phase 1a/1b trial of NVL-330 for patients with advanced HER2-altered NSCLC.
- 2026: First Approved Product

Our team

We have assembled a management team of biopharmaceutical industry veterans with extensive experience in developing novel oncology therapies from research through commercialization. Our team is led by our Chief Executive Officer, James R. Porter, Ph.D., who has over 20 years of experience, including at Infinity Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (Infinity) and Verastem Oncology. Our Chief Financial Officer, Alexandra Balcom, MBA, CPA, has nearly 20 years of industry experience and was previously at SQZ Biotechnologies Company and Agios Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Our Chief Medical Officer, Christopher D. Turner, M.D., has over 20 years of experience in drug development, including at ARIAD Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and Blueprint Medicines Corporation. Our Chief Legal Officer, Deborah Miller, Ph.D., J.D., has over 20 years of legal experience managing the entire pharmaceutical lifecycle from early discovery through litigation, including at Sumitomo Dainippon Pharma America, Inc. and Infinity. Our Chief Development Officer, Darlene Noci, A.L.M., has over 20 years of experience in global drug development in rare diseases and oncology, including at Genzyme Corporation and EMD Serono, the North America biopharma business of Merck KgaA, Darmstadt, Germany. Our Chief Scientific Officer, Henry Pelish, Ph.D., has over 15 years of experience in cancer biology, chemical biology and organic synthesis.

Our seasoned leadership team has broad experience at both large global organizations, including C.H. Boehringer Sohn AG & Ko. KG, Pfizer, Sanofi S.A., EMD Serono, GlaxoSmithKline plc, and BeiGene, Ltd., as well as established biotech companies, including Infinity, Agios Pharmaceuticals Inc., Blueprint Medicines Corporation, and ARIAD Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Together, our leadership team has contributed directly to the regulatory approval of 12 therapies, including five kinase inhibitors, nine oncology therapeutics, and 10 small molecules: CLOLAR®/Evoltra® (clofarabine), FABRAZYME® (agalsidase beta), COPIKTRA® (duvelisib), BRUKINSA® (zanubrutinib), MOZOBIL® (plerixafor injection), BAVENCIO® (avelumab), TIBSOVO® (ivosidenib tablets), TIVICAY® (dolutegravir), ICLUSIG® (ponatinib), GAVRETO™ (pralsetinib), ALUNBRIG® (brigatinib) and PYRUKYND® (mitapivat).

Our discovery approach leverages the experience and ongoing support of our scientific founder and head scientific advisor Matthew Shair, Ph.D., Professor of Chemistry and Chemical Biology at Harvard University. In leading his laboratory at Harvard, Dr. Shair has integrated organic chemistry, human disease biology, and drug development to focus on the development of novel small molecule therapeutics, and he has developed ways to efficiently assemble complex small molecules.

Our scientific advisors include additional researchers who publish widely cited research on topics relevant to the study and treatment of cancer, lead clinical units at experienced precision medicine cancer centers in the U.S., and are actively involved in our drug development process and programs. Our accomplished scientific advisory board includes:

•Matthew Shair, Ph.D., head scientific advisor, Professor of Chemistry and Chemical Biology at Harvard University. Dr. Shair is the scientific founder of Nuvalent and is on our board of directors;

•Pasi Jänne, M.D., Ph.D., clinical advisor, Dana Farber Cancer Institute;

•Alexander Drilon, M.D., clinical advisor, Memorial Sloan Kettering;

•Aaron Hata, M.D., Ph.D., translational research advisor, Massachusetts General Hospital;

•Alice T. Shaw, M.D., Ph.D., clinical advisor, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

We have also established collaborations through service agreements with global clinical research organizations (CROs) to provide scale and expertise in research chemistry, chemical manufacturing, biology, pharmacology and toxicology, and clinical studies.

Our values

Our three core values are:

•Patient Impact. We care deeply about what we are building to change the future for patients.

•Empowerment. We are all responsible for delivering on our mission to develop new medicines for patients: listen, speak up, engage.

•Collaboration. We know that we are better together and thrive when we challenge each other to find a better way for patients.

Our strategy

Our goal is to be a leading biopharmaceutical company that translates our deep expertise in structure-based drug design to discover, develop, and deliver novel, selective therapeutics that enable durable responses for patients with cancer. The key elements of our strategy include:

•Advance zidesamtinib, our first lead product candidate and a differentiated ROS1-selective inhibitor, through the Phase 2 portion of our ARROS-1 study designed to support potential regulatory approval. Clinical investigation of zidesamtinib is ongoing in the Phase 2 portion of our ARROS-1 study, a first-in-human Phase 1/2 clinical trial investigating zidesamtinib in advanced ROS1-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors. Zidesamtinib has received FDA Breakthrough Therapy designation for the treatment of patients with ROS1-positive NSCLC who have previously been treated with two or more prior ROS1 TKIs. We plan to engage with regulators to discuss whether we may qualify for any additional expedited drug development pathways.

•Advance the ongoing clinical development of neladalkib, our second lead product candidate, a differentiated ALK-selective inhibitor, through the Phase 2 portion of our ALKOVE-1 study designed to support potential regulatory approval for patients with TKI pre-treated ALK-positive NSCLC. Clinical investigation is ongoing in the Phase 2 portion of our ALKOVE-1 study, a first-in-human Phase 1/2 clinical trial investigating neladalkib in advanced ALK-positive NSCLC and other solid tumors. Neladalkib has received FDA Breakthrough Therapy designation for the treatment of patients with locally advanced or metastatic ALK-positive NSCLC who have been previously treated with two or more ALK TKIs. Pending supportive data, we plan to engage with regulators to discuss whether we may qualify for any additional expedited drug development pathways.

•Initiate and progress the planned ALKAZAR Phase 3 randomized, controlled trial of neladalkib versus ALECENSA® (alectinib), designed to support potential regulatory approval for patients with TKI-naïve ALK-positive NSCLC. Initiation of the ALKAZAR trial is anticipated in the first half of 2025.

•Progress our other development and discovery stage programs, including for HER2-Altered NSCLC, while continuing to expand our pipeline of precisely targeted novel product candidates. We prioritize clinically proven kinase targets where the design of exquisitely selective inhibitors may overcome challenges of existing therapies including kinase resistance, kinase selectivity, and limited CNS activity. We intend to develop product candidates as monotherapy treatment and may also strategically pursue the development of synergistic combinations.

•Continue to partner with physician-scientists to characterize current and emerging medical needs for patients and the limitations of existing therapies. We prioritize clinically proven kinase targets where clear remaining or emerging medical needs for patients can be defined by our physician-scientist partners, and where we believe those needs can be addressed through the design of highly selective small molecule inhibitors. Combining clinical insight with our drug design capabilities and our development expertise, we seek to meet real-world medical needs through the development of detailed product profiles and well-defined selection criteria. We believe this approach maximizes our opportunity to address the challenges of existing therapies and develop molecules that achieve deep, durable responses with minimal adverse events.

•Commercialize our product candidates in key geographies and opportunistically pursue strategic collaborations to maximize the full potential of our pipeline. We retain full development and worldwide commercialization rights to our pipeline of precisely targeted therapies. We intend to build a fully integrated biopharmaceutical company and independently pursue the development and commercialization of our key product candidates, if approved. In the future, we may enter into strategic collaborations around certain targets, product candidates, disease areas, or geographies, if we believe these collaborations could accelerate the development and commercialization of our product candidates and allow us to realize the full potential of our pipeline.

Competition

The pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries are characterized by rapidly advancing technologies, intense competition, and a strong emphasis on proprietary products. While we believe that our technology, the expertise of our team, and our development experience and scientific knowledge provide us with competitive advantages, we face competition from many different sources, including pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, academic institutions, governmental agencies, and public and private research institutions.

Product candidates that we successfully develop and commercialize may compete with existing therapies and new therapies that may become available in the future, and we cannot predict what the standard of care will be as our product candidates progress through clinical development. We believe the key competitive factors affecting the success of all of our programs are likely to be efficacy, including DOR, safety, and patient convenience. Potentially competitive therapies fall primarily into the following groups of treatment:

•traditional cancer therapies, including surgery, radiation, and drug therapy, including chemotherapy, hormone therapy and targeted drug therapy or a combination of such methods;

•approved kinase inhibitors, including FDA approved ROS1 TKIs (Xalkori, Rozlytrek, and Augtyro, marketed by Pfizer, Roche and Bristol-Myers Squibb Company, respectively), and FDA approved ALK TKIs (Xalkori, Zykadia, Alecensa, Alunbrig, Lorbrena and Ensacove, marketed by Pfizer, Novartis AG, Chugai Pharmaceutical Co. Ltd./Roche, Takeda Pharmaceutical Company Limited, Pfizer, and Xcovery Holdings, Inc., respectively);

•one ROS1 TKI program in clinical trials being developed by Nuvation Bio, Inc;

•ALK TKIs in clinical development;

•HER2ex20 TKIs in clinical development;

•TKIs not approved but recommended for use in the NCCN guidelines; and •other therapies targeting kinases, including antibody or antibody-drug conjugate approaches, that are approved or in clinical development.

Many of our competitors, either alone or with their collaborators, have significantly greater financial resources, established presence in the market, and expertise in research and development, manufacturing, preclinical and clinical testing, obtaining regulatory approvals and reimbursement and marketing approved products than we do. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified scientific and management personnel, establishing clinical trial sites and patient registration for clinical trials, as well as in acquiring technologies complementary to, or necessary for, our programs. Smaller or early-stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Additional mergers and acquisitions may result in even more resources being concentrated in our competitors.

The availability of reimbursement from government and other third-party payors will also significantly affect the pricing and competitiveness of our products. Some cancer treatments are branded and subject to patent protection, and others are available on a generic basis. Insurers and other third-party payors may also encourage the use of generic products or specific branded products. We expect that if our product candidates are approved, they will be priced at a significant premium over competitive generic, including branded generic, products. In addition, our competitors may obtain FDA or other regulatory approval for their products more rapidly than we may obtain approval for our products, which could result in our competitors establishing a strong market position before we are able to enter the market. As a result, obtaining market acceptance of, and gaining significant share of the market for, any of our product candidates that we successfully introduce to the market will pose challenges.

Revenue Sharing Agreements

Revenue Sharing Agreement with Deerfield

We are party to an Amended and Restated Revenue Sharing Agreement with Deerfield Healthcare Innovations Fund, L.P. and Deerfield Private Design Fund, IV, L.P. (collectively, Deerfield) pursuant to which we are obligated to pay Deerfield a fixed low single-digit percentage rate of net sales of certain commercial products discovered, identified or generated by the Company during the period commencing on February 2, 2017 and ending on the date that is the earlier of (i) five years after Deerfield's last investment in our capital stock and (ii) the fifth anniversary of our initial public offering (IPO). Any payments in respect of such products would be through the later of 12 years from the first commercial sale in a country or the expiration of the last-to-expire patent in that country. To date, we have not recorded any net sales and, as a result, have not paid any amounts under this agreement. There are no upfront fees or milestone payments required to be paid by us under this agreement.

Revenue Sharing Agreement with our scientific founder

We are party to an Amended and Restated Revenue Sharing Agreement with our scientific founder and director, Matthew Shair, Ph.D., pursuant to which we are obligated to pay Dr. Shair a fixed low single-digit percentage rate of net sales of certain commercial products that either have a mechanism of action of (i) ROS1 inhibition and contain zidesamtinib or a backup compound substituted therefore in the event of a product development failure or (ii) ALK inhibition and contain neladalkib or a backup compound substituted therefore in the event of a product development failure, in each case through the later of 12 years from the first commercial sale in a country or the expiration of the last-to-expire patent in that country. To date, we have not recorded any net sales and, as a result, have not paid any amounts under this agreement. There are no upfront fees or milestone payments required to be paid by us under this agreement.

Intellectual property

Our commercial success depends in part on our ability (i) to obtain and maintain patent and other proprietary and/or intellectual property rights and protection for our technology, inventions, and improvements; (ii) to protect and preserve the confidentiality of our trade secrets; (iii) to defend and enforce our proprietary and intellectual property rights, including any patents that we may own or license in the future; and (iv) to operate without infringing the valid and enforceable patents and other proprietary and/or intellectual property rights of third parties.

We wholly own Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) applications, U.S. patent applications, U.S. patents, U.S. provisional patent applications, foreign patents, and foreign patent applications relating to our lead and planned product candidates. We strive to protect our proprietary position by, among other methods, filing patent applications in the U.S. and in jurisdictions outside of the U.S. directed to our proprietary technology, inventions, improvements, and product candidates that are important to the development and implementation of our business. We also rely on trade secrets and know-how relating to our proprietary technology and product candidates and continuing innovation to develop, strengthen and maintain our proprietary position in the field of oncology. Our strategic plans also include reliance on data exclusivity, market exclusivity, and patent term extensions when available.

Our ability to stop third parties from making, using, selling, offering to sell, or importing products identical or similar to ours will depend on the extent to which we have rights under valid and enforceable patents, trade secrets, or other intellectual property rights that cover these activities. The patent rights of biotechnology and pharmaceutical companies like ours are generally uncertain and can involve complex legal, scientific, and factual issues. Our and any future licensor's current and future patent applications may not result in the issuance of any patent in any particular jurisdiction, and the claims of any current or future issued patents, even if those claims are valid and enforceable, may not provide sufficient protection from competitors. Any owned or in-licensed patent rights we may obtain may not enable us to prevent others from replicating, manufacturing, using, or administering our product candidates for any indication. Moreover, the subject matter initially claimed in a patent application may be significantly reduced before a patent is issued, and a patent's scope can be reinterpreted after issuance. In addition, any patent we may own or in-license may be challenged, circumvented or invalidated by third parties. As a result, we cannot ensure that any of our product candidates will be protected by valid and enforceable patents. See "Risk Factors—Risks related to our intellectual property" for a more comprehensive description of risks related to our intellectual property.

We have filed certain patent applications directed generally to compositions of matter, pharmaceutical formulations, and therapeutic methods of using the foregoing related to our ROS1, ALK, and HER2 programs, as summarized below. We also possess substantial know-how and trade secrets relating to the development and commercialization of our product candidates, including related manufacturing processes and technology. In addition, we own certain registered trademarks and pending trademark applications in the U.S. and other countries.

With respect to our ROS1 program, we own two pending PCT patent applications, three pending U.S. patent applications, three issued U.S. patents, one pending U.S. provisional patent application, 61 pending foreign patent applications, and two issued foreign patents directed to compositions of matter for our ROS1 inhibitory compounds (e.g., zidesamtinib) and related solid forms as well as methods of use. Any U.S. or foreign patent that has issued or may issue based on the pending patent applications is expected to expire no earlier than 2041, not including any patent term adjustments or patent term extensions that may be awarded. With respect to our ALK program, we own two pending PCT patent applications, three pending U.S. patent applications, one issued U.S. patent, 59 pending foreign patent applications, and two issued foreign patents directed to compositions of matter for our ALK inhibitory compounds (e.g., neladalkib) and related solid forms as well as methods of use. Any U.S. or foreign patent that may issue based on the pending patent applications is expected to expire no earlier than 2041, not including any patent term adjustments or patent term extensions that may be awarded. With respect to our HER2 program, we own one pending U.S. patent application, one issued U.S. patent, one pending U.S. provisional patent application, and 25 pending foreign patent applications directed to compositions of matter for our HER2 inhibitory compounds (e.g., NVL-330) and related methods of use. Any U.S. or foreign patent that may issue based on the pending

This Annual Report on Form 10-K (this Annual Report) contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the federal securities laws. All statements other than statements of historical fact contained in this Annual Report are forward-looking statements. In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terms such as "may," "should," "expects," "plans," "anticipates," "could," "intends," "target," "projects," "contemplates," "believes," "estimates," "predicts," "potential" or "continue" or the negative of these terms or other similar expressions. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements about:

- our future results of operations and financial position, including our expectations and projections regarding our revenues, recurring revenues and revenue growth rate, cost of revenues, gross margin, operating expenses, capital expenditures, cash burn and cash position;
- our business strategy, plans and objectives of management;
- key factors we believe affect our performance, including our beliefs about the opportunities presented by these factors, our ability to successfully address each of these factors and the anticipated impacts of these factors on our business, financial condition and result of operations;
- continued execution of our various initiatives designed to expand gross margins, including by continuing to sell Tablo cartridges, services and accessories for Tablo console, reducing the cost of service and reducing the cost of Tablo consoles;
- our ability to achieve and sustain future profitability, including our ability to expand gross margins, optimize operating expenses (including the anticipated benefits from cost reduction initiatives such as organizational restructurings) and optimize working capital;
- our expectations regarding the market sizes and growth potential for Tablo, and the total addressable market opportunities for Tablo in the acute care and home settings;
- our planned expansion within the home dialysis market and our assumptions about the home market, including expected drivers of home dialysis adoption;
- any ongoing impact of macroeconomic factors on our business and results of operations, and on our customers and suppliers;
- our ability to retain our commercial team, optimize our sales processes and expand the adoption of Tablo as we focus more heavily on enterprise selling;
- our plans to continue to invest in our research and development efforts to enhance existing products and develop new products;
- our ability to respond to any reports, observations or other actions by the FDA or other regulators in a timely and effective manner; and
- our expectations regarding the uses and sufficiency of our capital resources.

The forward-looking statements in this Annual Report are only predictions and are based largely on our current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that we believe may affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of known and unknown risks, uncertainties and assumptions that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from those expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements. Such risks and uncertainties include those described throughout this Annual Report, including in the sections titled "Risk Factors" under Part I, Item 1A below and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" under Part II, Item 7 below.

The forward-looking statements in this Annual Report are based upon information available to us as of the date of this Annual Report and, while we believe such information forms a reasonable basis for such statements, such information may be limited or incomplete, and our statements should not be read to indicate that we have conducted an exhaustive inquiry into, or review of, all potentially available relevant information. These forward-looking statements, like all statements in this Annual Report, speak only as of their date, and except as required by applicable law, we undertake no obligation to update or revise these statements, whether as a result of any new information, future developments or otherwise. These statements are inherently uncertain and investors are cautioned not to unduly rely upon these statements.

Unless the context requires otherwise, all references in this Annual Report to "we," "us," "our," "Outset" and "the "Company" refer to Outset Medical, Inc.

We have proprietary rights to trademarks, trade names and service marks appearing in this Annual Report that are important to our business. Solely for convenience, the trademarks, service marks, logos and trade names referred to in this Annual Report are without the ® and ™ symbols, but such references are not intended to indicate that we will not assert our rights or the rights of the applicable licensors in these trademarks, service marks and trade names. PART I

Item 1. Business.

Our Company

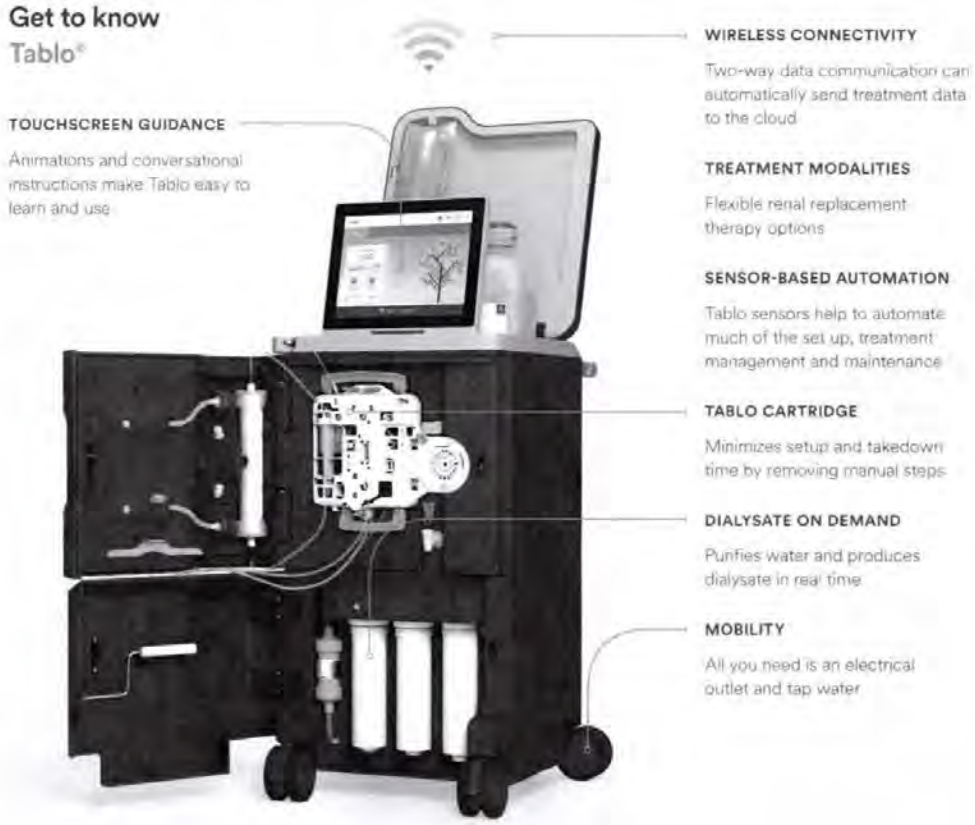
Outset is a medical technology company pioneering a first-of-its-kind technology to reduce the cost and complexity of dialysis. We believe the Tablo® Hemodialysis System (Tablo) represents a significant technological advancement that transforms the dialysis experience for patients and operationally simplifies it for providers. We designed Tablo from the ground up to be a single enterprise solution that can be utilized across the continuum of care, allowing dialysis to be delivered anytime, anywhere and by virtually anyone. Tablo is currently cleared by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for use in the hospital, clinic or home setting. Our technology is designed to elevate the dialysis experience for patients, and help providers overcome traditional care delivery challenges. Our focus on flexibility, ease of use and user experience translates to meaningfully reduced training times and fixed infrastructure requirements. Requiring only an electrical outlet and tap water to operate, Tablo frees patients and providers from the burdensome infrastructure required to operate traditional dialysis machines. The integration of water purification and on-demand dialysate production in a single 35-inch compact console enables Tablo to serve as a dialysis clinic on wheels. Tablo leverages cloud technology, making it possible for providers to monitor devices and treatments remotely, perform patient and population analytics and automate clinical recordkeeping. With a simple-to-use touchscreen interface, two-way wireless data transmission and a proprietary data analytics platform, Tablo is a new holistic approach to dialysis care. Unlike traditional hemodialysis machines, which have limited clinical versatility across care settings, Tablo can be used seamlessly across multiple care settings and a wide range of clinical applications.

We have generated meaningful evidence to demonstrate that providers can realize significant operational efficiencies, including reducing the cost of their dialysis programs. In addition, Tablo has been shown to deliver robust clinical care. In studies and surveys we have conducted, patients have reported quality of life benefits on Tablo compared to other dialysis machines. We believe Tablo empowers patients, who have traditionally been passive recipients of care, to regain agency and ownership of their treatment.

Kidney failure can be temporary and occur spontaneously due to an underlying medical condition, as is the case in acute kidney injury (AKI), or can worsen gradually over time, as is the case in chronic kidney disease (CKD), which may result in end-stage renal disease (ESRD). Kidney failure is commonly managed with hemodialysis, a procedure by which waste products and excess fluid are directly removed from a patient's blood using an external dialysis machine. ESRD patients require complex management and the cost burden of administering dialysis is significant. Hemodialysis can be performed in multiple care settings, including the hospital, clinic or the patient's home. Typically, different types of dialysis machines are used in different care settings and for different clinical needs. Tablo is an enterprise dialysis solution that allows providers to standardize to a single technology platform.

Driving adoption of Tablo in the acute setting has been our primary focus since Tablo's clearance by the FDA for use in an acute or chronic care facility. We have invested in growing our economic and clinical evidence, built veteran field service, sales and clinical support teams with significant expertise, and implemented a comprehensive training and customer experience program. Our experience in the acute market has demonstrated Tablo's clinical flexibility and operational versatility, while also delivering meaningful cost savings to the providers. In addition, we are working with skilled nursing facilities (SNFs), long-term acute care hospitals (LTACHs), and other post-acute providers to raise awareness of Tablo's economic and clinical benefits to them and to patients. We plan to continue leveraging our commercial infrastructure, including our sales, field service and marketing teams, to broaden our installed base in the acute and post-acute care markets, as well as driving utilization and fleet expansion with our existing customers.

Tablo is also utilized for home-based dialysis. In 2020, Tablo was cleared by the FDA for patient use in the home. We believe our ability to reduce training time, patient dropout, and supplies and infrastructure required to deliver dialysis in the home can drive efficiency and economic improvements to the home care model. In our home investigational device exemption (IDE) trial, patients reported specific quality of life improvements compared to their experience on the incumbent home dialysis machine. To penetrate this market successfully, we have made investments in, and continue to focus on refining our home distribution, logistics, service and support systems to help ensure they continue to scale. We are also working with providers, patients and payors to increase awareness and adoption of transitional care units (TCUs) as a bridge to home based therapy. To demonstrate the cost advantages of Tablo in the home setting, we are continuing to collect additional patient clinical experience and outcomes data.



Tablo Hemodialysis System

Tablo is an FDA-cleared single enterprise solution for hemodialysis, comprised of a compact console with integrated water purification, on-demand dialysate production and advanced software and connectivity capabilities. We designed Tablo from the ground up to be a single enterprise solution that can be utilized across the continuum of care, allowing dialysis to be delivered anytime, anywhere, and by virtually anyone. Unlike traditional hemodialysis machines, Tablo can be used seamlessly across multiple care settings and a wide range of clinical applications, all with the benefit of remote system management, monitoring and maintenance through two-way wireless data transmission capabilities.

Tablo is comprised of the following components:

- Tablo Console. A proprietary, compact, mobile and versatile machine consisting of an integrated water purification, on-demand dialysate production system and simple-to-use touchscreen interface with 3D animations that guide the user through treatment from start to finish. Using advanced sensors, the console automates much of treatment setup and management and can automatically self-diagnose for potential machine issues. Tablo console can accommodate a wide range of treatment modalities, durations and flow rates, allowing for broad clinical applications. Tablo console requires only a standard electrical outlet and tap water to operate. This eliminates the need for industrial water treatment rooms, separate water purification machines and pre-filled bags of dialysate associated with traditional dialysis machines. We also offer TabloCart with Prefiltration drawer or storage drawer, an accessory for Tablo, that is configured based on the customer's needs.
- Tablo Cartridge. A proprietary, disposable single use pre-strung cartridge that easily clicks into place, minimizing steps, touch points and connections, allowing for set up of treatment supplies in less than 12 minutes. Tablo cartridge was designed to simplify and streamline treatment setup to minimize the potential for user error. Tablo cartridge is intended to facilitate extracorporeal blood purification for patients. One cartridge is used per treatment, except in the case of extended therapy, where multiple cartridges can be used if needed. Tablo cartridge consists of a user-friendly pre-configured blood, saline, and infusion tubing. Tablo cartridge requires only two connections to operate as compared to other machines that require stringing, hanging, snapping and tapping multiple lines. In our home IDE trial, patients were able to set up Tablo cartridge and dialysate concentrates in less than 12 minutes, on average. With an average prime period of approximately eight minutes, an uninterrupted patient can initiate therapy in as little as around 20 minutes, representing a significant improvement over traditional machines, which can take approximately 45 minutes to set up.
- Tablo Data Ecosystem. As further described below in the section entitled "Tablo Data Ecosystem", with Tablo, we are bringing data to dialysis. Tablo is built to live in a connected setting with cloud-based system monitoring, patient analytics and clinical recordkeeping.

Tablo Data Ecosystem

Tablo's two-way wireless data transmission and connectedness help reduce maintenance costs and enable ongoing system improvements. This is all made possible by our growing team of experienced software, data science, and machine learning engineers.

Tablo leverages cloud technology to make it possible for providers to monitor devices remotely, view treatment data, perform patient and population analytics, and automate clinical recordkeeping. Tablo's wireless connectivity enables us to release training, new features, and enhancements over-the-air (OTA) without interventions by field service engineers (FSEs). This means that customers can train and upgrade their device on their own schedule. We use these OTA updates to add new features designed to extend Tablo's clinical applicability and enhance device uptime. We believe these OTA updates help Tablo get smarter over time.

Tablo's connectedness allows continuous streaming of over 500,000 device performance data points to the cloud for every treatment. We use this data in conjunction with our diagnostic and predictive algorithms to monitor device performance, identify and diagnose failures and, in some instances, predict and prevent potential future device failures or malfunctions. Equipped with this information, our FSEs can visit sites knowing they have the correct parts and consumables to address the issues reported, and sometimes even those that are yet to come. In effect, this contributes to a reduction in service hours and an increase in device uptime.

TabloHub

TabloHub is designed to be a one-stop shop for providers that allows customers to monitor treatments in real-time across their fleet, visualize historical treatment records and statistics, see system disinfection and service records, search documentation, read news about Tablo, and perform various training. It is accessible from any device equipped with a web browser, be it a smart phone, a tablet, or a computer.

Through the Tablo application programming interface (API), providers can integrate Tablo with their Electronic Medical Records (EMR) to receive Tablo treatment data and flowsheets automatically. This helps reduce manual record keeping, record-entry errors, and auditing risks. This additional point of connectedness is designed to deliver data in compliance with the federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Security Rule, and does not require any special equipment from the providers: it connects to the cloud using any standard Ethernet or Wi-Fi internet connections. TabloHub strengthens care, simplifies meeting documentation requirements, and makes system management easy.

MyTablo

MyTablo is a version of TabloHub designed for patients who are dialyzing at home or performing self-care at a clinic. Using MyTablo, patients can access training and download their treatment reports.

TabloDash

TabloDash is a powerful data analytics platform used by Outset team members to analyze diagnostic data produced by connected devices across all fleets, data from our customer relationship management system, and various other sources. Tablo captures more than 500,000 machine performance data points during every treatment, which is then used to fuel data analytics and machine learning algorithms that drive our research and development pipeline.

Through TabloDash, data can be visualized, graphed, aggregated, and queried to answer complex business intelligence questions, and build performance monitoring dashboards. For example, our service team uses TabloDash to analyze field response times, categorize failures by types, diagnose specific device issues, and monitor customer fleet performance.

The real-time nature of TabloDash allows our FSEs to troubleshoot and adjust a device remotely during a call with a customer and avoid the need to send FSEs to a site unnecessarily. If it is necessary to dispatch an FSE, we can use TabloDash to help ensure they arrive with the correct parts to complete the repair and are able to address any preventive maintenance predicted by our algorithms, all during the same visit. TabloDash is the linchpin that helps us optimize the cost of service while increasing the quality of service by reducing unnecessary visits, time spent on-site, and device downtime.

With the above features and benefits in mind, we believe Tablo is well-positioned as a differentiated, all-in-one solution enabling transformational dialysis across the continuum of care, from hospital to home, in one of the largest, most expensive, least changed areas of healthcare.

Competition

There are a number of dialysis machine manufacturers in the United States, Europe and Asia. Notable competitors in the United States include Fresenius Medical Care AG & Co. KGaA (Fresenius), Vantive, formerly the Baxter kidney care segment, and B. Braun. Medical Inc. (B. Braun). In addition, Quanta Dialysis Technologies Ltd.'s (Quanta) dialysis system has received FDA 510(k) clearance for use in acute and/or chronic and home settings. Of these competitors, Fresenius is the largest, and is vertically integrated, both manufacturing dialysis products and operating dialysis clinics along with providing inpatient dialysis services to hospitals and health systems. Additionally, companies with dialysis machine development programs include Medtronic plc (Medtronic). With the exception of Quanta, our competitors are significantly larger than us with greater financial, marketing, sales and personnel resources, greater brand recognition and longer operating histories. We believe our ability to compete effectively will be dependent on our ability to build the commercial infrastructure necessary to effectively demonstrate the value of Tablo, maintain and improve product quality and feature functionality, build the infrastructure to support the operating needs of the business and achieve cost reductions.

Acute Care

While historically customers in this market have focused on machine functionality and price, we believe they are increasingly focused on the total cost of patient care, which favors technology that can provide clinical versatility and improve operational efficiency. In the acute care setting, the dialysis machine manufacturers that we compete with include Fresenius, Vantive and B. Braun. We compete primarily on the basis that Tablo is designed to drive operational efficiency through ease of use and cost reduction by reducing infrastructure and supplies cost.

Further, hospital and post-acute customers in this market have generally outsourced their dialysis services to third party providers, for example, Fresenius, rather than offering on-site inpatient dialysis services on their own. We may also compete against these outsourced dialysis providers. In such instances, we believe our ability to compete effectively will depend on our ability to demonstrate Tablo's economic, clinical and operational benefits relative to outsourcing dialysis services.

Home Care

We believe competition in the home setting is based on a system's clinical performance, its cost efficiency, its ease of use and patient preference. In the home hemodialysis setting, competitors include Fresenius (through its acquisition of NxStage) and Quanta which received FDA 510(k) clearance for home use in 2024. We believe through Tablo's unique advantages it is easier and faster for patients to learn, and simpler for patients to operate at home, which may position us well against existing or future competitors. We believe these factors will reduce patient or caregiver burn-out, thereby extending patient retention, increasing home hemodialysis growth and improving associated margin for providers. We do not consider peritoneal dialysis (PD) to be competitive to our products given the differences in treatment modality, that PD is clinically limited to patients with certain pre-existing conditions such as congestive heart failure and obesity and that PD is regarded as a "temporary" modality since approximately 80% of patients are on the therapy for less than three years.

Intellectual Property

Our success depends in part on our ability to protect our proprietary technology and intellectual property rights. We rely on a combination of federal, state, common law and international rights, as well as contractual restrictions, to protect our intellectual property.

We seek patent protection for certain of our key innovations, processes and other inventions. We pursue the registration of our trademarks, service marks and domain names in the United States and in certain other locations. We control access to our proprietary technology by entering into confidentiality and invention assignment agreements with our employees and contractors, and confidentiality agreements with third parties. Our intellectual property includes specific algorithms for Tablo console, including those related to pressure sensors, blood leakage and pump control loops.

Patents

As of December 31, 2024, we had 23 issued U.S. patents, as well as 10 pending U.S. patent applications. We had an aggregate of 40 issued patents in Australia, Canada, China, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Japan, Spain, Sweden and the United Kingdom, as well as 36 pending patent applications in Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, the European Patent Office, Hong Kong, Japan, Saudi Arabia and United Arab Emirates. Some of our patents and other intellectual property cover aspects of Tablo that enable it to be used by anyone, including the patient, through the automation of functions formerly performed by dialysis center technicians using traditional dialysis systems. Our proprietary data ecosystem provides what we believe is a unique way of connecting providers and patients for real-time treatment monitoring, automated treatment documentation, and simplified compliance and record-keeping.

Our patents expire between October 2025 and April 2040. The term of individual patents depends upon the legal term for patents in the countries in which they are granted. In most countries, including the United States, the patent term is 20 years from the earliest claimed filing date of a non-provisional patent application in the applicable country. In the United States, a patent's term may, in certain cases, be lengthened by patent term adjustment, which compensates a patentee for administrative delays by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) in examining and granting a patent, or it may be shortened if a patent is terminally disclaimed over a commonly owned patent or a patent naming a common inventor and having an earlier expiration date. We cannot be sure that our pending patent applications or future patent applications will result in issued patents or that any patents that have issued or might issue in the future will protect our current or future products, provide us with any competitive advantage or will not be challenged, invalidated, or circumvented.

Various aspects of Tablo, including, without limitation, sensor technology, connectivity, automation, analytics and interface are covered by software, algorithms, processes, trade secret or other proprietary rights. We protect our trade secrets through a variety of measures, including confidentiality agreements and proprietary information agreements with suppliers, employees, consultants and others who may have access to our proprietary information. Trade secrets and proprietary information can be difficult to protect, however. While we have confidence in the measures we take to protect and preserve our trade secrets and proprietary information, such measures can be breached, and we may not have adequate remedies for any such breach. In addition, our trade secrets and proprietary information may otherwise become known or be independently discovered by competitors.

There is no active patent litigation involving any of our patents, and we have not received any notices claiming that our activities infringe a third party's patent.

Manufacturing, Supply Chain and Logistics

We direct the manufacturing and supporting supply chain, distribution and logistics for Tablo console, Tablo cartridge and other consumables (electrolyte concentrates and plastic tubing that transports the concentrates into Tablo to enable on-demand dialysate production). We operate under a Quality Management System that has been certified to ISO 13485 Medical Device Quality Management System standard.

We manufacture our Tablo consoles and a majority of Tablo cartridges at our manufacturing facility in Tijuana, Mexico. We are operating in Mexico in collaboration with TACNA Services (TACNA), a well-known outsourced business administration service provider that provides all the back-office and facility infrastructure support, allowing us to focus on our core competencies – design and high-volume manufacturing for reliability and cost reduction. Tablo consoles manufactured in our Mexico facility are tested at the facility using an integrated system testing protocols designed by us, and then direct-shipped to our distribution centers, using a network of short-haul and long-haul freight forwarders optimized for time and cost efficiency.

Pursuant to the terms of our manufacturing services agreement with TACNA (the TACNA Agreement), TACNA provides support services in connection with our manufacturing activities in Mexico. Under the TACNA Agreement, TACNA hires employees as requested by us and is responsible for human resource functions including maintenance of employee files and reports. TACNA is also responsible for performing internal statutory accounting and payroll services, as well as payables processing. Additional services that TACNA is obligated to provide under the TACNA Agreement include interfacing with both Mexican and U.S. governmental agencies, preparing import-export documentation, coordinating shipment of equipment, raw materials and finished products, and obtaining necessary permits and licenses required in Mexico. Under the TACNA Agreement, TACNA's services are generally performed under a pass-through cost model under which costs incurred are approved by us. We are also obligated to pay TACNA fees based on the number of employees under the TACNA Agreement. The TACNA Agreement has an initial three-year term and will continue thereafter until terminated by us or TACNA in accordance with the terms of the TACNA Agreement.

We also manufacture a portion of Tablo cartridges through Infus Medical Co. Ltd. (Infus), a contract manufacturer with two facilities in Thailand.

The number of suppliers required for Tablo console production is approximately 100 worldwide. We consider a discrete number of these suppliers, located in the United States, Mexico, Europe and Asia, as critical providers of components such as pumps, motors, valves and PCBA boards. The various components for Tablo cartridge are manufactured by 13 different single and dual-source suppliers located in various countries including the United States, Mexico, Europe and Asia.

Government Regulation

United States Food and Drug Administration

In the United States, our products are subject to regulation by the FDA as medical devices pursuant to the Federal Food Drug and Cosmetic Act (FDCA). The FDA regulates the development, design, non-clinical and clinical research, manufacturing, safety, efficacy, labeling, packaging, storage, installation, servicing, recordkeeping, premarket clearance or approval, adverse event reporting, advertising, promotion, marketing and distribution, and import and export of medical devices to ensure that medical devices distributed domestically are safe and effective for their intended uses and otherwise meet the requirements of the FDCA.

FDA Premarket Clearance and Approval Requirements

Unless an exemption applies, each medical device commercially distributed in the United States requires either FDA clearance of a 510(k) premarket notification, approval of a de novo application, or approval of a premarket approval (PMA). Under the FDCA, medical devices are classified into one of three classes—Class I, Class II or Class III—depending on the degree of risk associated with each medical device and the extent of manufacturer and regulatory control needed to ensure its safety and effectiveness. Class I includes devices with the lowest risk to the patient and are those for which safety and effectiveness can be assured by adherence to the FDA's General Controls for medical devices, which include compliance with the applicable portions of the Quality System Regulation (QSR), facility registration and product listing, reporting of adverse medical events, and truthful and non-misleading labeling, advertising, and promotional materials. Class II devices are subject to the FDA's General Controls, and special controls as deemed necessary by the FDA to ensure the safety and effectiveness of the device. These special controls can include performance standards, post-market surveillance, patient registries and FDA guidance documents.

While most Class I devices are exempt from the 510(k) premarket notification requirement, manufacturers of most Class II devices are required to submit to the FDA a premarket notification under Section 510(k) of the FDCA requesting permission to commercially distribute the device. The FDA's permission to commercially distribute a device subject to a 510(k) premarket notification is generally known as 510(k) clearance. Devices deemed by the FDA to pose the greatest risks, such as life sustaining, life supporting or some implantable devices, or devices that have a new intended use, or use advanced technology that is not substantially equivalent to that of a legally marketed device, are placed in Class III, requiring approval of a PMA. Some pre-amendment devices are unclassified, but are subject to FDA's premarket notification and clearance process in order to be commercially distributed. Tablo is a Class II device subject to 510(k) clearance.

510(k) Clearance Marketing Pathway

To obtain 510(k) clearance, we must submit to the FDA a premarket notification submission demonstrating that the proposed device is "substantially equivalent" to a predicate device already on the market. A predicate device is a legally marketed device that is not subject to PMA, i.e., a device that was legally marketed prior to May 28, 1976 (pre-amendments device) and for which a PMA is not required, a device that has been reclassified from Class III to Class II or I, or a device that was found substantially equivalent through the 510(k) process. The FDA's 510(k) clearance process usually takes from three to twelve months, but often takes longer. The FDA may require additional information, including clinical data, to make a determination regarding substantial equivalence. In addition, the FDA collects user fees for certain medical device submissions and annual fees for medical device establishments.

If the FDA agrees that the device is substantially equivalent to a predicate device currently on the market, it will grant 510(k) clearance to commercially market the device. If the FDA determines that the device is "not substantially equivalent" to a previously cleared device, the device is automatically designated as a Class III device. The device sponsor must then fulfill more rigorous PMA requirements, or can request a risk-based classification determination for the device in accordance with the "de novo" process, which is a route to market for novel medical devices that are low to moderate risk and are not substantially equivalent to a predicate device. If a de novo request is granted, the device may be legally marketed and a new classification is established. If the device is classified as Class II, the device may serve as a predicate for future 510(k) submissions. If the device is not approved through de novo review, then it must go through the standard PMA process for Class III devices.

After a device receives 510(k) marketing clearance, any modification that could significantly affect its safety or effectiveness, or that would constitute a major change or modification in its intended use, will require a new 510(k) clearance or, depending on the modification, PMA approval. The FDA requires each manufacturer to determine whether the proposed change requires submission of a 510(k) or a PMA in the first instance, but the FDA can review any such decision and disagree with a manufacturer's determination. If the FDA disagrees with a manufacturer's determination, the FDA can require the manufacturer to cease marketing and/or request the recall of the modified device until 510(k) marketing clearance or PMA approval is obtained. Also, in these circumstances, the manufacturer may be subject to significant regulatory fines or penalties.

PMA Approval Pathway

Class III devices require approval of a PMA before they can be marketed, although some pre-amendment Class III devices for which the FDA has not yet required a PMA are cleared through the 510(k) process. The PMA process is more demanding than the 510(k) premarket notification process. In a PMA application, the manufacturer must demonstrate that the device is safe and effective, and the PMA application must be supported by extensive data, including data from preclinical studies and human clinical trials. The PMA application must also contain a full description of the device and its components, a full description of the methods, facilities, and controls used for manufacturing, and proposed labeling. Following receipt of a PMA application, the FDA determines whether the application is sufficiently complete to permit a substantive review. If the FDA accepts the application for review, it has 180 days under the FDCA to complete its review of a PMA application, although in practice, the FDA's review often takes significantly longer, and can take up to several years. An advisory panel of experts from outside the FDA may be convened to review and evaluate the application and provide recommendations to the FDA as to the approvability of the device. The FDA may or may not accept the panel's recommendation. In addition, the FDA will generally conduct a pre-approval inspection of the applicant or its third-party manufacturers' or suppliers' manufacturing facility or facilities to ensure compliance with the QSR. PMA devices are also subject to the payment of user fees.

The FDA will approve the new device for commercial distribution if it determines that the data and information in the PMA application constitute valid scientific evidence and that there is reasonable assurance that the device is safe and effective for its intended use(s). A PMA may include post-approval conditions intended to ensure the safety and effectiveness of the device, including,

Special note regarding forward-looking statements

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements concerning our business, operations and financial performance and condition, as well as our plans, objectives and expectations for our business operations and financial performance and condition. Any statements contained herein that are not statements of historical facts may be deemed to be forward-looking statements. In some cases, you can identify these forward-looking statements by the use of words such as "outlook," "believes," "expects," "potential," "continues," "may," "will," "should," "seeks," "approximately," "predicts," "intends," "plans," "estimates," "anticipates" or the negative version of these words or other comparable words. Such forward-looking statements are subject to various risks and uncertainties. Accordingly, there are or will be important factors that could cause actual outcomes or results to differ materially from those indicated in these statements. We believe these factors include, among other things:

- the timing, progress, and results of preclinical studies and clinical trials for our product candidates, including the timing of initiation and completion of studies or trials and related preparatory work and the period during which the results of the trials will become available;
- our ability to obtain additional funding as necessary;
- the timing, scope or likelihood of regulatory filings and approvals, including timing of our Biologics License Application, or BLA, and filing for, and final approval by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, or the FDA, of, RP1 or any of our other product candidates;
- the timing, scope, or likelihood of foreign regulatory filings and approvals;
- our ability to develop our product candidates for use in combination with other checkpoint blockade therapies, including anti-PD-1;
- our ability to develop and advance any future product candidates into, and successfully complete, clinical trials;
- our expectations regarding the size of the patient populations for RP1, RP2 and/or RP3 or any other product candidates from our RPx platform if approved for commercial use;
- our ability to successfully qualify, obtain approval for, and maintain successful operation, approval and qualification of our in-house manufacturing operations;
- our ability to obtain and maintain sufficient quantities of raw material supplies or access single or limited sources of goods or services needed to build or maintain our product candidate supplies or otherwise operate our in-house manufacturing facility;
- the costs of operating our in-house manufacturing facility;
- our estimates regarding expenses and capital requirements;
- the implementation of our business model and our strategic plans for our business, RP1 and our other product candidates;
- the rate and degree of market acceptance and clinical utility of RP1 and our other product candidates;
- the potential benefits of and our ability to establish or maintain future collaborations or strategic relationships;
- our ability to retain the continued service of our key professionals and to identify, hire and retain additional qualified professionals;
- our intellectual property position, including the scope of protection we are able to establish and maintain for intellectual property rights covering RP1 and our other product candidates, claims others may make regarding rights in our intellectual property, and any potential infringement, misappropriation or other violation of any third-party intellectual property rights;
- our competitive position, and developments and projections relating to our competitors and our industry;
- negative developments in the fields of immuno-oncology or oncolytic immunotherapy;
- the impact of laws and regulations;
- the impact of the COVID-19 coronavirus, or COVID-19, as a global pandemic and related public health, travel, and supply chain issues;
- the impact of the Russian - Ukrainian conflict on the global economy and related governmental imposed sanctions;

- our expectations regarding the time during which we will be an emerging growth company under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012; and
- the other risks and uncertainties described under "Risk factors."

The forward-looking statements made in this Annual Report on Form 10-K relate only to events as of the date on which the statements are made. These factors should not be construed as exhaustive and should be read in conjunction with the other cautionary statements that are included in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Moreover, we operate in a competitive and rapidly changing environment. New risks and uncertainties emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for us to predict all risks and uncertainties that could have an impact on the forward-looking statements contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. We undertake no obligation to publicly update or review any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise, except to the extent required by applicable law. You should not rely on forward-looking statements as predictions of future events. We may not actually achieve the plans, intentions, or expectations disclosed in our forward-looking statements, and you should not place undue reliance on our forward-looking statements.

Item 1. Business

Overview

We are a clinical-stage biotechnology company committed to applying our leading expertise in the field of oncolytic immunotherapy to transform the lives of cancer patients through our novel tumor-directed oncolytic immunotherapies. Our proprietary tumor-directed oncolytic immunotherapy product candidates are designed and intended to maximally activate the immune system against cancer.

Oncolytic immunotherapy is an emerging drug class, which we intend to establish as the second cornerstone of immune-based cancer treatments, alongside checkpoint blockade. Oncolytic immunotherapy exploits the ability of certain viruses to selectively replicate in and directly kill tumors, as well as induce a potent, patient-specific, anti-tumor immune response. Our product candidates incorporate multiple mechanisms of action into a practical "off-the-shelf" approach that is intended to maximize the immune response against a patient's cancer and to offer significant advantages over other approaches to inducing anti-tumor immunity, including personalized vaccine approaches. We believe that the bundling of multiple approaches for the treatment of cancer into single therapies will increase clinical efficacy and simplify the development path of our product candidates, while also improving patient outcomes at a lower cost to the healthcare system than the use of multiple different drugs.

Our proprietary RPx platform is based on a proprietary, engineered strain of herpes simplex virus 1, or HSV-1, backbone with payloads added to maximize immunogenic cell death and the induction of a systemic anti-tumor immune response. The RPx platform has a unique dual local and systemic mechanism of action, or MOA, consisting of direct selective virus-mediated killing of the tumor resulting in the release of tumor-derived antigens and altering of the tumor microenvironment, or TME, to ignite a strong and durable systemic response. This MOA is expected to be synergistic with most established and experimental cancer treatment modalities, and, with an attractive safety profile, the RPx platform is expected to have the versatility to be developed alone or combined with a variety of other treatment options. We currently have three RPx product candidates in our development pipeline, RP1 (vusolimogene oderparepvec), our lead product candidate, RP2 and RP3. Although our fiscal year runs from April 1st - March 31st, our programs and program updates disclosed herein and elsewhere are reported on a calendar year basis.

We are conducting a number of clinical trials of RP1, both as a monotherapy and in combination with anti-PD-1 therapy, with a focus on establishing a major skin cancer franchise. We have completed enrolling patients in a randomized, controlled Phase-2 clinical trial of RP1 with cutaneous squamous cell carcinoma, or CSCC, RP1's lead indication, which is referred to herein as CERPASS or the CERPASS trial, under an agreement with our partner Regeneron Pharmaceuticals, Inc., or Regeneron. CERPASS is a registration directed clinical trial evaluating RP1 in combination with cemiplimab, an anti-PD-1 therapy developed by Regeneron, versus cemiplimab alone. Regeneron has granted to us a non-exclusive royalty-free license to cemiplimab for use in this trial, is supplying cemiplimab at no cost and funded one-half of the clinical trial costs up to the amount agreed in the first study plan. CERPASS enrolled 211 patients with locally advanced or metastatic CSCC who are naïve to anti-PD1 therapy. An additional 20 patients were also dosed with RP1 made at our in-house manufacturing facility. The CERPASS protocol evaluates complete response, or CR rate, and overall response rate, or ORR, as its two independent primary efficacy endpoints as assessed by independent review, as well as duration of response, progression-free survival, or PFS, and overall survival, or OS, as secondary endpoints. As previously reported, we met with the FDA in the first quarter and discussed the rationale for the changes to the study design we made in 2020 reducing the study size from 240 to 180 patients and adding CR as a dual independent primary endpoint (the study subsequently over enrolled with 211 patients randomized, as reported in November 2022). No changes were made to the protocol as a result of the meeting. As reported in February 2023, topline data from the CERPASS trial is expected to be announced in Q3 2023. Assuming positive primary analysis data is generated, including demonstrating overall clinical benefit, we continue to expect to make a Biologics License Application submission for RP1 in Q1 2024.

We continue our collaboration with Bristol Myers Squibb Company, or BMS, under which BMS has granted us a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to, and is supplying at no cost, its anti-PD-1 therapy, nivolumab, for use in combination with RP1 in a multi-cohort Phase 1/2 clinical trial which is referred to herein as IGNYTE, or the IGNYTE trial. The leading tumor specific cohort in the IGNYTE trial is our registration directed Phase 2 expansion cohort enrolling 125 patients with anti-PD-1 failed cutaneous melanoma who are being treated with RP1 in combination with nivolumab. We are also continuing enrollment into the cohorts of patients with anti-PD-1 failed non-melanoma skin cancers, or NMSC, which includes patients with both naïve and anti-PD-1 failed disease, including CSCC.

We initiated the registration directed Phase 2 expansion cohort in the IGNYTE trial enrolling 125 patients with anti-PD-1 failed cutaneous melanoma after completing enrollment in a prior Phase 2 cohort in the same clinical trial of approximately 30 patients with melanoma, which demonstrated the tolerability and clinical activity of the combination of RP1 and nivolumab in patients with melanoma, including those who had failed prior anti-PD-1 when given alone or in combination with CTLA-4 blockade. In March 2021, we held a Type B meeting with the FDA to discuss the design of the 125 patient expansion cohort in the IGNYTE trial. In this meeting, the FDA expressed that while a randomized controlled clinical trial would always be preferred for registration purpose, that in this patient population with no clear standard of care, if the clinical data is sufficiently compelling then the data could be considered for submission by the FDA under the accelerated approval pathway. The FDA also indicated that a randomized confirmatory trial would also be needed as is required under the accelerated approval pathway. The design of the confirmatory trial is intended to be discussed with the FDA prior to a BLA submission. In December 2022, we reported data from the first 75 patients with at least six months follow-up. The data snapshot based on investigator response showed a 20% CR rate and a 36% ORR with activity across all disease stages and strong durability. In January 2023, we completed target enrollment of 125 patients with patients in screening at that time continuing to be enrolled. We completed enrollment in this cohort in March 2023, ultimately enrolling 141 patients. Further updated data from the initial 75 patients is expected to be presented at the American Society of Clinical Oncology, or ASCO, in June 2023, and a data snapshot for all 141 patients, who will all have a minimum of 6 months follow-up, is expected in Q4 2023. The data snapshot for all 141 patients with a minimum of 6 months follow-up will be evaluated for the potential to align a dual launch with CERPASS, assuming both indications for RP1 are timely approved, however, the per protocol primary analysis continues to be expected 12 months after enrollment of the last patient, March 2024, with topline data expected in Q2 2024.

We continue to enroll patients in our additional IGNYTE Phase-2 cohorts under our collaboration with BMS in which we are evaluating RP1 in combination with nivolumab. In NMSC, enrollment in the anti-PD-1 naïve NMSC cohort has completed, included patients with cutaneous squamous cell carcinoma, or CSCC, basal cell carcinoma, or BCC, merkel cell carcinoma, or MCC, and angiosarcoma. Updated data from the CSCC patients in the anti-PD-1 naïve NMSC cohort, presented in March 2022, continued to show nearly half of the patients achieving a complete response and nearly 65% achieving a complete or partial response. We are currently enrolling an extension of the NMSC cohort of RP1 in combination with nivolumab in NMSC patients who have failed prior treatment with anti-PD(L)-1. In March 2022, we reported initial data (N=12) from this extension cohort where responses had been observed in anti-PD(L)-1 failed CSCC, MCC and angiosarcoma tumors. We believe the activity of RP1 combined with nivolumab in this anti-PD(L)-1 failed cohort represents a new potential therapeutic option for these patients and supports the broad potential for RP1 in anti-PD(L)-1 failed skin cancers beyond melanoma. Recruitment remains ongoing, with a data update expected in Q3 2023.

We also have open for enrollment a Phase 1b/2 clinical trial of single agent RP1 in solid organ transplant recipients with skin cancers, including CSCC, which is referred to herein as ARTACUS or the ARTACUS trial, which we believe to be potentially registrational (in its own right or, subject to discussion with regulatory authorities, following enrollment of additional patients, including as a potential label expansion after an initial approval of RP1 in a different indication). We are currently enrolling up to 65 patients in the ARTACUS trial to assess the safety and efficacy of RP1 in liver, kidney, heart, lung, and hematopoietic cell transplant patients transplant recipients with skin cancers. Enrollment in this clinical trial had been impacted by COVID-19, as the patient population is severely immune-compromised and considered very high risk, however, more recently we have seen enrollment increase in the ARTACUS trial. As reported in March 2022, we have observed responses in these patients with RP1 as monotherapy with a similar safety profile to that observed in our other RP1 clinical trials in patients who are not immune suppressed. Enrollment continues in the ARTACUS trial and we expect to present updated initial data at the American Transplant Congress in June 2023.

In addition to these ongoing trials with RP1, we are currently evaluating all strategic opportunities for RP1 in skin cancers, including the setting for the confirmatory clinical trial in melanoma which is expected to be required to support a potential accelerated approval of RP1 in anti-PD1 failed melanoma.

We are also developing additional product candidates, RP2 and RP3, that have been further engineered to enhance anti-tumor immune responses and are intended to address additional tumor types, including traditionally less immune responsive tumor types. In addition to the expression of GALV-GP R(-) and human GM-CSF as in RP1, RP2 has been engineered to express an antibody-like molecule intended to block the activity of CTLA-4, a protein that inhibits the full activation of an immune response, including to tumors. RP3 has been engineered with the intent to further stimulate an anti-tumor immune response through activation of immune co-stimulatory pathways through the additional expression of the ligands for CD40 and 4-1BBL, as well as anti-CTLA-4 and GALV-GP R(-), but without the expression of GM-CSF.

We initiated a Phase-1 clinical trial of RP2 alone and in combination with nivolumab in the second half of 2019. This clinical trial is also being conducted as part of our collaboration with BMS, under which BMS has granted us a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to, and will supply at no cost, nivolumab, for use in combination with RP2. We have presented data from the single agent RP2 portion of this clinical trial that showed deep and durable responses, including demonstration of tumor response in uninjected lesions and in patients with difficult to treat advanced cancers. We believe that this data supports the hypothesis that anti-CTLA-4 delivered intra-tumorally through oncolytic virus replication, with accompanying antigen release and presentation, can provide potent anti-tumor effects. We have also presented combination data from both the clinical trial that showed compelling activity in patients with immune insensitive tumors and with anti-PD-1 failed disease. In the second half of 2021, we reported full enrollment in the initial 30 patient combination with nivolumab part of the Phase 1 clinical trial following which a protocol amendment was made to expand this clinical trial to enroll additional patients who are required to have specific tumor types of interest, including gastro-intestinal cancers, breast cancer, lung cancer, head and neck cancer and uveal melanoma, rather than any type of tumor as were eligible for the initial 30 patient group. In December 2022, we reported that of 14 patients with uveal melanoma for which sufficient follow-up was available for assessment, 4 patients had achieved a response.

Enrollment continues in our clinical trial designed to evaluate RP3 alone and combined with anti-PD-1 therapy in advanced solid tumor patients, focusing on enrolling patients with gastro-intestinal cancers, breast cancer, lung cancer and head and neck cancer. In December 2022, the Company presented data from its Phase 1 trial of RP3 in combination with nivolumab (N=5) in patients with multiple soft tissue sarcomas including in leiomyosarcoma, osteosarcoma, chondrosarcoma, and epithelioid sarcomas who have all failed standard of care. At the data cut-off date, 3 of 5 patients had sufficient follow-up for response assessment, and all three were responding to therapy in settings with no viable alternative treatment option, indicating the potential utility of RP3 in treating this difficult to treat tumor type.

Accrual in the Phase 1 programs with both RP2 and RP3 are expected to materially complete in Q3 2023. Any additional Phase 2 development programs not already announced which are driven by data from the full Phase 1 data and other opportunistic considerations are expected to be disclosed by year-end 2023.

We continue to plan for our previously announced Phase 2 development program for RP2 and/or RP3 that we expect to initiate around mid-year 2023. We are planning for initial signal finding single arm Phase 2 clinical trials in the following tumor types: squamous cell carcinoma of the head and neck, or SCCHN, locally advanced and recurrent/metastatic; hepatocellular carcinoma, or HCC, both first and second line; and colorectal cancer, or CRC, third line; with additional studies in other tumor types intended to follow. As we announced in December 2022, our signal finding studies in HCC and CRC are being developed in combination with atezolizumab and bevacizumab under a supply and cost share clinical collaboration arrangement with Roche Holding AG, or Roche. Our signal finding studies in SCCHN are being developed in combination with nivolumab under our collaboration agreement with BMS.

- In HCC, two signal finding cohorts of 30 patients each will be enrolled in collaboration with Roche. The first cohort will enroll 1L patients treated with SOC atezolizumab combined with bevacizumab and RP3, and the second cohort will enroll patients who have progressed on 1L immunotherapy (including atezolizumab/bevacizumab), and will be treated with atezolizumab combined with bevacizumab and RP3.

- In CRC, two signal finding cohorts of 30 patients each will be enrolled in collaboration with Roche. The first cohort will enroll 3L patients to be treated with atezolizumab combined with bevacizumab and RP2 and the second cohort with atezolizumab and bevacizumab and RP3. We believe that data with both RP2 and RP3 in CRC will allow the comparative efficacy of RP2 and RP3 to be evaluated in a particularly difficult to treat patient population.

- In SCCHN, the trial will be conducted under our collaboration with BMS. This study is intended to include two cohorts of patients, the first with locally advanced disease is planned to enroll approximately 100 patients randomized 1:1 to either SOC chemotherapy combined with radiation, or SOC combined with RP3 followed by adjuvant nivolumab therapy. The second, signal finding cohort, will enroll 30 patients with recurrent or metastatic SCCHN with low PD-L1 levels (CPS<20) who will be treated with chemotherapy, nivolumab and RP3.

RP1, RP2 and RP3 are administered by direct injection into solid tumors, guided either visually or by ultrasound, computerized tomography, or CT, or other imaging methods. We believe that direct injection maximizes virus-mediated tumor cell death, provides the most efficient delivery of virus-encoded immune activating proteins into the tumor with the goal of activating systemic immunity, and limits the systemic toxicities that could be associated with intravenous administration. Activation of systemic immunity through local administration is intended to lead to the induction of anti-tumor immune responses leading to clinical response of tumors that have not themselves been injected.

Our approach — Oncolytic immunotherapy

Our product candidates are designed to induce a robust immune response against a patient's cancer and turn immunologically "cold" tumors "hot." To achieve this objective, we use oncolytic immunotherapies that combine multiple mechanisms of action in a single product candidate. We believe our product candidates will initiate or enhance an immune response in patients with no or minimal pre-existing cancer immunity, including to tumor neo-antigens, and thereby increase the effectiveness of immune checkpoint blockade therapies.

Our product candidates are intended to act at several key points in the pathways involved in the initiation of an immune response. Following direct injection into tumors, our viruses replicate in cancer cells and then lyse, or break them open, releasing tumor antigens, including neo-antigens specific to the patient, which could otherwise be hidden from the immune system. This process of necrotic cell death releases intra-cellular markers of "danger," the danger associated molecular patterns, or DAMPs, while the virus produces pathogen associated markers of danger, or PAMPs. These trigger various pathways of the innate immune system, including the STING pathway and pathways mediated through toll-like receptors, or TLRs, each resulting in the production of interferon. Innate immune activation would be expected to itself provide anti-tumor effects, as interferon activates natural killer cells which can destroy tumor cells. Innate immune activation would also be expected to help trigger adaptive anti-cancer immunity, in which antigen presenting cells, or APCs, are attracted to the injected tumor. APCs internalize cancer antigens, including neo-antigens, and traffic back to the draining lymph nodes where they present the antigens to T cells. Primed with the antigens, these T cells then proliferate and disperse systemically to seek and destroy cancer cells with the same antigen profile throughout the body, resulting in the potential destruction of distant tumor deposits.

To further augment these intended effects, our product candidates are genetically encoded with multiple potent, cell-killing and immune-stimulating proteins — in other words, our product candidates are "armed" with these therapeutic genes.

We believe that our ability to incorporate multiple mechanisms of action into a practical "off-the-shelf" approach to initiating or enhancing an anti-tumor immune response, including to neo-antigens, will offer significant advantages over the various approaches to immune activation that are currently in development, including personalized vaccine treatments. Tumor neo-antigens are uniquely present in tumors, rather than normal tissue, because they result from the genetic changes that occur as cancer develops. Unlike the antigens present in normal tissue, the immune system identifies neo-antigens as foreign. As a result, the immune system is able to mount an immune response to tumor neo-antigens in the same way that it would to the antigens contained in disease-causing micro-organisms, which the immune system also identifies as foreign. Researchers believe immune responses to tumor neo-antigens are particularly important in the immune system's ability to combat cancer, and as a consequence various "personalized vaccine" approaches to generating immune responses to tumor neo-antigens are in development. These approaches are generally both expensive and time consuming because a vaccine cannot be designed and manufactured until a tumor biopsy is taken and analyzed in the laboratory to identify the mutated tumor antigens that will be targeted by the treatment. We also believe that our "off-the-shelf" approach may offer significant advantages over other approaches to anti-cancer immune activation that only target a single pathway of the immune system, as is the case with most of the other immuno-oncology therapies currently under development. Importantly, our product candidates are intended to maximally activate an immune response against cancer, which we believe is the missing element needed to allow anti-PD-1 or anti-PD(L)-1 therapy to treat more patients and tumor types, unlike some other therapies that are intended to act by blocking additional defense mechanisms against an anti-tumor immune response once it has been initiated.

Our current product candidate pipeline is summarized in the table below:

The foundation of our oncolytic immunotherapy product candidates consists of a proprietary strain of HSV-1 that we have engineered to replicate selectively in tumors and to express a fusogenic glycoprotein, a protein that triggers the fusion of the membranes between cells. HSV-1 is both highly cell lytic and inflammatory, and also has a large carrying capacity, which makes it possible to incorporate multiple genes encoding therapeutic proteins. We believe our combination of HSV-1 with the expression of the fusogenic glycoprotein increases the natural ability of HSV-1 to kill tumor cells and to induce an anti-tumor immune response. The fusogenic functionality of our product candidates is intended not only to increase the number of tumor cells that are killed, but also to cause highly immunogenic death of tumor cells. We believe that these factors will increase the potency of the systemic anti-tumor immune response that is generated by our product candidates. With the intention of further amplifying the anti-tumor response, we have also engineered product candidates that express a range of additional potent, immune activating genes encoding therapeutic proteins in tumors.

Our lead product candidate, RP1, serves as the base from which our additional product candidates, RP2 and RP3, are being developed to express additional therapeutic proteins. We believe that our sequential development approach of further enhancing our product candidates with additional therapeutic proteins reduces clinical risk, as we are able to study the safety profile of each therapeutic protein prior to moving to the next product candidate with an additional therapeutic protein that is intended to provide more potent anti-tumor immune effects.

Lead product candidate: RP1

Our lead product candidate, RP1, is a selectively replicating version of HSV-1 that expresses GALV-GP R(-) and human GM-CSF. RP1 has the following properties:

- we have deleted the ICP34.5-encoding gene, which enables tumor-selective virus replication;
- we have deleted the ICP47-encoding gene, which is intended to prevent the inhibition of the antigen presentation pathway otherwise caused by ICP47 binding to the transporter associated with antigen presentation. ICP47 deletion is also intended to result in the increased and earlier expression of the HSV-1 US11 gene by placing the HSV-1 US11 gene under the control of ICP47 promoter which we believe will increase virus replication in tumors without reducing tumor-selectivity; and

- we have inserted the sequences for GALV-GP R(-) and human GM-CSF, resulting in the expression of these therapeutic proteins with the intention of increasing both the direct tumor cell killing and the potency of the anti-tumor immune response that is induced.

We have developed RP1 as a monotherapy and for use in combination with immune checkpoint blockade therapy, particularly therapies targeting PD-1 or PD-(L)-1. We believe that the robust release of tumor antigens and the highly immunogenic tumor cell death intended to be caused by RP1 will further increase the previously observed synergy between oncolytic viruses and immune checkpoint blockade therapy.

Pipeline product candidates: RP2 and RP3

We have designed our RP2 product candidate to express an anti-CTLA-4 antibody-like protein intended to block the inhibition of the immune response otherwise caused by CTLA-4. We believe that RP2 may offer advantages compared with current CTLA-4 approaches, including ipilimumab. By expressing anti-CTLA-4 only locally in the tumor and draining lymph nodes, we believe that activity will be retained, but that toxicity will be reduced. We intend that our RP2 product candidate will be used in combination with other treatment approaches, including anti-PD-1 therapy, which we believe will result in both synergy with the oncolytic immunotherapy and the expression of anti-CTLA-4 in the tumor.

We have designed our RP3 product candidate to express further immune-activating proteins that stimulate T cells, in addition to anti-CTLA-4 and GALV-GP R(-). These immune activating proteins are the ligands for two immune co-stimulatory pathways responsible for T cell proliferation and/or activation, the CD40L and 4-1BBL pathways.

Intellectual property

We believe our rights under issued patents, if obtained, and patent applications will provide a competitive advantage. Our success depends in part on our ability to obtain and maintain proprietary protection for our product candidates, technology and know-how, to operate without infringing the proprietary rights of others and to prevent others from infringing upon our proprietary rights. Our policy is to seek to protect our proprietary position by, among other methods, filing United States and foreign patent applications related to our proprietary technology, inventions and improvements that are important to the development of our business. We also rely on trade secrets, know-how and continuing technological innovation to develop and maintain our proprietary position.

For the core technology in our RPx platform and each of our product candidates, we have filed six patent applications under the Patent Cooperation Treaty, or PCT. All six of these PCT applications have entered the national phase and are in different stages of pending and/or issued in a range of countries. Examination has started in connection with some of the national phase applications. Six US patents have been granted by the applicable authorities in the US. Four European patents have been granted by the applicable authorities in the European Union, two patents have been granted by the applicable authorities in Hong Kong and three patents have been granted by the applicable authorities in Japan, two patents have been granted by the applicable authorities in Israel, and one patent has been granted by the applicable authorities in each of Singapore, China and Australia. The granted US patents include US patent numbers 10,570,377; 10,612,005; 10,626,377; 10,947,513; 11,427,810; and 11,473,063 and include description and claims directed to oncolytic virus compositions of matter, pharmaceutical compositions encompassing an oncolytic virus and methods of use in treating cancer with oncolytic virus compositions. Two of our European patents have been opposed, one of which was recently successfully maintained and the other remains under the opposition process. One of our US patents has been petitioned for post-grant review and one of our Japanese patents has been maintained as granted following being opposed. We continue to vigorously pursue advancement and defense of our patents and patent applications through the respective patent offices in which they are granted or pending throughout the world. See "Risk Factors - Risk Related to Intellectual Property."

The term of individual patents depends upon the legal term of the patents in the countries in which they are obtained. In most countries in which we file, the patent term is 20 years from the earliest date of filing a non-provisional patent application. In the United States, the patent term of a patent that covers an FDA-approved drug may also be eligible for patent term extension, which permits patent term restoration of a portion of the patent term lost during the U.S. clinical development and FDA regulatory review process. The Hatch-Waxman Act permits a patent term extension of up to five years beyond the expiration of the patent. The length of the patent term extension is related to the length of time the drug is under clinical development in the United States and the length of time the drug is under regulatory review. Patent term extension cannot extend the remaining term of a patent beyond a total of 14 years from the date of product approval and only one patent applicable to an approved drug may be extended. Similar provisions are available in Europe and other foreign jurisdictions to extend the term of a patent that covers an approved drug. In the future, if and when our products receive FDA approval, and if and when patents grant, we expect to apply for patent term extensions on patents covering those products. We plan to seek patent term extensions to any of our issued patents in any jurisdiction where these are available, however there is no guarantee that the applicable authorities, including the FDA in the United States, will agree with our assessment of whether such extensions should be granted, and if granted, the length of such extensions.

We may rely, in some circumstances, on trade secrets to protect our technology. We seek to protect our proprietary technology and processes, in part, by confidentiality agreements with our employees, consultants, scientific advisors and other contractors, as well as physical security of our premises and our information technology systems.

Competition

The biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries are characterized by rapidly advancing technologies, intense competition and a strong emphasis on proprietary rights. We compete in the highly competitive markets that address cancer and face significant competition from many sources, including pharmaceutical, biopharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, as well as universities and private and public research institutions. Many of our competitors have significantly greater financial, manufacturing, marketing and drug development resources than we do. Large biopharmaceutical companies in particular have extensive experience in clinical testing and in obtaining regulatory approvals for drugs and biologicals. These companies also have significantly greater research capabilities than we do. Smaller or early-stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies or universities and research institutions.

Our competitors fall primarily into the following groups of treatment:

- traditional cancer therapies, including chemotherapy, surgery, radiation and targeted therapies;
- approved immunotherapy antibodies and immunotherapy antibodies in clinical trials;
- oncolytic immunotherapies, including T-Vec and other oncolytic immunotherapies in clinical trials;
- therapies aimed at activating innate immunity such as those targeting STING and TLRs;
- cancer vaccines including personalized vaccines and those targeting tumor neo-antigens; and
- cell-based therapies, such as CAR-T, T cell receptor-based, and NK cell therapies.

Our commercial opportunity will be reduced or eliminated if our competitors develop and commercialize products that are safer, more effective, have fewer side effects, are easier to administer or are less expensive alone or in combination with other therapies than any products that we may develop alone or in combination with other therapies, especially if these get to market sooner than our products. These third parties also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified scientific and management personnel, establishing clinical trial sites and patient registration for clinical trials, as well as in acquiring technologies and technology licenses complementary to our programs or advantageous to our business.

Our oncolytic product candidates, if and when marketed, will compete with a number of drugs that are currently marketed or in development that also target cancer but that utilize a different mechanism of action. To compete effectively with these agents, our product candidates will need to demonstrate advantages that lead to improved clinical efficacy and safety compared with these competitors. At the same time, however, we believe that our oncolytic product candidates, if and when ultimately marketed, would likely be used principally in combination with checkpoint blockade therapies in addition to existing cancer therapies, including surgery, chemotherapy, radiation therapy and other biological therapies such as antibodies targeting particular surface receptors. We therefore believe that our product candidates, if and when marketed, would largely complement rather than compete directly with these existing treatment options.

We do, however, expect to face direct and increasing competition from a number of companies that are also seeking to develop cancer therapies based on oncolytic viruses and other ways to prime the immune system, including neo-antigen vaccination. We believe that our ability to successfully compete will depend, among other things, on our ability to:

- expeditiously advance the development of our product candidates;
- design, enroll patients in and successfully complete appropriate clinical trials in a timely fashion;
- gain regulatory approval for our product candidates in their first indications as well as further indications;
- establish collaborations and partnerships for the development and marketing of our product candidates;
- commercialize our product candidates successfully, including demonstrating the safety and efficacy of our product candidates over currently approved therapies to physicians, insurers and third-party payors;

- secure sufficient coverage from insurers and other payors;
- secure, maintain and protect intellectual property rights based on our innovations; and
- manufacture or otherwise obtain and sell commercial quantities of future products to the market.

Manufacturing and suppliers

We have established an operations leadership team with what we believe is extensive experience in manufacturing biologics based on viruses, including oncolytic products and gene therapy products, and in the construction, validation, operation and approval of facilities for the manufacture and filling of complex biological products. Our team has already developed a robust and reproducible manufacturing process for our product candidates. We are also developing our product candidates for maximum practicality of use compared with some other oncolytic immunotherapies.

Traditionally, our third-party contract manufacturer in Europe has been responsible for the cGMP manufacture and filling of our product candidates for use in our clinical trials. We have established our raw material supply chain for our product candidates as part of the process of establishing and qualifying our own manufacturing facility and intend to enter into commercial supply, collaboration or similar agreements as needed to operate the in-house manufacturing of our product candidates for our clinical trials and, if approved, build commercial supply of our products.

Our approximately 63,000 square foot manufacturing facility in Framingham, Massachusetts is fully operational. We have completed the process of transferring the manufacturing of RP1, RP2 and RP3 from our third-party contract manufacturer. Comparability analysis of RP1, RP2 and RP3 produced at our Framingham facility with the contract manufacturer material used in our clinical studies is complete. The FDA and some European regulatory agencies have approved the use of material produced at Framingham in ongoing and future clinical trials. We plan to operate our in-house manufacturing facility in order to secure our product candidates for our ongoing and planned clinical studies and, if approved, commercial launch and supply. The facility has been designed to allow us to produce enough material to cover full global commercialization of all our current product candidates. The facility is intended to give us control over key aspects of the supply chain for our products and product candidates.

By establishing our own manufacturing facility, we aim to minimize or eliminate our reliance on contract manufacturing organizations, which typically have limited capacity at commercial scale and long-lead time to conduct manufacturing campaigns. We believe that having control over the whole manufacturing process will allow us to reduce cycle times and cost of goods for commercial production and to shorten overall timelines for new product candidates in our development pipeline, as well as help us to develop drug formulations or presentations to simplify distribution and/or administration of future oncolytic immunotherapies. We also believe that having a dedicated manufacturing facility will allow us to optimize commercial-scale processes and to ensure security of supply to support market launch and commercialization of our product candidates, if approved.

Sales and marketing

None of our product candidates have been approved for sale. If and when our product candidates receive marketing approval, we intend to commercialize them on our own in the United States and potentially with pharmaceutical or biotechnology partners in other geographies. In January 2023, we announced the strengthening of our executive team with the appointment of Christopher Sarchi as our Chief Commercial Officer and the appointment of Sushil Patel, Ph.D., previously Replimune's Chief Commercial Officer, to a newly created position of Chief Strategy Officer. Following these appointments, we have further built our in-house sales, marketing or commercialization capabilities with the addition of sales, marketing, trade and distribution, as well as other related expertise. Clinical data, the size of the opportunity for our product candidates, RP1, RP2 and RP3, and the size of the commercial infrastructure required will influence our commercialization plans and decision making.

Collaborations

BMS

In February 2018, we entered into a Clinical Trial Collaboration and Supply Agreement with BMS. Pursuant to the agreement, BMS is providing to us, at no cost, nivolumab, its anti-PD-1 therapy, for use in combination with RP1 in our ongoing Phase 1/2 clinical trial. Under the agreement, we will sponsor, fund and conduct the clinical trial in accordance with an agreed-upon protocol. BMS granted us a non-exclusive, non-transferrable, royalty-free license (with a right to sublicense) under its intellectual property to use nivolumab in the clinical trial and has agreed to supply nivolumab, at no cost to us, for use in the clinical trial. Both parties will own the study data produced in the clinical trial, other than study data related solely to nivolumab, which will belong solely to BMS, or study data related solely to RP1, which will belong solely to us. In January 2020, this agreement was expanded to cover an additional cohort of 125 patients with anti-PD-1 failed melanoma.

Unless earlier terminated, the agreement will remain in effect until (i) the completion of the clinical trial, (ii) all related clinical trial data have been delivered to both parties and (iii) the completion of any statistical analyses and bioanalyses contemplated by the clinical trial protocol or any analysis otherwise agreed upon by the parties. The agreement may be terminated by either party (x) in the event of an uncured material breach by the other party, (y) in the event the other party is insolvent or in bankruptcy proceedings or (z) for safety reasons. Upon termination, the licenses granted to us to use nivolumab in the clinical trial will terminate. The agreement contains representations, warranties, undertakings and indemnities customary for a transaction of this nature.

In April 2019, we entered into a separate agreement with BMS on terms similar to the terms set forth in the agreement described above, pursuant to which BMS will provide, at no cost to us, nivolumab for use in our Phase 1 clinical trial of RP2 in combination with nivolumab.

Regeneron

In May 2018, we entered into a Master Clinical Trial Collaboration and Supply Agreement with Regeneron. Pursuant to the agreement we agreed to undertake one or more clinical trials with Regeneron for the administration of our product candidates in combination with cemiplimab, an anti-PD-1 therapy developed by Regeneron, across multiple solid tumor types. The first of which, agreed in June 2018, is our ongoing Phase 2 clinical trial testing RP1 in combination with cemiplimab versus cemiplimab alone in patients with CSCC. Each clinical trial will be conducted pursuant to an agreed study plan which, among other things, will identify the name of the sponsor and which party will manage the particular study, and include the protocol, the budget and a schedule of clinical obligations. The first study plan related to the Phase 2 clinical trial in CSCC has been agreed.

Pursuant to the terms of the agreement, each party granted the other party a non-exclusive license of their respective intellectual property and agreed to contribute the necessary resources needed to fulfill their respective obligations, in each case, under the terms of agreed study plans. Development costs of a particular clinical trial will be split equally. In July 2022, Regeneron informed the Company that the costs of the study have reached the initial budget for the initial study plan of June 2018 and that Regeneron's reimbursement of CERPASS study costs to the Company have completed in the period ending June 30, 2022 in relation to the initial study budget. As a result of this notice from, and the ongoing communications with, Regeneron, we have not recorded any cost-sharing reimbursements from Regeneron in prepaid expenses and other current assets in the consolidated balance sheet or as an offset to research and development expense within the consolidated statement of operations since Regeneron informed us that Regeneron's reimbursement of CERPASS study costs have completed. The Company does not expect any further reimbursements from Regeneron related to the initial study plan of June 2018. The agreement contains representations, warranties, undertakings and indemnities customary for a transaction of this nature. The agreement also contains certain time-based covenants that restrict us from entering into a third-party arrangement with respect to the use of our product candidates in combination with an anti-PD-1 therapy and that restrict Regeneron from entering into a third-party arrangement with respect to the use of cemiplimab in combination with an HSV-1 virus, in each case, for the treatment of a tumor type that is the subject of a clinical trial to which the covenants apply. Unless otherwise mutually agreed in a future study plan, these covenants are only applicable to our ongoing Phase 2 clinical trial in CSCC.

The agreement may be terminated by either party if (i) there is no active study plan for which a final study report has not been completed and the parties have not entered into a study plan for an additional clinical trial within a period of time after the delivery of the most recent final study report or (ii) in the event of a material breach.

Roche

In December 2022, we announced entering into a Master Clinical Trial Collaboration and Supply Agreement with Roche in relation to our RP2 and RP3 programs in colorectal cancer, or CRC, and hepatocellular carcinoma, or HCC. Under the agreement, the companies will collaborate in 30 patient cohort signal finding studies in third-line, or 3L, CRC and in first- and second-line, or 1L and 2L, respectively, HCC. Under the terms of the agreement, the companies will share costs and Roche will supply its currently approved drugs, atezolizumab and bevacizumab for 2L HCC and 3L CRC combined with RP3. Roche will also supply atezolizumab and bevacizumab for 1L HCC combined with RP3, and for 3L CRC combined with RP2. We have retained the responsibility of operating the clinical trials as well as retaining all the rights to the development and commercialization of our product candidates. The agreement may be terminated by either party upon sixty (60) days prior written notice to the other party.

Regulatory matters

Government authorities in the United States, at the federal, state, and local level, and in other countries, extensively regulate, among other things, the research, development, testing, approval, manufacture, packaging, storage, recordkeeping, labeling, advertising, promotion, distribution, marketing, import, and export of biopharmaceutical products such as those we are developing. In addition, manufacturers of biopharmaceutical products participating in Medicaid and Medicare are required to comply with mandatory price reporting, discount, and rebate requirements. The processes for obtaining regulatory approvals in the United States and in foreign countries, along with compliance with applicable statutes and regulations, require the expenditure of substantial time and financial resources. Regulatory requirements are also continually evolving. By example, the FDA and governmental authorities in other countries have issued a growing body of guidance documents on various regulatory matters, including those specific to cell and gene therapy development.

FDA and EU regulation

In the United States, the FDA regulates biologics under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, or FDCA, the Public Health Services Act, or PHSA, and their implementing regulations. The process required by the FDA before product candidates may be marketed in the United States generally involves the following:

- completion of preclinical laboratory tests, animal studies, and formulation studies in compliance with good laboratory practice, or GLP, regulations;
- submission to the FDA of an investigational new drug application, or IND, which must become effective before human clinical trials may begin at United States clinical trial sites;
- approval by an institutional review board, or IRB, for each clinical site, or centrally, before each trial may be initiated;
- performance of adequate and well-controlled human clinical trials to establish the safety, purity, and potency of the proposed product candidate for its intended use, performed in accordance with good clinical practices, or GCPs;
- development and maintenance of manufacturing processes to ensure the product candidate's identity, strength, quality, purity, and potency;
- preparation and submission to the FDA of a BLA;
- satisfactory completion of an FDA advisory committee review, if applicable;
- satisfactory completion of an FDA inspection or remote regulatory assessment of the manufacturing facility or facilities at which the products are produced to assess compliance with current good manufacturing practices, or cGMPs, and to assure that the facilities, methods, and controls are adequate to preserve the therapeutics' identity, strength, quality, purity, and potency as well as satisfactory completion of an FDA inspection or remote regulatory assessment of selected clinical sites and selected clinical investigators to determine GCP compliance; and
- FDA review and approval of the BLA to permit commercial marketing for particular indications for use.

The process in the European Union and other countries with developed regulatory regimes is broadly comparable.

Preclinical studies and IND submission

The testing and approval process of product candidates requires substantial time, effort, and financial resources. Satisfaction of the FDA's and other countries' regulatory authorities' pre-market approval requirements typically takes many years and the actual time required may vary substantially based upon the type, complexity, and novelty of the product or disease. Preclinical studies include laboratory evaluation of chemistry, pharmacology, toxicity, and product formulation, as well as animal studies to assess potential safety and efficacy. Such studies must generally be conducted in accordance with GLPs. Prior to commencing the first clinical trial at a United States or other country's investigational site with a product candidate, an IND sponsor must submit the results of the preclinical tests and preclinical literature, together with manufacturing information, analytical data, any available clinical data or literature, and proposed clinical study protocols among other things, to the FDA as part of an IND (or equivalent in other countries). Additional preclinical testing, such as animal tests of reproductive adverse events and carcinogenicity, may continue after the IND is submitted.

An IND automatically becomes effective 30 days after receipt by the FDA, unless the FDA, within the 30-day time period, notifies the applicant of safety concerns or questions related to one or more proposed clinical trials and places the trial on a clinical hold. In such a case, the IND sponsor and the FDA must resolve any outstanding concerns before the clinical trial can begin. Clinical holds also may be imposed by the FDA at any time before or during trials due to safety concerns or non-compliance. As a result, submission of an IND may not result in FDA authorization to commence a clinical trial. A separate submission to an existing IND must also be made for each successive clinical trial conducted during product development.

Clinical trials

Clinical trials involve the administration of the investigational product to human subjects under the supervision of qualified investigators in accordance with federal regulations and GCP requirements, which include the requirements that all research subjects provide their informed consent in writing for their participation in any clinical trial, as well as review and approval of the study by an IRB. Investigators must also provide certain information to the clinical trial sponsors to allow the sponsors to make certain financial disclosures to the FDA. Clinical trials are conducted under protocols detailing, among other things, the objectives of the trial, the trial procedures, the parameters to be used in monitoring safety, the effectiveness criteria to be evaluated, and a statistical analysis plan. A protocol for each clinical trial, and any subsequent protocol amendments, must be submitted to the FDA as part of the IND. Sponsors will also be required to provide FDA with diversity action plans. In addition, an IRB at each study site participating in the clinical trial or a central IRB must review and approve the plan for any clinical trial, informed consent forms, and communications to study subjects before a study commences at that site. An IRB considers, among other things, whether the risks to individuals participating in the trials are minimized and are reasonable in relation to anticipated benefits, and whether the planned human subject protections are adequate. The IRB must continue to oversee the clinical trial while it is being conducted. Special clinical trial ethical considerations also must be taken into account if a study involves children. Once an IND is in effect, each new clinical protocol and any amendments to the protocol must be added to the IND for FDA review and sent to the IRB for approval. If a product candidate is being investigated for multiple intended indications, separate INDs may also be required. Progress reports detailing the results of the clinical trials must also be submitted at least annually to the FDA and the IRB and more frequently if serious adverse events or other significant safety information is found.

The FDA may order the temporary, or permanent, discontinuation of a clinical trial at any time, or impose other sanctions, if it believes that the clinical trial either is not being conducted in accordance with FDA requirements or presents an unacceptable risk to the clinical trial patients. An IRB may also require the clinical trial at the site to be halted, either temporarily or permanently, for failure to comply with the IRB's requirements or if the trial poses an unexpected serious harm to subjects. The FDA or an IRB may also impose conditions on the conduct of a clinical trial. Clinical trial sponsors may also choose to discontinue clinical trials as a result of risks to subjects, a lack of favorable results, or changing business priorities.

Information about certain clinical trials, including a description of the study and study results, must be submitted within specific timeframes to the National Institutes of Health, or NIH, for public dissemination on their clinicaltrials.gov website. Manufacturers or distributors of investigational products for the diagnosis, monitoring, or treatment of one or more serious diseases or conditions must also have a publicly available policy on evaluating and responding to requests for expanded access requests.

Additionally, some clinical trials are overseen by an independent group of qualified experts organized by the clinical trial sponsor, known as a data monitoring committee, or DMC, that regularly reviews accumulated data and advises the study sponsor regarding the continuing safety of the trial. This group may also review interim data to assess the continuing validity and scientific merit of the clinical trial. This group receives special access to unblinded data during the clinical trial and may advise the sponsor to halt the clinical trial if it determined there is an unacceptable safety risk for subjects or on other grounds, such as no demonstration of efficacy.

Moreover, certain studies involving recombinant and synthetic nucleic acid molecules are subject to review by Institutional Biosafety Committees, or IBCs, under the National Institutes of Health Guidelines for Research Involving Recombinant or Synthetic Nucleic Acid Molecules.

The manufacture of investigational biologics for the conduct of human clinical trials is subject to cGMP requirements. Investigational biologics and active ingredients imported into the United States are also subject to regulation by the FDA. Further, the export of investigational products outside of the United States is subject to regulatory requirements of the receiving country as well as United States export requirements under the FDCA.

In general, for purposes of BLA approval, human clinical trials are typically conducted in three sequential phases, which may overlap, be divided, or be combined.

- Phase 1 — Trials are initially conducted in healthy human volunteers or subjects with the target disease or condition and test the product candidate for safety, dosage tolerance, structure-activity relationships, mechanism of action, absorption, metabolism, distribution, and excretion. If possible, Phase 1 trials may also be used to gain an initial indication of the activity of the product candidate.
- Phase 2 — Trials are conducted in limited subject populations with a specified disease or condition to evaluate the effectiveness of the product candidate for a particular indication or indications, identify optimal dosages, dosage tolerance and schedule, possible adverse effects and safety risks, and expanded evidence of safety.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has assigned the above Labeler Code to your firm. The number cannot be used until you have confirmed the assignment. Please revise and resubmit your Labeler Code Request SPL to include the assigned number above to complete the process. To do this, open the previous Labeler Code Request SPL file and fill in the new information (your assigned Labeler Code) without changing the other existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.

For CDER Direct Users: Open the previously submitted and accepted Labeler Code Request, click Create New Version, enter the Labeler Code assigned in the field for "Labeler Code", and Submit SPL.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

RE: Licensure Requirements- Manufacturers/Virtual Manufacturers

Tue 6/25/2024 7:05 PM

To [redacted]

[External]

Good Afternoon,

I was requested to respond to your question. Please refer to Business and Professions Code sec on 4160(h) which states a drug manufacturer premises licensed by the Food and Drug Administration or licensed pursuant to Sec on 11615 of the Health and Safety Code that only distributes dangerous drugs and dangerous devices of it own manufacture is exempt from this sec on and sec on 4161.

Therefore, if you are a virtual manufacturer/manufacturer, licensure as a wholesaler or nonresident wholesaler with the California State Board of Pharmacy is not required if you only distribute dangerous drugs and dangerous devices that XXXXXXX has the NDA or manufactures.

However, if XXXXX also distributes dangerous or dangerous devices, which they are not listed with the FDA or the California Dept of Public Health, State Food and Drug Branch (CDPH, SFDB), as the manufacturer or does not hold the NDA, then a wholesaler license (if located in CA) or nonresident wholesaler license (outside of CA and within the United States or a territory of the U.S.) is required.

I hope this answers your question. Otherwise, my contact information is below if you have any additional questions.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

CAUTIONARY NOTE ON FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements which are made pursuant to the safe harbor provisions of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). These statements may be identified by such forward-looking terminology as "may," "should," "expects," "intends," "plans," "anticipates," "believes," "estimates," "predicts," "potential," "continue" or the negative of these terms or other comparable terminology. Our forward-looking statements are based on a series of expectations, assumptions, estimates and projections about our company, are not guarantees of future results or performance and involve substantial risks and uncertainty. We may not actually achieve the plans, intentions or expectations disclosed in these forward-looking statements. Actual results or events could differ materially from the plans, intentions and expectations disclosed in these forward-looking statements. Our business and our forward-looking statements involve substantial known and unknown risks and uncertainties, including the risks and uncertainties inherent in our statements regarding:

- our projected financial position and estimated cash burn rate;
- our estimates regarding expenses, future revenues, and capital requirements;
- our ability to continue as a going concern;
- our need to raise substantial additional capital to fund our operation;
- the success, cost, and timing of our clinical trials;
- our dependence on third parties in the conduct of our clinical trials;
- our ability to obtain the necessary regulatory approvals to market and commercialize our product candidates;
- the ultimate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, or any other health epidemic, on our business, our clinical trials, our research programs, healthcare systems or the global economy as a whole;
- the potential that results of pre-clinical and clinical trials indicate our current product candidates or any future product candidates we may seek to develop are unsafe or ineffective;
- the results of market research conducted by us or others;
- our ability to obtain and maintain intellectual property protection for our current and future product candidates;
- our ability to protect our intellectual property rights and the potential for us to incur substantial costs from lawsuits to enforce or protect our intellectual property rights;

- the possibility that a third party may claim we or our third-party licensors have infringed, misappropriated or otherwise violated their intellectual property rights and that we may incur substantial costs and be required to devote substantial time defending against claims against us;
- our reliance on third-party suppliers and manufacturers;
- the success of competing therapies and products that are or become available;
- our ability to expand our organization to accommodate potential growth and our ability to retain and attract key personnel;
- the potential for us to incur substantial costs resulting from product liability lawsuits against us and the potential for these product liability lawsuits to cause us to limit our commercialization of our product candidates;
- market acceptance of our product candidates, the size and growth of the potential markets for our current product candidates and any future product candidates we may seek to develop, and our ability to serve those markets; and
- the successful development of our commercialization capabilities, including sales and marketing capabilities.

All of our forward-looking statements are as of the date of this Annual Report on Form 10-K only. In each case, actual results may differ materially from such forward-looking information. We can give no assurance that such expectations or forward-looking statements will prove to be correct. An occurrence of, or any material adverse change in, one or more of the risk factors or risks and uncertainties referred to in this Annual Report on Form 10-K or included in our other public disclosures or our other periodic reports or other documents or filings filed with or furnished to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") could materially and adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition, and results of operations. Except as required by law, we do not undertake or plan to update or revise any such forward-looking statements to reflect actual results, changes in plans, assumptions, estimates or projections or other circumstances affecting such forward-looking statements occurring after the date of this Annual Report on Form 10-K, even if such results, changes, or circumstances make it clear that any forward-looking information will not be realized. Any public statements or disclosures by us following this Annual Report on Form 10-K that modify or impact any of the forward-looking statements contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K will be deemed to modify or supersede such statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

This Annual Report on Form 10-K may include market data and certain industry data and forecasts, which we may obtain from internal company surveys, market research, consultant surveys, publicly available information, reports of governmental agencies and industry publications, articles, and surveys. Industry surveys, publications, consultant surveys and forecasts generally state that the information contained therein has been obtained from sources believed to be reliable, but the accuracy and completeness of such information is not guaranteed. While we believe that such studies and publications are reliable, we have not independently verified market and industry data from third-party sources.

RISK FACTOR SUMMARY

Our business is subject to numerous risks and uncertainties, including those highlighted in the section titled "Risk Factors," that represent challenges that we face in connection with the successful implementation of our strategy. The occurrence of one or more of the events or circumstances described in the section titled "Risk Factors," alone or in combination with other events or circumstances, may have an adverse effect on our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations. Such risks include, but are not limited to:

Risks Relating to Our Financial Position and Capital Needs

- We have generated no product revenue to date and our future profitability is uncertain.
- Raising additional capital may cause dilution to our existing stockholders, restrict our operations, or require us to relinquish rights to our product candidates on unfavorable terms to us.
- You may experience dilution, subordination of stockholder rights, preferences, and privileges, and decrease in market price of our common stock as a result of our private placements in March 2023 and March 2024.

Risks Related to our Business

- The marketing approval process of the FDA is lengthy, time consuming and inherently unpredictable, and if we are ultimately unable to obtain marketing approval for our current product candidates and future product candidates we intend to develop, our business will be substantially harmed.
- We may encounter substantial delays in completing our clinical studies which in turn will require additional costs, or we may fail to demonstrate adequate safety and efficacy to the satisfaction of applicable regulatory authorities.
- If we are not able to obtain, or if there are delays in obtaining, required regulatory approvals, we will not be able to commercialize, or will be delayed in commercializing, our product candidates and our ability to generate revenue will be impaired.
- Even if our product candidates receive marketing approval, they may fail to achieve the degree of market acceptance by physicians, patients, third-party payors and others in the medical community necessary for commercial success.

- Even if we are able to commercialize our product candidates, such products may become subject to unfavorable pricing regulations, third-party reimbursement practices or healthcare reform initiatives, which would harm our business.
- Our reliance on third parties heightens the risks faced by our business.
- We have no experience manufacturing product candidates on a clinical or commercial scale and will be dependent on third parties for the manufacture of our product candidates. If we experience problems with any of these third parties, they could delay clinical development or marketing approval of our product candidates or our ability to sell any approved products.
- Our products will face significant competition, and if they are unable to compete successfully, our business will suffer.
- Security threats to our information technology infrastructure and/or our physical buildings could expose us to liability and damage our reputation and business.

Risks Relating to our Intellectual Property

- We may be subject to claims that our employees, consultants, or independent contractors have wrongfully used or disclosed alleged trade secrets.
- Our intellectual property may not be sufficient to protect our product candidates from competition, which may negatively affect our business as well as limit our partnership or acquisition appeal.

General Risk Factors

- Our common stock may be delisted from The Nasdaq Capital Market if we fail to comply with continued listing standards.
- Because certain of our stockholders control a significant number of shares of our common stock, they may have effective control over actions requiring stockholder approval.
- We do not intend to pay cash dividends on our shares of common stock so any returns will be limited to the value of our shares, except we have agreed to pay cash dividends in the event ("Oxylanthanum Carbonate") is approved by the FDA and commercial sales is commenced.

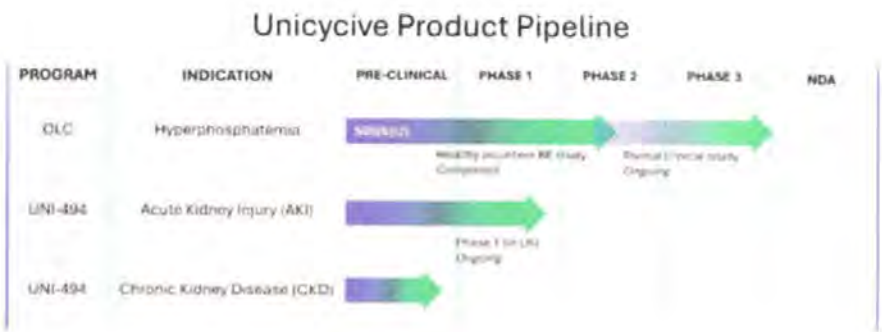
ITEM 1. BUSINESS

Overview

We are a biotechnology company dedicated to developing treatments for certain medical conditions. Currently, two of our programs are focused on kidney disease, an area we believe we have the potential to offer medical benefit. As we grow the company and build our team, we intend to focus on identifying medical conditions within and outside of kidney disease. Our current development programs are focused on two novel therapies: Oxylanthanum Carbonate, for treatment of hyperphosphatemia in patients with chronic kidney disease on dialysis, and UNI 494, for treatment of acute kidney injury (AKI). Oxylanthanum Carbonate and UNI 494 were initially developed by and licensed to us from Spectrum Pharmaceuticals ("Spectrum") and Sphaera Pharma, respectively. Spectrum conducted a Phase 1 clinical trial with Oxylanthanum Carbonate in 2012, prior to the grant of our license in 2018. Sphaera conceived and performed initial characterization of various potential pro-drug linkers, including the initial patent application, and performed some initial physiochemical characterization and preliminary animal pharmacokinetic studies. As discussed herein, after completing IND enabling preclinical studies, we have conducted a Phase I clinical study in healthy volunteers with UNI 494 in 2023.

Chronic kidney disease (CKD) is the gradual loss of kidney (renal) function that can get worse over time leading to lasting damage and possibly Stage 5 or end-stage renal disease (ESRD). Our initial focus is on developing drugs and getting them approved in the U.S., and then to partner with global biopharmaceutical companies in the rest of the world. According to the United States Renal Data System (USRDS) 2022 Annual Data Report, 30 million (14%) of adults in the United States are estimated to have CKD and, of these, approximately 13 million patients have advanced CKD (stage 3-5). Approximately 550,000 patients (ESRD) are on dialysis and of those, approximately 450,000 patients (~80%) take phosphate binders to control hyperphosphatemia hyperphosphatemia (too much phosphorus in their blood). The number of patients with ESRD in the U.S. is increasing steadily and is projected to reach between 971,000 and 1,259,000 patients in 2030.



AKI is a sudden episode of kidney failure or kidney damage (within the first 90 days of injury). After 90 days, the patient is considered to have progressed into CKD. AKI affects more than 2 million U.S. patients and costs the healthcare system in excess of $9 billion per year. More than 300,000 patients per year in the U.S. die due to AKI that has many causes.

Our business model is to license technologies and drugs in order to pursue development, regulatory approval, and commercialization of those products in global markets. Many biotechnology companies utilize similar strategies of in-licensing and then developing and commercializing drugs. We believe, however, that our management team's broad network, expertise in the biopharmaceutical industry, and successful track record gives us an advantage in identifying and bringing these assets into our company.

Pipeline

Oxylanthanum Carbonate Purchase Agreement

On September 20, 2018, we entered into an Assignment and Asset Purchase Agreement (the "Spectrum Agreement") with Spectrum Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("Spectrum"), pursuant to which we purchased certain assets from Spectrum, including Spectrum's right, title, interest in and intellectual property related to Oxylanthanum Carbonate RZB 012, also known as RENALAN™ ("Renalan") and RZB 014, also known as SPI 014 ("SPI" and together with Renalan, the "Compounds"). Pursuant to the Spectrum Agreement, in consideration for the Compounds, we issued 313,663 shares of common stock to Spectrum.

Additionally, the Spectrum Agreement provides that until the earlier of (i) 36 months from the first date on which our stock trades on a public market, or (ii) the date upon which we attain a public market capitalization of $50,000,000 or greater, we are required to issue additional shares of our common stock as may be needed to ensure Spectrum maintains a 4% ownership of our issued and outstanding common stock on a fully-diluted basis. Fully-diluted shares of common stock for purposes of the Spectrum Agreement assumes conversion of any security convertible into or exchangeable or exercisable for common stock or any combination thereof, including any common stock reserved for issuance under a stock option plan, restricted stock plan, or other equity incentive plan approved by the Board of Directors of the Company immediately following the issuance of additional shares of our common stock (but prior to the issuance of any additional shares of common stock to Spectrum). We are also required to pay Spectrum 40% of all of our sublicense income for any sublicense granted to certain sublicensees during the first 12 months after the Closing Date (as that term is defined in the Spectrum Agreement) and 20% of all other sublicense income. Our payment obligations to Spectrum will expire on the twentieth (20^{th}) anniversary of the Closing Date of the Spectrum Agreement.

Disease overview: Hyperphosphatemia

Chronic kidney disease (CKD) is the gradual loss of kidney function that can get worse over time leading to lasting damage. The stages of chronic kidney disease are shown below in Table 1.

Table 1 Chronic Kidney Disease Stages

CKD Staging
CKD Stage	Description	eGFR (mL/min/1.73m²)
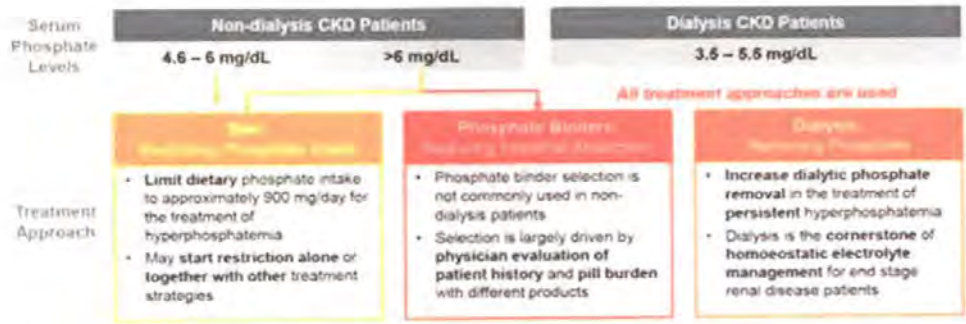
1	Normal	>90
2	Mild	60 - 89
3	Moderate	30 - 59
4	Severe	15 - 29
5	End Stage Renal Disease (ESRD)	< 15

Table 1: adapted from The Renal Association (https://renal.org/information-resources/the-uk-eckd-guide/ckd-stages/)

eGFR = estimated glomerular filtration rate (a measure of kidney function)



Complications of CKD include electrolyte imbalances, fluid build-up, anemia, bone disease, and heart disease. Hyperphosphatemia is an electrolyte disorder in which elevated phosphorus levels in the blood lead to cardiovascular complications and vascular calcification (hardening). According to Kidney Disease Improving Global Outcomes (KDIGO) guidelines, hyperphosphatemia is defined as an abnormally high serum phosphorus concentration >4.5 mg/dl. In healthy people, normal serum phosphorus levels are maintained s by absorbing from food and excreting (removing from the body) it in the urine and feces. In people with CKD, not enough phosphate is excreted, leading to elevated levels of phosphorus in the blood. In CKD, hyperphosphatemia is caused by a chronic dysregulation of serum phosphorus levels as a result of progressive kidney damage. According to a 2009 paper authored by Covic, hyperphosphatemia is associated with increased risk of cardiovascular disease, metabolic bone disease, and deaths from all-causes (all-cause mortality) mortality. According to a study completed by Palmer in 2011, it is estimated that all-cause mortality is increased by 18% for every 1 mg/dL increase in serum phosphorus concentration. Hyperphosphatemia is also a major cause of morbidity in CKD patients, which increases the economic and clinical burden on patients and the health system and results in Medicare expenditures of $70 billion in the U.S.

According to the 2023 United States Renal Data System (USRDS) Annual Report, it is estimated that 14% of U.S. adults (approximately 31 million people) have CKD. Most patients with Stage 5 CKD (ESRD) either undergo kidney transplants or go on dialysis. The 2023 USRDS annual report indicates that there were 541,326 prevalent dialysis patients in 2021 (the latest reported year). The prevalent U.S. dialysis population has grown at an average yearly rate of 3.5% over the past decade. Furthermore, in a paper published by McCullough in 2019, the number of patients in the U.S. with ESRD is increasing steadily and is projected to reach between 971,000 and 1,259,000 in 2030. In 2020-21, the number of prevalent dialysis patients declined due to an increased death rate of dialysis patients as a consequence of COVID-19.

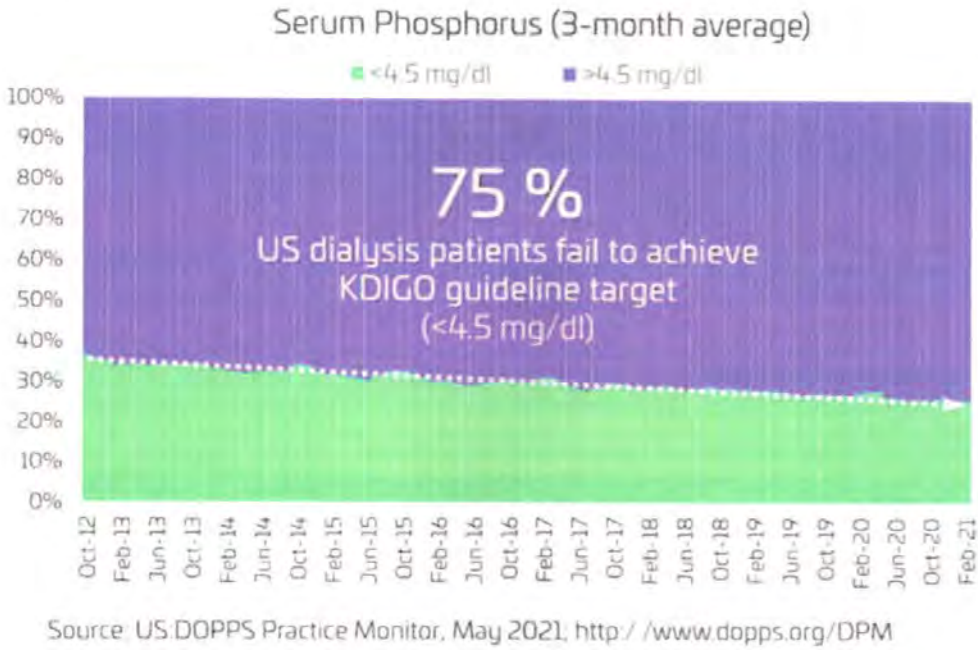
While KDIGO guidelines do not recommend one phosphate binder over another, they do recommend restricting the dose of calcium-based binders and avoiding long-term us of aluminum-containing binders.. This means that physicians prescribe their medication of choice, usually based on clinical and patient factors. Utilization of calcium-based binders is discouraged by the most recent KDOQI/KDIGO guidelines due to mounting clinical evidence that excess calcium load from calcium-based phosphate binder is associated with hypercalcemia and cardiovascular calcification which has been associated with an increased risk of morbidity (disease) and mortality (death).

According to data from the Dialysis Outcomes and Practice Patterns Study (DOPPS) in 2021, 82% of U.S. dialysis patients were prescribed phosphate binders, which equates to approximately 450,000 patients.



The brief descriptions of the mechanism of action and what we believe to be the advantages and disadvantages of various phosphate binders are shown below in Table 2.

Phosphate Binders	Mechanism of Action	Form	Advantages	Disadvantages	Example of Branded Products
Calcium carbonate/acetate	Forms insoluble phosphate complexes in the gut	Chewable and swallowed tablets	Moderately effective, relatively inexpensive	Hypercalcemia, high pill burden, reported to cause vascular calcification	PhosLo, Calphron, Tums, Caltrate
Sevelamer hydrochloride/carbonate	An anion exchange resin	Swallowed tablets and powder	Calcium-free, lipid-lowering effect	Low phosphate binding capacity, high pill burden, GI adverse effects	Renagel, Renvela
Sucroferric oxyhydroxide	A ligand exchange iron-based compound	Chewable tablets	Low pill burden, works in wide range of pH, minimal systemic absorption	Expensive, GI adverse effects, unpalatable	Velphoro
Ferric citrate	Forms insoluble phosphate complexes in the gut	Swallowed tablets	Also serves as a treatment for iron deficiency anemia	Expensive, high pill burden, GI adverse effects, potential for iron overload	Auryxia

Table 2: Adapted from Covic and Rastogi, 2013.

Despite the commercial availability of the six phosphate binders in the table above, 75% of U.S. dialysis patients fail to achieve the serum phosphorus target levels established by the KDIGO guidelines. Moreover, serum phosphorus outcomes are trending downward—underscoring the need for new and effective treatment options.

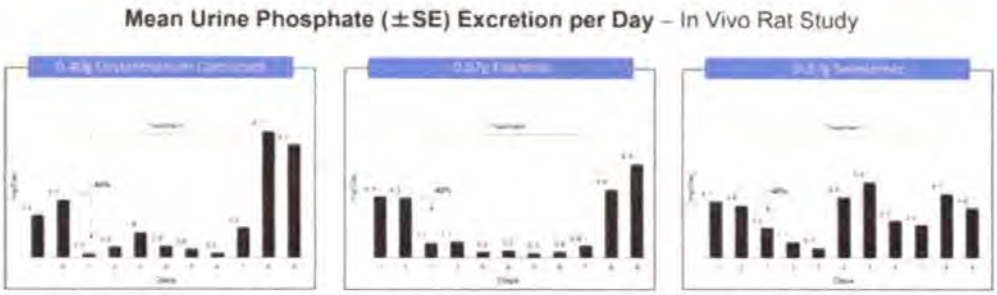
In 2005, Unruh, ML published a paper that showed poor adherence to treatment is common in patients with ESRD and has been associated with an increased risk of mortality. In addition, poor adherence to phosphate binder therapy has been associated with failure to adequately control serum phosphorus concentrations as shown in a publication by Arenas, MD and others in 2010. Results from a study of 233 patients on maintenance dialysis from three different dialysis units in the U.S. showed that patients took a mean of 11 ± 4 medications with a median daily pill intake of 19 as shown by Chiu, YW in 2009. Phosphate binders accounted for nearly 50% of the total pill burden, with a median daily pill count of nine. Only 38% of patients in this study reported that they were adherent to their prescribed phosphate binder therapy and adherence decreased significantly with increased pill count.

Potential strategies to improve adherence to phosphate binders in patients with ESRD include: (i) a reduction in pill size and number, (ii) improvement of palatability, and (iii) a reduction in associated adverse effects as published in a study by Covic and Rastogi in 2013.

Therefore, we believe there is a current need for better phosphate binders with high phosphate binding capacity, enabling a reduced pill burden for better medication compliance.

Development of Oxylanthanum Carbonate



Oxylanthanum Carbonate (lanthanum dioxycarbonate) is an investigational phosphate binding agent utilizing proprietary nanoparticle technology for the treatment of hyperphosphatemia in CKD patients on dialysis.

Oxylanthanum Carbonate Mechanism of Action

Oxylanthanum Carbonate binds to phosphates and forms an insoluble lanthanum phosphate complex which is then excreted via the feces. This results in reduced absorption of phosphate leading to a reduction of serum phosphorus levels.

In rat studies, Oxylanthanum Carbonate exhibited comparable reduction in the urine phosphorus excretion following administration of a lower dose of drug product (0.40g) vs a higher dose (0.57g) of Fosrenol® (lanthanum carbonate tetrahydrate) which is a currently approved lanthanum-based phosphate binder. While differing in the mass of drug product, each dose contained comparable amounts of the active moiety (elemental lanthanum). In the same study, at equivalent doses, Oxylanthanum Carbonate was superior to Sevelamer (the most commonly used phosphate binder) in reducing urine phosphorus excretion (see Fig 3).

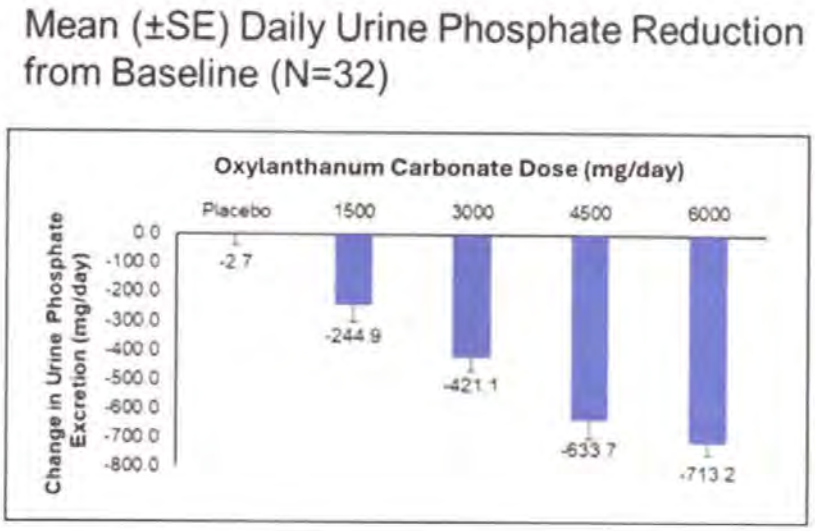
In animal toxicology studies with oxylanthanum carbonate no unexpected toxicity was found and systemic absorption of lanthanum was extremely low, which is consistent with similar studies conducted with Fosrenol.

The chemical design of Oxylanthanum Carbonate was designed to allow for a smaller tablet size and require fewer pills compared with currently available phosphate binder alternatives, specifically with a dosing regimen of only one tablet per meal. The Oxylanthanum Carbonate tablet is designed to disintegrate rapidly in the stomach after swallowing and does not need to be chewed.



Clinical Trial Experience

First-in-Human Phase 1 Study

In September 2012 a Phase 1 single-center clinical trial evaluating Oxylanthanum Carbonate in 32 healthy volunteers was completed in the United States. Four sequential dose cohorts of 8 subjects each (6 actives and 2 placebos) received Oxylanthanum Carbonate at 1500, 3000, 4500, or 6000 mg/day, taken orally in 3 divided doses within 15 minutes after meals, for five consecutive days. The primary endpoint of the study was the evaluation of safety, and the secondary endpoint was the phosphate binding capacity of Oxylanthanum Carbonate as judged by the level of phosphorus in feces and urine. We believe the study indicated that Oxylanthanum Carbonate was minimally absorbed to the systemic circulation and was well-tolerated at doses up to 6000 mg/day. Oxylanthanum Carbonate significantly reduced urine phosphate excretion and significantly increased fecal phosphate excretion at doses at and above 3000 mg/day. The mean overall change in phosphorus from baseline in both urine and feces, across all treatment groups, showed a dose-response trend that was statistically significant ($p<0.0001$ and $p=0.0004$, respectively). The mean reduction in urine phosphorus excretion was not significant at 1500 mg/day ($p=0.3676$) but was significant at 3000 ($p=0.0004$), 4500 ($p<0.0001$), and 6000 ($p=0.0001$) mg/day, as shown in the figure below.

The mean reduction in urine phosphorus excretion was significant ($p<0.001$) at all four doses of Oxylanthanum Carbonate (Figure 4).

Oxylanthanum Carbonate Bioequivalence Study in Healthy Volunteers

We conducted a randomized, open label, two-way crossover bioequivalence BE study to establish the bioequivalence of the phosphate binding capacity of Oxylanthanum Carbonate and Fosrenol. The primary objective of the study was to demonstrate PD equivalence of orally administered Oxylanthanum Carbonate 1000 mg three-times daily (TID) to orally administered Fosrenol 1000 mg TID in healthy subjects, and the secondary objective was to compare the safety and tolerability of UNI-014 versus Fosrenol in healthy subjects. The study design, including the dose, primary endpoint and the sample size was reviewed by the Agency prior to the initiation of the study. The primary outcome measure was least squares (LS) mean change in urinary phosphorous excretion (in mg/day) from baseline to the evaluation period. The evaluation period was defined as the approximately 72-hour urine collection period starting on Day 1 and ending on Day 4. Baseline was defined as the approximately 48-hour urine collection period starting on Day -2 and ending on Day 1. PD equivalence was to be claimed if the 90% confidence interval (CI) of the primary PD variable for Oxylanthanum Carbonate was completely contained within the reference interval, which was defined as ±20% of the LS mean of the primary PD variable for lanthanum carbonate. The LS mean change from Baseline for Oxylanthanum Carbonate (-320.4 mg/day) was similar to the LS mean change from Baseline for Fosrenol (-324.0 mg/day). The 90% CI for the LS mean was (-45.88, 53.16), which is well within the acceptance range of (-64.80, 64.80) (Table 3). It was concluded that UNI-014 was bioequivalent to Fosrenol. Primary outcome data is presented in the table below.

Table 3: Summary of Mean Change in Urinary Phosphorus Excretion (mg/day)

		Phosphorus Excretion (mg/day)
Visit	Statistics	Oxylanthanum Carbonate (N=75)	Fosrenol (N=75)
Baseline	LS Mean	861.6	876.1
Evaluation Period	LS Mean	546.7	546.8
Change from Baseline	LS Mean Change	-320.4	-324.0
	90% Confidence Interval for the LS mean (Test-Reference)	(-45.88, 53.16)

Regulatory Guidance

Unicycive is seeking approval for Oxylanthanum Carbonate from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) through the 505(b)(2) regulatory pathway. The 505(b)(2) pathway allows for full approval of a drug using data from an approved drug with the same active moiety. The approved drug is called the Reference Listed Drug (RLD). The RLD for the Oxylanthanum Carbonate submission is Fosrenol (lanthanum carbonate). The FDA recommended conducting a BE study in healthy volunteers and a 6-month toxicity study in mice with both Oxylanthanum Carbonate and Fosrenol to be able to rely on the efficacy and safety of Fosrenol. We completed both studies and submitted the data for the FDA's review during the pre-NDA (New Drug Application) meeting request. A summary of the human BE study is provided above. After reviewing the data, the Agency recommend that we conduct a tolerability study of Oxylanthanum Carbonate in chronic kidney disease patients on dialysis before filing the NDA. We gained alignment with the FDA on the study design, sample size, and endpoints of the proposed pivotal clinical study during a Type-C meeting in September 2023. This study was initiated in December 2023 and the topline data is expected at the end of Q2, 2024. We plan to submit the NDA soon after the completion of the clinical study.

Disciplinary History Summary and Brief Description

Boxout, LLC has had the following disciplinary actions from State Boards of Pharmacy. Boxout, LLC has previously operated under the names Boxout, LLC (fka WBC Group, LLC), MDC Acquisition Company, and WBC Group, LLC.

Arkansas BOP, January 6th, 2010

MDC Acquisition Company was contacted by the Arkansas State Board of Pharmacy regarding the shipment of prescription drugs into the State of Arkansas without licensure in response to the applications of said license permits for its Ohio and California facilities. MDC Acquisition Company resolved this matter, without an admission of guilt, by signing Consent Agreements on January 6th, 2010, and paid a penalty of $1000 per facility.

Alabama BOP, July 17th, 2018

WBC Group, LLC was contacted by the Alabama State Board of Pharmacy regarding a complaint of distributing prescription medical devices into the State of Alabama without renewing its permits (Permit 194118 and 194218, for OH and FL, respectively). WBC Group, LLC resolved this matter by signing Consent Orders on July 17th, 2018, and paid a penalty of $2500.00 per permit.

Colorado BOP, September 29, 2020

Boxout, LLC received was contacted by the Colorado Board of Pharmacy for failing to notify the board of a change in company name within the required 30-day period. This failure to notify applied to Boxout's Ohio and California facilities (WHO.8341 and WHO.8407). Boxout, LLC informally resolved this matter by signing a Final Agency Order on September 29, 2020, and paid a fee of $1,150.00 per license.

Alabama BOP, March 30, 2021

Boxout, LLC was contacted by the Alabama Board of Pharmacy regarding a failure to disclose the Colorado Final Agency Orders (listed above) on the Alabama permit renewal for its Ohio facility (AL license number: 194118). A Consent Order was signed and fully executed on March 30, 2021, to resolve the matter and a $1,000.00 fine was paid.

Ohio BOP, April 23, 2021

Boxout, LLC was contacted by the Ohio State Board of Pharmacy regarding the sale of a prescription drug to a clinic that had a lapsed license. Boxout had already put protections into place to prevent recurrence. Boxout signed a Settlement Agreement on April 23, 2021, to resolve the matter, and a $125.00 fine was paid.

I attest that the information provided herein is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and it is recognized that providing false information may result in disciplinary action.

Current Date: 04-OCT-2021
Labeler DUNS: 066689993
Labeler Name: Boxout, LLC
Labeler Code Assigned: 82308

Confirmed 5/13/25

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has assigned the above Labeler Code to your firm. The number cannot be used until you have confirmed the assignment. Please revise and resubmit your Labeler Code Request SPL to include the assigned number above to complete the process. To do this, open the previous Labeler Code Request SPL file and fill in the new information (your assigned Labeler Code) without changing the other existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.

For CDER Direct Users: Open the previously submitted and accepted Labeler Code Request, click Create New Version, enter the Labeler Code assigned in the field for "Labeler Code", and Submit SPL.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Note that receipt of this letter is not to be construed as Federal Government endorsement or approval of the establishment or its products.

- Please contact this office immediately if any information on this license is incorrect.
- This license must be displayed at the address licensed.
- The license renewal application and fee are due every two years BEFORE the anniversary date. Please note that it is the responsibility of the license holder to remit the licensure fee before the expiration date, whether a payment notice is received or not. Failure to submit the renewal fee before the expiration date will result in a $100.00 delinquency fee for each location and must be remitted before the license will be issued.
- A license that is amended, including a change of name, ownership, legal entity, or a notification of a change in the location of a licensed place of business will require submission of new application and fee. Applications for these changes can be downloaded from our website at www.dshs.texas.gov.
- Please submit written notice if you close or sell your business.
- If you have any questions or desire additional information concerning the application process or this license, please contact the Drug and Device Business Filing and Verification Unit at (512) 834-6727. PHARMACEUTICAL WHOLESALER SURETY BOND

Bond No. LPM76/3840

Application/License No. _____

Boxout, LLC (Applicant/Principal), doing or intending to do business as a pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 15277 North Freeway Bldg. H, Ste 137, Fort Worth, TX 76177 (Address of Applicant/Principal), as PRINCIPAL, and Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland (Surety Company), a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Maryland (State of Incorporation) and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is 1299 Zurich Way, Schaumburg, IL 60196-1056 (Address of Surety) as SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on April 9th, 2025 (Effective Date)

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statue (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

Posted February 20, 2020

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

(1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.

(2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.

(3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.

(4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.

(5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.

(6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.

(7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 9th day of April, 2025.

Current Date: 22-MAR-2017
Labeler DUNS: 080592685
Labeler Name: Brookfield Pharmaceuticals, LLC
Labeler Code: 71351

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has assigned the above Labeler Code to your firm. The number cannot be used until you have confirmed the assignment. Please revise and resubmit your Labeler Code Request SPL to include the assigned number above to complete the process. To do this, open the previous Labeler Code Request SPL file and fill in the new information (your assigned Labeler Code) without changing the other existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) § 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Note that receipt of this letter is not to be construed as Federal Government endorsement or approval of the establishment or its products.

For additional information please visit Drug Registration and Listing System or reply back to this email (edrls@fda.hhs.gov).

PHARMACEUTICAL WHOLESALER SURETY BOND

Bond No. 101430346

Application/License No. _____

Brookfield Pharmaceuticals, LLC (Applicant/Principal), doing or intending to do business as a pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 15460 W Capitol Drive, Suite 111 Brookfield, WI 53005 (Address of Applicant/Principal), as PRINCIPAL, and Merchants Bonding Company (Mutual) (Surety Company), a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Iowa (State of Incorporation) and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is 6700 Westown Parkway, West Des Moines, IA 50266 (Address of Surety) as SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on March 7, 2025 (Effective Date).

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statue (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

(1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
(2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
(3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
(4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
(5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
(6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
(7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 7th day of March, 20 25.

RE: Explanation for lack of Home State License

To Whom it May Concern,

The purpose of this letter is to clarify why LivaNova USA, Inc. ("LN") does not possess a license to manufacture medical devices in its home state of Colorado. Colorado's licensing requirements for medical device manufacturers are only applicable if the devices contain a drug component, which is not the case with LN's products.

In Colorado, the Board of Pharmacy is authorized by the Colorado Revised Statutes 12-280-109, to supervise the retail sale of medical devices to patients or ultimate consumers. However, the statute's primary focus is on regulating various aspects of drug control and sales. This includes overseeing the retail sale and dispensing of drugs, establishing standards for professional and technical equipment, ensuring appropriate environments and procedures for compounding and dispensing medications, and maintaining the control and purity of drugs.

It's essential to note that the statutory definition of "Drug" in Colorado, as per 12-280-103 clause 16(b), explicitly excludes devices or their components, parts, or accessories. This distinction is crucial, as definitions for Manufacture, Wholesaler, and Wholesale distribution, as outlined in 12-280-109 (26), (55), (54)(a), are all tailored to the regulation of drugs, not medical devices.

For further reference and clarification, the Colorado Revised Statutes, including the specific sections mentioned, can be accessed electronically at https://dpo.colorado.gov/Pharmacy/Laws.

To provide context, LN exclusively sells its products to hospitals, hospital systems, clinics, physician practices, or individual physician practitioners. Orders are received directly from customers, and LN ships its products directly to them without involving intermediate wholesalers. LN also maintains a dedicated team of direct sales and support personnel to engage with customers and potential clients.

LN specializes in the manufacturing of prescription-only, 510(k) cleared medical devices. It does not produce or distribute any drug products or controlled substances. LN's product categories include:

- Advanced Circulatory Support
- Cardiopulmonary products
